Recently my husband divorced me. Dare I still use his name (Mrs. John C. Smith, for example), or at least his initials (Mrs. J. C. Smith)? Or, if this is not possible or proper, what form of name should I use? I very much dislike the form "Mrs. Mary Smith" for a divorcee. Thank you for any advice you will give me.
— Divorcee

Usually, and quite naturally and sensibly, a divorcee does not wish to continue to use the name "Mrs. John C. Smith" or even the initials, "Mrs. J. C. Smith" because (1) this form of name does not indicate her status; and (2) if her ex-husband remarries, this name causes confusion and probably embarrassment to both her and the new wife. The absolutely correct name for a divorcee to use is her maiden surname prefixed to her ex-husband's surname. For example: let's say your surname was Brown before you married John Smith. Now, after the divorce, you would show best taste if you use the name Mrs. Brown Smith.

I'm so glad you dislike the form "Mrs. Mary Smith" for a divorcee. I do too. If, for any reason, it is important to a divorcee to indicate her first name, she may use the initial Mrs. M. Brown Smith. The only correct alternative to Mrs. Brown Smith.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

I, like hundreds of your women fans, watch very carefully every day for your column . . . recipes are foolproof and very, very useful . . . we intend to have a housewarming party — a buffet supper for 25 people . . . would like to serve a hot meal course and maybe potatoes (?), one hot vegetable and several salads . . . I was thinking of spiced beef How much? . . . . the one you gave us two or three weeks ago. What goes with it? How about the barbecued turkey cooked, sliced and heated in a sauce — the one you suggested last year around Christmas for leftover turkey. What to serve with it? Would creamed vegetables in patty shells do? Soft or crusty rolls? Can you suggest some extra special dessert — the one to be remembered? . . . I have great confidence in you . . . do you have a good recipe for wild rabbit? M. S

ANSWER:

I am mailing to you 4 previous releases. One has recipe for Casserole of Vegetables given Feb. 57 which caused a flurry with readers. Another has Oyster and Sweetbread Pie given Dec. 26 which I hope you saw, — also Dec. 30 column with a Turkey Oyster Pie, and January 3rd/53 column wth 2 salads that would be ideal for your number of guests.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

FRIDAY

Flounder Fillets with Egg Sauce; Fluffy Mashed Potatoes; Sliced Carrots in Parsley Butter; Tossed Greens; Perfect Blanc Mange with Canned Peaches or Fresh Frozen Raspberries (see Tuesday); Coffee.

The recipe for Spiced Beef as I gave it would be sufficient if it is sliced thinly since you are having so many other items. If you fancy servng potatoes make two casseroles of Duchess Potatoes because they may be made in advance and baked just ahead of serving time. This applies to the casserole of vegetables mentioned above, recipe for which is mailed to you. No, don't serve creamed vegetables in patty shells. I think hard rolls are more popular than soft ones, but you should have a variety. I think the never-to-be-forgotten dessert uppermost in my mind right now is Creme Brulee, so I have mailed Mar. 4/ column to you, which gives it detail.

TURKEY IN BARBECUE SAUCE:

NOTE:

If serving two other hearty me items to 25, triple this amount w be sufficient. Arrange thick slic of cooked turkey in baking dis For 2 lbs. prepare this Sauce: M together and simmer for about minutes ½ cup each finely cho ped onion and water, 2 tablespoo each brown sugar and Worceste shire Sauce, 1 tablespoon paprik 1 teaspoon each salt and dry mu tard, ¼ teaspoon chili powder, 16th teaspoon cayenne pepper, cup each vinegar and catsup, cup tomato juice. When simmerin time is up pour t over sliced tu key (or chicken) and bake at 3 deg. F. about 25 minutes un heated through but not brown.

RABBIT FRICASSEE:

Cut a dressed full grown wi rabbit into serving pieces and so in cold salted water 1 hour. Dra Dry. In paper bag dredge in cup flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ te spoon pepper, 1 teaspoon paprik Brown in hot butter or shortenin until golden on all sides. Drain o all but 3 tablespoons butter, add bay leaf, 1 sliced onion, 1 cup t milk. Cover and simmer gently o bake at 275 deg. F. until tender about 2 or 3 hours. Time depend on age of rabbit!

"HAVE YOU NOTICED HOW WELL INFORMED CLARA IS?"

"Yes, indeed! Anytime we meet for Bridge or Tea, Clara's conversation is always worth listening to. She seems so thoroughly well-informed on so many subjects."

"I know her secret—she told me she is an avid reader of the Toronto Daily Star."

"Ah! Now I understand why she is so well versed on current events. See—this Star is so complete with its NEWS and Pictures of what's going on at home and abroad."

"Yes, and see this section containing a wealth of information every woman wants to have about fashions, home management, child care, movies and such."

"I notice that Clara so often mentions what some of the Star's special writers are commenting upon. She says the Star's writers are brilliant in their particular spheres!"

"Yes, my husband has mentioned them. He says that for information, education and entertainment the Toronto Daily Star is a positive Treasure Chest."

"Seems to me I've heard that expression before somewhere. I know everyone in my family wants some part of the Toronto Daily Star."

Know Your Heart

Engineer and M.D. Produce Artificial Heart

By Ray Heimbecker

(Department of Surgery, University of Toronto; Surgeon, Toronto General Hospital)

Article 3

For generations, scientific dreamers have envisioned an artificial heart that could take over the work of a patient's failing heart. The pumping action of this artificial heart would allow a patient's heart to be put to rest after a "coronary" attack. It could also keep the patient alive while a hopelessly diseased heart was being replaced by a transplanted one, or while the delicate interior of a damaged heart was operated upon.

In the last quarter century, many brilliant scientists have worked on the problem, including the famous Charles Lindberg. Some success was achieved, but it soon became evident that a really successful artificial heart would have to include an artificial lung—the two structures are so closely united in the body that it is almost impossible to separate them without serious damage.

FIRST SUCCESS

It was Dr. John H. Gibbon, Jr., at the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, who tenaciously pioneered the problem for many years, in spite of all obstacles.

In May, 1953, his heart-lung machine was ready for use. An 18-year-old girl had been born with a large hole between her two "auricles". She was operated upon. Her blood was pumped through this "lung" (made of stainless steel screens placed in an oxygen filled chamber) for 25 minutes, with complete success. This machine is still acclaimed as the "Rolls Royce" of heart-lung machines.

At the same moment, simpler machines were being developed all over the world. Dr. William Mustard, of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, was pioneering the use of a freshly removed monkey's lung as the artificial lung. His pump was designed and developed in the Banting Institute, and is still one of the best.

USED PARENT AS DONOR

Dr. Walton Lillehei, of Minnesota, ingeniously used the child's parent as a donor and connected the two circulatory systems by plastic tubing, so that the parent's heart and lungs could take over the work of the child's during the operation. Later, Richard De Wall joined him to produce a simple artificial lung, in which bubbles of oxygen were blown into the blood as it passed through a plastic cylinder. This seething, foaming mass of bubbling blood then passed through a cylinder of silicone, where the excess bubbles faded away like magic. The blood, then full of life-preserving oxygen, was pumped back into the patient.

JET-PLANE STREAMLINING

Every channel and tube that the blood passes through must be designed with meticulous care, so that no whirlpools or eddies of blood can develop. It is here that red cells would be broken up like an ice jam in a river. Most of these heart-lung machines are designed to pump at a lower rate than the patient's own heart would have done (about 9 pints a minute in an adult.)

When pumping at a higher rate there is much more damage to the fragile red blood cells — if too many are broken up by the pump, there can be kidney damage, or the injured blood may not clot properly in the patient's incision — a serious worry for any surgeon.

SURGEON, ENGINEER, OR HANDYMAN

It is easy to see that the researcher in heart-lung machines must be a Jack-of-all trades, as well as a skilled surgeon. Yet all would be almost impossible without recent industrial achievements, such as electrical automatic controls, newer and better plastics, and the silicones.

Many hundreds of children and adults have now had their hearts operated upon, to leave the operating room completely cured (many earlier heart operations only partly corrected the trouble). All this would still be a dream if it were not for patience, perseverance and research money.

COSTLY EQUIPMENT

Much remains to be done before the machine can realize its full potential. Many machines are too expensive for small medical centres to afford (anything from $5,000 to $80,000), and they may cost anything from one hundred to five hundred dollars a day to operate.

Many types of "blue babies" are still not suitable for operation using the machine. The man who has had a coronary occlusion (heart attack) may soon be greatly helped by an operation of coronary artery grafting — an operation possible only with the help of the heartlung machine.

Much money is needed to bring together the great resources and brains of Engineering, Industry and Medicine. These must be welded together into one unit, to result in the perfect heartlung machine.

CORNWALL TONIGHT

Anyone would think after watching the goal-scoring highjinks of the McFarlands against those feudin fellas from Michael J. Rodden's balliwick the other night, that Drury Denyes had threatened to cut off their sugar jets ration or take the senior "A" franchise to Shannonville.

After all, that appears to be the popular method of dragging hockey teams out of the doldrums, and the pewsters from cosy armchairs, their favorite suds and television sets, into the less comfortable but more thrilling atmosphere of hockey arenas.

However, if that is the rule, last Tuesday's rapid-firing explosion was the exception. The Macs had this puck-sinking spree coming to them for some time, and once they got on target there was no stopping them. Forty-four pellets were fired at sitting-duck Lynn Davis, and nine of 'em singed the youngster's feathers.

Jean Paul Payette, who has been given the cold shoulder by Lady Luck, or whatever gods control goal-scoring, finally came into his own. We do not know how many rounds of ammo he fired, but four of 'em found the mark for "kills." Paul's "shootin' eye was dead on" for that game.

In fact the whole team was using super-charges in their ammunition. "Wiener" Brown, who became the proud poppa of a lovely baby girl earlier in the day, was hurling smoke-bombs at Davis and sizzled two past him, "one for the baby and one for the road." Now if Mrs. "Wiener" had given birth to triplets . . . .

And Floyd Crawford was leaning heavily on the trigger-finger, too. He bounced a blazer off a Kingstonian rib, that didn't exactly tickle its owner to death, but soared on its merry way into the net for Floyd's second direct hit of the evening.

But that was Tuesday night.

Tonight is another evening, one that might be beset with thrills, spills and plenty of hockey action.

The Cornwall Chevies are here for another joust with the Macs and will be fresh for the kill, coming as the games does, right on the heels of the Chevies 7-5 victory over the Ottawa-Hull Canadiens Wednesday night. The Chevies unwittingly gave the Macs an assist since a defeat at the hands of the Baby Habs would have given Sammy Pollock's beardless buckaroos three points, and an equal margin over our side in the league standing.

The Chevies blanked the Pembroke Lumber Kings a week ago to mark their first victory of the season "on the road." Wednesday night they defeated the Baby Habs for their second "away" victory, and tonight they will pull all stops out to make it three at the expense of the McFarlands. The Chevies have won but two out of eighteen engagements on foreign ice.

However, tthe McFarlands on the strength of their performance against the Whitby Dunlops, despite the score, and more recently against Kingston, should be able to dance the proper measures if the Chevies play the tunes.

There is a keen, almost bitter, rivalry between the clubs and fandom should be in store for a battle that while it might not be productive of explosions should air a few oversize burps.

The McFarlands will be at full strength, with the exception of Bep Guidolin, who is still having trouble with an ear infection. Ike Hildebrand has been taking over Bep's place on the first-line wing, and coming up with a fine performance as his three assists the other night indicate.

Big Joe Lepine, who gave one of his best performances of the season in a McFarland uniform against his former buddies from Cornwall the last time the teams clashed, will be out to repeat. Joe came up with a neat two-way effort against the CKLC's the other night, bolstering his assist record with three.

HIGH JINKS IN TRENTON

Word from Trenton has it that big things are planned in a hockey way for the town to the west come Saturday night. The Belleville juniors hook up with the local Bear Cubs in a scheduled game, while juvenile clubs from each centre will offer a puck-chasing appetizer for the junior tilt.

The Trenton Booster Club plans to make it an all-out night in an effort to cheer their favorite team to victory so there should be lots of color and excitement outside of the usual fare generally dished up by the rival clubs on the ice.

Keen rivalry exists between the junior clubs and that should assure a bang-up puck battle.. The city juveniles will be playing their first game out-of-town and will be all-out to win their initial engagement.

Horvath, Bucyk Stasiuk Hit As Boston Takes Over 4th; Trio Fires Third of Total

By BILL MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Boston Bruins, collecting odds and ends from other National Hockey League clubs during the last couple of years, have pasted together a production line that so far this season has scored more than a third of the team's goals.

Bronco Horvath, Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Bucyk each scored a goal Thursday night as Bruins edged Chicago Black Hawks 4-3 in the only NHL game scheduled. The three are all graduates of Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League.

The victory, Bruins' first at home since Christmas night, enabled them to take over sole possession of fourth place with 41 points, two behind Detroit Red Wings and two ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs. Chicago remained in last place, three points behind Leafs.

BEST SEASON YET

Stasiuk, 28, is having his best season since he joined Boston two years ago. His record of 17 goals and 24 assists with the season just past the halfway mark has already eclipsed his last two season's 37 points and 40 points. The previous two seasons he was a lack-lustre member of Red Wings and the Flyers.

Also a Detroit castoff is the 22-year-old Bucyk. After 1½ seasons with Wings, in which he scored only 11 goals and assisted on 19, he's racked up 13 goals and 23 assists in his first season at Boston.

Horvath, a centre who shone a few years ago with Edmonton then slowed down considerably when he hit the NHL, is back to form.

FOURTH IN LEAGUE

At 28, he is the club's top marksman with 19 goals and 28 assists and fourth in the league scoring race. In 1954-55 he won the WHL scoring championship with 50 goals and 60 assists, but fizzled out the next season with New York Rangers with a 12-17 record. Last season he played eight games with Rangers and Montreal Canadiens and notched only one goal and two assists.

The other Boston goal came from Don McKenney. Chicago marksmen were Eric Nesterenko, Glen Skov and Dutch Reibel, also all picked up in trades in the last couple of years.

Bruins took a first-period lead when Horvath stroked a rebound past Chicago goalie Glenn Hall. Nesterenko tied it up with only 14 seconds left in the period.

Bucyk made it 2-1 on a perfect pass from Stasiuk. He beat Hall on a low-angle shot into the far corner from 25 feet out. McKenney added his before Skov tightened it up to 3-2 at the end of the second.

Stasiuk took a pass from Bucyk and flipped the puck over Hall's shoulder before Reibel scored the last goal at 17:13 of the finale.

Hall was tops in the Chicago nets, making 43 stops to Harry Lumley's 19.

Petes Tie 4-4 With Barrie; Cubs Edge Bilts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Cubs, 12 points behind St. Catharines Teepees, league - leaders in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, Thursday night consolidated their hold on second place in the loop's cellar.

At Peterborough, Petes managed a 4-4 tie with Barrie Flyers, and the one point put them in sole possession of fourth place, a point ahead of Toronto St. Michael's. Flyers are in sixth place.

Hamilton fought back from behind a 2-0 first-period deficit to edge Biltmores.

Dave Amadio, Brian Smith, Howie Young, Ray Preston, Garry Sullivan and Garry Luyben scored for Cubs. Guelph marksmen were Leon Rochfort, George Usitalo, Ron Brain and Rod Gilbert.

Peterborough were also 2-0 behind after the first period against Barrie. They levelled the score in the second and split four goals with Flyers in the final.

Petes' scorers were Irv Spencer, Bill Mahoney, Tom Thurlby and Larry Babcock. Allan Crossland, Bob Blackburn, Jim Josephson and Bill Forhan scored for Barrie.

Scottish Ladies Win Easily Over Niagara

HAMILTON (CP) — Scottish women curlers Thursday registered their most convincing win to date on a tour of United States and Canadian centres.

Playing against Women's rinks from Niagara district clubs in a series of six - enders, the Scots walloped their competition 65-37, mainly on the strength of a 27-7 decision recorded by Mrs. Margaret Liddell's foursome over Mrs. Ann Rankin of Dundas and Mrs. J. M. Biro of St. Catharines 18-4. Mrs. Liddell permitted her opposition only one scoring end in each game.

Their total here give the Scottish rinks a 332-275 lead after tops in Montreal, Ottawa, Peterborough, Toronto and Hamilton.

London Lords Owe Back Rent

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—London Lords of the Ontario Rugby Football Union still owe the public utilities commission $1,400 for the 1957 rental of Labatt Park.

It was learned Thursday that the club has not replied to a commission letter requesting a financial statement which the club agreed to furnish within 15 days after the football season ended.

The commission is contemplating a special meeting to discuss the rental problem since the accumulated deficit on the park to the end of 1957 is expected to be about $6,000, 65 per cent higher than it was a year ago.

Lords' rental was $7,000 or 10 per cent of the gross receipts if they exceeded that figure. The club has paid $5,599 to date.

Hockey's Big Seven

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston's Bronco Horvath scored once and picked up an assist in Thursday night's lone National Hockey League game to take over undisputed possession of fourth place in the race for individual scoring honors.

Horvath boosted his total to 19 goals and 28 assists for 47 points as Bruins edged Chicago Black Hawks 4-3.

Pakistan Batter Sets World Cricket Record

BRIDGETOWN Barbados (CP) Hanif Mohammad, 23-year - old Pakistani batsman, Thursday set a world record for a marathon innings in first-class cricket and scored the secnd-highest runs total for any test match in history.

He batted for 16 hours and 13 minutes, scoring 337 runs.

His record-shattering performance helped Pakistan to a tie with the West Indies in their first test match.

The previous record was 13 hours and 20 minutes, set by England's Sir Leonard Hutton against Australia in London in 1938. Hutton also established the world record for runs with 364.

Mohammad hit 24 boundaries good for four runs each. He was finally caught out by the wicket keeper.

The final scores in the first test were West Indies 579 for nine declared and 29 for no wicket, and Pakistan 106 and 657 for eight declared. The 657 was 96 runs more than any other Pakistan test team.

Four Cities

Could Be Two-Club Centres If Baseball Changes Rules

NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia and Detroit can be two - club cities, like Chicago, if baseball changes its rules as expected at Saturday's joint meeting of the National and American leagues.

Nobody has talked about moving in the last few days. There appears to be no immediate prospect of any 10-team league or a third major. But the rules will be in the book in case anybody wants to make a move.

Under the present rules it is necessary to get unanimous approval in both leagues for one major league team to move to a city in the other major league. In the future it will require only the approval of the club's own league.

A four-man committee drew up recommendations for a change in the rules in New York Jan. 3. This will be the first time the owners have had a chance to vote on those proposals.

One of the chief points is that any city with a population of 2,000,000 or more is eligible for a second big league team. The park must be not less than five miles from the park of the existing club and other conditions, such as seating capacity, must be met.

Marlene Wins First Round Florida Golf

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (CP)—Canadian champion Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto defeated Agnes Kaye of Akron, Ohio, 2 up Thursday in the 26th annual Helen Lee Doherty golf tournament.

Mrs. Streit will meet Barbara Romack Porter of Sacramento, Calif., in today's feature match. Mrs. Porter, tournament medalist Wednesday with a qualifying score of 76, kept the favorite's role by defeating Phyllis Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., 4 and 3.

The day's big upset came in the second bracket of the championship flight when Ellen Gery of Reading, Pa., 37-year-old former teacher, downed Joanne Goodwin of Haverhill, Mass., 1 up. Miss Goodwin, 21, was the 1956 Doherty winner and last year's runner-up.

Will Mark Minor Hockey In Canada

TORONTO (CP)—Cities, towns and villages throughout Canada will hold a special hockey night next week as part of Minor Hockey Week which starts Saturday.

Parades, bands, door prizes and special guests will highlight the hockey nights. Youngsters will play the hockey.

Jack Christie, past-president of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association and secretary of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association committee on minor hockey, said:

"We hope to get the parents out to the rinks. Once they see their youngsters playing we're confident they will keep coming back."

The slogan for the week is: Don't send—take your boy to the arena!"

American Rinks Make Debut

GRAVENHURST (CP) — Rinks from the United States made their debut in competition Thursday in the first annual Muskoka International mixed bonspiel.

Rinks from Detroit and Chicago curled with teams from Toronto, Burlington, Niagara Falls, Sarnia, Ottawa, St. Catharines, Peterborough, Oshawa, Bolton and Lindsay.

The Chicago rink skipped by Darwin Curtis had its flight out of Chicago cancelled Wednesday night. Curtis and his teammates travelled to Toronto by train and to Gravenhurst by car.

Johnny Logan Returns Contract

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Shortstop Johnny Logan is the second Milwaukee Brave to announce dissatisfaction with 1958 terms offered by the National League baseball club. Logan said, "There are a few important details that have to be ironed out before I sign." Outfielder Bob Hazle also has returned his contract unsigned.

Police Win Hockey Game, Lose Chief

BARRIE (CP) — Police chief Ed Tschirhart wore a smile Thursday even though a torn ligament forced him to limp and he's faced with buying a new pair of skates.

He was injured Wednesday night in an exhibition hockey game between the police and Barrie television, radio and press all-stars. The police won 8-6. The game raised $1,000 for minor hockey and soccer.

Goaltender Tschirhart was injured in the second period when a puck hit his skate, ripping the blade loose from the boot.

Merchants Pay Tribute to Colored Star

FREDERICTON (CP) — Local merchants, in a two-page advertisement in The Gleaner, paid tribute to Willie O'Ree, first Negro to play in the National Hockey League.

The first page was centred by a photograph of O'Ree in the uniform of the Boston Bruins, whom he joined for two games last weekend. A headline says The Merchants of Fredericton salute Willie O'Ree.

A second-page picture shows O'Ree in action with Quebec Frontenacs during the 1954-55 season. A headline says "The Citizens of Fredericton are Proud of You."

O'Ree played hockey with Fredericton High School and the hometown Capitals and is now with Quebec Aces of the Quebec Hockey League.

Hawkins, Marr Lead Pro Golf; Balding Fourth

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) Ryder Cup player Fred Hawkins and Dave Marr of Rumson, N.J., neither figured to create much of a stir, led a field of 42 professionals into the second round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament today.

Hawkins, who scored the only singles triumph for the United States in the international matches last year against Britain, and Marr, never a big winner, held a two-stroke lead teeing off today.

They had a pair of 65s, six under par, in the first round, as 23 of the professionals bettered par 36-35-71 for the Thunderbird Country Club's fashionable acres.

Nearest challengers at this early stage were Tommy Bolt, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Gene Littler, Singing Hills, Calif., each with 67.

Four players were deadlocked at 68: Toronto's Al Balding, Jimmy Demaret, Kiamesha Lake Ohio, and Don Farfield, Casey, Ill. Demaret has won the tournament three times, including the last two.

Balding and Demaret had identical rounds of 35-33. Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., and Vancouver, the only Canadian entered besides Balding, had a 74 total with rounds of 38 and 36.

Red Sox Give Jimmy Foxx Coaching Job

BOSTON (AP)—Jimmy Foxx Thursday accepted a coaching position with the Boston Red Sox organization and looked for a happy ending to his broken life of a week ago.

James Silin, Foxx' business manager, and the Boston club jointly announced Jimmy's agreement to act as coach of the Minneapolis farm team and batting instructor throughout the organization.

The announcement, made in the office of Silin who found Foxx jobless and broke last week in Miami, culminated a thorough sifting of 250 communiques offering Foxx employment.

Foxx, the Hall of Famer who compiled a .325 batting average and 534 home runs in his 20 major league seasons, was sought for work ranging from $100 a week to $45,000 a year.

Silin indicated that in addition to the Red Sox job, Foxx has received offers for television, radio, a movie and a book concerning his life.

Bonus-Laden Baseball Scouts Knock on High School Doors

ST. LOUIS (AP) — American high schools are full of big strong boys who can wallop a baseball but the major league clubs see something special in Dave Nicholson.

So many big league scouts are knocking on his door with bonus offers there's practically a traffic jam.

"We could have held a major league meeting," said Glen Miller, farm director for the Chicago White Sox. "It's really high-powered competition."

Dave is 18, tops six feet by three inches and weighs 217. His parents expect to announce Sunday which offer he'll accept. Fourteen clubs are after Dave.

Cleveland Indians announced they will go as high as $80,000 in the bonus bidding.

GO THE LIMIT

Baltimore Orioles have been reported talking in terms of $100,000.

What does the youngster have to inspire such spirited bidding?

"Nicholson could become a star," said Walter Shannon, St. Louis Cardinals farm director. "And if he does, he could become a great star. He's built like an ox."

Frank Lane, Cleveland's general manager, said Nicholson has certain weaknesses, including just average speed and an average arm, but:

"The boy is an outstanding prospect. He has the makings of a great home run hitter."

The scramble has become so fierce Dave's father, Lawrence Nicholson, took time off from his job as a printer to help appraise the offers.

Dave dropped out of high school a year ago. When his class graduated Wednesday night he became eligible for a major league offer.

In high school he was a star both as a pitcher and an outfielder. He hit about .350.

Nicholson says he won't necessarily join the club making the highest offer. "It depends, too, on what kind of salary I'm offered and where each club wants to send me in the minors."

Senators, Bosox Hook Up in Player Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington and Boston hooked up in another trade Thursday as the Senators gave up versatile infielder Pete Runnels in an effort to solve two crucial problems with first baseman Norm Zauchin and centrefielder Albie Pearson.

No cash was exchanged in the deal, third swap between the clubs in as many seasons.

In Runnels, the Red Sox acquired a utility man who could be a candidate for the starting assignment at any infield position. In Zauchin and Pearson, Senators landed a combination that could bolster two of their softer spots.

Zauchin almost certainly will make the lineup at first. Pearson is as sure a bet to open in centre field.

Pearson, 23, played last season for Boston's old farm at San Francisco in the Pacific Coast League. He batted .297 with 176 hits and led the circuit in triples with 11.

Zauchin, 28, batted .264 as a part time first sacker for Boston in 1957. He broke a wrist late in the summer.

Runnels, who will be 30 next Tuesday, led Washington in batting at .310 in 1956 but slumped to .230 last season.

Cop Claims World Non-Stop Bowling Record

HANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Highway Patrolman Paul Cleveland nursed a bloody thumb today and what he claims is a world non-stop bowling record—550 games in 87 hours 35 minutes.

"I tried to make the record as tough as possible to beat," said the weary 39-year-old police officer when he ended his marathon at 1:35 a.m.

Cleveland, who knocked down 89,284 pins for an average of 162 a game, said a high school girls rooting section kept him going the last two hours when "I was getting too stiff to knock down very many pins."

Dick Tuttle of Eugene, Ore., bowled 527 games last Sunday, averaging 125.6.

Briton Launches Ski Invention

MUERREN, Switzerland (AP) Sir Arnold Lunn, 69-year-old "grandfather of British skiing," has launched a new invention which may revolutionize the slalom race he originated 35 years ago.

Slalom races—in which skiers have to pass through "gates" set in a zig-zag pattern on a steep slope—have become an essential part of all Alpine ski competitions.

Since Sir Arnold set out the first slalom course in 1923, the gates have been made of two wooden poles stuck in the snow. The gates are watched by judges who can penalize skiers for faulty passing. The penalties are a matter of judgment which often gives rise to disputes.

Two non-winter sports, cricket and tennis, provided the basis for Sir Arnold's new "sensitive slalom poles."

Each pole is fitted with a cup at the top, and in each cup is a tennis ball. A skier who moves the pole so the ball is dislodged, automatically receives a five-second penalty.

OTTAWA (CP)—Seven young skaters compete today in the first round of the junior men's singles at the Canadian figures skating championships.

Most of the second day of the championships at the Minto Skating Club will be taken up by the juniors twisting through the intricate designs of the school figures. The free figures will be run off tonight as six titles are decided.

The other championships to be decided tonight are the junior ladies singles, the junior pairs and dance titles and the senior waltz and 10-step.

Toronto pair Bill McLachlan and Geraldine Fenton placed first in Thursday nights elimination rounds of the waltz and 10-step championships.

Brother and sister Mirek and Svata Staroba, another Toronto pair, gained first spot in the elimination round of the junior dance with 69.8 points.

Sonia Snelling of Toronto won the first round of the junior ladies singles with 326.4 points in the school figures. She was followed by Frances Gold of Ottawa with 301.8, and Shirra Kenworthy of Vancouver, 298.7.

In sixth place was Diane Frith-Smith of Galt with 289.7 points. Joy Barnard of Sudbury was eighth with 275.4, Carol Ann Biamonte of Stamford was 12th with 253 and Marilyn Atcheson of Pembroke and Ottawa 13th, and last, with 249.

Rin Tin Tin Wired for Sound To Better Hear His Trainer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's no fun being press agent for a dog.

That's what the publicist for the Rin Tin Tin television show was thinking as he gazed out the window and then back at the blank sheet of paper in his typewriter. After all, what can you do to publicize Rinty?

He and his forebears have had a reputation for respectability in Hollywood for 30 years. He does not cut up in the night clubs. He doesn't own a bone-shaped swimming pool. And he's a poor interview subject. What do you get out of him? Just a few barks and a paw shake.

Still, publicity has to be turned out on a TV show, and that was the press agent's job. As press agents will do, he dreamed a little. And he came up with this story:

"Rin Tin Tin, the television star, now gets an electronic assist in his acting. Because voice and hand cues are difficult in long shots, the star has been equipped with a small short-wave receiver in his ear. His trainer stands behind the camera and sends the cues over a microphone to Rinty, 100 yards away."

HARMLESS STORY?

A harmless story, thought the press agent, and he sent it out. Shortly afterward, the company was called by two big magazines and a photo syndicate. They had seen the item and wanted to make layouts of the canine cuer.

The press agent went to his boss and confessed his minor crime. "We can't miss out on publicity breaks like these," the chief said. "Let's see if the technicians can't work up some gadget that will look like the real thing."

The technicians labored and came up with a device that not only looked like the real thing, It worked!

Now the talented pooch is wired for sound and hears signals from its trainer at distances up to 200 and 300 yards, thanks to a press agent's dream.

Never under-estimate the scorn of the Elvis Presley followers.

I recently commented about a once - proud studio like Paramount being bailed out by the Presley brand of entertainment. You'd think I had stamped on his guitar. All the letters supported Presley. Some sample comments:

"I presume your main objection against Elvis is his singing and actions while he's singing, as that is the beef of old people that don't like him. Naturally, he's going to wiggle, groan and grunt while he's singing. If that's what the people want, that's exactly what he'll give them. . . ."

WOW

"You jealous, jealous, jealous old man. Just because Elvis is a wonderful singer, the very most entertaining one, very handsome, very sweet and lovable and charming, very much of a man in every respect, gentle, kind, refined, considerate, polite and not a sophisticate, you 'men' just can't take it. . . ."

"Maybe if people would think for a minute what they have against a normal, red-blooded American boy, God-loving and parentally guided, and exceptionally talented both as a singer and actor, they would be more understanding. . . ."

Manager of Met Believes La Perichole Will Be Liked

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The only requirement for presenting opera on television, says Rudolf Bing, "is that it be done with conviction and taste."

The general manager of the Metropolitan Opera believes that, according to the nature of an opera, it can absorb a large TV audience whether done in English or a foreign language, whether presented in short takes or at greater length.

Because he feels that Omnibus (NBC-TV) is a program with conviction and taste, he has high hopes for the success of the Metropolitan's 90-minute presentation of La Perichole in English Sunday.

ATONE FOR PAST

"I feel certain," Bing remarked drily, "that it will atone for some of our sins of the recent past."

He obviously referred to last year's agreement between the Metropolitan and the Ed Sullivan show which was severed by mutual consent after a couple of brief operatic take-outs were presented on the program.

"I don't look at much television," Bing said, "but I do think that Omnibus is an intelligent program with an adult audience. Certainly, at the very least, there's every reason to believe that its audience can read and write."

He believes that there is a large audience who enjoy viewing opera "if it is well done and presented without apology."

AUDIENCE RESPECT

"In principle, I feel that an audience should have respect for what it sees and hears, and that entertainment should not merely be thrown at it on television.

"It's this terrible familiarity breeds contempt while respect breeds admiration."

This "familiarity" is stressed on television, he said, in the way every performer is called by his first name.

"If the late Arturo Toscanini had appeared regularly on television," said Bing, "it wouldn't have been any time until people on his program would have been calling him 'Artie.' And before long he would have began to lose the public respect in which he was held."

Opera especially produced for television by the Metropolitan was first presented on Omnibus in 1952 with the productions of Die Fledermaus and La Boheme.

Ray Robinson 7-5 Underdog In Encore Tiff With Basilio

CHICAGO (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson is unimpressed that he is an early 7-to-5 underdog for his March 25 middleweight encore with champion Carmen Basilio at Chicago Stadium.

"I think I've been the underdog ever since I started making comebacks," he said. "Maybe once I wasn't—that was against Tiger Jones, and, wow! did that guy give me a licking. But I like being the underdog. It takes the pressure off."

The Jones pounding was the only time Robinson has lost in Chicago Stadium. He won the 160-pound title there from Jake Lamotta in 1951 and twice regained it in the same ring.

LIKES OFFICIATING

"I like the officiating in Chicago very much," he said Thursday in an interview following formal contract signing ceremonies. "I have no beefs about officiating elsewhere, but I just like it especially."

Basilio couldn't be as enthusiastic. He lost his welterweight crown two years ago to Johnny Saxton in a highly controversial decision at Chicago Stadium. He also lost there to Chuck Davey and Billy Graham.

"I expect to have a change of luck this time," he said. "If I fight the same kind of fight I did last time, I should win again."

Basilio took Robinson's title on a split 15-round decision Sept. 23 at Yankee Stadium, New York.

PREDICTS RECORD GATE

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, predicted a record indoor gross gate of $500,000 and 19,000 attendance. The record is $422,918 set at Chicago Stadium for the Tony Zaletta Rocky Graziano scrap July 16, 1947. It drew 18,547 fans.

Contracts filed with the Illinois Athletic Commission do not specify a return match but it was understood that Robinson and Basilio have a mutual understanding. If Robinson wins, a rematch will be in the making for June in New York.

"If I get lucky and win this one," said Robinson, "just think what another fight would draw this summer in New York."

Gene KELLY WHO HASN'T DANCED IN A MOVIE IN MORE THAN TWO YEARS, PERFORMS IN SIX NUMBERS IN SOL C. SIEGEL'S M-G-M PRODUCTION OF "LES GIRLS," WHICH HAS A BRAND NEW SCORE BY COLE PORTER.

1 Mitzi GAYNOR HAD TO BE "DE-GLAMORIZED" FOR ONE SCENE IN THE COMEDY-DRAMA WITH MUSIC. THE SCENE CALLED FOR MITZI TO HAVE HER HAIR UP IN CURLERS, HER FACE COVERED WITH COLD CREAM, AND HER TRIM FIGURE SMOTHERED IN AN OVERSIZE BATHROBE!

2 Kay KENDALL RECENTLY WAS NAMED "WOMAN OF THE YEAR" BY THE COOKS AND BOTTLEWASHERS OF GREAT BRITAIN. ENGLAND'S TOP COMEDIENNE, NOW MAKING HER HOLLYWOOD DEBUT IN "LES GIRLS," WON THE HONOR AS BEST TYPIFYING BRITISH WOMANHOOD.

3 Taina ELG IN THE SOPHISTICATED CLOTHES DESIGNED FOR HER BY ORRY KELLY, WAS GIVEN THE GLAMOUR WHICH BROUGHT HER TO HOLLYWOOD IN THE FIRST PLACE. TAINA WAS A HIGH FASHION MODEL IN PARIS WHEN SHE WAS "DISCOVERED."

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Friday, January 24

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—Day hours may bring a worry that will disturb your serenity, happiness, security if you permit it to. Consider only that here is a chance to show how wise you can be at solving the problem. Tonight, think of your health and rest.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—A pal who does not understand things exactly as they are can really try to put the blame on you. But this is only a misunderstanding and so you can set things straight, be the wiser and more respected for it. Don't be gullible.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—A powerful out-of-town person or one of different cultural experience from your truly does not have the faintest idea of your ventures, labors and endeavors to be able to change your course of action. Just do what is expected of you.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) — Here is a day when you could go off on a financial tangent just because you feel you are [illegible]derstood or loved by closest tie. This would be foolish, simmer down and think of better ways to increase abundance instead.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Closest home tie and an associate who has some brilliant ideas that much interest you are at loggerheads, so don't try to get both together today. Attend to other duties of necessary nature, get field cleared for action later.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Feeling inadequate about the future and a bit afraid, you would like to vent emotions on inanimate things, do some bit of damage. Get your chores done diligently instead, then talk things over with a fine friend who can help you.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Getting into a lather over money matters that cannot be changed will do you no good. Contact good friends, shop for efficiencies, an inexpensive frippery that will make you happy. Then you are ready to solve your problems.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Quite dissatisfied with the treatment you are getting at home, the way closest ties are operating, the best thing to do today is to smile wisely, relax. They will then see the light, and get down to business, assist you.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Nothing could be more trying than to feed on that feeling of being imposed upon now. It will make you bitter. Be with those you love instead, plan wiser moves and get into atmosphere and activities more suitable to you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Be sure you don't go ahead and make radical changes either in finances or policy right now. Listen to wise advice of associate who has fixity of purpose, sees the light beyond the wall. P. M. seek company of happy friend.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You want to hold up your hands in despair, seek different work. Better plan a wiser way of executing your labors: A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. The fault may be largely your own, anyway.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)—What a fine stew you could get into today, changing your thoughts every minute like a flirt. Tackle that problem squarely instead and get rid of it. The shortest distance between two points is a straight line, remember.

If your child is born today . . . The interesting little child born today will give his or her teacher or you quite a time of it, since everything has to be made very definite in order to keep attention focused on what is being learned. The imagination is positively sky high. But here is the wonderful social service worker, Red Cross angel, the Susan B. Anthony of the future, the scientific minister, male or female.

LIBERALS SUPPORT

Social Credit Leader Solon Low also objected Thursday that the supports provided for in the bill are not related to a base price derived from a fixed period.

SET UP PRICES

The bill would give Mr. Harkness authority to set 12-month support prices each year on any farm commodity, linking the level to average prices during the preceding 10 years. A minimum floor of 80 per cent of the 10-year average is provided for nine specified products: cattle, hogs, sheep, butter, cheese, eggs and non-Prairie wheat, oats and barley.

Walter Tucker, Liberal MP for Rosthern, Sask., who supported the CCF motion that would have killed the bill, criticized the government for excluding Prairie producers of wheat, oats and barley from coverage under the legislation.

TO AID ARABS

In other Commons business, External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith announced Canada will make a $1,500,000 contribution of flour to the United Nations to help feed the 930,000 Arab refugees in Palestine. This would provide 20,000 tons of flour, equivalent of 1,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the government is giving urgent consideration to means of providing economic assistance for the new Caribbean Federation. He hoped to announce something shortly.

CIVILIAN REBEL

More than 100 other persons had been reported killed in street fighting that began with a general strike Tuesday called by a civilian "patriotic junta" headed by a 31-year-old newspaper reporter, Fabricio Ojeda. The pitched battles in the streets won over some of the younger military leaders, and at midnight Wednesday military leaders told Perez Jiminez that his time was up.

The 43-year-old dictator flew of. to exile in the Dominican Republic, hoping for a warm reception from fellow dictato rRafael Trujillo.

The whereabouts of the former Argentine dictator, Juan Peron, remained a mystery today. He was reported fleeing his exile in Caracas to seek refuge in Colompoints had no reports of him. Other reports were that he had holed up here to await developments—pessibly as a refugee in seme embassy—er was heading for the Dominican Republic.

There was doubt, however, that Trujillo would welcome unsuccessful dictators.

Huntingdon Twp. Council

Low Will Put Leadership of Socreds on Line

OTTAWA (CP) — Solon Low will put his leadership of the Social Credit party on the line at a national party convention expected to be held next fall.

At a press conference Wednesday he made clear he has no plans to step down. He also said he knows of no one actively seeking his job.

Mr. Low, 58, who became the party's first national leader in 1944, said, however, that the last party convention was in 1952—when he was given an unopposed vote of confidence as leader.

"I think it's my duty to submit myself to a convention again."

Mr. Low said the convention likely will be in the fall, and probably at Winnipeg following a national election.

Meanwhile the party plans four regional conferences before the end of February to draft an election platform, and a follow-up national conference to make final election plans.

Dates are set only for the first two meetings: An Ontario-Quebec conference here next Saturday and an Alberta-British Columbia conference at Vancouver Feb. 14-15.

CONTROL OF HYDROGEN FUSION APPEARS CLOSER

In this "Zeta" machine, British scientists have produced temperatures of 5,000,000 degrees centigrade, and with this accomplishmentt have brought closer the possibility of controlling hydrogen fusion to provide power. Fuel for the process is heavy hydrogen contained in sea water in quantities sufficient to supply power for the world for millions of years.

Britons Elated Over 'Taming' of H-Bomb, Puzzled by Lack of Enthusiasm in U.S.

LONDON (Reuters) — Britons basked under a new sun today and saluted their scientists in a blaze almost as bright as the one they produced in "taming" the power of the hydrogen bomb.

But many Britons were puzzled by reaction in the United States to the great break-through.

Lewis Strauss, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, said he would not describe the developments so far as "a major break-through."

But to Britain, whose scientists first split the atom, the work done at the Harwell research establishment is just as great a triumph in man's never-ending conquest of his world.

PRESS PLAYS IT UP

The front page of every British newspaper today hails the major step by the Harwell scientists towards taming the H-bomb and thus eventually providing an unending source of cheap power from sea water.

Sir John Cockcroft, Britain's chief atomic scientist, has denied some newspaper reports that Americans were in any way chagrined at British progress in harnessing hydrogen power. He added that it was not true that the U.S. had asked Britain to delay her announcement of successful experiments so as to give the U.S. a chance to catch up.

The feeling of many Britons is perhaps expressed by the London News Chronicle, which says that "in certain sections of America the reaction so far has been ungenerous."

"It would be folly if the new achievement were to breed bitterness between the two nations. On our side there must be pride in what has been done—but no gloating."

The Edinburgh Scotsman says "the facts released show Britain, America and Russia running more or less neck and neck."

"The important thing is that Britain with smaller total resources than her competitors has at least a claim to consideration as the strongest runner."

The potentialities of the break-through, the Yorkshire Post says "are as limitless as the power which is being brought under control."

The official Soviet news agency Tass, in reporting the announcement on progress in control of thermonuclear reactions, said British experimental work in this field is "similar to work of Soviet scientists."

In Stockholm, scientist Kai Siegbahn said Sweden had built a machine similar to the British Zeta, although considerably smaller. But "we are building a new machine twice as big as the British which we expect will be ready in the spring," he said.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A complex weather disturbance over the eastern United States spread snow and freezing rain slowly northward into Ontario Friday night. This inclement weather reached the Toronto area early this morning and is expected to continue northward into Central Ontario later today. Rain is reported at Windsor this morning where the temperature is 35. With rising temperatures expected elsewhere in Southern Ontario, the snow will change at times to rain or drizzle today.

Moonshiners Arouse Ire of Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev—of all people—says the time has come to declare war on drunks and moonshiners in Russia.

Addressing an agricultural conference at Minsk, the Communist party boss blasted farmers who use their sugar - beet crop to make home brew. He also had some harsh words for those who drink the stuff.

Such persons, Khrushchev declared, are "enemies of the state" and must be punished.

His comments were reported today by Pravda, the Communist party newspaper —which says he asked for greater sugar - beet production.

Liberals Seek New Strong Man Like C.D. Howe

VANCOUVER (CP) — An informed British Columbia Liberal political source said Friday night the federal party needs another "strong man" like C. D. Howe and moves are being considered to obtain one.

The informant who did not wish his name disclosed, suggested a likely candidate to replace the former veteran trade minister, who was defeated in last June's federal election, would be Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways.

The source could not say whether Mr. Gordon had been approached by Liberal party chiefs.

Mr. Gordon, 62, draws $75,000 a year as head of the government-controlled CNR system. It was said the Scottish-born railway chief might be reluctant to leave such a job for politics.

FEDERAL REVENUE TOPS SPENDING BY $287,700,000

Figures Announced By Finance Minister

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal treasury's revenues topped expenditures by $287,700,000 in the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming announced the nine - month surplus Friday night. It compares with a surplus of $361,100,000 durig the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year. The fiscal year ends March 31.

The current nine - month revenue figure is $3,755,800,000; expenditures totalled $3,468,100,000 —including $100,000,000 for the Canada Council, founded to promote Canadian culture.

The budget spending figure excludes operations of the old-age security fund which had a deficit of $65,400,000 for the nine months. The fund, used to pay universal pensions for Canadians over 70, comes basically from income taxes earmarked for that purpose.

The fund showed a deficit of $22,400,000 in the first nine months of the previous fiscal year.

Both revenue and expenditure figures were higher in the current year's nine - month period than in the corresponding part of the previous year's revenue by $116,300,000 and expenditures by $189,700,000.

December revenue totalled $451,000,000 and expenditures $422,400,000 for a $28,600,000 surplus. This compares to a deficit in December, 1956, of $26,500,000.

Simulated Moon Trips for Students Used to Stir Interest in Science

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If your child comes home from school some day and says he has just made a trip to the moon, don't be surprised.

That's what parents here have been hearing already.

Actually, the students did take a simulated trip to the moon. It was part of a newly conceived program to interest youngsters in science and mathematics.

Engineers from an airplane manufacturing company visited the school, conducted the moon trip, explained how a jet plane is constructed, showed a film, answered questions—and hoped that they had sown the seeds of scientific interest.

The project of arousing scientific interest in the students and in turn bringing them into technological careers is being carried out by the Southern California industry-education council.

The council is sponsored by industries including Hughes, Convair and North American Aviation companies, Kaiser Steel, the National Association of Manufacturers, and by the University of Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles.

It is the first program of its kind and has the interest of the National academy of Sciences, National Science Foundation and President Eisenhower's committee on scientists and engineers.

Coucil director Jack H. Cooper, a college mathematics teacher, says the program already is reaching some 5,000 high school and junior college students. The aim is to expand it by many times and include elementary pupils.

Cooper points out that in 1900 only one out of 250 persons required some knowledge of science and mathematics to hold his job: today that figure is one out of 35, and by the year 2,000 the prediction is that it will be one out of two.

Cleaner Testifies He Was Spy for PC Candidate

TORONTO (CP) — A 57-year-old hospital cleaner who worked for the Liberal party in the June 10 federal election testified Friday he was a paid agent of the Progressive Conservatives.

George Ewing, one of five persons arrested after an investigation of vote padding in Toronto's St. Paul's riding, said he signed false names to documents to gain the confidence of Liberal workrs.

Ewing, who claims his investigations sparked the inquiry, has pleaded not guilty to four charges of forgery and four of uttering

His testimony was confirmed by Paul A. Katz, campaign manager for Roland Michener, now Speaker of the House of Commons, who retained the seat for the Progressive Conservatives.

Katz said Ewing was hired after he told Katz in May he could supply information about vote-padding in the riding.

Another Liberal campaign worker, Bernice Price, 27, convicted earlier of vote - padding charges and sntenced to one month in jail, testified Ewing had been suspected of transferring his allegiance to the Conservatives.

Ewing said he and a friend, Frank Fenney, received about $210 from Mr. Katz and had supplied about 15 names from the padded voters' list.

Ewing told Mr. Justice Frederick H. Barlow and an assize jury that he forged names himself "because I was loyal to the man I worked for, Mr. Michener. I also had to. . .get the correct information."

He said he did not deliberately deceive Mrs. Nora Conacher Gamble, 44, also charged with vote-padding, but gave her the same sort of loyalty she had given him when he ran as an Independent Liberal in the riding.

"She gave me a dirty deal," he said. He withdrew before voting day.

Crown counsel C. F. H. Carson asked Miss Price: "Did Nora Conacher ask Mr. Ewing to do anything for her in your presence?"

Miss Price replied: "Nora told him to get names from apartments."

"Was there any question of Ewing's loyalty to the Liberal party," asked defence counsel H. R. Daiter.

"No, not at that time but later Nora told me she thought he had gone to work for Michener," Miss Price replied.

Reports Warns of Russian Arctic Research Superiority

NEW YORK (CP) — A high-powered military-scientific group has recommended the "complete integration" of United States and Canadian Arctic research.

The 20 - man committee, including two Canadians, made the recommendation in a report that warned of Russian superiority in Arctic research and urged that defence bases be pushed northward as far as possible.

Establishment of missile bases not only in the Arctic but forward on the ice of Arctic waters was termed a possibility that should be studied.

The report contains the findings of the Arctic research advisory committee whose members visited Arctic bases in the period Sept. 23-Oct. 4.

A copy of the once-secret document was made available to The Canadian Press by Dr. Walter A. Wood of the Arctic Institute of North America, on the authority of the U.S. office of naval research.

The committee's Canadian members were Commodore O. C. S. Robertson of the Canadian Joint Staff, Washington, and Dr. Jacques Rousseau of the Canadian Museum of Human History, Ottawa.

"The conclusion reached is that the quality of Arctic research being conducted ranges from high to low and its quantity is unacceptably small," the report said. "We have seriously inadequate scientific information on the cold regions comprising the vital strategic area of the North Polar Basin."

The report emphasized Russia's "historic pre-eminence" in cold regions research and said Soviet bases now are deployed along thousands of miles of the Arctic on the other side of the North Pole, while numerous scientific parties work on the pack ice of the Arctic Ocean in both hemispheres.

Discussing the value of far north bases, the report said the intermediate-range ballistic missile, which the U.S. already has, "becomes an intercontinental missile if launched in the High Arctic."

An American - Canadian build-up in the High Arctic, with highly nuclear weapons, would "threaten the Soviets with a relatively invulnerable offensive force remote from our own heartland and relatively close to their own offensive Arctic deploymenth."

In urging bathymetric (Depth measurement) and oceanographic studies of the Arctic Ocean and the Canadian Archipelago, the report noted that the atomic-powered submarine Nautilus made a voyage of 1,383 miles under ice. Defences had to be planned against Russian submarines that could make similar trips.

"Obviously the study of passages through the Canadian Archipelago falls directly under the scientific purview and sovereign responsibility of the (Canadian) Defence Research Board and the Canadian navy."

It was therefore fortunate that Canada had the Labrador, "the best equipped vessel to conduct this work."

The committee's findings have been sent to the Canadian as well as the U.S. government, and also to some 100 congressmen, Dr. Wood said.

Civilian Rebels Back Junta After Two Officers Ousted

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela's ruling junta has fired two of its military officers, and as a result has won a pledge of support from the civilian patriotic group that sparked the successful revolt against dictator Marcos Perez Jiminez.

The civilian leader, a young newspaper reporter named Fabricio Ojeda, said Friday night's ouster of the two officers who had been closely identified with the fallen regime meant there now is "absolute political unity" in the country.

Ojeda joined with the junta in appealing for an end to rioting and vandalism that has swept Caracas since Perez Jiminez fled early Thursday. But angered mobs still seeking vengeance against the dictator's supporters, and die-hard adherents to Perez Jiminez, continued to roam the capital Friday.

About 300 pearsons have been reported killed and 1,000 wounded in disorders that began with a general strike against Perez Jiminez Tuesday.

Wednesday night senior officers led by Rear-Admiral Wolfgang Larrazabal told Perez Jiminez it was time to go. He fled to the Dominican Republic. Larrazabal and four other officers then took over.

The civilian rebels and a strong young officer faction opposed two junta members, army Col. Roberto Casanova and air force Col. Abel Romero Villate. They were credited with important roles in suppressing a Jan. 1 revolt by the air force and some army units.

Under pressure, the junta dropped the two while adding two civilians, industrialist Eugenio Mendoza and engineer Blas Lambert.

The two ousted colonels and their families were flown to Willemstad in Curacao, a Dutch island about 100 miles northwest of Caracas off the shoulder of South America. They were expected to go to Miami, Fla., today.

Rioters invaded the Nicaraguan Embassy Friday night and shot Lieut. Homero Gonzalez, seriously wounding that former secret police official who had taken refuge there. Troops who came to restore order took him to a hospital.

The Dominican Republic Embassy also was threatened but was not invaded. The target was ex-dictator Juan Peron of Argentina. Dominican Ambassador Rafael Bonnelli said Peron was in the embassy as a guest but had not formally sought political refuge, customarily granted by embassies to political fugitives.

MIDEAST EXPERT DIES

LONDON (AP)—Brig. John Edmund Baird, 57, one of the British Army's leading Middle East experts, died in a hospital Thursday. Baird, who was on leave pending retirement, served in the Middle East for 30 years.

GOVT. TO MAKE CONCESSIONS IN NEW FARM BILL

No Formula for Parity Prices Established

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has gone part of the way in making concessions to meet opposition criticisms of its farm price stabilization bill.

However, changes announced Friday night by Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness still do not establish a formula for parity prices as advocated by the CCF and Social Credit groups in the continuing Commons debate.

Two of four amndments proposed by Mr. Harkness appear to give a greater emphasis to production costs in the establishment of floor prices for farm commodities...

"OTHER FACTORS" GUIDE

One change would ensure that the cabinet "shall be guided by" estimated average production costs and other relevant factors in setting support prices. Previously, the bill proposed only that the cabinet "have regard to" production costs.

A second proposed change would require the agricultural stabilization board, which will administer price supports, to ensure that supports bear a fair relationship to the cost of production instead of to a 10-year average base price as originally proposed.

Two other minor changes would have the board's advisory committee of between six and nine farm representatives meet at least twice a year, and amend the bill's preamble to state its purpose is to give farmers afair share of the national income.

PM IN DEBATE

Prime Minister Diefenbaker personally stepped into the farm debate after Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, called for a snap vote on his motion that the government immediately declare its intentions on amendments it had forecast earlier.

The motion was stalled long enough to allow 30-odd Progressive Conservatives to scurry into the chamber and defeat the motion 63 to 30. The House was in committee of the whole at the time and the government would not have been defeated if the motion had passed.

The prime minister gave another hint of a possible election when he said the opportunity "may not be too long delayed" for the people to express an opinion on the farm bill. The feeling is growing that an election is likely within a couple of months

Earlier, the bill was given second reading by a vote of 110 to 37.

C. A. Best (PC—Halton) said the bill is supported by farmers across Canada and they would express their support at the next election.

Men May Be Using Stolen Police Crusier

TORONTO (CP) — Three men who police said might be using a stolen police cruiser tied up two employees of Stowe-Gould Construction Company in suburban Scarborough Friday and escaped with a $3,000 payroll.

A description of the getaway car led police to believe the vehicle might be the cruiser stolen earlier today while officers were investigating a $11,000 robbery of Masco Electric Company.

'Keeping Our End Up' Is U.S. View Of Race to Harness H-Bomb Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional atomic specialists today appeared generally satisfied that the United States is not being outstripped in the effort to harness the H-bomb reaction for electric power.

"We're keeping our end up," was the tone of comment by members of the Senate-House of Representatives atomic energy committee who were questioned about Friday's joint British-U.S. announcement on the break-through.

Stories in British newspapers had said Britain achieved a significant break-through in this research, but that U.S. pressure had prevented its announcement until American achievements could be shown in a good light.

There seemed little disposition among committee members here even among some who have been critical of U.S. atomic energy commission policies, to accept this view of the situation.

A congressional source who asked not be quoted by name said he thinks the U.S. announcement was "perhaps unnecessarily defensive in tone — we stand up fully in comparison with the British."

This source suggested also that both countries may be holding back some even more promising information in hopes of making a better showing at the September session of the International Atomic Energy Agency in Geneva.

Turk Premier's Baghdad Visit Causes Concern

Believe It May Indicate Iraq Will Quit Alliance

ANKARA (AP)—Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey arrived back in Ankara today after a hasty and mysterious visit to Baghdad, a trip reported to have been made at the urgent request of the Iraq government.

He took off from Baghdad after a night - long conference with King Faisal II, Crown Prince Abdul Illah and Premier Abdul Wahab Morjan. Official sources in the Iraq capital declined to reveal the purpose of the visit.

Menderes' sudden departure Friday—which was announced, but not explained, after he was gone—left diplomats assembling for a conference on Middle East defence and economic co-operation both puzzled and anxious.

MAY QUIT ALLIANCE

The fourth session of the Baghdad Pact's ministerial council opens Monday. Worried officials have been hearing reports that Iraq may be thinking of quitting the alliance.

State Secretary Dulles arrived in Tehran, Iran, Friday for a scheduled 40-hour visit before flying to Ankara. Informed sources in Baghdad said Menderes was to meet Dulles for talks today "somewhere between Baghdad and Tehran."

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain was visibly startled by news of Menderes' departure when informed of it on arriving from London by air Friday night.

Some informants recalled a recent statement by an Iraqi leader that if Iraq had to choose between loyalty to the Arab world and to the Baghdad alliance, it would never betray its Arab brethren.

Canadian Auto Workers Will Be Included

DETROIT (AP) — Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, said Friday that the UAW proposed that auto workers in Canada as well as the United States should participate in his proposed profit-sharing program.

Victor White of Ford local 200 in Windsor, a delegate at a UAW special convention, had asked: "Do Canadian workers share only in the profits made by auto companies in Canada?

Reuther said: "We are still working on that one. But I can tell you we want our people, whether employed in U.S. or Canadian plants of an auto company, to be treated as one group when it comes to profit-sharing."

Teachers Vote To Oust Loafers

TORONTO (CP) — About 850 Toronto secondary school teachers Friday night voted almost unanimously to recommend a removal systems for students who are loafers.

A majority agreed loafers retarded the progress of other members of the class, made teaching more difficult and that their removal would be beneficial to education.

10 Inches Snow Dumped on Hamilton Area

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two storms moving north across the United States brought heavy snow today to many regions of central Canada and the eastern Prairies. The heaviest fall was reported in southwestern Ontario, particularly along the north shore of lakes Ontario and Erie.

Hamilton reported up to 10 inches of new snow by early morning with more expected during the day. Toronto had three to five inches of snow by 9 a.m. and London, Ont. had six. In Windsor, snow during the night had turned to rain early today.

The weatherman in Toronto said a secondary storm developed today east of Ohio, where the main storm was weakening, and was expected to move north into Eastern Canada during the weekend.

Southern Ontario would likely get snow or rain most of the weekend, he said, with the possibility of skies clearing by Monday. Little change was expected in temperatures in Southern Ontario which ranged between 20 and 30 during the night.

Pay-to-Shoot Farms Assailed As Hunters Meet

KINGSTON (CP)—Walter Wilson of Eugenia, president of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, says pay-to-shoot farm must not be allowed to get out of control.

Discussion of the farm system, under which owners stock land with game birds and charge hunters to shoot them, arose Friday as a three-day federation convention opened.

Some delegates said the game farm system is beneficial, others argued there is a danger of its taking public land out of use.

The delegates agreed to ask the federation executive to study the problem further at a March meeting.

Secretary-Manager P. V. Sulton of Ridgetown said the executive will meet with the Ontario Game Bird Breeders' Association at their invitation to discuss such problems.

Six game farms have been established in Ontario.

WAR ON MALARIA

Art Collection Of Distinct Value Says Ex-Mayor

The city of Belleville has the nucleus of a very fine museum which would be of distinct value to the community, but unfortunately has no place to put it.

This is the position of city council with respect to the Salaman art collection which two years ago was willed to the city by Mrs. Salaman, former Belleville woman who lived on the Isle of Wight in the English Channel. The art collection and other museum articles are now in storage pending the provision of a suitable building where they can be displayed.

This week at city council a report on the collection from Ex-Mayor Mrs. Jane Forrester, was read. Mrs. Forrester, along with City Manager Drury Denyes, Mr. Thomas Wrightmeyer and Alderman Doug Moxam, inspected the contents of the many crates now in storage.

Mrs. Forrester said they had been agreeably surprised with the contents which included pictures, furniture, Chinese items, silverware and other ornaments.

"All in all, Belleville is fortunate in having the nucleus of a very fine museum, perhaps not of National Gallery quality, but definitely of distinct value to the community," Mrs. Forrester reported.

Mrs. Forretser noted that on the whole the collection was much better than she had seen in many centres and noted it was a shame that all this should remain in storage and not be on display.

Thurlow Assoc. Names J. Padget As President

Mr. J. Padget was named president of the Thurlow Ratepayers Association held at S. S. 20 this week.

Other officers include, vice-president, Bill Meens; secretary, Fred Ballantyne; treasurer, Art Loucks, members-at-large, Gordon Hutchinson, S. Martin.

During the business session five motions were adopted by the association.

Two members will be appointed to attend the next Thurlow township council meeting to request that body to work in conjunction with the Department of Highways on the matter of replacing the sidewalk from Herchimer Avenue to S. S. 20 public school.

Letters will be forwarded from the association to the Department of Highways and Roscoe Robson M.L.A. expressing the association's dissatisfaction with the lack of action on the above-menioned sidewalk.

The meeting endorsed the consideration of the formation of a social committee.

It also went on record as requesting the Thurlow township council to re-schedule its meetings from afternoons to evenings for the convenience of ratepayers desirous of attending.

It passed a motion that general meetings be held the second Wednesday of the month starting in February.

Ross Bailey, newly-elected member of the Thurlow council addressed the meeting stressing the need of the ratepayers association and township council working together for the general good of the community.

PLAN SOLDIER-FARMERS

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Communist China's army will rear pigs and grow vegetables following big cuts in expenditure decided at an army conference the New China news agency reported today from Peiping. The yearly targets are one pig to each 15 to 20 men in the army and up to 80 per cent of the army's requirements for vegetables.

Raymond Dupuis Will Address C of C Meeting

Guest speaker at the Chamber of Commerce's 93rd annual meeting on Monday evening will be Raymond Dupuis, well known Montreal businessman who has given much of his time to Chamber of Commerce activities.

He is the immediate past-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and is a director of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. Mr. Dupuis is president and managing director of Dupuis Freres Ltee, a large Montreal department store and mail order house which his grand - uncle, J. Nazaire Dupuis founded in 1868.

The distinguished guest is on the board of directors of a number of large Canadian companies, among them being the Royal Bank of Canada, Dominion Tar and Chemical Ltd. and the Canada Life Assurance Co.

In 1955 he was a member of a federally - appointed committee which studied federal sales taxes. Mr. Dupuis is active in fields of charity, education and culture.

Born in Montreal in 1907, he is the son of the late Albert Dupuis, Chevalier de Saint Gregoire, and Henriette Beuliac Dupuis. He graduated from the College Mont - Saint - Louis and the University of Montreal's law school. He was called to the Quebec bar in 1930 and was appointed a King's Counsel in 1945.

Mr. Dupuis is married and the father of three children.

Police Blotter

Minor motor vehicle accidents caused in the main by drivers failing to realize the slippery roadways, were reported today by both city and provincial police.

In the city two or three mishaps involving dented fenders were reported, while in the rural area the same number were reported, two with damage of less than $100.

North of the city on No. 37 Highway, a car driven by Kenneth Bouder, R. R. 6, Belleville, went off the highway and crashed into a telephone pole, breaking the pole.

BCI Basketball Teams Take Two From Quinte

By DONN MARTINSON

B.C.I. basketball teams took two of three games from their rivals at Quinte on Friday night. The B.C.I. juniors lost their game by one point.

The B.C.I. bantams with their fast break and height were too much for the Quinte team in the first half as they boosted a 14-7 lead at the half. In the second half Quinte bantams began to handle the ball better but B.C.I. led my Robbie Blaker with 8 points in the second half outscored Quinte 16-11 to take the verdict 30-18. Peter Annis and Robbie Blaker led the B.C.I. attack as they each potted nine points while Thompson led the losers with 12 points.

The junior game which was interrupted several times by arguments was close right down to the wire. The play was close in the first half with Quinte holding a slight edge in the play and they left the floor at half with 20-16 lead. B.C.I. in the second half played better ball and outscored Quinte 28-25 on the second half but fell one point short as they dropped their first game of the season 45-44. Bill Skelly led the B.C.I. scorers as he dropped in 22 points and close behind him was Brian MacKenize with 18 points. Bill Green was the "big gun" for Quinte with 19 points.

The B.C.I. seniors continued their winning ways at Quinte with an impressive 46-34 win over the Quinte squad. The first half was rather dull and close-checking half with B.C.I. holding a slim 22-16 lead at the half. The play in the second half was a little more entertaining with B.C.I. outscoring the opposition 24-18 to take the game 46-34. B.C.I. could have piled up a much higher score because they were only able to make 8 out of the 23 foul shots. Garry Stephanson was top man for B.C.I. as he swished in 14 points. Close behind him were Roger Walters and Gord Irwin who each hooped eleven points. Jim Green scored 18 points for the losers.

POINTS

B.C.I.V.S. Bantams: Annis 9, Skinner 5, Duguid 2, Roberts 2, Blaker 9, Blakely 1, Weston 2, C. Wallbridge, B. Wallbridge and Sinclair — 30.

Quinte seniors: Hobbs 9, J. Green 18, Poste 2, Clarke 3, Lucas 2, Marriott, McCullough, Ellis, McBride, Blackburn — 34.

County Council Approves Request to Hold '61 Plowing Match in Belleville Area

Hastings County Council wound up its January session Friday afternoon, giving final ratification to the many issues which had been the topic of debate during the week.

It also saw the conclusion of the first session of Warden Lloyd H. Price who on Tuesday was named county council head, succeeding Warden Leslie McLaren of Tyendinaga township, who has retired from municipal life.

During the last day of the session, council gave formal approval to a request to officially invite the International Plowing match to be held in the Belleville area in 1961. Earlier during the session there had been considerable discussion on the matter. Along with agreeing to extend the invitation to bring the big plowing match here council voted a grant of $1,000 to the Plowman's Association as a measure of good faith. The invitation will be extended by the agricultural committee.

Grants of $5,000 to the Children's Aid Society to cover the expenses of their preventive officer and $1,000 to the Bancroft hospital were approved, as were regulation grants to the various rural public libraries in the county.

Council approved of a resolution tabled by Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora township asking the federal government to extend its grant aid to conservation work to assist in the cost of smaller water storage dams on the Moira watershed.

This would make possible small water storage dams in the upper reaches of the watershed which in his opinion would be valuable along with the proposed ice control dam north of College Street, to assist in eliminating floods in Belleville. At the same time the water storage dams would increase flow conditions during the dry summer months.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc township said as the matter now stood the federal government did not participate in conservation projects of less than $5 million in cost.

Reeve Charles Buskard of Deloro agreed that this was the case as his municipality had tried without success to have the federal government participate in the cost of the Deloro dam.

"I don't think you will get to first base with your resolution," stated Mr. Buskard, noting that the federal government had intentionally set the $5 million figure in order to eliminate the hundreds of requests for aid on small projects which otherwise would be made.

Council also passed a recommendation authorizing its assessment committee to work out with the county assessor a program of uniformity among the townships in certain assessing problems.

Members of the county assessment committee appointed by Warden Price include Deputy Reeve Harry Pound of Thurlow, and Reeves James Spry of Rawdon, George Spencer of Frankford and John Horsepool of Faraday township, along with the warden.

Memberships in several municipal organizations and other bodies were renewed and council delegates named to attend annual conventions.

A grant of $1,000 for junior farmer extension work in the county was approved, along with the customary grants for the county soil and crop improvement association and the spring show at Peterborough.

A request for a grant of $500 from the Stirling Centennial Committee saw opposition from members who finally approved a grant of $250.

Deputy Reeve Harry Pound noted the Carmel community had held an old boys' reunion several years ago with success without asking for a county grant, while Reeve W. A. Shannon of Marmora said this had also been the case with his municipality.

He agreed, however, that the Stirling endeavor was a commendable effort, saying that it spoke well for the pride of the people of the community. He said it was a progressive idea and much good could come from it.

Reeve J. V. Holt of Stirling said his village's program was not an old boys' reunion but was celebrating Stirling's centennial and thus was of more county-wide interest.

The Friday afternoon session also saw approval of a grant for $900 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and also saw tree commissioners named to enforce the provisions of the county's tree cutting by-law.

The three commissioners, who will act only on complaints of by-law contravention, are Leslie McLaren, representing the south part of the county; T. C. Graham, of Tweed, for central Hastings, and Robert McWhirter for North Hastings.

Council also agreed the tree cutting by-law should be printed in poster form, these posters to be displayed at stores and other meeting places to give residents the opportunity of knowing what is covered under the by-law.

The county publicity committee budget was set at $800 with councillors turning down a suggestion from the committee chairman, Reeve J. V. Holt of Stirling, that the budget be raised to $1,000

He said the extra money might be necessary this year to commence a suggested program of the county establishing picnic sites and other facilities along county roads.

The idea saw mixed reception from councillors, one thought being that it was a good idea and the other that there was a possibility of the matter getting out of hand.

BIG UPKEEP PROBLEM

Reeve Alf Wickett of Thurlow pointed out that the roadside parks were possibly a good idea but if the program was started there would be a big upkeep problem in keeping the same parks clean.

Reeve Charles Buskard felt the Moira River Conservation Authority was doing a justifiable effort along this line.

On the other hand Reeve Holt did not see the upkeep problem as a serious one. "Getting the program started is the big item," he said.

Reeve Wickett noted the present unemployment situation and agreed that an extra $200 for the county of Hastings was but "peanuts."

"But $200 here and $200 there and the first thing you have a part of a mill," he said. "I think we councillors are here to give the best possible service for the least possible money."

Reeve Shannon took the attitude that little could be accomplished in the way of roadside parks for the extra $200. He agreed that the publicity committee had done an excellent job but felt that $200 extra would not go too far.

Reeve J. N. Brown, Bancroft, was of the same opinion, and suggested the publicity committee get a definite program for roadside parks ready for another year's presentation to council.

WILL PUBLISH BOOKLET

Reeve Holt said that the council would again co-operate with the City of Belleville and the Chamber of Commerce in publishing the tourist booklet, "Highlands of Hastings."

Much of the morning session was taken up with the discussion of assessment problems, mainly the duty of municipalities in picking up supplementary assesment following the closing of the regular assessment roll.

It was revealed that some municipalities where there was little growth there was no supplementary assessment picked up, while in others this was followed very closely. Council felt that there should be some uniformity of practice. County assessor Cecil Geen said, however, that under the act he had no authority to police assessors into doing this, although in every case he had advised doing so.

Reeve Charles Buskard wanted to know whose duty it was to see that the assessors carried out their duties properly. He was told by Reeve John Horsepool that in his (Reeve Horsepool's) opinion, it was up to the reeves.

"There are 32 reeves in the county," returned Reeve Buskard. "Who is going to police them?"

NO ACTION TAKEN

No action was taken on a request from Hospital Administrator Kenneth Box for county representatives on the hospital Board of Governors be made for a three-year term instead of for one year as has been the practice. The request, made by letter, pointed out that if was difficult for a member to learn the workings of the board in a one-year term.

Council appointed Reeve W. A. Shannon and Warden Price as board representatives from the county.

At the close of the session it was agreed that members of the finance committee should attend a joint meeting of county council authorities to be held in Peterborough for the discussion of jail salaries. The committee will report back at the next meeting of council.

Reeve J. N. Brown of Bancroft, as chairman of the finance committee, said new washroom facilities would be provided at the courthouse with tenders to be called for the work.

Thanks to Warden Price for the efficient manner in which he had conducted the council session was expressed by Reeve Charles Buskard.

Snow Flurries Keep Buyers From Market

Snow flurries this morning seemed to keep buyers away from the weekly market in downtown Belleville and growers were in short supply.

Carrots and beets sold for 25 cents a half peck; parsnips, 35c a half peck; cabbages, 10 and 15c each; turnips, 5 to 15 cents; potatoes, $2.25 a bag; Spanish onions, $1.25 for six quarts and sauerkraut, 25c a quart.

Extra large eggs were 50c; large, 45; medium, 40.

McIntosh, Spies, Courtlands and Salomes, $2.75 a bushel; Sweets, $2.50 and Delicious, $3.50.

Inside the market building were the usual displays of baking and miscellaneous goods.

Prescription Pharmacists

A GOOD NAME is the FINEST ENDORSEMENT
Almost daily, new drugs appear which we are urged to offer. To reject the unproved products is just as important to this pharmacy as is the service of being alert to provide the newest and the best.
There are certain helpful guides on which we rely. Reliable pharmaceutical manufacturers, such as Parke, Davis & Company, establish quality and effectiveness with exhaustive clinical tests before a product is announced. Your Doctor is then given facts, and on his judgment we rely in making our decision.
Thus, if a preparation is in our stock, you are assured of its reliability.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Religion for Young People

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The week — Protestant youngsters have a special chance this week to talk among themselves and with their elders about what they believe. This is National Youth Week, sponsored this year and every year at this time by the United Christian Youth Movement, a part of the National Council of Churches.

Appealing to ten million Protestant young people between the ages of 12 and 24, National Youth Week will pose important questions about their faith. The theme underlying all study and discussion sessions during the week will be "Lord, Help Our Unbelief," reminiscent of the man who in St. Mark, chapter 9, verse 24 said to Jesus, "Lord, I believe. Help thou my unbelief."

College student Gladden Schrock, of Manchester College, Indiana, president of United Christian Youth, keynotes the week's emphasis by saying, "There is a new urgency for us in the nuclear age to know what our faith is and to relate it to the life and death decisions of our generation."

To help the young people talk about their religion, the following questions, typical of many more, are put to them:

Why do you go to church? Is it because you were brought up that way, because of habit, because your friends go, because it makes you feel good?

Should a Christian be peaceful and contented, or concerned and troubled?

Should there be any difference apparent between Christians and non-Christians?

The questions may seem a little "loaded," but many an adult would do well to ponder them.

Youth Week as a special observance closes next Sunday, but the use of the study materials provided by the National Council will go on in young people's groups throughout the year.

UNCANONIZED SAINT

Tuesday, Jan. 28 — Today is a strange sort of day in the church calendar. It honors Charlemagne, ninth century King of the Franks and first Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire, but, strictly speaking, he has no right to such honor.

Parisian college students talk about "Saint" Charlemagne, and so did Joan of Arc. Scholars say he merits the title "Blessed." But he has never been officially either beatified or canonized.

Charlemagne was without doubt a great king, a great warrior, and a great man. King of the Franks while still a child, he was by that position automatically the protector of the Pope and of the Roman church. By statesmanship and military genius he brought together the somewhat vague linking of central European countries which became known as the Holy Roman Empire, and on Christmas day in the year 800 Pope Leo III crowned him the first sovereign of that nebulous empire.

In the Middle Ages there grew up a great body of legend about Charlemagne, and it is mostly on this imaginative material his reputation for holiness rests.

However, there is enough truth about him to make him worth commemorating, as a great historical figure if not as a saint. During his time of leadership he reformed church discipline, he improved church music, and he made large and lasting contributions to education.

Today's festival is by no means universal in the Roman Catholic church, but it is faithfully kept in churches in Belgium and Switzerland.

DO ANGELS MARRY?

Wednesday, Jan. 29 — A small but tremendously active religious group (less than 10,000 in the United States) are the Swedenborgians, who call their church the New Church, or less frequently the New Jerusalem Church. Emanuel Swedenborg, from whom their popular name comes, had no intention whatever of starting a church.

Born on this day in 1688, Swedenborg (originally Svedberg) began adult life as a scientist, and through his advanced scientific ideas soon won elevation to the Swedish nobility. By 1736, however, he was having mystical experiences and it became clear to him that he was a direct instrument of God.

He gave up both scientific study and government service and devoted himself entirely to religion. He felt he was divinely commissioned to reveal the inner and hidden meaning of the Holy Scriptures. Among his revelations was the idea that the angels were formerly human beings, and that in heaven they marry (spiritually, not physically) and live together in communities.

Swedenborg died in 1772. Fifteen years later the New Church, based on his insights, was organized — in London. The first Swedenborgians in America appeared in Baltimore in 1792.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

ROYALTY'S FALCON

By WINIFRED WILSON

The land of jaegers, red-throated loons, and ptarmigans is the home of gyrfalcons also. These most northerly members of the hawk tribe wander from the treeless tundra only in the most bitter weather, but at that time may appear anywhere in Canada or just across our southeastern border. However, it is not the extreme cold, but a lack of their favorite food that sends them far afield from their normal range. Little lemmings and Arctic hares are their ordinary diet, supplemented by birds which vary according to the season.

A few sticks with a skimpy amount of moss and grass are placed at the edge of a cliff in preparation for a young family. Care is taken to choose a location in close proximity to a colony of birds that can be preyed upon to feed the falcon nestlings. Murres, kittiwakes, and tiny dovekies, all dwellers in cliff colonies, are the principal sufferers from these invasions. Sandpipers, eider ducks, and old squaws help to make up the summer diet.

In winter, ptarmigans do not normally migrate, but flocks spread out, travelling on foot in a southerly direction to avoid the land of continual darkness. Gyrfalcons have the habit of following these flocks to prey upon them throughout the winter. Occasionally, the falcons come far enough down to encounter and feed upon flocks of gulls wintering on the coast.

UNPREDICTABLE

The coloring of Gyrfalcons is quite unpredictable, varying from almost ure white, through numerous shades of grey, to almost black. Canadian birds are mostly, though not always, dark; whereas those of Greenland are said to be generally white, looking remarkably like snowy owls with small heads. These Greenland birds have the odd habit of nesting very early in the year, even in January.

Gyrfalcons are heavily built, with comparatively long, tapering tails and triangular wings. Their mode of flight is with short, powerful wingbeats, interspersed by gliding. They generally fly close to the ground, watching for prey, and when they spy it they hover above it, then plunge down, grabbing it in powerful talons.

Because of their unequalled endurance and speed of attack, for centuries hawks in the Old World were carried on the wrist to the hunt. Norman law reserved the privilege of keeping them to persons of high rank. In the 16th century each grade in society owned a different king, the Gyrfalcon, largest and most powerful of all, being reserved exclusively for royalty.

MORE PICTURES

GLASGOW, Scotland (CP) — James Gunn, who has painted a portrait of the Queen, won £40 worth of paintings in an art union draw here. He said: "My house is pretty full of pictures, but there's still room for some more."

GROWING UP

GILLINGHAM, England (CP) —Pupils at Gillingham Technical School for Boys in this Kent town didn't like the "boys" in the title, because most of them are over 16. The education committee has changed the name to Gillingham Technical High School.

CHOOSE STUDENTS

OTTAWA (CP) — Forty-eight university students from across Canada have been chosen to work in the Canadian pavillion at the Brussels International Exhibition April 17-Oct. 19.

THAT COUNTY COURT HOUSE

The Hastings County Court House presents a different face to different people.

One Supreme Court justice has listed it as the exception which proves the rule that the worst courtroom facilities in Ontario are those in cities near the U.S. border. Another justice has made remarks equally uncomplimentary. They have had support from lawyers and laymen.

To most Belleville residents, we suspect, the Hastings County Court House is that old stone building high above Pinnacle Street.

Just how they feel about it will depend upon how they feel about old stone buildings. We happen to belong to that group which feels that old stone has a dignity which will always escape those glass-fronted structures which typify mid-twentieth century architecture. That does not mean that we dislike these latest examples of the builder's art, but merely that we think there is still a proud place for those magnificent structures erected by our forefathers.

Thus, when we approached the Hastings County Court House the other day to discover for ourselves whether it was in such a deplorable condition as some might conclude from reading recent reports, we did so with a prejudice in its favor.

Even the grime the years have put on stone failed to hide its beauty, as far as we were concerned, and the suggestion by the Grand Jury at the most recent sittings of the Supreme Court that this stone should be cleaned, by sandblasting or some other method, did not strike a responsive chord. New stone buildings are handsome, too, but they are not old stone buildings; why try to make the latter look like the former?

There is more to be said for the jury's suggestion that the exterior woodwork be painted. Is there anything more ugly, in a building of any age, than woodwork which has been neglected? It creates an impression which even the flossiest interior has difficulty in eradicating.

Doors of public buildings should open out, not in. That is a rule which every safety expert will endorse.

Stepping into the building one is met by an odor of cooking. Now there are cooking odors and cooking odors, but this court house cooking odor is not the kind that puts sparkle in the eye, a lift in the step, a smile on the lips and hunger in the stomach. This was an odor of cabbage, stale cabbage. It was very unpleasant

For the sake of the impression which old stone buildings have on some of us, that odor ought to be eliminated. Otherwise, our love of the court house will be lost as we step through the door. A simple exhaust fan in the kitchen of the jail ought to do the trick.

Our mental attitude more in step with that of the Grand Jury, we commenced a short tour of the building. The halls were far from impressive; but glimpses of the offices were. There was bright tile, and expensive plywood panelling and fluorescent lighting; a contrast, perhaps, with the venerable exterior but bespeaking of pleasant working quarters and of a progressive approach to the problem of remodelling an old building to fit it to the needs of today's workers.

The second floor was not so impressive. Stairs, both front and back, need repairing. Steps of the front stairs slope toward the bannisters. Part of the heating system is evidently old and of the type which "clanks" and we are told it does. The fault can ofttimes be remedied by employing a heating engineer and acting on his advice.

The main court room is perhaps rather small in area, with a ceiling so high that we could believe stories of bad acoustics. But it is, withal, somehow dignified and seemed to us to tell a story of the traditions of our justice, coming to us slowly broadened down, precedent by precedent, throughout many generations. The jury box has new seats; the judge's chair is older than the one in which we sit while writing this but, we suspect, as comfortable, even without the big thick rubber cushion which graced it. Spectators sit on wooden benches. They are hard, but at least they would not squeak, as do some of the cheaper substitutes found in some places of public assembly. The lawyers are getting a new room and already have a library of what would appear to be more than adequate size.

About the washroom facilities for women we know nothing, but if the present accommodation is no better than that for men, some improvement is desirable.

Does all this add up to a distressing picture? We do not think so, when the faults listed are compared with the size of the building, the number of offices it accommodates and the evident effort made to improve these accommodations. In brief, we found ourselves reading with sympathy the account of the debate by the Hastings County Council on the question. We agree with what we take to be the concensus of its members that what is required is not an immediate "blitz" campaign to make over the old building into the image of something modern, but a long-term program of renovation.

Some things, though, ought to be undertaken promptly. At the head of the list we would place elimination of the unpleasant cooking odors and repainting the exterior woodwork.

Soft seats for spectators at court can come later. This is one instance where hard justice will do nobody any real harm.

Compulsory Insurance

New York Times

Governor Meyner apparently caught some of his official family by surprise when, in his annual message, he urged that serious consideration be given to the adoption by New Jersey of compulsory liability insurance for automobiles. But, if he took the action on his personal initiative and conviction that the public wanted it, this was compatible with his sustained interest in highway and traffic problems. It also reflects, probably, some dissatisfaction with the workings of the unsatisfied claims and judgments fund set up in 1954, as not being the complete answer for the innocent victim of the uninsured. This fund originally drew its financial support in part from the insured driver, but now relies on an $8 annual charge on the uninsured.

Many states are studying compulsory insurance, following New York's example preceded in turn by that of Massachusetts. It is especially gratifying that one of New York's closest neighbors, host to and source of many motorist migrants, may join us in this policy of insistence that every car on the road must be financially prepared to pay for damage it does to person or property.

This is a good time to note, however, that New York's law —while working very well—is not yet perfect. It still fails to cover the victims of hit-run, stolen and uninsured out-of-state cars. The Legislature now in session at Albany should remedy this failure of past sessions.

What It Took To Buy Lathe

St. Thomas Times - Journal

The Canadian Manufacturers Association reports that a vivid illustration of the consequences of soaring costs to one company, in terms of replacement of a vital piece of machinery, is given in the company's annual report, quoted in a recent issue of an employee magazine. Although the company is an American one, the figures quoted can be said to have general application to Canada.

In 1942, the company bought a lathe at a cost of $12,000. Under U.S. federal tax laws, the cost would be depreciated over a 14-year period. So, last year, when the lathe needed to be replaced, there was $12,000 set aside, plus an additional $1,000 which was the resale value of the old lathe.

However, by 1956, the same model lathe that had sold for $12,000 in 1942 was selling for $35,000, and a new model with attachments to meet the advanced needs of the industry cost $67,000. So the company found itself with only $13,000 to buy a $67,000 piece of equipment.

The additional $54,000, of course, could only come from profits But clearing $54,000 meant that the company had to make a profit of $112,000, before taxes and to make that much profit the company had to sell more than $1,250,000 worth of products to customers.

In other words, it took a million and a quarter dollars of sales to replace a single lathe, and not one cent went to the stockholders!

Letter To The Editor

Supports Reducing Size of Council

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

If you could find space in your paper for a few comments on Monday's council meeting re the proposed reduction in the membership of city council as approved by the people of Belleville in the recent election, I would like to say that as to the by-law being superfluous, as stated by Alderman Collins.

The people supported it to insure the continuance of city manager form of government and so that it will not operate at the desire of different councils. As to his statement re the re-introduction of committees, I would point out that this move is not necessary under a manager form of government and was not introduced under Mr. Herring, but maybe has been necessary because the council, against advice, saw fit to combine the offices of manager and treasurer.

As to traffic, we have recently employed a works commissioner who should be familiar with our traffic problems, also parking.

Alderman Grandame speaks of the problems facing council as being his reason for opposition to reduction of council. Up-to-date, with fourteen members, no permanent solution to these problems has been reached, which to my mind proves that the reduction is necessary.

To sum up, committees under manager government are not necessary as council members should function as policy-makers, with details to be left to department heads, guided by the manager, thereby leaving council time to inquire into such things as new methods of financing education and other essential moves that will be of benefit to our city.

Finally is Alderman Moxam not aware that we do not have ward representation and if he is and believes this to be best system why hasn't he introduced a by-law to return to that system?

Art Cole.

This Eskimo Beats a Map

Ottawa Journal

An airliner carried home 12 Eskimos who had received treatment at a Hamilton sanitarium and the machine landed at Great Whale River and Port Harrison and then flew on to Povungnituk which is less than a metropolis. The plane circled over the snow and a member of the crew came back to say they were near the place marked on the map but could not find the settlement.

An Eskimo went up to the pilot's cabin, looked at the map, looked at the landscape and pointed: "That way." The plane flew in that direction for two minutes and there below was the landing strip and people waiting with their welcome.

All we can add is that we can't identify Ottawa from the air until we are close enough to read the time on the Peace Tower clock.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ADVENTURE

What a strange and different world this would have been had not there lived adventurous men and women. The spirit of adventure is born in us all, but there are those who refuse to acknowledge the fact. Those who do, however, have earned our gratitude. They have been the fathers of progress — the Pioneers about whom Whitman wrote.

Adventurers live a happy and stimulated life. They ask the whys and dismiss the can'ts. Every scientist is an adventurer. So is the inventor. It was the adventure angle that appealed strongest to Lindbergh, and it was the character of the man that gave him his great success. If there are those who wish to take on the task of flying to the Moon I wish them well, for it will entail the greatest adventure ever attempted by man! The majority, however, will decide to stick close to Mother Earth.

Take it all in all, we should welcome any adventure that would give us delight and satisfaction. We can always be proud of those early pioneers who went through hunger and privations to journey all over this earth that they might discover new lands and treasures that have enriched mankind. Imagine the inward joy in Edison's mind when he finally succeeded in the invention of the electric light. From my office widow at night I look upon a city that is a fairyland. Its streams and masses of light earn for it the name of "The Magic City." They were endowed adventurers who built New York's "Empire State" building! What an asset is adventure, especially for a useful achievement!

KEEP TRYING

You can back this to the limit, what you are in life today
Is the sum of goals you've tried for as you've journeyed on your way;
And the fortune and the glory that may be in store for you
You will only claim and gather by the things you try to do.

Sitting down and fearing failure never got man anywhere.
Roads that yesterday were quagmires men today in comfort fare.

The "impossible" is only what we haven't learned to do,
But somebody's going to try it and some day he'll do it, too.

It's the man who tries who conquers, not the timid soul and frail;
The successes are the fellows who were not afraid to fail.
You can back this to the limit,
that young man will never rise
Who looks for problems easy, and the hard ones never tries.

Where to Find Quiet Place?

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Those who enjoy reading, meditating or just sitting while travelling will be dismayed to learn that one of the most mobile refuges from the human tongue, the British train or subway, is to be invaded by conversation.

In an effort to break down the traditional reticence of British travellers, Charles Gullick, an inspector in a London plastics factory, has formed a Conversing Travellers' Association. Members will wear CTA lapel badges — signifying their willingness to indulge in topical conversation with strangers of either sex so as to relieve what Mr. Gullick calls the "boredom of travel".

One thing to be said for this movement for loquacious travellers is that it identifies those who want to join in conversational marathons. But will those without badges be able to retain their freedom to be silent?

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

I do not hold with Rev. Tom Malthus, of Jesus College, Cambridge, who in 1798 predicted that the population of the earth would soon increase beyond the means of subsistence. By now, according to him, the human race should have vanished from the earth more completely than we at present fear it may from the effect of hydrogen bombs. Nor do I hold with the contemporary optimists among the scientists who assure us that the advances in technology will keep us, as regards sustenance, abreast of the vast annual increase in population.

In the United States, for example, the population is increasing at the rate of 3,000,000 a year. Here in Canada, it is increasing by 240,000 a year.

What I suggest as a middle course is this. We should all start right now looking for nice 100 acre lots, somewhere up in the Yukon, or the Barren lands; or maybe up back of Hudson Bay, or in Ungava. We should buy them, and file our title deeds in unassailable registry offices, maybe in the vaults of Ottawa. No fertility is required of the hundred acres we buy. We must make certain there are not the slightest mineral prospects in it. Indeed if it is land without a single attractive quality, so much the better. All that is required is one hundred acres of space on the planet, in the middle of which we can sit by ourselves.

For the greatest desire in the crawling world that begins to take shape will not likely be for food. It will be for escape from our own kind.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Improved Nutrition Means Better Health

A rheumatologist is a specialist who tells you in an expensive way that the cause of arthritis remains a mystery; that there is no such thing as a cure; that some victims may "feel better" as the result of adopting an improved diet, but their arthritis is not cured; that cortisone or other "miracle" drugs may bring dramatic relief in some cases but the relief is only temporary; and that of all treatments prescribed for arthritis, aspirin and similar salicylates give the most relief on any sustained basis, although such treatment has no curative effect.

This is substantially the view set forth in the latest bulletin from the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, 23 W. 45th St., New York 36, N.Y.

If the "improved diet" so grudgingly mentioned makes victims feel better, it ought to be worth describing in sufficient detail to enable a few million victims to follow it, I should think. The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation should issue a bulletin describing an 'improved diet", for the benefit of persons with chronic joint disability who cannot afford to consult a rheumatologist — and probably would get little satisfaction if they did.

The principal faults that must be corrected, by diet or otherwise, are insufficient daily intake of calcium, vitamin D, iodin and vitamin B — complex.

Trying this for a month or so won't do any harm, whatever form or stage of "arthritis," or as I call it, rheumatiz, you may have. But don't be silly. The degenerative changes in the joint tissues have been going on for years. You can hardly expect to retard, arrest or reserve degeneration in a few weeks of better nutrition.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WASTELAND

"I'm sorry."

These two words are easy to say. They slip off the tongue of the superficial person with the greatest of ease. But seldom do they mean much. Almost never do they constitute real repentance for wrong doing.

True repentance really tears one apart. When a person is sincere and capable of deep feeling, an expression of sorrow over weakness involves real struggle. The great St. Augustine wrote after his historic renunciation of an evil life: "I became to myself a wasteland." When one has truly seen his evil and truly repented of it, the effect is so fundamentally disturbing that the penitent remembers it throughout the whole of his life.

There is a great deal of talk in every generation about the trial of unanswered prayer. Many people agonize over the fact that try as they will their highest spiritual aspirations are never attained There may be many reasons for this. One often is that the person does not prepare himself properly to receive heaven's best gifts because he does not really clean house before he asks God to come in and abide there. He may say "I'm sorry," but he doesn't really repent. When he does repent, he knows it and remembers it forever.

He becomes to himself a wasteland.

Belleville in the '90s

MORE ABOUT 1898 GOLD RUSH

Article 4

As stated before, 1898 was the year of the big gold rush to the Klondike, Yukon Territory. According to a Belleville paper of February 3rd, the federal government was much concerned about building a railway into the new gold fields.

The story in part was that Mackenzie & Mann, who many years later built a new railway through Belleville, had been given the contract to push a new road into the Yukon. The company had taken men and teams, then at work on the Crow's Nest Pass through the Rockies, had dispatched them north. (Incidentally that railway was never built.)

Meanwhile a certain Major Walsh, in a letter to the Hon. Clifford Sifton, from the Big Salmon River in the Yukon, was to throw cold water on such a scheme. The major did not believe that 5,000 could get into the country. "I am informed," he wrote, "that 15 or 20 agents and brokers have come out from Dawson, carrying with them hundreds, some say thousands, of certificates for entries of mines on all the streams in the neighborhood of the Klondike River that I believe there never was an ounce of gold found on, and on all other streams in the neighborhood, and to the mountain tops, with the hope that they can put on the market and be readily seized by the gullible public of the United States and Canada. They are trying to imitate the brokers of South Africa and Rossland. If this is true there is no question but it will be injurious to the country and to good properties that may be put on the market."

Of course, as it turned out, the major was all wrong. at least 30,000 people crowded into the Klondike and it is estimated that within five years over twenty-two million dollars in gold was recovered.

An interesting sidelight of the gold rush was the awarding of a contract to the CPR to bring 500 reindeer across the Atlantic from Norway. These animals were unloaded at Halifax, and it took two trains to carry them to Seattle for shipment north by the United States government to serve in a relief capacity if required.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Special Problems Must Be Solved By Executive Quitting 'Rat Race'

By THOMAS COLLINS

This is one for the boss.

It is the retirement story of a man who would be called an executive, if executive weren't becoming an ugly word. It is being told because an increasing number of men at management level are running into bad messes in retirement . . . and because $100 a week guys shouldn't think they have all the problems.

The man retired two years ago at age 62. His name, to a few intimates in business, was "Governor." He thinks it's best to leave it at that.

His story:

"I was with a large retail merchandising outfit and had about forty people under me. 'It was rough, but probably no more so than any similar merchandising job. And like most good jobs, it was uncertain — next month I could be kicked out the back door or promoted to vice-president.

"I lived the job, eating, sleeping and drinking problems. . ."

He made up his mind over a period of months that life could be sweeter. His wife agreed. He began quietly to search for a "retirement job" — in the business he knew best, in a small city, and in an area not too far from where he was born.

He found one, as assistant to the president of what he calls "a dry goods and notions chain." His pay was a straight $4,800 a year.

"I've had it for two years now. I'm happy with it. And I've learned a few secrets about executive retirement:

MUST HAVE NERVE

"1. You've got to have a little nerve. I didn't know my new job wouldn't turn my stomach, or that I wouldn't be fired in six weeks. So my wife and I gambled. We had $18,000 in our house and a couple of dollars here and there. I had nothing else, and my pension couldn't be had until 65. We figured the money from the house would give us an easy $5,000 a year until the pension started. I think more executives at 62 ought to use a house for this purpose. After all, you can't frame it.

"2. I learned a man should not go back to his hometown after retirement. I wanted to. But I decided that unless the family name is still important, or unless you have impressive money, you look like a has-been. I settled for near by.

"3. I realized by simple logic that once I retired from the good job, I had to get out of town. I would always be running into people who thought I had conked out. There would be no occasion for them to ask or for me to tell — they would just add two and two, and be 'considerate.' Also I had to get a lowered standard of living out of sight of neighbors and friends who had grown accustomed to more.

"4. I made one mistake an executive is a fool to make. I didn't set the stage for one of my own subordinates to take my job. He would have been my friend for life, extolled my virtues, sold me things at cost, let me use his typewriter, hide in his rest room, and sleep in his office. An outsider was brought in, and I've been a jerk in the place ever since.

LIFE BECAME A NARCOTIC

"5. I made another mistake in letting big-town executive life become a narcotic — I should have quit it at 55. Executive life isn't living. It's striving, manoeuvring, and hurrying, with some junkets, some luncheons, some speeches and a few material rewards to sweeten it. If it weren't for male vanity, the whole system would collapse.

"6. An executive has contacts. He's an executive because he has some sense. He can get a retirement job with a great deal more ease than anybody else. He should always seek it with a smaller firm or in a smaller town. But he must get the new job while he still has the old. If he's out of a job, he's a bigger bum than a bum.

"7. I discovered it was wise to find a retirement job where there was no acute competition. With competition you are back in the same grind of beating somebody or beating last year. Without it, as I am now, you work six or eight hours a day, play golf a couple of afternoons a week, and leave the office at the office. I know that doesn't colonize the West, but at 62 I didn't want to colonize the West.

"8. City men develop a stupid, blind snobbery toward smaller towns. What are you living for? To live, not to work. I belong to a country club here. I have position and prestige and know all the nice folks in town. On four times as much money I never could touch such satisfactions before."

GOOD THIEF. BAD DRIVER

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Just 18 minutes after the First Western Bank was robbed of $1,110 Thursday, police captured a suspect whose car collided accidentally with the squad car of Police Chief Wallace Wood. the prisoner gave his name as Louis Merced Shadoan, 35, of Muncie, Ind., and was turned over to the FBI. Officers said Shadoan readily admitted the holdup.

The Week's News

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada saw a duel in the House of Commons, an odd, bloodless duel with powderpuff weapons.

True, L. B. Pearson, in his debut as Liberal leader, presented a motion of no confidence that in theory could have toppled the government. But it was so worded that it obviously could not gain support from any other party.

The same could be said of a CCF no confidence motion. But despite the pillow-like weapons that were used. the debate sparkled on both sides, with the Conservatives sharply needling the Liberals, daring them to force an election.

Pearson later told reporters the Conservatives wanted the Liberals to take the responsibility of bringing on an election, but such action now would hold up progress for two or three months and interfere with measures to combat unemployment.

DICTATOR FALLS

In Venezuela, they danced on the streets at dawn because their dictator was on the run.

It was no easy task to overthrow plump, bemedalled Gen. Marcos Perez Jiminez, who had ruled the oil-rich country of 6,000,000 for 10 years.

Caracas estimates placed the number of dead at 300 and the injured at 1,000 in the final days of the revolt, which began with an unsuccessful uprising in the air force New Year's Day.

Perez Jiminez fled with his family to the Dominican Republic. That makes six Latin American dictators who have been deposed or assassinated in less than four years.

BOUNDLESS ENERGY

Britain and the U.S. announced they have made significant progress toward harnessing the power of the H-bomb, which means that some day ordinary sea water will provide mankind with boundless energy.

The announcements were made simultaneously in London and Washington. Scientist at Britain's Harwell atomic research establisment believe they have made atoms join together and release free energy in a controlled laboratory experiment.

This is the kind of energy process that takes place in the sun, and has kept it hot for millions of years, and also is the same as H-bomb energy.

But both countries emphasized it will be many years before the energy is actually harnessed for use.

CANADA-U.S. TRADE

Two Canadian experts reported fololwing a study that the Russian surge in economic power may eventually force the United States to reduce import barriers, thus benefitting Canada.

This would help remedy the present situation in which a tough U.S. tariff policy is crippling Canada's potential industrial expansion, said Professor Irving Brecher of McGill University, and S. S. Reisman, director of international economic relations in the finance department.

Their comprehensive report, prepared for the Gordon economic commission, sharply criticized American tariff and farm programs and predicted that Canada will continue to suffer because of these in the next few years. But the U.S. may eventually be forced to change its policies to retain supremacy and goodwill among the nations of th world.

U.S. VIEW

The American ambassador to Canada did a spot of straight talking on U.S.-Canadian relations in a speech at Hamilton.

Canadians tend to be overly-critical of the U.S., said Ambassador Livingston T. Merchant.

As one example, he mentioned complaints by Canadians that Canada imports much more from the U.S. than the other way around. But this is Canada's own fault, he said.

It merely means that Canadians like American goods, said the ambassador, adding "we live in a competitive world."

But Merchant emphasized the basic friendliness between the two countries, and said Canadian worries about the policies of the more powerful neighbor are understandable.

CANADA HOUSE

External Affairs Minister Smith reversed the government's stand and announced that federal agencies will take space in Canada House, the $11,000,000 skyscraper now nearing completion in New York.

He made the decision after hearings of the Commons external affairs committee in which William Zeckendorf, millionaire New York realtor, reported he will offer Canada "with no strings attached" his 50-per-cent interest in the building after its debt is retired.

Smith said the hearings showed that the building is more than "merely a commercial enterprise."

SUMMIT INVITATION

Prime Minister Diefenbaker joined other Western heads of government by agreeing in principle to the idea of a summit "there were adequate assurance that beneficial results coule be expected."

And the prime minister added an indirect invitation that the meeting be held in Canada when he said, ". . . and should they decide to hold it in Canada, they will be welcome."

This suggestion originally came from A. M. Nicholson, member for Mackenzie.

TROUT, ANYONE?

Bush pilot James Dougans, 42, was rescued unharmed after spending a week in 20-below-zero temperatures on frozen Kiskitto Lake in northern Manitoba.

An RCAF Otter search plane found the tough airman huddled beside a fire—feasting on trout.

Luckily for him, his cargo was frozen trout when he made the forced landing, without damaging the plane.

"Glad to see you," Dougans told his rescuers, inviting them to share his trout.

Ticket Agent Makes Trenton Woman Happy

A Trenton woman who last night got off the evening train at Belleville and then after driving 12 miles to her home found that she had lost her purse is a happy lady today.

And she has an honest ticket agent at the Canadian National Railways north station to thank for her happiness.

After missing her purse when she got home, the Trenton woman excitedly called the Belleville. Police station stating she had lost her purse containing $75 in cash at the station.

The desk sergeant despatched an officer to the station to enquire but found the purse had already been turned in by the ticket agent.

Want Damages

EDWARDS, Ont. (CP)—Farmers in this Eastern Ontario district have decided to ask $464.50 an acre damages from the Consumer's Gas Company of Toronto. Some are asking an additional $1,000 per acre compensation.

The Toronto company, which laid a 50-mile natural gas pipeline through the farm area from Morrisburg, to Ottawa, will be advised of this settlement claim at a meeting here next Month.

Your Car

Often Difficult To Locate Cause Of Engine Miss

By EUGENE MILMOE

Why does the engine miss? Finding the answer could require a good bit of sleuthing by your repairman . . . or his first suspect might be the right one.

If it's a high speed miss on an older car, he will probably look for a breaker arm that's not working properly, sticking valves or weakened springs that can't close the valves promptly enough.

Yet he may discover that the blame lies with hot spark plugs, faulty points, restricted fuel delivery or a clogged exhaust.

Missing at low or idle speeds can be due to such things as leaky valves, bad spark plugs, a clogged air cleaner, poor fuel mixture, carburetor dirt or manifold leaks. When missing occurs on a slow speed pull, a check of the plugs, distributor and wiring often turns up the troublemaker.

A.R. asks: "I've been driving cars for almost 20 years but never heard anyone refer to the 'air horn' until a few days ago. Please tell me — what is an automobile air horn and where is it located?"

(A) The air horn is another name given to the carburetor air inlet on which the air cleaner is mounted.

H.W. writes: "I picked up a 1951 sedan for practically nothing and after several weeks I've finally got it in good running condition. I started to repaint the body with enamel, but the first section I tried has dried with a wrinkled rather than a smooth finish. The metal was prepared properly and I used professional spray equipment, yet something went wrong. Can you help?"

(A) Wrinkling will result when the finish coat is too heavy. Try a thinner coat on the next section you spray.

From S. T.: "Why must the tires be rotated regularly? With the wheels properly balanced, the front end aligned and tire inflation correct all around, won't the wear on all four tires be approximately the same?"

(A) No, it will not. Road conditions and load distribution will also cause tire wear to vary. So will driving techniques: e.g., how you stop, park, start and drive around corners or curves.

L. O. writes: "My engine doesn't warm up enough in this weather and I have been told it is because I need a new thermostat. I am aware that it's uncomfortable for the passengers, but is it harmful to the car itself?"

(A) That new thermostat would be a wise investment because a hot engine is a healthy one. When it runs too cool, the wear on parts is increased, sludge formation is more rapid and neither gas nor oil mileage is as good as it could be.

Garden Notes

Reading Matter for the Gardener

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Want some exciting new "who-dun-it" and "how-to-do-it" books for gardeners? Send for the 1958 nursery catalogues. You will find a wealth of plant information in them for the price of a postage stamp, or for an extra dime.

Wayside Gardens at Mentor, Ohio, have the biggest and best with 1,700 plants listed, cultural directions, colored plates. The price of this is $1.00 and well worth it.

For 25 cents you can have a book from England, from Thompson and Morgan Ipswich, Eng. It lists 5,000 kinds, rare English plants, a good reference book.

For 50 cents you can get a planting kit, cut-outs, guide, and worksheet, from Kelly Nurseries, Dansville, N. Y.

Kelsey Nursery, Highlands, N. J., will include a climate chart and hardiness chart for each plant, soil data and planting graphs come with their catalogue: charge, 10 cents.

From Muller-Zoon in Holland I receive free an interesting seed catalogue which lists plants for bedding, greenhouse and perennials. The prices are moderate, the quality is the highest. This is for commercial growers, but small orders are filled. The descriptions are quaint — "Pink till white."

Send for catalogues from Dupuy, Montreal; Dominion seeds, Georgetown; Garden Guild, Toronto and Sheridan at Islington, Ontario. You will find all kinds of helpful hints on growing and maintaining your plants.

One of my favorite catalogues comes from DeGiorgi Bros., Council Bluffs, Iowa. It is free and has 116 pages of seeds and plants, lists of suitable material for shady places, rock gardens, dry areas, soil mixtures, hot-bed directions and practical pointers.

SPECIAL CATALOGUES

These are but a few suggestions for general catalogues. Consult your library, or garde magazines for special catalogue on orchids, geraniums — o n grower lists 148 varieties, an other offers 248 varieties. Do yo look for a new hobby in growin clematis, roses, herbs for mone ferns, tropical house plants, lem ons, waterlilies or wild flowers You will find catalogues listing al these and more.

Many companies offer a package of seeds and catalogue for 1 cents marigolds, carnations, pansies. These are top quality seeds so take advantage of them and have something new.

While the cold weather keeps us would-be-gardeners indoors le us investigate the claims of new fertilizers, soil conditioners, soil shredders, compost makers, pots made from dried, pressed material which feeds the plant. Pots can be set out with the plants in them. Pot dissolves as roots expand.

Dormant sprays may now be applied on mild days and some pruning is possible. Fruit trees and shrubs may be given an aplication of fertilizer. Spring rains and thawing snow will carry it down to the plant roots.

January garden magazines will tell us what is new in the gibberelin mixtures, who has perfected a new strain of gladiolus, worked out a new method of growing glads.

Do you have any left over garden trash? Burn it in the vegetable garden, the heat will kill surface weed seeds and the ashes are good fertilizer.

Inspect your stored tubers, dahlias, glads, and begonias. Discard infected ones. Sprinkle water on shrivelled dahlias.

St. Michael's Parent Teachers ssociation held a successful ridge and euchre on Wednesday vening in St. Michael's Acade- my auditorium. President J. Lynch welcomed members and their friends.

Bridge prizes were awarded to, 1st, Mrs. L. Blaker; 2nd, Mrs. Noble; hidden score, Mrs. Flindall; consolation, Mrs. Tom Lynch.

Euchre prizes were: Ladies' 1st, Mrs. Rivers; ladies' 2nd, Mrs. Wims; men's 1st, Joe Farrell; 2nd, Gerald Whalen; consolation, Edith Hoggins; lone hands, Mrs. Goyer.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The Women of the Moose held their last meeting of the month in the Moose Hall, with a good attendance.

Before the meeting Mr. Fred Joy showed plaques made by his son, which were interesting. A number of the girls gave him orders for same.

The Sr. Regt. Nora Kaiser called the meeting to order with officers, escorts and committee chairmen taking part.

The recorder, Grace Bartlett, called roll of officers, escorts and chairman and read a number of communications. Thank yous were voiced by a number of members for gifts sent them while sick.

One candidate was balloted on and will be initiated into defending circle next meeting.

Child care chairman, Kay Pitt, donated a lovely pair of towels, which the pianist, Betty Reid, won.

The bus will leave Moose Hall on Sunday morning, January 26 at nine o'clock for the mid-winter conference in Brockville, Ontario.

The Sr. Regt. Nora Kaiser, brought the meeting to a close.

A penny sale was held after the meeting which was enjoyed by all. The child care chairman, Kay Pitt, and committee, served refreshments.

On the evening of January 16 the Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter No. 435, held their committee meeting at Selina Isles home, 441 Front St., Trenton, Ontario, with a large attendance.

The meeting was called to order by acting ritual chairman Mary VanDusen, and a discussion was held on the projects to take place in February.

The next committee meeting will take place at the home of the treasurer, Annie Young, 59 Burton Street, Belleville, and it is hoped to have a good turn out from Trenton, as well as Belleville girls.

The last meeting of the month, a penny sale, is to be held, with child care chairman Kay Pitt as convener. Each co-worker is asked to bring a small token for the sale. A social evening and refreshments will be held after.

It was planned for February that small tea aprons would be mailed to co-workers, who in turn would measure their waist bands and place one penny for each inch measured around, in the pocket of the apron, and either bring it to the first meeting in February or mail to convener Mary VanDusen, Byron Street, Belleville, if unable to attend.

For the last meeting in February a pie social is planned with an invitation extended to the husbands of co-workers. This will be an open meeting.

Mary VanDusen donated a prize which was won by Ruth Mintz.

Euchre was played after the committee meeting with the following girls winning prizes: Mary VanDusen, Anne Young, Ruth Mintz; consolation, Alice Woodcock; lone hand, Bessie Brooks. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Selina Isles.

A pot-luck supper is to be held in the Moose hall on January 30th., from 5.30 to 7.30 p.m. open to public.

Bayview H-S Assoc. Holds Euchre Party

The Bayview Home and School Association held a successful euchre party in the Bayview school rooms, on January 21. Mrs. Robert Smith, convener; Mrs. Bert Henderson, co-convener; Mr. Darling and his teaching staff; Mrs. John Parrot and Mr. Ernie Barr gave their full co-operation to the association which helped make the party a complete success.

Miss Joy Smith won ladies' high; Mrs. Adams, second; Mrs. Betty Rowe, consolation. Don Anderson won men's high which he returned to the association to be used again in the future. Ernie Barr won men's second; Mrs. Liz Laughlin, playing as a man, won the men's consolation. E. Adams won lone hands and Mrs. Martin LaRue won the door prize.

Refreshments were served by the convener and helpers.

Choraliers Entertain at H-S Meeting

Mrs. Charles Hart, president of the Point Anne Home and School Association, presided at the recent meeting held in the school auditorium, and announced that the February meeting would be an "Open House," with a Civil Defence demonstration put on by the men from the Canada Cement Company.

A film was shown entitled, "Frustrating Six to Noisy Nine," on which Mr. Walkom had written some leading questions on the blackboard, which were discussed point by point, both pro and con.

The special guests were the So-Ed Choraliers under the direction of Mr. J. B. Herdman, choirmaster of Christ Church, Belleville, who chose for their rendition the three numbers recently recorded for the local radio station. As an encore, they sang two Christmas carols.

At the close, refreshments were served by Mrs. Chisholm and her staff.

Mrs. C. Colling Named President As Lady Curlers Plan Program

Plans were completed for a night of mixed curling on Saturday, January 25th, for members of the Quinte Curling Club and their wives, when the new executive of the ladies' section met at the home of Mrs. D. I. MacKinnon on Friday afternoon.

Members of the organizing committee were appointed to the following offices:

President, Mrs. Cleo Colling; vice-president, Mrs. J. E. McArthur; secretary, Mrs. Wm. Gault; treasurer, Mrs. A. F. Jarrett; games convener, Mrs. J. C. Houston; social convener, Mrs. D. I. MacKinnon; ways and means, Mrs. Don Stanton; publicity, Mrs. J. E. McArthur.

Mrs. Houston with Mrs. Ben Corke and Mrs. McArthur on her committee made plans for instruction for women curlers on Monday and Tuesday afternoons (2-4) of next week. It is hoped that every potential curler will avail herself of this opportunity and be ready to take part in pick-up games which will be arranged on Thursday and Friday.

The following week on Feb. 3-4-5, expert instruction from Garnet Campbell (of the Curling Campbells) will be available for all members.

Mrs. Houston expects that regular organized games will begin on Feb. 6. Rinks will be drawn on Feb. 4 and all members wishing to curl must have their names in the hands of the committee by that date.

Curling Club Ladies' Section Is Organized

Tremendous enthusiasm on the part of one hundred women gathered in the Board Room of the Y.M.C.A. Thursday afternoon, assured a strong organization for the ladies' section of the Quinte Curling Club.

Mrs. Cleo Colling, chairman of the temporary organizing committee (appointed by the board of directors) conducted the meeting. The purpose of the meeting having been explained and some discussion having taken place, on a motion from Mrs. J. F. Forrester, seconded by Mrs. Howard LaPalm, it was unanimously agreed to form the Quinte Curling Club Inc., Ladies' Section.

It was also unanimously approved that the members of the temporary organizing committee act as the executive pro tem and conduct the business of the club until the annual meeting which will be held sometime in April.

The women adjourned to the new curling club where each had an opportunity to inspect the splendid facilities provided.

Holy Rosary C.W.L. Plans Spring Tea

The January meeting of the C.W.L. was held on January 20 in Holy Rosary hall, with Mrs. Irene Smith presiding.

Rev. Father Michael said the opening prayer and gave the members a most instructive talk on the use of the missal. Father Michael explained the various parts of the Mass and stressed the importance of using a missal.

Mrs. Darlington gave the treasurer's report. A cheque was given to Father Michael for parish work. Two letters from the C.W.L. president were read by Mrs. Barrett. One letter stressed the importance of good TV and radio programs. Letters of protests should be sent to radio and TV stations if programs were not good family entertainment. The other letter told of different forms of Catholic action, such as visiting the sick, helping the poor, doing various acts of charity which should be practised by all members of the C.W.L.

Nine baskets were packed for the needy at Christmas, and a gift was sent to one parishioner at the Old Folks Home.

The league wished to express thanks to the firemen who sent such a wonderful supply of toys for the poor. Twenty-eight patients were visited at the hospital.

Plans were made for a "Spring Tea," which is to be held after Easter. Conveners are: Mesdames Smith, Hogan, Farrell and Barrett.

A rummage sale is to be held in the near future. Workers are: Mesdames Schrieder, Haley, Hogan, Smith, Farrell and Fox.

Mrs. Hogan moved that the meeting be adjourned and Mrs. Loffan said the closing prayer. A social hour followed.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Actually there is not a great deal of publicity given to one of the most profound and world-wide movements on foot. The increasing responsibility being placed on women and the rising aspirations of their insistence for recognizing recognition borders on the unbelievable. We do not know whether a proper perspective can be given to this new phenomena. Probably one way to secure a partial perspective is to consider the magnitude of progress relative to the few years women have become recognized in public life. Canada gave the vote to women for instance in 1917.

It is not very long ago. We have come a long way and we have a long way to go; yet, when we see the steady progress being made in Asia and Africa, the wonder increases. It is a fascinating and a spectacular evolution in human affairs. It is reported that a prominent Canadian woman does not believe that the weaker sex is squired for public life. She may be correct but certainly the development grows with increasing momentum.

One of the greatest challenges facing our sister Dominion of India is social welfare. Both the first and the second five year plans places the accent on social welfare with particular emphasis on "the welfare of women and children." Prime Minister Nehru said "If I cay be allowed to lay greater stress on some, they would be the welfare of children, the status of women and the welfare of the tribal and hill people in our country. Children, I think, all over India should have the first claim on us, because they represent the tradition behind them which is inspiring. It is true, however, that they have suffered much from various kinds of suppression and all these have to go."

The Caravan of India goes on to say that the contributions of women in social services has increased over the past two years in the most unexpected manner. One Trust alone has been responsible for one thousand workers in obscure rural districts and whose only remuneration is the satisfaction of doing voluntary work. The number of women entering public life has increased tremendously during the past decade. The All India Women's Conference works towards political rights, social equality, the eradication of disabilities and child labor problems. This vast upsurge is not wholly but is, in large part, a development since independence in 1947.

Recently it has been our privilege to read reports from Asia, Africa, Europe, and South America on the hunger of women to learn so they can pass on their information. By and large the greatest interest centres around what is closest to a woman's heart —welfare, children and education. Last year T and T was encouraged to mention these matters from time to time and we are sorry that since last fall we have neglected them. It is a vast subject and one that may quite possibly have an indirect and important bearing on peace.

Although it is interesting to glance about at what others are doing, it remains true that we should not neglect what is going on right about home. One little item of interest in a metropolitan paper this week reports that a brief has been presented to the Ontario government by the Business and Professional Women's Club. Multiply these briefs if you wish for a true picture. Then coming right back home just notice the reports of annual meetings in Belleville and Trenton of organizations made up of men and women, organizations of voluntary effort for the welfare of our community. January seems to be a favorite month for annual meetings. We would no doubt be astonished if we could secure the sum total in human voluntary effort, money donated and selfless service. Without ostentation progress is being made around the world.

The women who comprise the Committee of Correspondence and with whom we are proud to be associated state: "Our fundamental purpose is 'to strengthen international understanding by the interchange of ideas and experiences among women leaders everywhere who are working towards citizen responsibility in a free society.' Citizen responsibility and the furtherance of it in every phase of living, in every part of the free world, is our abiding concern. When we travel, we can describe to one country constructive citizen action in another."

The dedicated purpose of this group of voluntary workers in the field of better world understanding leaves us with our thought for this weekend.

St. Michael's R.C. Plans Skating Party

St. Michael's Regis Club met in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Front Street, on January 19th.

The meeting opened with the Regis Club Prayer led by vice president Marg Whelan in the absence of president, Bob Burke, due to illness.

The treasurer's report was read by treasurer Bernard Mascaro and approved by the members.

Plans were made for a skating party to be held on January 22 with dancing and refreshments to follow at the K. of C. Hall.

The meeting was turned over to the spiritual committee who led an interesting and informative table discussion on the "Epiphany".

This was followed by a panel discussion under the leadership of the cultural committee. The panel consisted of the following members: Tom Lally, Jerry Sheridan, Lorraine Fournier, Jeanine Obe, Frank McGettrick.

Social evening and refreshments under the chairmanship of the social committee concluded a most enjoyable meeting.

Going Places

Use Safe Driving Techniques And Lessen Bad Weather Risks

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

Driving north or south this winter, you'll have to take into account the risks of running into bad weather.

Truck and busdrivers and travelling salesmen do it all season, year after year, so there's no need to let the thought panic you. Besides an alert driver and a properly functioning car, there are two factors necessary for safe driving in inclement weather: visibility and traction. If you can't see where you're going and or you can't get your wheels to roll over a slippery surface, the only thing to do is give up until things get better.

Go while you can, but when you stop, do so at a safe place and before things get too bad. Put up for the night — before everybody else gets the same idea, preferably — or, if there are no accommodations, find a filling station or restaurant where you'll at least be warm and surrounded by civilization. Don't abandon your car unless you're really stuck.

But extreme situations can be avoided if you keep the following in mind:

1. Stay in close touch with local auto clubs (you don't have to be a member), highway police, and state road departments. It may be safe where you are but not where you're headed; if so, they'll know about it. Your car radio can be a good friend if you stay tuned for highway condition announcements.

NO NIGHT DRIVING

2. Avoid driving at night. Not only do things seem worse in the dark, but generally they are worse. The lack of daylight cuts visibility and in heavy snowfalls your headlights may reflect on the snowflakes and tend to blind and even hypnotize you. If you use your lights, experiment with the high and low beams. Depending on the type of snowfall, one may be more effective than the other.

Roads that may be merely wet during the day tend to ice up in the chill dark, offering, sometimes, an almost invisible hazard, but one potentially more dangerous than soft or packed snow, both of which offer a certain amount of traction.

Don't be lulled into a false sense of security if conditions are temporarily safe; stay alert as the day — and mercury — wanes.

A bag of sand in your trunk will lend weight to the car's rear end and also be handy for spreading over particularly slippery spots.

3. If you have chains or snow tires, use them. But don't expect them to be the answer to all your problems. Snow tires are dandy for deep snow, but independent tests by the National Safety Council indicate that most are of little help on ice.

Chains will give traction under most conditions, but beware of a tendency for the cross links (except on the reinforced type)—to act as runners on banked roads at slow speeds, causing side slipping.

Some drivers let air out of their rear tires for extra traction. Theoretically this isn't supposed to work too well, but cab companies do it and it's worth trying.

4. When in doubt, stick to main roads. Invariably these are cleared of ice and snow first and you'll be closer to help if it is necessary.

5. Practice the techniques of driving on ice. Brake gently by tapping your foot rapidly on the pedal so the wheels don't have a chance to lock and skid. If you have a gearshift, use it for slowing down; it will help to maintain traction.

If there are ridges of ice or packed snow on the road, avoid cutting your wheels sharply over the edge of the ridge lest you go into a skid.

There are several techniques for pulling out of a skid. Taking your foot off the gas and hands off the wheel, and giving the car its head for a moment should cause it to right itself. Some drivers turn the wheel in the direction of the skid, which takes considerable nerve, reflexes and practice, but works.

If you can't get traction from a dead stop, go very easy on the gas. On shift cars use a higher gear. Test brakes frequently for traction on the road and keep plenty of distance from the car ahead.

Bear in mind that you're never likely to lose more than 12 to 24 hours if you stop. Roads will nearly always be cleared within that time after it stops snowing.

And chances are the sun will be shining and the snow and ice melting and you'll easily be able to make up for the crawling time you would have made bucking your way through.

Boys' S.S Class Enjoys Skating Party

On Wednesday afternoon the boys of Mrs. L. E. Rushlow's and Mrs. R. A. Liddle's Sunday School class of St. Thomas' church held a delightful skating party on the harbor. Thanks to Mr. Red Doran, and the Recreation Commission which sent a jeep down and had the harbor plowed free of snow so the boys could skate.

After an hour of skating they went to the home of Mrs. Rushlow where Mrs. Rushlow and Mrs. Liddle served hot chocolate, hot dogs, ice cream and cake. The boys left for home at seven, thanking their hostesses for a lovely skating party.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

SHE IS CONFUSING WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS AND INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please enlighten me concerning a wedding announcement which was sent to me one week after the wedding had taken place? This apparently was done knowingly because although I thought at first that the Post Office had delayed the delivery, I was assured by the Post Office that the announcement was mailed on the date of post mark. The wedding was the wedding of the daughter of a neighbor I like very much indeed, and I felt very hurt to think that there was not enough friendship between us to have her invite me to the church ceremony at least. Then when I received the announcement at such a late date, it deepened my hurt. So I wrote her a letter thanking her for sending me this announcement, even at such a late date, and also expressing my good wishes for the newlyweds.

I wrote this letter to her because I believe that someone in her family had forgotten to mail us the announcement in time, so that she would understand why we didn't attend the church ceremony. Did I do right in this matter? It certainly isn't correct or customary, is it, to send these announcements to people after the wedding?

I will appreciate your opinion on this matter. — Reader

You are confusing the meaning of a marriage announcement with the meaning of a wedding invitation. What you received was an announcement, telling you the news that the marriage ceremony had been performed. Customarily, announcements are mailed as soon as possible after the ceremony has been performed, the same day if possible. However, announcements mailed a week after the ceremony (as was the one you received) would be considered fairly prompt. And another rule: Announcements should not be sent to anyone who was invited to the wedding.

When we receive an announcement . . . Mr. and Mrs. John Smith announce the marriage of their daughter . . . instead of the invitation we may have wished to receive . . . Mr. and Mrs. John Smith request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter . . . we must take it for granted that there was some reason for this. For example, it may have been a small wedding; or it may have been perhaps a fairly large church wedding, with invitations sent to relatives and friends, and announcements sent to those whom the bride and her family thought of more as acquaintances.

It was proper for you to write to the bride's mother, to thank her for the announcement and to ask her to relay your good wishes to the bride and groom, but since the announcement was mailed to you quite soon after the wedding, it was not courteous of you to say that it was "sent at such a late date." I hope I have made the reason and the difference clear to you.

SHE HAS NO USE FOR POOR DANCE PARTNERS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I love to dance, and am considered an excellent dancer. When a boy with whom I have never danced before asks me to dance, and I find he is not a good dancer, what should I do? I don't see any reason why I should keep on dancing with a poor dancer.
— Peggy

And I don't see any reason, Peggy, why you shouldn't learn to be a good sport, and not snootily think that you can stop dancing with every partner who you think isn't worthy of dancing with such an "excellent" dancer as you are. Not all partners can "dance divinely," and you must learn to take them in stride . . . even if their stride isn't easy to take.

Perhaps occasionally, very occasionally, if a long dance isn't going at all well, you might propose stopping at the punch bowl, or suggesting "shall we sit the rest of this one out? But remember that you may try the stop-dancing maneuver once too often and find that the boys may gang up on you and not ask you to dance with them.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

JESUS, THE VERY THOUGHT OF THEE

Jesus, the very thought of Thee
With sweetness fills my breast;
But sweeter far Thy face to see,
And in Thy presence rest.

No voice can sing, no heart can frame,
Nor can the memory find
A sweeter sound than Thy blest name,
O Savior of mankind!

O hope of every contrite heart,
O joy of all the meek,
To those who fall, how kind Thou art!
How good to those who seek!

But what to those who find? Ah, this
Nor tongue nor pen can show;
The love of Jesus, what it is None but His loved ones know.

Jesus, our only joy be Thou,
As Thou our prize wilt be;
In Thee be all our glory now,
And through eternity.

Eight centuries ago, a Cistercian monk — Bernard of Clairvoix — was exerting a powerful influence in the political and religious counsels of Europe.

He was known then as a man whose decisions shaped the destinies of popes and statesmen, a religious leader whose counsel on matters of church and state was widely sought. But today he is best known for the beautiful Latin hymn which he wrote in his declining years — a hymn of 42 four-line stanzas which was translated by the Rev. Edward Caswall, an English clergyman, in 1848, to go singing on down through the ages in the hymnals of English-speaking Christendom.

The verses here reproduced are the most famous of the 42 and those found in most church song books.

Bernard came from a noble French family which had its residence near Dijon in Burgundy. He was only 23 when, in 1113, he yielded to his mother's wish that he become a monk. Two brothers and an uncle joined him on the day that he entered the monastery. Two years later, he had gained such prestige that he was sent out to establish a new monastery at Clairvoix and when he had founded it he became its first abbot.

It was the preaching of Bernard of Clairvoix that inspired enlistments for the second crusade, in 1146. He died in 1153.

The world is indebted to Edward Caswall for several other popular Latin hymn translations, and for a beautiful translation from the German which has given us our hymn, "When Morning Gilds The Skies".

A Lift for Living

An Overdose of Self-Assurance

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

When we say of a person, "He is very sure of himself," are we paying a compliment or making a criticism? I have asked this question of several friends, and the answer almost invariably is, "That depends."

Yes, it does depend on the degree and quality of the self-assurance. It may make us think of what John Galsworthy called a "cockeyed cocksureness" which distorts the vision and weakens the judgment. Or we think of those bumptious, self-assured persons who break into a company or conversation and forfeit the respect of the more reserved and thoughtful.

When I think of self-assurance, somehow there comes to my mind the colorful figure of Benvenuto Cellini, the most eminent goldsmith of the Italian Renaissance and one of the world's most gifted sculptors. He was rich in expediency, ready in action and resolute in will. He was a host in himself. He made his own tools, he designed his own works and executed them with his own hands, hammering and carving, modeling and casting. Yet with all his brilliant versatility, Cellini pushed his self-assurance to such self-conceit that his character was condemned by those who admired his works.

HINDERS PROGRESS

Too much self-assurance takes away the attractiveness of recognized talent. It hinders progress from good to better. And it may also keep men from God's help. In the treatment of bad habits like that of drunkenness, the victim must often be brought to the oint where he no longer thinks he can manage himself and, therefore, puts his trust in a Higher Power.

Yet on the other hand self-confidence and self-reliance are regarded as virtues. Emerson wrote that "self-trust is the first secret of success." How far, then, is self-assurance a virtue to be encouraged, and where does its danger start?

Let us turn for light to the advice given by Saint Paul, whose wisdom has helped to shape our Christian culture more than that of any one save Our Lord Himself. In his letter to the Romans, chapter 12, verse 3, the Apostle writes: "By the grace given to me I bid everyone among you not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think with sober judgment each according to the measure of faith which God has assigned him."

Is there anyone so self-assured that he does not care what others think of him? Suppose that some scandal, whether true or false, should come to light this week and every acquaintance you met should "cut you dead." What would happen to your self-assurance and peace of mind, yes, even to your health?

Or suppose you were a member of Congress and you cast your vote tomorrow on a certain issue. The next day a deluge of telegrams starts to pour in attacking you for your stand. Maybe you will say: "I don't care what people think. The public are a bunch of sheep anyhow." But the trouble is that when a person begins to think of people as sheep, he is likely to become a bit wolfish in temper and judgment.

CRITICISM AND ABUSE

How do we sustain our self-assurance in the face of criticism and abuse? Consider the case of William Thackeray. It was not until after years of discouragement that Thackeray gained a reading public. But his biographers tell us that he had taken the measure of his capabilities and, knowing what he could do if opportunity were given him, he waited unrepiningly until it came. I do not happen to know much about Thackeray's spiritual life, but I am inclined to think it was more than self-examination which kept up his self-assurance.

And we do know about a man named Simon Peter who, with his fellow disciples, was arrested for preaching his message on the streets of Jerusalem. They escaped from prison and began to proclaim their gospel again. When taken into custody a second time, their defense was, "We time, their defence was "We must obey God rather than men."

The right kind of self-assurance is developed through painful correction and hard testing. Beethoven said of Rossini that he had in him the making of a good musician if he had only been well flogged as a boy, but he had been spoiled by his facility of composition. Whether Beethoven was right about Rossini I am not competent to judge. But it is true as a general principle that those who have had hard going have gone the farthest.

Saint Paul began his work with a humble opinion of himself. And he certainly had hard going, persecution, imprisonment, stoning. But he came to the godly self-assurance which enabled him to say, "I can do all things in him who strengthens me."

Answer: Hello again Mrs. M. C.

BASIC BATTER FOR BAKED PUDDINGS

One and ¾ cup sifted flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening or butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ⅔ cup milk. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening or butter and cream sugar into it, then beat in egg and vanilla. Alternately add flour mix and milk to sugar mix, beating after each addition. Variations are endles from this point. (1) pour into 8 x 8 x 2" buttered pan, and bake at 350 deg. 30 to 45 minutes and after each addition. Alternately add flour mix and milk to sugar mix, beating after each addiserve with rich lemon sauce. (2) In bottom of baking dish arrange a thick layer of fresh or canned fruit. It must have at least 1 cup juice or water on it and of course if fruit is raw, sugar. Warm this to nearly boiling in pre-heating oven while you mix the batter, then pour batter evenly over and bake as above. Excellent fruits are cherries, rhubarb crushed canned pineapple, plums, peaches, blueberries, apples — from 2 to 4 cups — the more the better. If fruit is raw add from ⅓ to ⅔ cup sugar and dot with butter. The potential variations I have given you are over a dozen, but another tack you might take is to stir the fruit through the batter. For instance 1 cup either blueberries or cherries through it is excellent. Serve the cherry version with rich red sauce made from canned cherry juice.

Question: . . . Have you any recipes for sour cream? I've made pie and spice cake . . . right now I have a quart . . . Mrs. G. D.

Answer: SOUR CREAM JUMBLES

In mixing bowl cream together ½ cup soft shortening, 1½ cups sugar and 2 eggs. Beat in 1 cup thick sour cream and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift together 2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon each salt, soda, baking powder, cloves, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, then stir them into batter. Add also 1 cup chopped dates or raisins and 1 cup chopped nuts. (Spices are optional) Chill; drop from teaspoon on greased baking sheet 2" apart. Bake at 425 deg. 8 to 10 minutes.

SOUR CREAM MAYONNAISE

To serve with garden vegetables such as cucumber, shredded leaf or Iceberg lettuce, cabbage and shredded carrot, tomato, mix together ¼ cup each mayonnaise or salad dressing and whipped sour cream and 1 tablespoon each chopped chives and parsley and shake of black pepper.

Wife Preservers

Check up on clothes after the holiday season; spots and little mending jobs have probably accumulated during the rush and you'll save time and irritation by corralling them now for the cleaner or sewing box.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actu case history. The Council reports on problems that have be dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Sonia F. — Clara is browbeaten by her husband.

Clara D — With four children, do I have any alternative?

Sonia F. — I don't want to seem to interfere in anyone's married life, but I can't help worrying about my sister.

Clara is 28 and has four children, so she ought to know a thing or two by now. But she is so browbeaten by her husband it's just awful. She hardly has any spending money — just enough for the daily shopping. If she or the children need clothes, her husband goes to buy them. She wanted some new things for their home, but Mike wouldn't let her buy them — even though he has enough money.

Personally, I wouldn't let any man shove me around like that. I hold the purse strings in my family. That's the way it should be.

Clara D. — I can't see what I am supposed to do about it if my husband just refuses to turn over his pay cheque to me. He says his father was always boss in their home and that's the way it should be. No, I don't like it — but what's the use of creating fights? Mike will never give in and I know it.

I've begged Mike not to let others see the way he treats me because it always embarrasses me. Everyone laughs at me for being afraid of my husband and tells me that women today don't have to put up with that kind of treatment. But with four children, do I have any alternative?

Sonia seems to think I can up and leave.

The Council: Well, there's one thing worse than being shoved around by a husband — and that is being shoved around by a sister.

Getting laughed at by "everyone" is no fun either, but Clara may well reflect that anyone takes pleasure in viewing body else's discomfort must awfully desperate for somet to laugh about. Their interes the personal affairs of other so reflects quite an emptines their own lives.

Clara's problem with her band is an entirely separate ter. The situation is certainly pleasant. If Clara can push a her feelings about what ot think, she may be able to con trate on finding a peaceful to change things in her home

Possibly she could interest husband in the idea of a plan budget. If she can show her h band how she can provide m comforts for the family with being extravagant, he may willing to give her more about spending. She should po out that he in no way loses position as head of the family she spends on things they b agree are necessary and desi ble.

It is doubtful whether it is a more desirable for the woman have full control over the pu strings than the man. Most m prefer not to be bothered w such matters as household spen ing. But if Mike is interested, should be willing to sit down a discuss a reasonable spendi program with his wife.

93 YEARS SERVING THE COMMUNITY

1864 - 1957

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce

Annual Report of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce . . . 1957

MEMBERSHIP — Membership in the Belleville Chamber of Commerce is open to all businessmen, whether they be presidents of large corporations or proprietors or managers of small business stores or shops. There is no racial, political, or religious discrimination. If you are a successful business or professional man or woman, and realize that this community has been good to you, you may wish to make some investments in your business security, and if so, you are invited to take out a Membership in the Belleville Chamber of Commerce and join the ranks of those sincere and conscientious men and women who feel that an investment in the Chamber is an investment in the future security and freedom of enterprise on which their business was founded.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES — The Belleville Chamber of Commerce is a voluntary association of citizens organized to promote commercial, industrial, tourist, agricultural and civic welfare of our community and the district in which it lies. Membership in the Belleville Chamber is open to all who may be interested in the development of our community. This Chamber's aim is to ensure that the social and economic affairs of our community function upon well founded, long term policy and principles, embodying the greatest respect for private enterprise. So long as there exists a difference between what a community is and what a community should be, there is a need for a Chamber of Commerce.

GENERAL ACTIVITIES REPORT—1957 — The President, on assuming office, outlined to the Board of Directors a four-point program which was heartily endorsed.

To conduct a survey among its members to establish their willingness to provide the facilities for a payroll deduction plan to aid those agencies in the Community Chest,—it being understood that the onus of making contact with the Employees and obtaining subscriptions would rest with the members of the Community Chest.

To make a study of industrial promotional activities of other communities in Ontario, to analyse and recommend a suitable system for Belleville. The Industrial Survey was compiled from results received from Kingston, Greater Niagara, Kitchener, Whitby, Guelph and Oshawa. In compiling the statistics in this survey, it was noted particularly that equal or near to equal participation of Chamber personnel and City, served on an Industrial Board or Commission. The budgets varied according to the size of the communities, however, in most cases was in keeping with the City's financial ability and desire to promote industry to that centre. Following a meeting of City Officials and Executive of the Board of Directors of the Chamber, a recommendation was made to City Council which ultimately resulted in the formation of the Belleville Industrial Commission. Chamber and City Officials have worked harmoniously throughout this past year and from all appearances this has proved to be a most successful means of promoting Industry to Belleville.

To convey to the members a better understanding and knowledge of the Free Enterprise System, and to clearly indicate how Chamber Policies are instituted at the provincial and national level.

To stimulate the need for good leadership in our community.

This chamber has endeavored to promote goodwill among its citizens by having representation at meetings and assisting various organizations in their service work. Contact may be made for speakers, as well as a clearing house to check on those promotional organizations who travel from city to city using our Service Organizations as Sponsors.

The Executive and Directors of the Belleville Chamber attended some thirteen meetings during 1957. Many unscheduled meetings were held at times which were convenient to the members of the Board. They attended meetings regularly and each contributed much towards guiding the business affairs of the Chamber throughout the year.

BUSINESS PROTECTIVE SERVICE — The Chamber staff continued its service to the members and citizens through the screening of those itinerant peddlers, hawkers, and door-to-door salesmen, investigating the Companies which they represented. The Chamber endorses the slogan of the Better Business Bureau "Before You Invest—Investigate". Merchants and Businessmen were forewarned of those unscrupulous sales techniques and unprofitable solicitation of program and other undesirable medium of advertising. This service has made membership in the Chamber a distinct investment in money saving. Complaints between Consumer and Vendor are investigated by the Chamber Manager and a record of satisfactory adjustment of problems has been maintained. Members and the Public are urged to continue to call the Chamber when they are approached or solicited for financial support to program advertising and other mediums of money making schemes.

CIVIC AFFAIRS — The Board of Directors of the Chamber maintained interest in the study of various phases of local, provincial and national government.

The Chamber sponsored a most successful Civic Candidates' Meeting which has become an annual event. These meetings could not be possible without the co-operation of the Board of Education, Radio Station CJBQ and the newspaper coverage which follows.

The Chamber was represented and witnessed new Canadians receiving Canadian Citizenship Papers at various ceremonies throughout the year at the Court House. The receiving of these Certificates is in keeping with the Chamber Policy to encourage immigrants to Canada who bring with them culture and a knowledge of various trades and professions, and who, in turn, bolster the economy of our country through their purchasing power.

COMING EVENTS REGISTER — All organizations in the city are urged to take advantage of the Coming Events Register which is provided to help alleviate over-lapping of events. It is the hope that through constant use of this register, attendance at functions may be increased, due to the preventing of over-lapping of certain of the fine organizations who do their share of service to the community .

GROUP INSURANCE — The Group Insurance plan has been in operation for over two years. This Group Plan extends coverage to its member firms, their employees and dependents. There are presently thirty-three Firms participating, making a total of one hundred and sixteen individuals. Substantial claims have been made to date, which are in excess of $17,000.

MISCELLANEOUS — The Chamber's Monthly News Letter was prepared by the staff and mailed to the membership throughout the year 1957. The purpose was to convey as much information as possible through this medium which would be of particular interest to Manufacturers, the Retail Trade, Tourist Operators and Service Organizations.

A. O. DRYSDALE
President, 1957.

J. N. YANOVER
President, 1958

BUILDING TRADE — The Chamber Office devoted considerable time to the Building Trade through the Belleville & District Builders' Exchange —through the Manager who acts as Secretary-Treasurer of the Exchange. Plans and Specifications of Buildings were received at the office and made available for those members of the Exchange. The work of administration and control of some fifty-nine Plans and Specifications is evidence of the amount of work projects which were planned in this part of Ontario by the Department of Public Works, School Boards and other private builders.

PLANNING — The Chamber keeps abreast of planning and the growth of Belleville and adjoining Townships of Sidney and Thurlow through the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board, through the Manager who is the Secretary-Treasurer. Through this association, a knowledge of the transfer of properties and sub-divisions proposed for development are recorded and communications directed to the office of the Minister of the Department of Planning and Development.

INDUSTRIAL PROMOTION — The Chamber has always been interested in the promotion of new industry and the expansion of the existing plants in the community. The Chamber's interests are continued through representation on the Belleville Industrial Commission.

OTHER SERVICES — The Chamber of Commerce Office may be considered a source of information for its members and the citizens of Belleville and District. Hundreds of enquiries are received throughout the year, enquiring about road conditions, statistics of this City and others, store hours in Belleville and elsewhere, travel information and recommended routes. All enquiries are acknowledged and carefully handled by a friendly staff. It is the hope that through this service a friendly relationship may accrue which may arouse an interest in, and promote future business to this city.

The Chamber is privileged to assist the Welcome Wagon Hostess in her commendable work in catering to the needs of new residents to this community. According to year end figures reported, the Welcome Wagon Hostess visited over one hundred and sixty-five new families during the year 1957. It must be understood that this figure is merely a minimum of the people who are contacted. There are many others who move into our city and for various reasons do not make contact with the Welcome Wagon Hostess, or the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber maintains the wastepaper disposal containers that may be found at the street corners of the Downtown section of the City.

The Chamber was pleased to be associated in a small way with Belleville's Fire Department in its annual Santa Claus Parade, and with the Recreation Committee during their annual Kiddies Carnival and Santa Claus Letters. Through the medium of the Monthly News Letters, support and endorsement is given to those associated with the Red Cross and United Appeal Drives.

Report of Committees . . . 1957

BY-LAWS AND REGULATIONS COMMITTEE — Mr. G. A. Ereeman, Chairman.

There were no changes or amendments to the Constitution during the year 1957. Mr. Freeman devoted much of his time to the business affairs of this Chamber and that of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

R. G. HAMILTON
Secretary-Manager

FINANCE COMMITTEE — Mr. H. J. Fuke, Treasurer

Early in the year the Finance Committee prepared a Financial Statement and presented a Budget for 1957. Under Mr. Fuke's careful guidance, monthly statements were presented to the Directors for their approval.

PUBLIC RELATIONS COMMITTEE — Mr. W. L. McDougall, Chairman

During various surveys and contact in general with individual members and other organizations, this Committee contributed much towards promoting good public relations.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE — Mr. J. E. McArthur, Chairman.

There was no membership drive conducted during the year 1957, but rather a conscientious, methodical approach to businessmen throughout the year. Some fourteen new members have been admitted to the Chamber Roll and in addition some fifty-one new members by reason of transfer from other communities to Belleville with their company.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS COMMITTEE — Mr. J. E. Buchan, Chairman

Here was the responsibility of receiving considerable communications from the provincial and national Chambers. The Chamber supported many of the resolutions which were presented to the Annual Meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Victoria last Fall.

TOURIST COMMITTEE — Mr. J. A. Ireland, Chairman

An excellent job was done in promoting the Tourist Industry to Belleville and the vast area surrounding the City. The area promoted included supporters from Tourist Establishments located on the south side of the Bay of Quinte, and extending north through Hastings County as far as Lake St. Peter. Twelve thousand Highlands of Hastings Folders were printed and the Folder displayed a New Look in 1957, with a three-color front cover. Many maps and tourist literature from the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity, and the Canadian Government Travel Bureau were distributed from this office. Distribution was made in ports of entry into Ontario, through Tourist Agencies, and Automobile Clubs throughout Canada and the United States. The Highlands of Hastings Tourist Folder has gained in public acceptance and in support by the Tourist Operators throughout the area mentioned, and by Belleville Businessmen. The Folder is also made possible by equal contributions by the Council of the City of Belleville and by the Council of the County of Hastings. The Chamber's Tourist Committee met with a committee from the County and in this way co-ordinated the planning of the folder. Through Belleville's participation in the Lake Ontario Development Association, was made possible representation to the Cleveland and New York Sportsmen's Shows early in the year 1957. As a result of attendance at these two shows, a total of some three thousand names of interested visitors were gained, and on returning, the names were compiled and sent out to the various communities. The Belleville Chamber compiled and assembled these lists and mailed them to all the Tourist Operators who contributed in any way to the Highlands of Hastings Folder.

MANUFACTURERS' SECTION — Mr. G. A. Wishart, Chairman

The Manufacturers' Section of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce embodies all those manufacturers of this City who support the Chamber. A sub-committee under the chairmanship of Mr. J. C. R. Punchard was formed and in this way obtained facts and reports with reference to the water and sewage disposal systems which are being inaugurated in many communities across Ontario. It is the purpose of this Committee to report to the manufacturers from time to time and to assist the Council of the City of Belleville in any way in which the interests of the manufacturers may be affected.

Other subjects under discussion were Lecture Courses, and a committee has been formed under the chairmanship of Mr. G. A. Wishart who will report later in the new year with regard to the 1958-59 Courses through the Queen's University Extension Course.

RETAIL SECTION — Mr. J. B. Corke, Chairman

The Retail Section of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce was most active during the year 1957. Many meetings were held throughout the year by the chairman and various classification representatives. Topics which are under discussion and planning were those of store hours, improved parking facilities, and Christmas Street Lighting Program. During the year, an effective means of acquainting all businessmen with a knowledge of itinerand cheque artists and peddlers was initiated and placed into action. A Sub-Committee under the Co-Chairmanship of Mr. C. B. Colling and Mr. Dave Lunn continued their efforts with a view to obtaining increased parking in the Downtown Business Section. The efforts of this committee in working co-operatively with the Aldermen and Chairman of the City's special Traffic Committee has brought about one sixty-five car parking lot located within one block distance from the Shopping Section of the City. This is only the first stage of a program and the second stage is well into the form of negotiation by the City with the owners of property located along the banks of the Moira River.

The Workmen's Compensation Board coverage was extended to the Retail Trade commencing January 1st, 1957. The Chamber Office assisted in various ways in acquainting the Retail Proprietors with a knowledge of this coverage and how they may comply with regulations.

AFFILIATIONS — The Belleville Chamber of Commerce is a member of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, the Canadian Retail Federation, and The Better Business Bureau. A further liaison was established through Mr. G. A. Freeman who is a member of The Ontario Regional Directors' Committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and through Mr. A. O. Drysdale who is a Director and member of the Education Committee of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce. The Secretary-Manager has served as Secretary of Zone 3, Lake Ontario Development Association, is Treasurer of the Permanent Secretary-Managers' Association, the Ontario Chamber of Commerce Executives, and a member of the American Chamber of Commerce Executives.

IN APPRECIATION — The Board of Directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce is pleased to acknowledge with much appreciation the kind courtesies extended to the various members of the Board by Her Worship Mayor Jane Forrester, by Council Members, the Manager-Treasurer and Department Heads. From Warden Leslie McLaren, County of Hastings, Members of County Council and the Secretary-Treasurer, for their many acts of confidence and assistance throughout the year and to all other citizens who assisted in any way to make the affairs of the Chamber run that much more smoothly. Appreciation is extended to Mr. W. H. Morton, President of the Ontario Intelligencer, and Department Heads, for their generous publicity of the many activities in the news columns of the daily paper. To Mr. W. H. Stovin, President, and associates and Department Heads of Radio Station CJBQ for the co-operation and generosity with the Public Relations Program, and publicity given to many news releases through the medium of radio. To CKWS-TV, Kingston, for many news releases of interest to Belleville and District. To the many newspapers and magazines which have recorded in their publications, articles of interest to Belleville citizens.

President's Message . . .

The responsibility entrusted to me in 1957 as your President was one that I accepted with a deep sense of obligation and honor.

After ninety-three years' service to Belleville and District, the Belleville Chamber of Commerce cannot rest on its record of achievements, but must continue to promote aggressively our way of life.

The many inroads being made into our system of private enterprise is causing serious concern to professional and business men. These matters must be dealt with on a Provincial and National level through our support of the Ontario and Canadian Chambers of Commerce. The grass root strength of the Chamber of Commerce comes from the local Chamber and your support through the years has been most encouraging.

The administration of your needs is not a one man job, and your judgment in choosing an able group of men as your Directors is most praiseworthy. Whatever measure of success our Chamber may have had in 1957 is due largely to the co-operation and decisiveness of your Directors and the energetic and competent administration of your Secretary-Manager, Mr. R. G. Hamilton.

For the opportunity of serving my community, I thank you.

A. O. DRYSDALE,
President, 1957.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The McFarlands will scrape the bottom of their condition barrel the next few days for they have a travel schedule that has all the earmarks of a miniature retreat from Moscow with accompanying atmospheric effects.

Including last night's tilt with the Cornwall Chevies the schedule calls for the Macs to play six games in eight nights, three of them with the Lumber King laddies from Wally Lenser's permanent home.

Now if Support-'em-or-you-won't-see-'em Lenser would just get mad at the hockey public up there in the deep-freeze zone south of Petawawa again, and transfer his franchise to Chapman's Corners, all would be hunkey dory.

The next few days are going to be tough on the Macs as far as travel, play and not seeing the little woman is concerned. Tomorrow they start their around-the-horn safari to Pembroke, then via Diefenbaker's Dugout to Cornwall for a Sunday afternoon session with the Chevies, which likely won't be exactly tea and crumpets.

Providing they're all in one piece after this jaunt, they rest for a day to lick their wounds and study their position, then gird their hockey loins for a tilt with Sammy Pollock's Ottawa-Hull Canadiens here Tuesday evening.

The next night, Wednesday, they again don their mukluks and parkas and hie themselves to Lenser's Layout for another puck argument with the Kings. And as a continuation of the convention, the Lumber Kings come down to the Banana Belt next Friday for another sashay with the Macs.

The schedule-makers at this point must have realized the Kings and Macs were getting all the earmarks of going steady, for they ordered a change of face and made arrangements for the Hildebranders to meet their fraternal brothers from Kingston, in the latter's igloo on Saturday.

Then comes a three-day respite from the puck wars so the boys can be introduced to their families, and on Wednesday, February 5, they hike for Hull, when they will be guests of the Baby Habs.

All of which being boiled down means the next week or so will see a strenuous battle for first-place in the league standing between the Macs and the Lumber Kings.

The standing at the top of the heap of the Ottawa-Hull Canadiens at the moment, is for decorative purposes only. Down-east newspapers and radio mention frequently that the Baby Habs are leading the Eastern Senior "A" League, but they omit to state that the Habs' kids get three points per win and 1½ points per tie on an average.

And while on this point, we might as well set some western and northern Ontario sportswriters and 'casters right in that the Whitby Dunlops will not return to the Eastern League wars following their overseas junket. They will not take part in the league playoffs. Mr. Robert Hesketh, the efficient public relations "Joe" of the Dunnies has written to the effect the Dunlops will return to their home league. 'Taint so, Marse Bob, 'Taint so.

That went into the Eastern League records at a meeting last year after the ebullient Wren Blair stated that the Dunlops had been given the honor of representing Canada at the world hockey tournament in Europe.

Said Mr. Blair, "Win or lose, the Dunlops won't feel like playing hockey in Canada after the strenuous trip to Europe, the tension and struggle of the tournament and the heavy drain of exhibition games. Besides, Whitby would like to see another team in the Eastern League, not only win the group title but go on and win the Allan Cup for the second season in a row."

That's what the man said, s'welp me.

Nor will the Ottawa Canadiens take part in the playoffs. They will go Memorial Cup hunting, besides trying to bring home to Sammy that St. Laurent gonfalon.

The Eastern League playoffs form a strictly private matter between Belleville, Pembroke, Cornwall and Kingston, and not necessarily in the order named. The first and fourth and second and third teams will clash in the semi-finals, probably in four-of-seven affairs.

Major Leagues Can Settle Minor Loops' Video Troubles

TORONTO (CP)—The solution to television troubles plaguing the International Baseball League apparently lies in the meeting of the two major leagues in New York today.

IL president Frank Shaughnessy indicated to league officials meeting here Friday that th minors would have to depend on the majors to curb television of games or provide financial aid.

Shaughnessy previously contended a proposed plan to televise major league games nationally on Sundays would drive the minors to bankruptcy. Major league baseball already is carried nationally on television Saturday.

Shaughnessy and Frank Horton, president of Rochester Red Wings, reported on talks with congressional representatives Emanuel Celler (Dem. - N.Y.) and Kenneth B. Keating (Rep. - N.Y.), members of the House of Representatives judiciary committee, and with the U.S. justice departmnt.

Shaughnessy indicated he had been advised the majors would take care of the problem themselves. This could be done either by curbing the television of games into minor league territory or—believed more likely — financial reimbursement to the minors.

Celler and Keating, after a series of investigations into professional sports, recently advocated leg isolation exempting baseball from U.S. anti-trust laws.

Bob Maduro, owner of the Cuban Sugar Kings, advised the meeting that Havana needs radio and television sponsors. Otherwise he may have to shift his franchise.

But Phiery Phillipe Gives Andy Bathgate the Credit; Camille, the Eel, Helped Too

By MARTY GOODMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Who makes New York Rangers tick?

Perhaps Lorne (Gum) Worsley the little round goalie who has sparked the Blueshirts to three straight victories and a return to second place in the National Hockey League since his recall from Providence Reds of the American Hockey League.

Or maybe Camille Henry, the 156-pound sharpshooter whose 24 goals are best among the Rangers and third highest in the league.

But ask coach Phil Watson and the answer is automatic Andy Bathgate.

For instance, while the Rangers broke an eight-game winless streak with Worsley in goal, the three straight victories also featured Bathgate winging at a goal-a-game pace.

HIGH HELPER

And while Henry's goalgetting was good enough to lead the goalscorers for much of the season, Bathgate's 27 assists are high on the team. His 16 goals are second to Henry.

Watson is counting on all three to produce as the league schedule resumes today with New York at Toronto Maple Leafs, Chicago Black Hawks at Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings at Boston Bruins.

Sunday Montreal is at Detroit, Toronto at Boston and New York at Chicago.

Bathgate is the heart of the Rangers, more than any figures can show. The 25-year-old Winnipeg native anchors the first line, at right wing, plays the point on power plays and is often used when Rangers are shorthanded.

INSPIRING PLAYER

He is a skilful puck - handler, accurate shot and excellent skater More than anything else, he can inspire his mates with his opportunistic style of play.

In three full seasons with New York, Bathgate has increased his point total each year. Last year his 27 goals and 50 assists ranked him fourth.

He currently holds sixth place with 43 points, a slower pace. But both his regular linemates, centre Larry Popein and left wing Dean Prentice, have suffered various injuries this season and Prentice is still out with a broken leg. Danny Lewicki is playing in his spot.

In a league that is studded with good right-wings — Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal and Gordie Howe of Detroit — Bathgate is often overshadowed.

But unjustly so, says Watson.

Laufman Leads Senior Scramble

SUDBURY (CP) — Ken Laufman, Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen's perennial all - star, has taken a seven-point lead in the OHA - NOHA Senior A scoring race.

Laufman, who has only eight minutes in penalties, has scored 20 goals and assisted on 44 others, high for the league, for a total of 64 points, league statistics released today show.

John Bailey of Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds has 24 goals and 33 assists for 57 points and second place.

Windsor Bulldogs' Frank Bathgate has the league's best goals-total—27—and matches it with 27 assists for 54 points and a tie for third with Ted Power of Chatham. Power has 21 goals and 33 assists.

Don (Boat) Hurley of league-leading Dutchmen, playing his first full season in the league, leads the goaltenders with a 3.00 goals-against average. In second place is John Albani of fifth-place Sudbury with a 3.47 average.

WELLAND LADIES WIN

BURLINGTON (CP) — A Welland rink skipped by Mrs. W. J. Reuter Friday night won the Phil Davis Trophy in Burlington's first annual fillies' bonspiel with a total of 32 points. One point behind was a Hamilton Thistle rink skipped by Mrs. I. Malcolm.

Demaret, Venturi Top Thunderbird Golf Tourney

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) The $15,000 Thunderbird invitational golf tournament got a little more into focus today with such solid golfers as Jimmy Demaret and young Ken Venturi leading the way into the third round.

Demaret made a bold bid to win his fourth victory in this event when he shot a 65 Friday, six strokes under par, and Venturi, a pro for only about 13 months, astonished the gallery with a 63

Playing the 6,500 - yard Thunderbird Country Club's par 36-35—71 course, Venturi had a 33-30—63 and Demaret 32 - 33. Demaret had a first round 68, Venturi a 70 and their total was 133.

It gave them a two-stroke lead over Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., and Dave Marr of Rumson, N.J.

Al Balding of Toronto, whose first-round score of 68 was only three strokes behind co - leaders Marr and Fred Hawkins, fell back to a 70 and a two-day total of 138. He was tied with U.S. Open champion Dick Mayer, former champions Lloyd Mangrum and Ed Furgol, Eric Monti, Gene Littler and Bill Maxwell.

Hawkins carded a 72 Friday for a 137 total.

Men's Singles To Feature Figure Skating

OTTAWA (CP) — The battle of Snelling versus Jackson begins again today at the Canadian figure skating championships.

Charles Snelling, 20, of Toronto defends the senior men's singles title for the fourth consecutive year. Donald Jackson, 17, of Oshawa, runner-up for the last two years, tries once more to upset the champion.

The first-round school figures will be run off during the day with the final free skating tonight. Other events to be decided are the senior ladies singles, the senior pairs and senior dance.

Charlie's sister, Sonia, 15, won the junior ladies singles Friday night as six titles were decided.

Runner-up was Frances Gold, 14 - year - old daughter of Ottawa professional Otto Gold.

Bill McLachlan, 19, and Geraldine Fenton, 20, of Toronto won the 10-step and the senior waltz championships; Carl Harrison, 20, of Toronto, the junior men's singles; the Staroba brother-and-sister team of Mirek, 15, and Svata, 19, of Toronto, the junior dance; and Alastair Munro, 17, and Judith Rudd, 15, of Ottawa, the junior pairs.

Harrison netted a total of 549.6 in the two-part singles title. His runner-up was Lewis Stong of Unionville, Ont., with 525.1 points and J. Bradley Black of St. Catharines, followed with 492.5 points.

HAS ONE-STROKE LEAD

PANAMA (AP) — Bob Watson, veteran pro from Ardsley-on-Hudson, N.Y., clipped six strokes off par Friday to take the lead in the $10,000 Panama Open golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 134. Watson's 35-31—66 over the par 36-36—72 Panama Country Club course boosted him into a one - stroke lead over Ed (Porky) Oliver and Art Wall Jr.

Pembroke Whips CKLC's 7-3 Sudbury Shades Dunlops 4-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Goaltender Johnny Albani of Sudbury Wolves, who earlier this week chalked up his 200th consecutive game in the Wolves' net, Friday night ran up against Whitby Dunlops, Canada's representatives in next month's world hockey championships. And Dunlops came off worst.

The five-foot, six-inch Albani put on a giant-killing act as Dunlops peppered him with 37 shots. Only three got by and the Wolves, fifth in the OHA-NOHA Senior A series, won 4-3.

And while Albani was being blitzed, Long John Henderson in the Dunlops' net coped with 30 shots.

BOOST LEAD

The loop's league - leaders, Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen pushed their lead to 10 points, whipping Chatham Maroons 5-1. Chatham remains in fourth place.

There were goals galore in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A eastern series. Pembroke Lumber Kings walloped Kingston CKLCs 7-3 and Belleville McFarlands whipped Cornwall Chevies 9-2.

Charlie Burns slammed in Dunlops' first goal before many of the 5,666 spectators had time to get settled.

It came eight seconds after the opening faceoff. A minute later Bobby Attersley increased the lead. Then Wolves took over.

SCORING SPREE

Joe Malo, with two, Nick Tomiuk and Gord Heale went on a first-period scoring spree which sank the Dunlops whose other goal—in the third period—came from Bus Gagnon.

Kitchener, with two goals from Ralph Hosking and singles from Charlie Brooker and Billy Flick, built up a 4-0 lead by the end of the second period against Chatham. Ken Wylie made it 5-0 in the third before Jim Connelly scored for Maroons.

Pembroke, 3-1 over Kingston in the first period, made it 5-3 in the second before adding two unanswered markers in the final.

Bert Giesebrecht led Kings, with three goals. Jack Maxwell added a pair and Jack Giesebrecht and Fildes scored one each. Don Senior, Gerry Moore and Anderson scored for Kingston.

Belleville's Weiner Brown put on a three - goal performance against Cornwall. Barton Bradley added a pair, McFarlands' other goals coming from Ike Hildebrand, Eddie Marineau, Moe Benoit and Keith Macdonald. Reg Grigg scored both Chevies' goals.

Richard Works Out With Habs

MONTREAL (CP) — Maurice (Rocket) Richard worked out at practice with Montreal Canadiens Friday for the first time since a severe injury sidelined him last Nov. 13.

The veteran Rocket took part in a few spirited rushes with his mates but for the most part confined himself to skating.

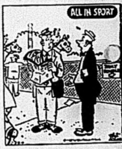
Richard suffered a partly severed Achilles tendon during a game in Toronto.

After the workout the Rocket said his foot felt fine for 15 minutes. "After that it stiffened up, but it will be getting better from now on."

There was no indication [illegible] he will return to National Ho[illegible] League play.

REPRESENT CANADA

OTTAWA (CP) — A 17 - man Canadian army team will represent Canada at the international military ski championships at Bardonecchia, Italy, Feb. 10-17. The team is made up of members of the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade group in Germany. Teams from the armies of France, Norway, Sweden, the United States, Italy, Austria, Finland, Britain, Germany and Switzerland also will compete.



"I won't be able to play the races this afternoon. Went broke betting on the workouts this morning!"

McFarlands Jump Into League Lead With 9-2 Victory Over Cornwall

'Wiener' Brown's Hat Trick Paces High-Flying Mac Pack; Sink Five in First Period

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Riding the crest of a high-scoring wave the Belleville McFarlands easily defeated the Cornwall Chevies 9-2 here last night to take over unofficial first place in the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" league standing.

The Macs jumped into top spot with 40 points, with the Pembroke Lumber Kings who defeated Kingston 7-3 last night in second place with 39. The Ottawa-Hull Canadiens dropped to third spot with 38.

"Wiener" Brown took over the scoring spotlight as the McFarlands racked up their second nine-goal spree in a row. They have scored 25 goals in their last three games.

The "Wiener" scored the hat-trick with linemate Barton Bradley scoring twice with two assists. Eddie Marineau had one and two; Moe Benoit, one and three; Ike Hildebrand, one and one; Keith MacDonald, a goal; Paul Payette, two assists, with Crawford and Kowalchuk getting singles. Roy Grigg scored both Cornwall goals.

The McFarlands took over from the start of the first period and never looked backwards, nor better from a point-getting viewpoint. They ripped home two goals in 18 seconds in the first three minutes of play and added three more in five minutes later in the frame. Cornwall scored a single at 13.50.

Brown scored the only goal of the second period when the Cornwall defence played its best hockey, but the Macs roared right back in the third heat to fire home three with the Chevies getting another loner. The Macs outscored the Chevies almost two-to-one in each period with an overall total of 46-23.

There was no blood-letting although the game was rugged at times. Referee Jack Shropshire tabbed the McFarlands with eight sentences and the Chevies with a pair, all minors. The Chevies offence was noticeably weak when they had manpower advantage with the Macs scoring a goal on one occasion when they were a man shy, while the downeasters had but one shot on Gordie Bell during two consecutive Macs penalties.

"WIENER" BROWN

The McFarlands did not wait too long to open the scoring, Wiener Brown firing home the first of a period pair at 2.35, shooting point-blank at Devaney from Marineau's perfect pass. Benoit was in on the play. Marineau made it 2-0 less than a minute later, smashing home the puck from a goalmouth pass from Bradley with Ole Moe again helping.

Menard was chased and the Macs staged a fine penalty-killing effort and repeating when Lepine got the gate three minutes later.

Menard was given his second penalty leaving the Macs two men short for a minute but the Chevies failed to dent the defence and the sinners were back with no damage done.

Grigg broke the Cornwall egg poking the puck in from outside the crease from Guy Henri's neat pass. Muir was given an assist.

The cut was short-lived for six seconds later Keith MacDonald got the goal back with Gerry Goyer helping. Kowalchuk went off again and the Macs not only pushed the Chevie offence back but scored with Ike Hildebrand giving Moe Benoit a perfect pass from close in.

Two minutes later Wiener Brown got his "second for the baby" smashing home Marineau's pass to make the count 5-1 with Bart Bradley in on the play. Kowalchuk was chased with seconds to go. The Macs outshot the Chevies 14-7 in the period.

BART BRADLEY
Two-and-Two

The Chevies failed to capitalize with the man advantage opening the second period and the Macs, hitting their offensive stride, hemmed the Chevies in. Wiener Brown scored his hat-trick with a blazing slapshot from outside the red circle to give the Macs a 6-1 lead. Again the Chevies were weak offensively when MacDonald was chased at 7.18. Don LaBelle was heaved for high sticking and the teams battled four a side. No damage was done and the Cornwall defence tightened three minutes later when LaBelle drew his second sentence of the period.

The McFarlands again dominated the play, outshooting the Chevies 12-6 in the period.

The McFarlands flew to the attack again in the third period Ike Hildebrand blasting the rubber home 21 seconds after play had started. Two minutes later Bart Bradley scooped up a loose puck outside the Chevy crease and gave the Macs an 8-1 lead.

With eight minutes to go Grigg scored his second goal of the game taking Pete Payette's pass close in to beat Bell. Kowalchuk was chased but the Chevies failed to take advantage of the man advantage. He was scarcely back on the ice when Bart Bradley rolled the puck into the net on a play with Moe Benoit and Kowalchuk. MacDonald got the gate with less than a minute to go but time ran out on the Chevies.

Paul Payette won the Carlings Award as player of the week, with Weiner Brown also named.

Tony Dupas Wins Over Rodriguez

A left-right-left combination to the head sent the taller Rodriguez to the floor just before the end of the third round. A left to the jaw caught Dupas off balance in the first round and he took the mandatory eight count.

Referee Lucian Jaubert and judge Eddie Wolfe each tabbed Dupas the winner five rounds to four with one even. Judge Phil Gaffney had Rodriguez ahead 6-4.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington, D.C.—Joe Brown, 137½, New Orleans, stopped Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams, 136½, Washington, 5 (non-title).

New Orleans — Tony Dupas, 155, New Orleans, outpointed Herbie Rodriguez, 153, New Orleans, 10.

Durban — Dennis Adams, 111, South Africa, knocked out Warner Batchelor, 112, Australia, 2. (Adams retained British Empire flyweight title).

George Terlep Sasky Riders New Coach

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders have signed another former quarterback as head coach of their Western Interprovincial Football Union team.

George Terlep, signed Friday to a two - year contract, is the third successive ex - quarter to hold the post since Black Jack Smith a one-time lineman, left the club in 1951.

Terlep, backfield coach with the Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the eastern Big Four last year, was a quarterback with the University of Notre Dame and later with the old Buffalo Bills.

He succeeds Frank Filchock, once one of the first quarter[illegible] game who was fired [illegible]ve years with Riders. Filchock's predecessor was Glenn [illegible] a greater quarterback with Riders who served one year as playing coach.

Terlep, 35, has been coaching since 1949 when he became backfield coach at the University of South Carolina. He held the same post in succeeding years at Vanderbilt, Marquette, Pennsylvania and Indiana, then joined Ticats last year.

Referee Stops Brown, Williams Bout in Fifth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown cut surprisingly stubborn Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams over the left eye and won a technical knockout in the fifth round of a non - title scrap Friday night. Brown weighed 137½, Williams 136½.

Ring physician John Kneipp ordered the fight stopped after 1:17 of the fateful round in a scheduled 10.

Williams fighting only his second main event, was bleeding from the wound that Brown opened up in the fourth.

Brown, the 31-year-old world champion, aimed at the eye in the fifth and worked on the cut with lashing blows from either side.

Bowen and judges Charley Buck and Joe Bunsa each had Williams ahead on points at the sudden finish.

Gerry McNeill Blanks Reds in Fourth Shutout

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Gerry McNeil turned in his fourth shutout of the American Hockey league season as Rochester Americans blanked Providence Reds 5-0 Friday night.

The win boosted Rochester past idle Buffalo and into fourth place in the standings.

Coach Roly McLenahan, experimenting with new lines, struck gold when he put centre Skippy Burchell with Earl Balfour and Spider Mazur. That line accounted for four Rochester goals—Balfour and Mazur each getting two. The other was scored by Ab McDonald.

MAY RIDE TODAY

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Jockey Johnny Longden, world's top jockey with 5,090 victories, says he is ready for a comeback after being out of action five months because of a leg fracture. He is booked to ride Blue Decade in the third race at Santa Anita Park today but said he will postpone his return to the track if it rains.

Will Televise Olympic Games

NORTH CONWAY, N.H. (AP) Extensive television coverage of the 1960 Olympic games is planned, including live TV to Europe if possible, Robert L. King, executive director of the games, said Friday night.

Speaking at the dedication of a new ski slope here King predicted that television coverage of the games at Squaw Valley, Calif., will be among the widest of any sports event in history. He said officials plan national telecasts, probably in color, and live coverage for Europe if trans-Atlantic TV is a reality by then.

The proposed dates of the winter games still requiring final approval from the International Olympic Committee, are Feb. 12-22.

On the Tracks

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Showers are forecast but, rain or shine, Round Table is the horse to beat today in the 11th running of the Santa Anita Maturity for four-year-olds.

Six horses have been named to run against Round Table, the money winning champion of U.S. three-year-olds in 1957. Promised Land, winner of six stakes in the east last year, appears to be the serious challenger.

If there are no scratches before post time (7:40 p.m., EST) the race will gross $158,490, with the winner getting $82,130.

HOEKSTRA TO ROCHESTER

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens announced Friday that Cec Hoekstra, centre with the farm club Montreal Royals of the Quebec Hockey League, has been sent to Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League. Hoekstra, 22, has played 25 games with Royals this season and has scored 10 goals and 15 assists.

Petes Shaded By Bilts 1-0; Baby Habs Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A goal at 14:18 of the final period Friday night broke up a tense Ontario Hockey Association Junior A goalkeeping duel between Guelph Biltmores' Bruce Gamble and Jacques Caron of Peterborough Petes.

Caron cracked to give Guelph the 1-0 victory on Gord Brown's goal.

Both goalies turned in sparkling displays, Gamble keeping out 28 shots and Caron 30.

Other action saw Barrie Flyers score two last-period goals to defeat Hamilton Cubs 2 - 1 and Ottawa -Hull Canadiens go on a goal-spree, swamping Toronto St. Michael's 10-3.

SCORE FIRST

Second - place Hamilton scored first against Barrie in the second period when Ed Cooke drilled a screen shot past Norman Jacques.

Dale Rolfe scored both Flyers' goals.

Ottawa, ahead 3-2 against St. Michael's in the first period, pushed it to 5-3 at the end of the second and rattled in five unanswered goals in the final.

Gilles Tremblay, Ralph Backstrom and Bob Rousseau each scored twice for Ottawa, singles going to Harold White, John Annable, Bill Carter and Bob Boucher. Dave Keon scored twice for St. Michael's, Martin scoring the other.

ON SCOUTING TOUR

TIMMINS (CP) — Jimmy Skinner, recently resigned coach of the National Hockey League Detroit Red Wings, is here on a tour of Northern Ontario on his first assignment as a Red Wing scout. Skinner will leave for Sudbury during the weekend. Detroit sponsors three juvenile teams in Northern Ontario.

Marlene Gains Semi-Finals After Defeating Favorite

(CP) — Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto, after one hard-fought victory Friday and then an easy one, leads off the semi-finals of the Helen Lee Doherty golf tournament today against Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga.

The other semi-final pits Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore against Nan Berry of Quincy, Ill.

Mrs. Streit had to go to an extra hole before beating Barbara Romack Porter of Sacramento, Calif., the tournament favorite, in morning play. Both are former U.S. amateur champions.

In the afternoon Marlene's putter helped her easily defeat Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C. 6 and 5, after she went four holes up at the turn with a one-over-par 39. She won the 11th hole with a 15-foot putt, came out of a trap within inches of the pin on No. 12 and halved the 13th.

KEEPS EMPIRE TITLE

DURBAN (AP) — Dennis Adams, South African holder of the British Empire flyweight boxing championship, retained his title when he knocked out Warner Batchelor of Australia in 20 seconds of the second round Friday night. Adams weighed 111 pounds, Batchelor 112.

ALS ELECT WORKMAN

MONTREAL (CP) — M. E. (Ted) Workman Friday was elected president of the Montreal Alouettes Football Club, Inc. Workman, who has been vice-president since he became a major owner more than two years ago, succeeds Leo Dandurdand.

Last complete show tonight at 9.20.

Minor Hockey

Goals were scarce at Memorial Arena this morning in the peewee hockey league as three of the games ended in ties and the eight clubs scored a total of seven goals.

The Bruins gained an unexpected point when they held the first-place Canadiens to a scoreless deadlock.

Black Hawks earned the only victory of the four games by shutting out Maple Leafs 3-0. Perry Soule, Richard, Eves and Leo Mullins each clicked for a single goal while Richard Woodley had the lone assist.

Red Wings and Browns fought to a 1-1 tie. Jim White scored for the Wings with Dwight Rathwell assisting while Allan Waddell replied for the Browns with Gary Thibault helping.

Barons and Rangers also tied 1-1. Freddie Robinson netted the Baron goal unassisted while Allan Mott scored for Rangers with Jack Thompson assisting.

AT THE McCARTHY — A tense scene from "Seven Thunders", filmed hot on the spot in France, opens Monday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre and features Stephen Boyd and James Robertson Justice. "They Were Not Divided" is the added feature.

Never Upset Balance of Nature

Not so very many years ago, conservation matters were handled by men who, to put it midly, were not too conversant with the problems in hand. When a situation arose, they dealt with it with obvious remedies. Cause and effect, that was the rule. What might happen next concerned them not at all. First things first — let subsequent problems be dealt with as they arose, according to their merits.

Wildlife management is an extremely involved profession. Obvious remedies often do more damage than good. Then that resultant damage, often far more extensive than the original fault, must be corrected so that matters are once more in order.

For example, this is what did actually happen in one particular instance. No doubt it happened elsewhere. Anyway, this is the story.

There is a shooting club in South Carolina, fairly close to the Georgia line, that supplies quail shooting of rare quality for its members. Also, the number of quail on the property, about 10,000 acres in all, couldn't fail to attract the predators in the vicinity.

One year — probably because of a cold, wet nesting season — the shooting was not up to its usual state of excellence. The board of directors, having noted the large numbers of hawks, owls, foxes, possum, coon, etc., jumped to the conclusion that these freeloaders were living mighty high on expensive quail. They instituted a vermin campaign and offered substantial bounties. In a reasonably short time the club grounds were practically free of predators.

The following season there was superlative shooting, but the year after that showed the worst shooting the club had ever experienced. Investigation — this time by a trained biologist — resulted in the disclosure that the cotton rat, having been relieved of its natural enemies, had multiplied to the point where it had practically eliminated the quail.

Thus, the club was faced with the expensive job of restocking with quail. In addition, they restocked, so help me, with owls, at five dollars per owl. In due course Nature's balance was restored, but it was a costly and enlightening experience.

Florida, way back in the early twenties, used to have a bounty on alligators. The professional hunters did such a thorough job of alligator extermination that the soft-shelled turtles — called "rubber-shells" locally — just about cleaned out the bass supply. Not only was the alligator placed on the "protected" list; also, gators actually were stocked in certain areas such as Big Blue Cypress.

Some years ago in Pennsylvania and New York State there was great hue and cry raised over the supposed inroads that foxes made into the small game supply. For a while foxes were placed on the bounty list and the boys had quite a time collecting their bonuses on fox skins.

Stomach investigations of hundreds of foxes showed that the fox was blamed for far more crimes than he actually committed. Then an experiment was set up and conducted for several years. Two test areas were set aside, of similar size and cover character. One was carefully kept free of vermin; the other was left strictly alone. Strangely enough, after a couple of years there were more birds on the natural area than there were on the vermin-free area. Bounties were discontinued.

Australia has run the gamut on bounties. First, there were bounties on predators. Rabbits increased to the point where they, too, were placed on the bounty list. Certain predators feed also on insects and elimination of these naturally increased the supply of insects. Now certain insects are classed as "vermin" and are on the bounty list. Australian officials are now urging that bounties be discontinued entirely.

At the present time, South Africa is undergoing the bounty cycle. Their experience is similar to that of Australia and the officials are much like the man who had the bear by the tail — he did not want to hang on but he found it inadvisable to let go. Many shooting clubs in South Africa, by putting on vermin drives, manage to pay a large share of their expenses and they, quite nathrally, fight any move to discontinue bounties. South African officials are quite unhappy.

One thing the bounty system has shown conclusively — never does it pay to upset the balance of nature. But when you have said that, you have just about said everything in its favor. Why, we wonder, must we learn our lessons the hard way?

TV NOTEBOOK

By JOHN WETTLAUFER

The winter months and their frequent dosages of snow, sleet, rain and other weather phenomena, sometimes cause worsening TV reception. This is a case of moisture causing a short circuit between antenna elements.

The antenna spokes to which the aerial wire is attached are active elements. The elements are held together, yet insulated from one another, by a plastic block. Soot, dirt, dust and any of a score of other contaminants in the air, collect over a period of time on this plastic block. Moisture is absorbed by the dirt deposits and provides the short circuit between the active elements which sometimes affects reception to a disturbing degree.

By the way, if your TV reception is affected to a disturbing degree either by troubles with the antenna or with the set itself, it's high time to call on CIRCLE TV SERVICE. As we have said before: At the first sign of trouble, call CIRCLE TV on the double. We're close by at 368 Coleman. Phone WO 8-6791; in Trenton phone Zenith 6-3800.

Lane Believes All Big Centres 2-Team Towns

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland Indians general manager Frank Lane said he was willing to "bet all the tea in China that the major leagues today will make all cities with a population of 2,000,000 or more eligible for two big league baseball teams.

Lane, member of the four-man committee which recommended a set of new rules governing territorial and franchise changes, conceded there might be opposition from several American League clubs, but added such opposition would not affect the outcome of the vote.

The two - million cities are New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Detroit. Only Chicago now had two teams.

Although the club owners were almost certain to be occupied with legislative matters all day, it was expected one or two player trades would be consummated this week.

SEEKS INFIELDER

Lane said he had not given up hope of landing a second baseman, either from the Yankees or Detroit. The Cleveland boss has been dangling Ray Narleski, his ace relief pitcher, as bait for either Billy Martin or Frank Bolling of the Tigers or Bobby Richardson of the Yankees.

Yankee assistant genral manager Lee Macphail scotched reports that a deal was imminent with Washington Senators that would bring slugger Roy Sievers to New York.

GIRL SKIER KILLED

SESTRIERE, Italy (AP) — Liliana Schmener, 24- year -old girl member of the Swiss skiing team in an international meet here, was killed Friday when she crashed into a tree while training. The Swiss team withdrew from today's competition because of her death.

BLAST KILLS NINE

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Nine persons were killed when a factory exploded and burned in suburban Vicente Lopez Thursday. The factory made glasses frames. A short in an electric heater caused the explosion.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

AT THE BELLE — Sol C. Siegel, Cole Porter and John Patrick respective producer, composer and screen playwriter of the successful "High Society", joined their respective talents again for the new M.G.M. musical drama, "Les Girls", hilarious story of a dancing troupe which tours Europe amid love and laughter. Gene Kelly is the act's dancing (and love-making) with "Les Girls", comprising Mitzi Gaynor, England's glamorous Kay Kendall, and Taina Elg, M.G.M.'s newest star. The lavishly produced picture, with settings in England, France and Spain is in color and CinemaScope.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Think of yourself as much as you prefer this day. Get physical condition at its peak, your sartorial splendor really luminous, then fly off to wonderful personalities. Be the height of wisdom and brilliance. Advance.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Let nobody in on your plans and labor diligently towards making them an early success. Contact the close ties who can assist you and labor with you. Wipe out all objections and progress very quickly.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Your desires and goals are nearer than you have any idea they could be. Spend time talking to those vital persons who are concerned with them and you will make real strides, get wonderful backing so that you are very happy.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) Avoid anything that could prevent you (staying in bed until too late an hour especially) from contacting personally all those higher ups to whom you should outline ideas in various spheres. They will back you today.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make a great effort to run off for the weekend on some delightful trip that could mean both pleasure and fine monetary opportunity. Your paper will give the right lead in which direction to travel, how to go most cheaply, safely.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) An especially fine day to devote to the detailed work that must be put aside during work week of a practical nature. But take care first to get rid of any debts, collect what money is due you. Be wise.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The day is here when you can easily catch that dynamic, elusive associate and talk out the points necessary for continued successful alliance. Get down to brass tacks, be direct, specific, then you make quick progress.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A very fine day to get to work with enthusiasm on all those little chores, uncompleted jobs that can be gotten rid of in jig time. Tonight, rest a while, then off to the recreation of your choice, or the pal of your heart.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you have been living attuned to your own astrological beam, you arise this morning feeling that all is well with the world and you in particular. Share the happy feeling with others, and especially in social, love life.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) 'Tis said that "Home is where the heart is" so make your home so lovely and spick-and-span today that none will doubt this saying. Prove it. P.M. invite guests in, as many as possible, give a little party and have a fine time.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't bother with chores and work around abode this fine day. Take a little trip and combine business with pleasure, or see old friends who miss you, enjoy the lovely countryside even if you have to see it from a bus. Have fun!

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20. Here is the weekend in which you can enjoy yourself fixing gadgets, putting down a new rug, daubing paint where badly needed, etc. Good also for thinking out how to cut expenses, earn more. Don't be narrow-minded. Expand.

If your child is born today . . . The delightful child born today is the human dynamo variety — always at work doing something, burning up energy and wanting to do everything at one time. Teach early to have thought for others whose mental wheels do not revolve at so rapid a speed as his or hers. Through consideration then the chart becomes a most successful one, for your progeny will mellow and be a natural leader.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Sunday, Jnuary 26

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Here is a day best devoted to making a better plan for living, setting a practical goal and figuring how to reach it. Pray over it and determine to be faithful to highest ideals in pursuing your course of action.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)— Seek a solitary place in which to commune with yourself and God this morning. Later, seek the company of your closest friends or ties, and tell them of your resolution to rebuild your life on a higher plane. Expand.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — You will be successful earlier than you think. And if you contact that wonderful spiritual healer close to you, your path will be made easier by following Spiritual Truths. P. M. be with those of highest character.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) — Many things come to the fore today which will give you an opportunity to prove your ability and altruism. Show willingness to sacrifice for God and your fellow man, your patriotism. You become very popular.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Dash out to that place with a serene atmosphere where you can be inspired by the glowing words and enlightening thoughts of a truly holy person. Then spread this light to all those in your immediate circle. Be generous.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Meditate and reflect today for quite some time and you will be rewarded by getting fine hunches that will be the most helpful. Then it is possible for you to plan the next seven days very wisely and follow your ideas.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Decisions can be reached today concerning how you wish things to operate in connection with others, and devise a splendid method that will be of mutual benefit. Tonight, seek out your friends and relax, have a happy time.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)— Put your association with fellow workers, associates on such a high plane today that it will be inspiring for all and successful. Show appreciation for their cooperation, liking and inrease good fellowship. Start uptrend.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Realization comes today that your greatest happiness lies in making others happy. Call on them and casually express this sweetness and light and watch the wonderful reaction. Other humans need affection, appreciation.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Utilize this lovely day to realize that in order to live more abundantly one must have more faith, be less pugnacious, kind at all times, especially with closest ties. Use the courtesy to them that you do to strangers.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Mentally you are very alert to ways and means of changing situations and methods so that you can realize a greater abundance. First dwell on the spiritual, lend a helping hand where needed, pray — then full speed ahead.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)— The things that puzzle you can today be made clear by applying the rules and standards under which you thrived as a younger person. The old tested fundamentals are still applicable today and always, so use them.

If your child is born today . . . The child born today is the type who is literally born with divine discontent in his inner soul, the kind who will do great things because of it. One of the first things you must do, however, is to teach the greatest of virtues: patience. Then your youngster will be equipped properly and will work out the wonderful possibilities in this chart.

Mixed Reaction To Extension Of School Year

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario secondary school authorities are mixed in their reactions to the extension of the high school year ordered by Education Minister Dunlop.

Some think more and better education will result from the extended year. Others point out that Ontario's secondary school year, averaging 195 days, is already one of the longest on the continent and say students are getting all the schooling they can manage now.

Mr. Dunlop said Wednesday the schools administration act calls for a 10-month year. He said the expansion is the first step in a plan to extend the school year into July in five years or less, part of a policy to put more real work into the exams and the system.

William Lang, chairman of the Toronto board, disagreed with the extension. "City schools now have sufficient time to cover their program adequately," he said. "July is a hot month. Many parents want their children out of the city."

MIGHT HELP

Mrs. Margaret Barlett of the suburban Scarborough board approved the move. "It might help raise our standards," she said.

The extended year "will be a waste of time if it isn't enriched with a bit more substance," said Mrs. Gertrude Owen of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations.

In Ottawa, most high school principals favored the extension.

"It's particularly advantageous to students this year because so many of them were absent with Asian flu in the fall and this will give them a chance to catch up," said Principal W. B. Wallen of Fisher Park High School.

In Hamilton, education officials said the extended term-time has left city schools just 10 days in which to complete 14 days work.

BEEN CRITICIZED

Joseph Ord, superintendent of Windsor secondary schools, said: "We've had so much criticism now as to the late date exam results are obtained, I don't see how it's going to be practical to push Grade 13 exams any further back. Certainly we will have to work out another system of marking Grade 13 papers."

A longer school year extending into the summer would have a "terrible impact" on Western Ontario's multi-million-dollar tourist industry, London officials said Thursday.

London's director of the board of education, Dr. A. B. Lucas, said that the move to have all Grade 12 students write final examinations will tend to destroy the incentive to hard work during the school year to get out earlier on the basis of good grades during the year.

He also predicted that if the school year is extended into July as the department anticipates will come, it will disrupt both teachers and students and result in "a very considerable opposition."

H-S Assoc. Hears Talk on 'Cold' War

CAMPBELLFORD — The January meeting of the Campbellford Home and School Association was held on Tuesday evening in the kindergarten room of the public school, with president, Mrs. Ward Ellis, presiding and Mrs. Elaine Watson at the piano. Mrs. Ellis welcomed the members and guests and the guest speaker, Dr. Ross Matthews, pediatrician, of Peterborough.

Mrs. Bill Murray read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Roy Ford.

It was announced that the annual oratorical contest will be held in the Campbellford high school auditorium on February 21st., 1958. It was decided to order new drapes for the principal's office.

Help was requested for flooding the public school rink after 9.30 p.m., and supervision of children while dressing and skating from 7 to 9.30. Parents willing to help in this were asked to contact Mr. A. Whitfield or Mrs MacMillan.

Dr. David Burgess of Campbellford introduced the speaker, Dr. Ross Matthews, who spoke at length of the "Cold War" in his profession, known generally

Mr. Wayne Gunter thanked

Mr. Wayne Bunter thanked Dr. Matthews on behalf of the association.

A short skit, entitled, "Could This Be You?" followed.

After the meeting closed, refreshments were provided by Grade 2 pupils.

Tweed

TWEED—The regular euchre and bridge card party sponsored by the Catholic Women's League was held in St. Carthagh's school hall on Wednesday with a good attendance. The winners were: euchre: ladies, Mrs. Ed. Jardine; men, Paul Cassibo; bridge — ladies: Mrs Anthony Quinn; men, Harry Austin. The door prize was won by Mrs. Harry Austin. Refreshments were served, concluding a lovely evening, and a social time was spent.

Govt. Plans Boost In Tax Revenue To Provinces

$87,206,000 to Be Made Available at Once

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament starts action today on what may be the last major piece of government legislation before an election—the hand - over of a larger share of federal tax revenues to the provinces.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming announced Saturday he will move quickly with an $87,206,000 omnibus bill to boost the provinces' share of federal personal income tax to 13 per cent from 10 and to grant the Atlantic provinces special extra payments.

The tax proposal — short of what the provinces demanded—may evoke sharp opposition criticism, but it is unlikely there will be any attempt to block it. Works Minister Howard Green, House leader, indicated he expects to get complete passage by Tuesday night.

Both Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Mr. Fleming have said the new tax concession is for one year only—a form of stop-gap measure to tide the provinces over until a new federal-provincial tax conference can be held later in the year.

CONFERENCE DELAYED

They said they had hoped to call the conference for this month but added that a "protracted" parliamentary session had frustrated this move. Mr. Diefenbaker added at a Winnipeg press conference during the weekend that his minority government lacked freedom of action to carry out long-term planning. Opposition Leader Lester B. Pearson said at Vancouver he expected an election "any day."

The federal tax move brought some quick provincial reaction.

Conservative Premier Frost of Ontario—the most bitter of critics of the tax - sharing formula worked out by the previous Liberal administration at Ottawa—hailed Mr. Diefenbaker's action as a "triumph for common sense."

At a federal-provincial conference last November, he had called for a tax slice that would have cost the federal treasury about an additional $250,000,000.

Conservative Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia said he also was "very pleased." However, Liberal Premier Campbell of Manitoba said the proposal fell short of what the provinces wanted and he was disappointed.

Lovesick 'Ham' Jams BBC TV Seeking Date

SOUTHSEA, England (Reuters) — Post office investigators today tried to track down a lovesick radio "ham" who interrupts television programs in attempts to date a blonde.

The "ham" uses the BBC's television wavelength to send messages to the girl.

One said: "This is a special announcement. Would the girl who bought some paraffin (Kerosene) from me like to go out with me?"

"Her description is as follows: Short with fair hair, wearing a black duffle coat."

Another broadcast, after describing the girl, appealed to listeners "Please pass on the message."

Dunlop Promises Larger Grants For Education

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario plans to demand more work from the province's students and spend more money on them in the next year.

Education Minister Dunlop said today when the legislature opens Feb. 3 the province will open a loan fund for students, expand the dominion - provincial bursary program and increase education grants to universities and municipalities.

Exact amounts will be announced when the budget is brought down, he said in an interview. Increases in each case will be "substantial."

Last week Dr. Dunlop announced a longer school term with the promise his department will "put more work and more time in school subjects."

Indications were the increases might put the education department ahead of the highways department as the highest-spending department. The education budget for the current year is about $140,000,000, excluding grants to municipalities.

Melvin Sam Lyle Named Coach Of Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — Melvin (Sam) Lyle, 35, for the last four seasons an assistant coach at the University of Oklahoma, has been signed as head coach of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference, it was announced today.

He replaces Frank (Pop) Ivy, who left Eskimos after four years to become head coach of Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League.

"We finally chose Lyle after considering upwards of 30 applicants," said Eskimo President Cec Ross. "one of the strongest persuasives in Lyle's case, in addition to his undoubted qualifications for the post, was his Oklahoma background."

Lyle, a native of Eldorado, Ark., who succeeded Ivy at Oklahoma when Ivy came to Edmonton, was an all-state high school end at Eldorado. He was captain of the Louisiana State team of 1949 that lost to Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Easterly winds the last few days have blanketed Eastern Canada from Nova Scotia to the Manitoba boundary with mild, moist air giving overcast skies from which intermittent wet snow and drizzle is falling. The daily temperature range is between 30 and 35 degrees and the amount of snow falling in 24 hours is from one-quarter to one inch with few exceptions. Little change is forecast for the next 48 hours.

Recover Bodies From Wreckage Of CF-100 Jet

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP) — A 10-man ground search party Sunday recovered the bodies of two airmen from the wreckage of their CF-100 jet interceptor 21 miles south of here.

The victims were Flt. Lt. H. J. Robertson of Stratford, Ont., and FO John Hardy of Edmonton.

An RCAF accident investigation officer was to be flown to the scene today from Winnipeg, 610 miles south of here, to inspect the crashed jet.

The wreckage was first sighted early Sunday by Flt. Lt. Bob Ayres of Hamilton. He was piloting one of the 14 planes taking part in the search.

DULLES PLEDGES U.S. AID TO MEET RED AGGRESSION

Baghdad Pact Lands Promised Support

ANKARA (CP)—State Secretary Dulles told leaders of the five Baghdad Pact nations today the U.S. will support them with "mobile power of great force" against any Communist invasion.

Dulles' keynote speech at the opening of the Middle East alliance's ministerial council meeting emphasized that any potential aggressor "knows in advance that his losses from aggression would far exceed any possible gains." But, he said, "if perchance deterrence fails" the U.S. will contribute its mobile power to save the people of the Middle East.

Dulles is attending a pact conference for the first time since the alliance was formed in 1955.

SEEK DISARMING

Turning to the question of a disarmament agreement with the Russians, he said:

"The United States ardently seeks limitation of armaments on a basis of equality. But never will the United States accept the Soviet Communist thesis that men, because they are religious, must deny themselves the need to defend their religious frdom."

Forign Minister Selwyn Lloyd of Britain told the conference:

"If the Russians now have a real desire to achieve a relaxation of tension, this is because by our alliances we have defended resolutely the principles and interests vital to us. . . .

"However, our constant aim must always be to reduce East-West tension and to seek agreement with the Soviet Union wherever and whenever this can be achieved without surrender of vital interests."

Commenting on Russia's call for an early summit conference of world leaders, Lloyd said the level of a conference is not as important as "concrete and sensible results."

Lending weight to the economic aspects of the meeting were reports that the Moslem members—Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan—were ready to criticize the scale of Western aid programs in the Middle East as being inadequate to meet Russia's challenges.

Such criticisms already have been voiced in the preliminary meetings of the pact's economic committee.

ANTI-ISRAEL PLAN

Another internal matter was expected to be an Iraqi request for pact support for the Arab demand that Israel be pushed back to the frontiers recommended by the United Nations in 1947.

Lloyd and Dulles were reported intending to say they are not planning any new initiatives on the Palestine question but prefer instead to support any moves undertaken by the UN.

Less than 12 hours before the leaders assembled, a bomb blew out the rear wall of a U.S. embassy warehouse. Another damaged a private bookshop near the U.S. Information Service. No one was hurt.

Heavier Sputniks Can Be Launched

LONDON (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev has said that the Soviet intercontinental rocket is so powerful that it can launch still "heavier Sputniks and send them higher than has been done before."

"We shall probably do this," he told agricultural workers in Minsk on Wednesday.

Several Attempts to Fire Vanguard, Satellite-Carrying Rocket, Fail

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States Navy is busy in another effort to get its satellite-carrying Vanguard rocket off the ground in the next few days.

Informed sources disclosed Sunday night that bad weather and a series of mechanical failures in the complex Vanguard spoiled several attempts to fire it last week. The first Vanguard blew up on its launching pad here last Dec. 6.

These failures have thrown the U.S. satellite program far off schedule. A goal set by President Eisenhower would have had three or four tiny "moons" in orbit by now, with the Vanguard set to launch bigger satellites in March.

The latest try to fire the Vanguard covered several days last week. It was in progress Saturday night when Russia's Sputnik II darted across the Florida sky in plain view of the missile test centre.

A few hours after that, the Vaneguard crew called for more time.

As one delay continued to run into another, the conviction grew that the Vanguard must fly soon—in a matter of a few days—or the army's Jupiter-C missile may take off first, carrying a 29.74 pound satellite.

The Vanguard still is experimental—its second stage guidance "brain" never has been tested in flight. All components of the Jupiter-C have been flown and were reported to have performed well.

HIS REWARD FOR DESERTING RED CHINA'S ARMY

Chang Chun-sheng, right, who once was a deputy commander of a Communist artillery division and who recently surrendered to free China, is shown as he was commissioned as a full colonel of the army of the republic of China by special order of President Chiang Kai-shek. Pinning three golden plum flowers insignia (full colonel) on Chang's shoulder in Taipei, Formosa, is Gen. Wang Shu-ming, chief of the general staff. The ex-Communist officer broke through a barricade outside Amoy in a sampan to surrender to the Kinmen garrison last Dec. 17. Before his surrender Chang served the Communist army for 19 years. By order of the free China president, Chang was given the important post as deputy chief of staff of the Nationalist anti-aircraft artillery command.

Canadians May Know Date Election Before Week's End

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians may conceivably know the date of the next federal general election before the week is out—or at least have firmer indications of when it will come.

At the moment, most of the sign posts point to a vote this spring.

Weekend visits to Western Canada by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson only served to heighten speculation that an election is coming soon.

At Vancouver, Mr. Pearson said it could come "any day now."

At a Saturday press conference in Winnipeg, Mr. Diefenbaker stressed more than once that "it is impossible for a government to operate effectively while in a minority position."

This was on top of his remark to the Commons Friday that an election will not be "too long delayed."

Mr. Pearson, in a two-day Vancouver visit seen by many of his followers as the opening shot of the election campaign, completed a busy round of receptions and conferences with provincial party chiefs.

In a Saturday night address to the B.C. Liberal Association convention he said he expected the election "any day now," and urged Liberals to be ready for it.

Mr. Diefenbaker was in Winnipeg to address a Saturday night banquet of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee.

His appearance at a Saturday public reception was reminiscent of his cross-Canada campaign tour that preceded the general election last June 10 when his Progressive Conservative party unseated the Liberal government.

He and Mrs. Diefenbaker shook hands with an estimated 3,000 persons ranging from children in their parents' arms to Conservative party veterans.

His comment: The occasion was "beyond anything he had ever seen."

Kadar Is Planning to Quit Post as Premier of Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP) — Premier Janos Kadar offered his resignation to Hungary's parliament today, but he will continue to run the country's Red regime as first secretary of the Communist party.

Kadar in a speech which was applauded repeatedly proposed that his 72-year-old first deputy, Ferenc Muennich, step up to the premiership. The vote on the proposals is expected Tuesday with approval a virtual certainty.

Kadar said he would remain in the cabinet.

Kadar's resignation had been rumored before every recent session of the Hungarian parliament. He was the only leader in the Soviet bloc still holding the two key posts of premier and party first secretary.

30 FIREMEN HURT

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — A shopping centre fire injured 30 firemen Sunday and caused an estimated $750,000 damage to three stores and a theatre. The fire started in the kitchen of a restaurant. Some 400 volunteer firemen fought it.

Britons Told Cigaret Smoking Cause of Cancer

LONDON (Reuters)—A British Medical Association booklet told Britons bluntly Sunday: "Cigaret smoking is a cause of lung cancer. That's that and you can't talk your way out of it."

The booklet, a supplement to the February issue of the magazine Family Doctor, was written by Dr. Harvey Graham, a pseudonym for its editor, Dr. Harvey Flack.

"Cigaret smoking is indeed the principal factor in the causation of lung cancer," the booklet said. "No other theory fits the facts. No amount of criticism has shaken the basic clinical, chemical and statistical findings."

Flack advised: "If you are a non-smoker, stay like that. If you are a heavy smoker, cut down. If you can't, stop smoking."

Girl Dies Comforting Friend Trapped in Path of Train

BLUFF CITY, Tenn. (AP) — Two frightened little girls were brushed to their deaths from a railway trestle Saturday. Witnesses say one could have lived if she had abandoned the other.

It wasn't that 13-year-old Pamela Harmon didn't want to live. Twice her fright sent her scampering toward a water barrel where she could have pulled herself out of reach of danger.

But twice she turned again into the face of the oncoming train when her friend Dorothea Miller, 11, screamed. Dorothea's foot was caught in the trestle.

The second time Pamela put her arms around Dorothea and the two faced the unstoppable train together.

They fell as one body into the icy waters of the Holston River 75 feet below.

HOUSE PROBABLY HEADS INTO LAST WEEK OF SESSION

Controversial Farm Bill Now on Books

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons today heads into what may be the last week of its current session amid a welter of speculation that the next federal general election is not far off.

One of the major hurdles of the session that opened Oct. 14 was cleared by the government Saturday when its controversial farm price supports bill received final Commons approval after three weeks of intermittent debate and a flurry of last-minute moves to amend it.

Before the House today is another piece of major legislation, announced only Saturday — increased federal financial aid to the provinces, especially the economically - handicapped Atlantic provinces.

Although it may draw some criticism, no opposition party is likely to risk political popularity by trying to topple the government on a share-the-wealth measure of this nature.

HOPES EARLY CLEANUP

Works Minister Howard Green, government House leader, reiterated Saturday that the government hopes the Commons will clean up its business by next Friday. Later, he said it hopes the legislative end of this business will be disposed of Tuesday.

That would leave the government's final supplementary spending estimates — the last word on spending for the fiscal year ending March 31—and consideration of remaining 1957-58 departmental estimates generally as about the sole remaining business for the remainder of the week.

The final supplementaries, already forecast by the government, may come up for consideration about mid-week.

There is a possibility, however, that the session could overlap into next week. That would be contingent on government election plans and what tactics the opposition employs this week.

Reports have been circulating that the Liberals, generally considered not to want any election until June at the earliest, may attempt to drag out consideration of the remaining departmental estimates.

This would be done by seeking to embarrass the Progressive Conservative government at every turn with questions as to where, if anywhere, it found extravagant over-spending by the former Liberal administration which mapped out this fiscal year's estimates before it went out of power. The Liberals have employed this tactic repeatedly this session.

170 Die as Boat Sinks Off Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A total of 222 persons, including 170 on an inter-island ferryboat, today were feared lost in a windstorm that lashed the south and east coasts of Japan.

Seven vessels were missing despite an extensive air and sea search.

U.S. Scientist, After Defence Study, States Reds Could Kill 30 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—A scientist who directed a secret study of U.S. defences says the Russians now could mount a combined bomber-missiles-submarine attack that could kill 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 Americans.

Dr. Ellis A. Johnson, director of the Johns Hopkins University operations research office, says: "At the present time, our defence is not very good, very poor, as a matter of fact, if an attack were to come immediately."

Johnson also says, in a copyrighted interview in the magazine U.S. News and World Report, that an extra $15,000,000,000 a year, for an indefinite number of years, is the price of an adequate defence for the United States.

The Johns Hopkins office was set up 10 years ago to make scientific analyses of military problems. Under Johnson's direction, it conducted for the army a study of U.S. defences. The report has not been made public.

In the interview, Johnson says it is his belief that "right now" the Russians could "throw several hundred bombers at us" and perhaps 50 or more missile-firing submarines—"and it would be more than adequate." He said he would expect them to be armed with nuclear weapons.

Johnson estimates that more than half of the attackers would get through American defences, as now constituted.

"I assume that if they attacked us now, that they would, if they had any sense, make SAC (the Strategic Air Command) their principal target.

"However, there is no reason why they couldn't at the same time easily spare enough of their attack force on the side to kill 20,000,000 or 30,000,000 people and more than 10 per cent of our economy—perhaps 20 per cent."

At the present time, the Russians had the capability of knocking out "a big fraction" of SAC bases.

Asked to pinpoint weak spots his group found in the U.S. defences, Johnson replies

"Our detection system is not yet adequate. Our interceptors are not adequate, and they never will be by themselves because we can't provide enough interceptors to be adequate—especially against short warning from the sea. And we don't have enough guided missiles."

Montreal Trust Company, Bank Lose Large Sum

Cash, Stocks and Bonds Stolen During Weekend

MONTREAL (CP)—An undetermined amount in cash, stocks, bonds and other securities was stolen during the weekend from a trust company and a small bank in Montreal's financial district.

The robbery occurred at La Societe Nationale de Fiducie, a trust company, and its banking subsidiary, La Caisse Nationale d'Economie.

Neither police nor officials of the company and the bank would make even a rough estimate of the amount taken. In the preliminary stages of the investigation police said a fortune could have been taken, but R. E. Ouimet, president of La Societe Nationale de Fiducie said:

"There appears to have been more damage done than money stolen."

NOT MUCH CASH

Mr. Ouimet said the cash taken from his company was only the "petty cash."

F. Eugene Therrien, president of La Caisse Nationale d'Economie, said all bonds stolen were registered which would make their cashing difficult.

A detective at the scene told newspaper men "I have been wading around knee-deep in mortgage bonds, war savings bonds and a dozen other kinds of securities. At a rough guess I would place their value at $500,000."

Discovered only early today, police believe the robbery was committed Saturday night.

BLASTED WAY IN

The thieves used dynamite, electrically-operated drills, acetylene torches, crowbars and other tools to smash their way into the vaults. Before reaching the vaults the thieves had to smash the steel door of a concrete security room, built in the fashion of an air-raid shelter.

They worked without setting off an intricate alarm system. The company operating the system said it is checking to see whether an outside connection was smashed by snow-removal equipment earlier this month.

Sft. Leo Plouffe, police expert in explosives, said the thieves had set up their own alarm system which would have tipped them off if any one had entered the building while they were at work. The system consisted of a series of electric wires which would have set off a buzzer the minute the doors of the building were opened.

Sgt. Plouffe discovered a bullet hole in the inside of the front door. He said he could not figure out why it was fired.

DETERMINED DRIVER

LONDON (Reuters) — Keith Pragnel, 33, was alleged in court Friday to have driven a car for nearly 12 miles at about 45 miles an hour—with one wheel missing. "The police could hardly believe their eyes," prosecuting counsel said. Police tried to stop him twice but had to get out of his way and follow behind. Eventually they stopped him at an intersection.

Khrushchev Says Russia Ready To Discuss Ban

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev said in a speech published Sunday Russia is ready to discuss a ban on intercontinental ballistic missiles — but only as part of a disarmament package deal.

He made clear he was not proposing such a ban outside an agreement that would include disarmament proposals the Soviet Union has been trying to sell without success in the past.

The conditions Khrushchev laid down called for the West to agree to dismantle military bases with which, he said, the United States has surrounded the Soviet Union and the Communist camp.

He called for a summit conference to discuss these issues, but said they would have to be part of an agreement on the reduction of foreign forces in Germany and other European states.

The package deal, he said, also would have to include standing Soviet proposals for the immediate banning of atomic and hydrogen weapons and their tests and the creation of an atomic-free zone in central Europe.

Civilians Back Venezuela's Ruling Junta

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The threat of a counter-blow against Venezuela's revolutionary government eased today. After a night of tension, the ruling junta appeared to have re-established order.

Reports that diehard supporters of ex-dictator Marcos Perez Jiminez were preparing to move against the junta put Venezuela on edge Sunday night.

But as the hours passed there were indications the people were giving strong backing to the junta. Civilians were risking their lives to help authorities rout Perez Jiminez bands still spreading terror across the land.

Backers of the old regime sped in cars through the streets of Caracas and other cities Sunday night, firing machine-guns indiscriminately at civilians, troops and national guardsmen. One woman was killed and about 10 persons wounded.

DRIVER NARROWLY ESCAPES INJURY, CAR HIT BY ENGINE

George James Rousatte, 8 Octavia Street, narrowly escaped injury Saturday night when his car was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway engine at the Church St. crossing.

The accident occurred shortly after 9 o'clock during Saturday night's snow storm. Rousatte said he failed to see the approaching train until he was almost on the track. He swerved to the side and his car received but comparatively minor damage.

Slippery street conditions saw a rash of minor accidents in the city over the weekend. None of the mishaps resulted in any personal injury, police said.

RESIDENT FEELS HE WAS 'TAKEN IN'

The old request for a dime for a cup of coffee took a new twist in the city over the weekend.

Police said a resident reported he had been accosted by a stranger, not for a dime for a cup of coffee, but for a dollar with which to buy gasoline.

The resident reported he was walking on Victoria Ave., Saturday evening when the occupant of a car spoke to him and asked for the loan "to buy gas." The request for a loan was supported with the statement he worked for a local business man and would repay the dollar next day.

The "loan" was made and now the resident feels of the opinion that he was "taken in."

Highway Employee Killed, Thrown Under Dump Truck

James Wilfred Wilson, 46 Ontario Department of Highways employee at Madoc, was instantly killed Saturday night when he was thrown from the seat of his snowplow beneath the wheels of his dump truck.

The accident occurred during the height of Saturday's snow storm as Mr. Wilson was plowing snow two miles west of Madoc on No. 7 highway.

Shelden Marr, helper in the snowplow truck said that the windshield wipers on the truck had failed momentarily blocking their vision. Mr. Wilson opened the door of his truck in an attempt to see where he was going and as he did so the plow struck the side of a rock-cut, and then struck a small culvert throwing him beneath the rear dual wheels.

SUFFERED FRACTURED SKULL

He died instantly suffering a fractured skull and crushed ribs.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson he was born at Queensboro and had lived in the Madoc district all his life. A former cheesemaker he had worked with the highways department for the past several years.

He was a member of the United Church and belonged to the I.O.O.F. at Madoc. He was well known and highly respected in the district.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mary Helen McCoy, a nephew, Ross McCoy, who lived with him, a brother, John Wilson of Belleville, and three sisters, Mrs. Ed. (Myrtle) Taylor of Madoc; Mrs. Bertha Green of Belleville and Miss Gladys Wilson.

Two Colborne Street Families Made Homeless

Two Colborne street families were forced from their homes Saturday night when fire started in an upstairs ceiling and swept up through a partition to the attic.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance said the attic of the double house was gutted, while at one place the flames went out through the roof before it was brought under control.

The fire was said to have started in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Thompson, apparently from a defective thimble carrying pipes into an upstairs room.

Mr. Thompson and his son were at home at the time of the fire, the father having to run to a neighbor's home to telephone the fire department when the blaze was discovered.

Occupants of the other side of the house were Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds and their three children.

Fire Chief Vance was unable to estimate the damage but said the upstairs of the Thompson house suffered fire loss while there was heavy smoke and water damage throughout both sides of the double house.

The house is owned by the Kellaway Estate. The Thompson family had partial insurance on their household effects, while the Reynolds family carried no insurance.

Heavier Case Load But VON Care Visits Down, Members Told at Annual Meeting

The Belleville branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses started the new year with $4,791.24 in the red as compared to $4,100 the previous year, it was shown at the annual meeting Thursday night in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Receipts totalled $8,618.70 as against disbursements of $13,409.94 for 1957. Net assets, including $6,000 in bonds, were $8,371.63, up slightly over 1956.

As in the previous year, salaries constituted the largest outlay of the branch. Salaries totalled $9,830.50; automobile expenses, including $463.00 for gas and oil, $1,029.29 for repairs and depreciation; medical supplies worth $36.87; laundry, $26.65; sundry, $95.79; insurance $183.92; taxi, $395.70; community nurses registry, $300; telephone, $96.60, and V.O.N. national headquarters, $125..50, constituted another $2,753.32.

An additional $826.12 was disbursed this way: $117 for advertising. $281.92 sundry; $150 in uniform allowance, $277.20 into the pension fund.

On the receipt side of the ledger audited by Robert J. Hamilton, C.A., was $2,629.95 from nurses' collections (down about $350 from the previous year); grants from the city of Belleville and the Ontario branch of the V.O.N., $3,746; Belleville board of health services, $234; Thurlow board of health, $528.75; V.O.N. tea, $1,170.42; donations, $447.90; Department of Veterans' Affairs, $577.07; sundry, $162.14; 1956 Community Chest, $3,250.80; membership fees, $19. Total, $12,766.03, less the previous year's deficit of $4,147.33.

Total case load increased to 480 from 425 the year previous. Nursing care visits were down to 3,611 from 4,240 in 1956, but instruction visits rose from 747 to 1,065. Grand total of visits was 4,693 as compared to 5,020 in 1956.

Payment was received by the V.O.N. for most visits, but of the total, 2,453 visits were free.

Miss Dorothy F. Connor, chief nurse of the V.O.N.'s Belleville branches, reported on the year's nursing activities to the 33rd annual meeting and described the work of a typical V.O.N. nurse.

Miss Connor pointed out that the local branch is staffed by three full-time nurses and one relief nurse, who works part-time when extra help is needed. She said that the Belleville branch is but one of 118 branches located across Canada with a total staff of 583 qualified nurses.

"Indicative of the trend of the times, it is interesting to note that in 1957, 19 per cent of the total cases and 45 per cent of all the visits were to patients over 70 years of age," said Miss Connor.

She stated that last year full payment was received for 20 per cent of the visits, 28 per cent were paid at reduced fee, and 52 per cent were free.

Miss Connor said special activities of the local V.O.N. were offered in co-operation with the Department of Health branch here. The V.O.N. helps the health department at weekly child health conferences, as well as providing school nursing services for Cannifton - Corbyville and Holy Rosary schools. The branch of the V.O.N. also assisted Thurlow township medical officers of health at 10 immunization clinics. Last year the V.O.N. program provided field training for two post-graduate students in public health nursing from the University of Ottawa.

THANKS EXPRESSED

"To Mrs. J. A. Buchanan, supervisor of the visiting homemakers service and to Mr. J. G. Demeza, superintendent of the O.S.D., we wish to express our sincere thanks for their part in this educational program," said Miss Connor.

Miss Connor, on behalf of the branch, thanked the Kiwanis Club for donating two rooms in the Kiwanis Centre as office space for the V.O.N. Thanks were also extended to the Belleville General Hospital, Mrs. Jay Campbell, registrar of the nurses' registry; Mrs. Cameron Morton, her assistant; co-workers, Miss Theresa Callaghan, Mrs. Ethel Neil, and Miss Grace Connor.

Father of Nine Fatally Injured Near Air Station

An unemployed father of nine young children, Mr. John Francis Cain, of 105 Yeomans Street, was fatally injured late Sunday evening when struck by a car on No. 2 highway a short distance east of the main gate at the Trenton Air Station.

It is believed Mr. Cain may have been attempting to hitchhike a ride home to Belleville when the accident occurred. He was struck by a car driven by Dr. W. C. McCutcheon of Belleville as he lay in the travelled portion of the highway.

Dr. McCutcheon told provincial police that the car ahead of him had swerved suddenly revealing the man's body lying in the roadway. He had no opportunity to miss the man.

An inquest has been ordered by Coroner Dr. J. B. Byrne of Trenton.

It was reported that Mr. Cain had left home yesterday afternoon with a friend to go to Trenton. Mrs. Cain was unable to say whether her husband's friend had a car. Mr. Cain did not drive.

Mr. Cain, in his middle 40's, was formerly employed by the Bridge and Building department of the Canadian National Railways, but had been laid off just prior to Christmas and had since been unemployed.

Mr. Cain was born in Rawdon township 42 years ago and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Cain. He was a lifelong resident of the city and county and worked with the C.N.R. Bridge and Building Department.

He was a member of St. Michael's Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Annie Ryan, seven sons, Lawrence, Robert James, Thomas, Edward, William and Ronald, and two daughters, Linda and Patricia, all at home.

Two sisters, Mrs. Mary Ryan and Mrs. Douglas (Kathleen) Young, and one brother, James, all of Belleville also survive.

Police Blotter

City police are investigating three break-ins at local places of business and an attempted break-in at still another, all reported during the weekend.

Break-ins were reported at the General Electric warehouse, on Coleman Flats, and at Bishops' and Moira Schuster in Foster Ward. No entry was gained at Belleville Builders, although a window was found broken.

Police said little of value was taken at Bishops and Moira Schuster, while it would not be known if anything had been taken at the General Electric warehouse until a check was made.

Two local men were arrested for theft after two persons had been reported going through cars on Front street early Sunday morning. One of the men was seen to take a parcel from a parked vehicle.

A West Hill woman complained of change for two quarts of milk having disappeared from bottles on her doorstep.

And a local restaurant had a cool but non-paying customer over the weekend. The man ordered a $2.00 steak, took his time about eating it and then calmly announced that he had no money to pay for the meal. He was given the privilege of explaining the whole thing at the police station.

Obituary

DAVID TROW

Wallbridge

Ill for the past three years, Mr. David Trow, formerly of Wallbridge, died Saturday at the Belleville General Hospital. He was in his 75th year.

Born in North Wales, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Trow, he had lived in the Wallbridge area most of his life and was a former employee of the township of Sidney. He had lived for the past three years at the Hastings County home.

He was a member of the Anglican church.

Predeceased by his wife, the former Harriett Anne Hambly, who died six years ago, he is survived by four brothers, Frederick of Toronto; Walter of Wales; Ernest of Wales and Stephen of Liverpool, England. A sister Mary, also lives in Wales.

Resting at the Rowe Funeral Home in Frankford; the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. KATHLEEN CALLAGHAN

The funeral of Mrs. Kathleen Callaghan was held from the Funeral Residence of George F. O'Brien on Saturday morning to St. Michael's Church. Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Very Rev. Dean L. B. Garvin with Rev. J. J. Buckley as Deacon and Rev. William McGee as sub-Deacon and Rev. Peter Murphy as Master of Ceremonies. Members of the St. Michael's School Board acted as Guard of Honor.

There was a large turnout of intimate friends and relatives and the floral and spiritual offerings testified in a small way the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community.

Interment was in St. James' cemetery with Rev. Peter Murphy conducting the committal rites at the graveside.

The bearers were Edward Brown, Fred Maund, Gerard O'Connor, Frank and David Callaghan, and John Birtles.

Curlers Enjoy Social Evening At Clubhouse

The first social evening of the curling season in the new rink on the fairgrounds took place on Saturday evening and will be continued on this evening throughout the curling season. Mixed curling was the order and the four sheets of ice were busy from seven until the midnight hour. Each game consisted of four ends so that everyone would have the chance to get in a little curling and also instruction. More than 225 were on hand for the evening's fun and the enthusiasm shown by the members, both men and women augurs well for a most successful year.

A number of the male members, who have had experience in curling were on hand for instruction and it was surprising how some of the newer members took to the game. Good-natured banter was the order of the evening and plans are being perfected to make these Saturday nights the highlight of the social season in the city.

As usual the ice was in perfect condition and remarkably good considering there are always a few quirks to iron out, when new ice is put in each year. The ice is generally very true and will be more so when another flood is applied. The clubhouse is taking on a homelike appearance and everywhere on Saturday night little groups could be seen sitting around and talking of the commodious quarters that have been provided for everyone's comfort. Besides the members there were a number of visitors who came in to look around and were visibly impressed with the surroundings.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to express sincere thanks to Drs. Riley, McGonigle, Loynes and Dempsey, also nursing staff of 2nd West, Revs. Davis and Sherwin for visits and prayers, to all relatives, friends and neighbors for the many flowers, cards and personal calls while in hospital and since returning home.
—Mrs. Alex Cunningham.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our many kind friends, neighbors and relatives for the beautiful floral tributes, sympathy cards and acts of kindness during our recent bereavement in the passing of a loving husband, father and grandfather. We also wish to thank Mr. Belch for his wonderful message, and the John R. Bush Funeral Home for their kindness and efficiency.
—Mrs. Sheffield, Carl, Irene and family.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to neighbors, friends and relatives for acts of kindness and messages of sympathy extended to us during the illness and death of a loving mother and grandmother.
—Jim, Connie, Jimmie and Tucker Churchill.

The family of the late Beacus Taylor wish to thank relatives, many friends and neighbors for their kindness, expressions of sympathy, numerous cards and beautiful floral tributes in the loss of a loving husband and father. They also thank Dr. J. S. Loynes for his unfailing attention, Mr. Neave for his comforting service, the pallbearers from the motive power department of the CNR, and Grant Funeral Home for their most efficient service and kindness.
—Mrs. Rose Taylor and family.

Poppy Fund Officers Elected

The annual general meeting of the Belleville Poppy Fund Committee was held recently in the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans clubrooms.

The officers for 1958 were elected as follows: — Les Digby — chairman; Henry Drury — treasurer and Ed Smith— secretary.

The new secretary was requested to send a letter to Everett Liddle expressing apreciation for his many years in the office of secretary which he was relinquishing for health reasons.

Les Digby, Henry Drury and Bill Heasman, were named to the committee for issuing assistance to local veterans from the Poppy Fund.

RECEIPTS — EXPENSES

The treasurer reported that a total of $1,371.98 had been spent in 1957 in assistance to needy veterans and their dependents. Receipts from all sources last year amounted to $3,821.52. Cost of poppies and wreaths purchased from Vetcraft Industries amounted to $2,260.90, whilst general and campaign expenses amounted to $133.58 just over 8 percent of all expenditures

The committee this year consists of Bill Heasman, Ed Smith, and Orville Ash, representing the Canadian Legion, Henry Drury, Elmer Scott and Hubert Herrington of Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans: Les Digby representing the RCAF Association and Frank Poste as Red Cross delegate.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market was narrowly lower in moderate, dull morning trading.

Industrials and western oils were each off one-half point on index but western oils were unchanged from Friday's close. Golds had a small gain.

Trading was faster than Friday with an 11 a.m. volume of 681,000 shares compared with 652,000.

Minnesota and Ontario Paper was ahead ¾ of a point at 23¾ among industrials but other changes were smaller.

McIntyre jumped 2½ points to 75 among senior golds, accounting for the gold index rise. Senior base metals were down fractionally and Steep Rock lost 20 cents at $9.60.

Several low-priced uraniums fell prey to profit-takers with Northspan and Stanleigh each dipping 10 cents after strong gains last week. Senior issues moved in a narrow range.

Consolidated West Pete advanced 30 cents to $6.30 on a few sales among western oils but other stocks were softer.

Three Children Drown in Creek, 4 Perish in Fire

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four children died in their flaming Alberta farm home and three boys were drowned in an ice-covered creek at Chatham as Canada's weekend toll of accidental deaths mounted to 26.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Sunday showed 15 killed in traffic including five in Ontario.

Ontario counted a total of eight dead, Nova Scotia five. Alberta and British Columbia four each, Quebec two. New Brunswick, Manitoba, Saskatchewan one each.

FOUR KILLED AT WORK

Ontario and Manitoba each had at least two more deaths not included in the count because they occurred during the course of men's work and were classified as industrial accidents. At Churchill, Man., two RCAF airmen were killed when their CF-100 jet crashed. In Ontario, one man tumbled under the wheels of his snow plow and a railway worker was struck by a shunting train.

The four children of Mrs. Michael Symenya, all under six, were burned to death Saturday night at Evansburg, Alta., while their mother milked cows in a nearby barn.

ONTARIO DEATHS:

Robert Milben, 13, his half-brother Kenneth Price, 7, and Alfred McCatherine, 12, were drowned Sunday when they fell through soft ice into a creek at Chatham.

John Chekuluik, 73, said he saw the smallest boy plunge into the water and then a second tumble in when he tried to help. Mr. Chekuluik ran to a neighbor's home to telephone for help but the third lad had disappeared when aid arrived. All three bodies were recovered.

Mrs. Edna Mae Henderson, 45, of Orillia died in a two - car smash at Oshawa Saturday.

NORTH FATALITY

Anatol Wazciechowski, 35, of Sudbury was killed in a collision Saturday near Blind River. Two others in the same car, driver Joseph Long, 42, of Sudbury and Antonio St. Jean, 24, Espanola, were badly injured.

Edward Needham, 22, of Arnprior was killed Sunday when his car skidded over an embankment near Peterborough.

Gordon Earl Sayeau, 27, of Cardinal died of injuries suffered Sunday in a car-truck collision near Iroquois. His wife, the driver, was hurt.

Mrs. Margaret Ainsworth was killed in a collision between a bus and an auto Sunday at Peterborough.

Her husband, Ron, and three children were injured. Robert Kelly of Lindsay, one of the 10 passengers on the Colonial Coach Lines bus from Peterborough to Lindsay, suffered back injuries.

Railroad Tycoon Robert R. Young Takes Own Life

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The body of railroad tycoon Robert R. Young was due here today aboard his private railroad car for burial Tuesday next to the body of his only child.

The 60-year-old board chairman of the New York Central Railroad, took his own life with a blast from a double-barreled 20-gauge shotgun Saturday.

The body was found in the top floor billiard room of Young's 23-room winter mansion at West Palm Beach, Fla., by members of his household staff.

Authorities said the death was suicide. They could give no immediate reason.

Young's body came north in his curtained, gleaming silver private car, known by railroad men everywhere as No. 28.

The body was accompanied by his widow, the former Anita Evck O'Keefe, members of the New York Central board and friends of the family.

Egypt and Syria Plan to Merge Into One State

CAIRO (AP)—The merger of Egypt and Syria into a single state is reported imminent. The newspaper Al Ahram said President Nasser and Syrian President Sukhri Kuwatly would announce the union today.

Senior Egyptian and Syrian leaders proclaimed the advantages of the proposed federation, and the Cairo press gave it full play. Public emphasis on the plan apparently was timed to take the edge off the opening of the Baghdad Pact conference today in Ankara, Turkey.

Al Ahram said Cairo would be the capital, the federation's name would be "the United Arab State" and there would be one government, one parliament and one army.

A plebiscite will be held in Egypt and Syria on the proposed union, Al Ahram said.

Nasser told visiting U.S. newspaper and radio editors Sunday Egypt and Syria have agreed on all except minor details.

Trenton and Belleville Juniors Battle to 8-8 Tie in 70 Minutes

TRENTON — Trenton Bearcubs and Belleville Lambert Rollins battled to a 8-8 tie after 70 minutes of play here Saturday night at the Community Centre.

Tied 7-7 at the end of the regulation time, the boys played a 10-minute overtime period, but both teams came up with a counter in the early minutes and were unable to break the final 8-8 score.

In a "see-saw" game all the way, both teams played championship hockey as they gave both goaltenders a workout they'll not forget. Belleville used a newcomer in their nets, Harold Carr, who played his second game of the season with the city boys. Bill Moxon was outstanding in the Trenton nets.

Harvey Scott gave the Bearcubs an early lead when he sent a sizzler into the twine at the 2.38 mark. He beat Carr with another at 6.56. Both goals were unassisted. Brennan and St. Dennis came back to tie the score and Scott completed the hat trick at the 16.11 mark to give the Cubs a 3-2 edge at the end of the first frame.

In the second period Belleville outscored the Trenton team 2-1, to end the stanza all tied up. Irwin and Kerruish were the Lambert-Rollins marksmen and Drake got the loner for the Cubs.

Both teams got three goals in the third period with Lewis getting two and Drake singling for Trenton; Elliott, St. Dennis and Irwin shared the honors for the visitors.

BOTH SCORE IN OVERTIME

The game went into a 10-minute overtime period with Trenton's Drake connecting at the 1.33 mark. St. Dennis rounded out the score again at 4.32.

With both teams going all out for the final five and one-half minutes of the game they failed to beat the buzzer with a winning shot and the teams were forced to settle for one point each on the standings sheet.

Harry Morgan and Tim Williams handled the refereeing chores for the game.

During the game a puck went into the crowd of 450 fans watching the game, hitting one of them causing a deep gash under his lower lip. Reports say that eight stitches were required to close the cut.

Belleville — Carr, Mann, Culloden, Gill, Elliott, St. Denis, Titterson, Irwin, Asselstine, Rowbotham, Kerruish, Brennan, St. Louis, Goyer, Wright.

Juveniles Win Over Belleville By 7-6 Count

TRENTON — A goal by Ed Yardy early in the third period gave the Trenton Juveniles a 7-6 victory over their Belleville counterparts in a game played here on Saturday night in the Community Centre.

The goal came at the 4.35 mark on an assist from Ireland and proved the final goal of the game, and the winner.

It was E. Yardy's third goal of the game and he was also credited with two in the assist department. Other goal-getters for the Trentonians were Ellis, Long, Leavy and D. Cole.

Moreau was the big gun for the Belleville boys when he connected once every frame for a hat trick. He got the only Belleville goals in the second and third stanzas. Other Belleville scorers were: MacDonald, Bolder and Waite.

'Buzz' Haugh Back in Lineup For Rockets

TRENTON — "Buzz" Haugh, right winger for the Rockets of the RCAF Station Trenton league, who suffered a shoulder injury some weeks ago when his team slapped the league leading F.I.S. squad with their first defeat, is back on the ice again.

Following the game in which he was injured it was believed his shoulder had been dislocated but a call to the station hospital the following day found it was not serious and that he would be back on the ice soon.

Last Thursday was his first game since the mishap and he helped his team to a 9-1 victory over No. 6 Repair Depot.

The F.I.S., with a one point lead over the Rockets maintain their top spot by downing the boys from Headquarters 19-0 the same night.

The cellar-dwelling Combines missed their chance to get number one win when they lost out to the Sparks by a 11-4 count. The Sparks are in the second bottom spot with four points.

In the scoring department Sgt. Crowder of the Rockets is well out in front with 36 goals and 33 assists for a total of 69 points. He is followed by Kaulback of the Comets with 55 points.

Kiwanis Father And Son Banquet Much Enjoyed

TRENTON — A recent executive meeting of the Home and School Association of the Breadner School in Middleton Park outlined their programs and budget for the coming year.

Their plans are only tentative and will be subject to approval by the general meeting, Group Captain Houle, president of the Association, said.

The next general meeting will be held in the school tonight and will start at 8.20 p.m. sharp. The meeting will be ended at 9.50 p.m. These times, said the president, will be strictly followed. This is being done to accommodate persons who attend the meeting to take part in other activities that night.

Group Captain Houle urges as many as possible to be out at tonight's meeting in seeking to further improve relationship between teachers and parents.

SUCCESSFUL BANQUET

A successful father and son banquet was held last week by the members of the local Kiwanis Club. The supper of turkey was served to 92, mostly boys, in the Wooler United Church.

Following the banquet a film on the work of the Salvation Army in the Congo was shown by Captain Bill Brown. The children were given toys with the "wee ones" getting guns and holsters and the older ones getting trucks and wallets.

One youngster, Kevin Weaver, who was also celebrating his third birthday, was feted with the "Happy Birthday" song.

Members who had no sons brought young neighbors and some members brought two or three boys with them.

The annual event was organized this year by Bob LaMorre and his house reception committee.

During the evening the club members were told their club had received a monthly rating of 92.5 per cent for activities during the month of December. The club was the highest in 6A division which embraces 11 clubs.

Klansman Calls Another Rally Within Month

MARION, S.C. (AP)—Ku Klux Klan leader James Cole, whose last rally near Maxton, N.C., was shot up and dispersed Klansmen," called for another rally in that area within a month.

"We don't expect to be broken up again," Cole said Sunday at his home here. "This time there will be more Klansmen than there will be Indians and I don't expect trouble then from the Indians."

Hundreds of Lumbee Indians, incensed by reports that the Klan's planned rally near Maxton Jan. 18 was intended as a warning to them against race mixing, converged on the group of about 50 Klansmen with warhoops and gunfire. No one was seriously hurt, but state police had to rescue the Klansmen and pack them off home in their automobiles.

Cole — who calls himself a Southern Free Will Baptist minister — is under indictment in Robeson County, N.C., site of the meeting, on charges of indicting riot.

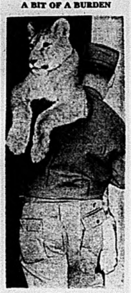
A BIT OF A BURDEN



Since he was a cuddly cub, Charles II, 75-pound lion mascot of the U.S. 5th Mortar Battery at Mainz, Germany, has been accustomed to being carried to his quarters by SP 2 Clarence Watson of South Solon, Ohio. Charlie is a bit of a burden now, but Watson doesn't mind toting his pet.

HOUSE PROBABLY

Cabinet ministers have said pointedly on several occasions that the actions of opposition parties in the Commons, especially the Liberals, may have a bearing on when the next election is called.

The government's farm bill, fought practically every inch of the way by the CCF and Social Credit groups, was given third and final reading by the Commons just before Saturday's adjournment. It now goes to the Senate, which resumes sittings Tuesday night.

The legislation authorizes the agriculture minister to set 12-month support prices each year on any farm commodity. Supports are to be based on the average of prices during the preceding 10 years. A minimum floor price of 80 per cent of that base is specified for nine products: Cattle, hogs, sheep, butter, cheese, eggs and non-Prairie wheat, oats and barley.

SOON AS POSSIBLE

Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness said the new act, called the Agricultural Stabilization Act, will be put into operation as soon as boards to operate it are established and farm price information is gathered. It is to replace the Agricultural Prices Support Act enacted under the former Liberal government 13 years ago.

The House accepted a last-minute amendment by Mr. Harkness to the preamble of the bill which said the legislation is aimed at providing farmers with a fair share of the national income.

During the bill's three - week passage through the Commons it encountered nine amendments, but only those moved by the government were accepted. The opposition groups tried without success to write into it firm guarantees that government support prices would meet far production costs.

Earlier Saturday, the government did put through two amendments along this line. One said that the cabinet, in fixing a support price, "shall be guided" by the estimated average costs of production and other relevant factors. The other declared that the advice of the new price stabilization board shall be such as necessary to ensure that farm prices bear a fair relationship to farm production costs.

Turks Battle Nicosia Police

NICOSIA (AP)—The centre of the Turkish sector of Nicosia was turned into a battlefield today as hundreds of Turkish demonstrators clashed with police and security forces.

Police squads, barricaded in the divisional headquarters facing the square, were bombarded with showers of bottles and stones by slogan-chanting young Turks.

British policemen as well as troops and demonstrators were among the injured.

Despite repeated baton charges, the crowds failed to disperse. Even tear-gas failed to scatter them.

RUMOR 3 KILLED

Rumors said that three persons were killed during the clashes.

At the height of the siege on the police headquarters, the demonstrators captured a police jeep, overturned it and set it on fire.

Then they stood by and stoned fire engines and ambulances as they tried unsuccessfully to reach the scene.

FATHERS WILL COOK ON NIGHT OF "MOTHERS' MARCH"

The fathers will be alone the evening of January 29th for a good cause. They will suffer for perhaps an hour while mothers collect funds to carry on the work of the March of Dimes, so that persons with physical handicaps can be rehabilitated. Last year, 87 Ontario Communities had the Mothers' March. As a result many hundreds of those citizens who could not work because of a physical disability are now capable of supporting themselves and their families—independent of government welfare grants. This year, we hope that well over a hundred communities will join Belleville in helping the handicapped to regain their useful places in their communities.

Doctors donate their services for needy patients under the March of Dimes Program. Then March of Dimes dollars are used to pay the additional costs — hospital bills — braces and wheel-chairs and other appliances — transportation and other services such as provision of special equipment for hospitals and treatment centres. The average cost per patient is $623.00 — a small cost to make a handicapped person independent once again.

We urge that when called on by a Marching Mother between 7 and 8 o'clock on Wednesday, Jan. 29th, contributions to the March of Dimes be generous. "The cost of the campaign is small, because of the large numbers of mothers who will be donating their services. Let's take this opportunity of making a substantial contribution to this practical program of effective rehabilitation. (Advt.)

BEING A BANKER'S WIFE IS RISKY

The way things are going lately, bankers had better form a union and demand risk pay for their wives. Through the years banking has represented the acme of security. Basically it was a financial security, a security of prestige, which assured the bank manager and his wife of a place on community boards and committees where a lot of work was done for no pay. This type of security still remains, but bank manager's wives, and their children, have suddenly found themselves faced with an entirely different security problem.

They are now liable to arrive home and find uninvited guests, complete with masks, guns and a yen for cash.

Only a few days ago a banker's wife at Comber, Ont., found such a welcoming committee. Tuesday it was a banker's family at South Mountain, Ont., which had visitors; Thursday the reception was staged at St. Theodosie, Que.

We suspect that this new social custom is an unwelcome import from the United States, but it has received earlier tests on this side of the border. A supermarket manager at Kingston had a call of this nature paid to his family not many months ago.

Were the three similar robbery attempts at three banks in less than a week the work of the same gang? If not, did the South Mountain and St. Theodosie criminals copy their methods after those described in the press following the Comber affair? And if the latter is the explanation, why does this method of bank robbery have such an appeal to the criminal element? Is it because armed robbery of banks during business hours has proven both dangerous and unprofitable, on the average? If so, what can be done to make the new style bank robbery equally dangerous and equally unprofitable? One is tempted to suggest that courts should take a very severe attitude towards men who, to all intents and purposes, kidnap women and children, even if they never take them out of their own homes. But there is a danger that if the most severe penalty is demanded, future robbers, feeling that they have no increase in penalty to fear if caught, will not treat their captives with that consideration which, in at least one recent case, was shown to the people held at gunpoint. Despite this show of consideration, though, this method of forcing a bank manager to aid robbers by holding his family hostage must be ranked as a despicable crime.

ONTARIO FIRE LOSSES UP

The quarterly bulletin from the Ontario Fire Marshal's Office makes disturbing reading.

During 1957, it states, there were 23,583 fires in Ontario, resulting in damage totalling $37,785,571. In 1956 there were slightly fewer fires, 22,164, and the loss was substantially lower, $24,680,584. The fire loss thus increased by $13,104,987. Now it may be argued that part of this increased fire loss during 1957 was a "paper increase," in the sense that it resulted from the increased cost of replacements. Surely, though, nobody is going to argue that this factor alone can account for a significant portion of an increase which amounted to 57 per cent of the 1956 total.

One can only conclude that, because of carelessness, bad luck or other causes, Ontario had many more large fires in 1957 than in 1956.

PROPOSES DEATH PENALTY FOR ROBBERY

Legislation is often the most revealing commentary on a nation; not only on its present way of life but on the direction in which it is heading.

If Justice Minister Charles Swart of South Africa has his way, that country will impose the death penalty in some cases of robbery and house-breaking. He has introduced a bill into the assembly at Capetown authorizing such a sentence in cases where there are "aggravating circumstances."

It seems unnecessary to recall that there was a time when the death penalty for theft was not unusual, not merely in the Wild West where rustlers and "hoss-thieves" were understandably hated but in other lands, too.

In feudal times, many a lord was aggravated when a serf slew a stag. One wonders just who will have to be "aggravated" in order for the death penalty to apply in South Africa.

JUST FOLKS

BE CHEERFUL

I never see a cripple smile
Or hear some patient sufferer say;
"I shall be better in a while
And get outdoors and romp and play,"
But what I sum up all my cares
And every burden that is mine,
Then say, if cheerfulness is theirs
What reason have I now to whine?

I never see a smile upon
A pale white face, but what I feel
A sense of shame that I go on Believing my own troubles real,
Making a mountain of my care
Instead of laughing it away,
Pouring my wails upon the air
And whimpering throughout the day.

If hope still lingers in the breast
Of one shut in a tiny room,
If one deformed can smile and jest
And see hope shining through the gloom,
Why should I, throughout the day,
Throw up my hands in grim despair
And whine and whimper on my way
Before my trifling bit of care?

Animal World Nursemaids

By Allan Bernfeld in CNR "Keeping Track"

Playing nursemaid to young elephants and midwife to cattle is old stuff to CN Expressmen. For years shipments of animals have swelled express revenues and added novelty to the work of express employees.

Name any denizen of the animal world and it's an even bet the expressmen have encountered him. Snakes, kangaroos, race horses, shorthorn cattle, rare Indian swans, polar bears, elephants and mink are only some of the varieties to ride in style on the CNR.

Fur coats on-the-paw have been the most numerous animal travellers, as a group, since 1955. In that year was started a mass movement of Canada's mink farmers from the west to Newfoundland.

Mink farmers moved bag and baggage because Old Dobbin is disappearing in the west. Horse meat, a mink's favorite food, was becoming increasingly expensive and hard to get. So, somebody in Newfoundland discovered that whale meat is just as good as horse meat (better, some say, because of higher oil content) and a lot cheaper.

This started the migration that has seen mink leave the prairies and British Columbia for Canada's new mink breeding centre Whitebourne, Newfoundland. The first shipment of 727 little animals, left Bruno Island, B.C., in 184 crates two years ago. Since then thousands more of the furry fellows have made the trip.

CN Express lavishes great care on these shipments. The owner of the animals, or his representative, travels with the mink. Express superintendents wire agents all along the way to provide whatever additional services may be needed.

In Montreal terminal, Norman Hynes became something of an expert in the care and feeding of mink. "There's just two things wrong with them," he said, "they bite and they smell." Another expressman doesn't share Mr. Hynes' affection for mink. He puts it this way: "They'll take your finger off as quick as look at you."

Mink may be all the rage right now, but expressmen also enjoy elephants as travellers. One playful pachyderm was consigned to Halifax for delivery to a circus. En route he was being refreshed from a bucket of fresh milk at Montreal. After sucking up a trunkful, the elephant squirted the milk right into his keeper's face. Somehow the keeper didn't quite understand why the expressman figured this was a good joke.

When the Government of India gave the Granby, Que., zoo a baby elephant, CN express handled the little (four-feet eight inches high, 1,005 lb. weight) fellow from dockside at Saint John, N.B.

And this guy travelled in style. He had his own Indian attendant and the sleeping, dining and parlor car department was asked to provide one bed, one mattress, three blankets, two sheets, one pillow case, one pillow, one chair and one chair cushion. As if this wasn't enough service, the big-hearted expressman found the Indian attendant was flat broke when he arrived and provided him with pocket money to help him out for a few days.

Midwifery has also reared its head, particularly when a shipment of purebred cattle was handled to Saint John, N.B., and an express messenger found himself assisting at the birth of a calf en route.

Similar service was provided on a shipment of 65 purebred registered shorthorns from Tofield, Alta., to Winnipeg. There were 66 in the shipment on arrival, again thanks to an assist by CN Express.

A bull in a china shop has nothing to compare with a bull in an Express car. One 1,200-lb. fellow moved without incident from Irma, Alberta, to Bristol, Que.

But a pretty girl threw the expressmen into a spin. Express cars are strictly a man's domain. But when a shipment of goats had to be handled for a young lady who was heading for the B.C. foothills, tradition was butchered.

Naturally the expressmen did everything they could to induce the young lady to ride as a passenger. But she won her case for a ride in the express car when she pointed out that goats will stop giving milk if strangers handle them. This bit of logic stopped the expressmen.

Probably the nastiest actors were three polar bears sent from Churchill, Man., to the Granby Zoo. Captured by a movie company on location, the bears were donated to the zoo.

But the Hollywood influence must have been too much for them. Instead of behaving as good bears should, they went to work to wreck their crates and one of them got loose to prowl around the car. He was finally enticed back into the broken crate.

At the Pas, Man., two C.N.R. carpenters and their helpers were called to fasten extra boards on the crates. But this wasn't easy. One bear kept slapping the boards away before the nails could be hammered in. Even this wasn't enough. By the time the shipment reached Winnipeg, more carpentry work was needed. After that, the bears gave no more trouble.

Over the years, Terminal Express Agent Harry Whiteman, now retired, in Montreal picked up much specialized knowledge of animals and made some friends of value in time of need. There was the time when expressmen feared an English mare might foal before reaching Beiseker, Alta.

Mr. Whiteman called in a veterinarian friend for a consultation. The vet made an examination and went right out on a limb when he said the big day wouldn't come until a week after the mare reached Beiseker. "And he was right to the day," Mr. Whiteman says.

Things looked bad some years ago when a 14-foot snake escaped from its crate. Expressmen promptly vacated the car. Mr. Whiteman put in a call for another friend, a zoologist at McGill University. This friend took one look, decided the snake was harmless, and picked up all 14-feet of it in his arms and replaced it in the crate in front of the startled expressmen.

But there was no time to call for a vet on the day when a prize pig gave birth to her litter at Levis, Quebec. The pig was en route west after a sea voyage from Ireland. Prudently, the expressmen took the babies away to prevent the sow crushing them in her crate. Mother protested loudly but saw the little ones only at meal time as the expressmen took every precaution to ensure safe arrival of the entire shipment.

But the expressman's best friend still seems to be the dogs. And, at the same time, our expressmen are the dogs' best friends.

Hand-licking gratitude has been bestowed on CN Express people who have taken dogs from their cramped cages for some exercise. "We often find dogs travelling in crates or cages too narrow for them," Mr. Whiteman said. "So we had some cages of various sizes made up and keep them on hand here. If we find a dog cramped for space, he's put in one of our own cages and we get it back after the animal arrives at its destination."

Once a consignee decided the CN Express crate was so good he didn't want to return it. So the express agent, on Mr. Whiteman's instructions, tacked $10 on the bill — and the cage was promptly returned.

All the way down the animal and bird line, from baby budgies to Indian swans, from goldfish to kangaroos and minks to elephants, shippers have found that their animals are safe in the hands of CN expressmen.

Commons Has New Comedian

By Richard Jackson in the Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Beaming wide smiles of satisfaction, the House of Commons has found itself with a new comedian on its willing hands.

He's A. D. McPhillips, Conservative MP for Victoria.

And he's been offering lively competition for laughs to William Irvin Studer, Liberal MP for Swift Creek-Maple Creek, who formerly held a monopoly on the funnyman business in Parliament.

Studer is a stocky, arm-waving face-pulling wisecracker who leaps to his feet in a paper-flying shower of notes to rattle off his nifties.

McPhillips is a tall, solemnly handsome deadpanner who rises with considerable dignity to proclaim his dandies.

But they break about even for laughs with their patter. Here are some samples.

McPhillips: "Where is the old mailed fist, has it gone down the drain?"

Studer: "Every time I talk to the minister, he waltzes me around, and the first thing I know, I'm up the same old back alley."

McPhillips: "Why foul our nest of pottage?"

Studer: "I wasn't born in a log cabin, but we moved into one as soon as we could afford it."

Both Studer and McPhillips have briefly and perhaps vaguely outlined a couple of situations and then, to the frustration of the Commons, left them hanging there.

Studer: "I know a farmer who has been swimming his cows back and forth across a river all year. . . ."

McPhillips: "These Texans come up into my riding in their big Lincolns with six-guns mounted on the floorboards . . . ."

Studer still takes the Commons prize for his thumbnail sketches of former prime minister St. Laurent and Bank of Canada Governor James Coyne.

Of the old PM, he said: "As a family man he was busy kissing babies long before he entered politics."

Of the bank governor he said: "The hot impassioned blood of an adding machine flows through his veins."

'Civilizing' Antarctica

Saskatoon Star-Pheonix

Antarctica is the last of the continents to yield to the ever ambitious designs of men and nations. Right now, various pie-shiped wedges of the frozen wastes are claimed by no less than seven countries: Britain, France, Norway, New Zealand, Australia, the Argentine and Chile. Inevitably, there are some disagreements among these nations about which one "owns" what. These disagreements can be expected to increase in number and intensity, if any traces of mineral wealth are found or if one or more of the larger powers decides Antarctica could house strategic military bases.

At present, the continent is host to 25 scientific bases and expeditions sponsored by 10 nations — including the United States and the Soviet Union. Most of these national bases and expeditions have some connection or other with the International Geophysical Year. But it is not surprising that the presence of American and Russian teams have prompted some second thoughts about possible other motives on the part of both. Meanwhile, the scientific aspect of the current explorations on the continent have been overshadowed by what turns out to be a measure of disagreement and even bad feeling betwen a British expedition under Dr. Vivian Fuchs and a New Zealand force commanded by Sir Edmund Hillary of Everest renown. Sir Edmund in his "hell-bent" dash for the South Pole stole the headlines even as Dr. Fuchs' team painstakingly gathered scientific information. The rift which has come to light has somewhat tarnished Sir Edmund's feat of "dashing" to the pole on sudden impulse and at considerable risk. It rather looks as though personal ambition got the better of Hillary, while Dr. Fucks, on his part, has not accepted this development too graciously.

In such fashion does "civilization" come to the almost unknown and virtually un-peopled continent of Antarctica.

Choosing a Name

Port Arthur News-Chronicle

The controversy over amalgamation will be lively, you can be sure, but it will be mild compared to the hassle over a name, should a single Lakehead city eventuate. Port William? Fort Arthur? Twin Cities? Lakehead? It will be like trying to get 40,000 sets of expectant parents to agree on a single name.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Still Telling People Off

"I'm always nodding or falling asleep. No matter if I have had a good night's sleep, as soon as I sit for a while . . . That is my only complaint. I'm 53 and enjoy almost perfect health. I do no somersaults but "touch the toes" exercise every morning . . . Sincerely yours, (Mrs. D.P.)"

Gazing into my crystal ball, I see that you, like forty million others, live in the Great Lakes Basin, where soil, water and food (meat, eggs, milk, vegetables, fruit, cereals) locally grown contain little or no iodine.

Physicians and health authorities know this, and in daring moments they have even urged people to use iodized salt in place of ordinary salt in cooking and at table. Ostensibly their purpose was to insure daily intake of at least a trace of iodine for everybody.

But this timid suggestion has been followed by only a minority of the population, perhaps because the physicians and local health administrators have wagged their chins constantly concerning the 'dangers" of "too much" iodine I know, from correspondence with people in the Great Lakes Basin, that many of them are afraid to use iodized salt. This seems silly in view of the fact that one gets more iodine in an ordinary serving of shrimp, crab, oysters, lobster, salmon or codfish than anyone is likely to get in a week from iodized salt.

There may well be other explanations for the tendency to nod or fall asleep as Mrs. D.P. does, but anyway it can do no harm to bring her daily intake of iodin up to the level required for good nutrition, and I hope she will do so. If she does I shall expect a report next spring that she is right up on her toes.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE WORDS WE USE

The expressive word, in the first place, was a wonderful creation. It brought people together. It gave them the opportunity for self-expression. It gave a garment to thought, and inspired people to understand one another, and to judge them fairly. I wish there were a universal language so that we might go where we would and still be among friends!

It is through the use of words that our minds are fed, and that people can judge the heart we own. It doesn't take very long for us to discover another human being after we have listened to his words for a spell. They are a big part of him. By them we become acquainted with each other.

The way you put words together in the expression of a thought is how you learn a little of the universal man. Most wars are inspired by nations who do not understand their so-called enemy. We may well be related to the universal mind, but there must be the substance of understanding to give it value. Listen to the language of another person and soon you may know him as a friend. You will know him as a possibility in your life, at least. Words may become more precious than any other gift of expression. Words can become sympathetic, warm and cordial By them we enter into the history of the world. With them our novelists write their greatest books — books that may live forever!

We are, to a marked degree, the words that we use no matter how they are fashioned in form. Our great poets become masters in the use of words. God's love is woven into their very fabric!

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

IN THE FACE OF NEW TRUTH

One of the hardest things in the world is to keep an open mind on all subjects. It's not only hard, it is dangerous — dangerous if we keep it open and dangerous if we don't.

The danger of open-mindedness arises from the fact that a person's mind may be open at both ends. Where this is true the person in question accepts everything new and rejects everything old — a dangerous procedure.

But the danger arising from a closed mind is ever greater. Martyrdom has almost always been the result of a closed-minded majority persecuting, and often massacring, an open-minded minority. Many of Columbus' contemporaries averred that he was a dangerous man who should be burned at the stake. Galileo was forced to his knees and compelled to renounce theabsurd heresy that the earth travelled around the sun, instead of the sun around the earth. The patriots who have gone to stake and gallows have usually been condemned by a closed-minded gang armed with big sticks.

Rockets and satellites are on the wing. They will probably reveal incredible new truths. Don't sidle over to the gang that put Socrates to death or forced Galileo to his knees — or to the superficial lunatic fringe who accept everything new.

Let us keep our minds open and our feet solidly on the ground.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the line-up for our new licence plates, the man next to me turned out, as we chatted our slow way up the queue, to be the despatcher at one of our big taxi companies. It is his voice you hear over the intercomm uttering those rapid, machine gun style orders in unintelligible code.

He was with the company I usually call for a taxi, and we were able to discuss business. I told him that one of his drivers, whom I knew by name, was the worst driver I had ever been driven by. And that included army drivers in army vehicles, than which there is not much more frightening.

"Him?" protested the despatcher "Why he is by long odds the very best driver we've got in the whole setup!"

"Are you kidding?" I asked.

"He is recognized," said the despatcher, "not only by us in the office ,and the management, but by all the other drivers as the most skilful, expert cab driver in the whole city."

This sounded incredible to me. "Why," I cried, "he scares the wits out of me. He drives like a maniac. He twists and turns and cuts in and out. He skins past other traffic, misses a streetcar by inches, whams around corners."

"Ah," said the despatcher, "I didn't understand what you meant by a good driver. You mean from the passenger's standpoint? I was speaking from the company's standpoint. He never gets into trouble. He's skilful. He's what we call an expert driver."

But not I.

Woman Refused Ticket on 'Man Only' Flight

NEW YORK (AP) — The right of an airline to schedule "man only" flights is being challenged by a young business woman.

Edythe Rein said United Air-lines refused to sell her a ticket about six weeks ago for one of its "executive flights" from Chicago to New York.

She has registered protests with the line and with the Civil Aeronautics Bureau.

The executive flights have special features intended to enable men to relax.

Cigar and pipe smoking is allowed, unlike on other flights. Slippers are provided. The men are encouraged to remove jackets and ties for comfort. Drinks and hearty meals are on the menu.

Miss Rein is a vice-president of National Telefilm Associates, Inc.

The airline sent two goodwill ambassadors to see her but without effect.

"What would have happened," she asked them, "If I had given the name of E. Rein, instead of Edythe?"

She said they told her she would have been stopped at the gate.

"I'm against discrimination of women," is the way she sums it up.

Kiwanis Club Installs New Officers

MADOC — On Friday evening at the regular meeting of Madoc Kiwanis Club, installation of Kiwanis officers and directors took place with Lt. Gov. Bill Carey, of Port Hope, as installing officer. He was accompanied by five other members of the Port Hope Club.

In his remarks the Lt. Gov. paid tribute to the Madoc club and particularly to the Governor, Jack Baker.

On being installed the new president, C. R. Johnston, spoke briefly, thanking the club for the honor that he had received and asked for the co-operation of all members during the coming year.

The installing officer was thanked by Kel Kincaid, who spoke on behalf of the members while Gregor Murray was presented with a gift in appreciation of his work during the year. The presentation was made by George West.

PERFECT ATTENDANCE TABS

Perfect attendance tabs were presented to a number of the members. Nine years' perfect attendance — Charles Johnston and Ted Nayler.

Officers installed:— Immediate past-president — Gregor Murray; president — Charles Johnston; vice-president—Newton Kincaid; secretary — Harry Roscoe; treasurer — Ted Nayler; directors — Bill Armstrong, Stewart Elliott, Kel Kincaid, Carl McCoy, Doug Pigden, Harold Pigden, Harry Roscoe, and George West.

Rev. J.F. Lane Installs Officers Of Trinity L.C.

MADOC — The first meeting of Trinity Ladies' Club for 1958 was held in the church parlors on Tuesday evening. Following the installation service by Rev. J. F. Lane, Mrs. Carl Howse passed along the duties of president to the newly installed president, Mrs. George Devolin, who graciously accepted the office and asked for the support of all the members during the year.

Trinity Club's newest venture will be that of "baby-hitting" during church services for parents of babies and small children while the parents attend church. This service will begin in February.

Officers elected for the new year are: President, Mrs. Geo. Devolin; first vice-president, Mrs. George Duffin; second vice president, Mrs. McCann; secretary, Mrs. Gregor Murray; treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Farrow; pianist, Mrs. Carl Howse; finance committee, Mrs. E. Auto Firms Deny Workers Turn Out Defective Cars

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian car manufacturers have denied that methods of Canadian workmen are affecting the quality of cars produced in Canada.

Howard B. Moore of Toronto, executive vice - president of the Canadian Federation of Automobile Dealers, said in Red Deer, Alta. Thursday that slip - shod methods of auto workers in Canadian plants are affecting the quality of cars to the stage where they are behind European products in road quality.

Theodore J. Emmert, executive vice - president of Ford Motor Company of Canada, said here the quality of Canadian Ford products "has never been higher."

In Oshawa, a spokesman for General Motors said cars sold in 1957 were remarkable trouble-free and the service record was probably the best in the company's history.

In Windsor, a spokesman for Chrysler Corporation said "the quality and craftsmanship built into our vehicles ranks them with the best we have ever produced."

In Detroit, George Burt, regional director in Canada of the United Automobile Workers (CLC), said he would welcome an investigation into the manufacture of Canadian cars.

Mr Burt said Mr. Moore should "look in his own back yard. His dealers aren't giving the service they used to. We're sick of being called saboteurs."

Mr. Burt added

"The fault is also with management. Car companies have no right putting cars on the road that haven't had careful performance checks.

"Such car checks aren't being made. They're supposed to make sure that no car leaves the plant that isn't fully roadworthy and they're not doing it.

"Sometimes work is not the best but the reason is that workers haven't time to do their best because the car companies are using technological advances for speedup purposes. We would welcome an investigation into this."

Industrial Hockey

Point Anne Cementmen pulled into sole possession of first place in the Industrial hockey league yesterday by shading the tail-end Tweed club 5-4.

Don's Delivery also picked up a pair of points by whipping the Terrors 8-2 in a replay of a protested game from January 5. In another regular game Circle TV and Terrors fought to a 5-5 deadlock.

The standing now shows Point Anne in first place with 12 points followed by Don's Delivery and Hillcrest Wreckers with 11 each. Terrors and Circle TV are tied for the final playoff position with five points each while Tweed is in the cellar without a point.

Ronnie Aitken sparked Don's to their 8-2 win yesterday with three goals. The others were divided among Jim Campbell, Cameron McKenna, Cameron Buskard, Phil Cornell and Ronnie Archer. Leo Goyer potted both Terrors' goals.

Point Anne goals were shared by Doug Lucas, Tom Schrieder, Rusty Logue, Pat Maracle and Lorne Maracle. Don Lizard fired a pair for Tweed while Ralph Plane and Don Pringle had singles. The game was in doubt until the final minute with first one team then the other holding a goal lead.

Circle TV stole a point from the Terrors in the other contest, netting the tying goal in the last few seconds of the game. Gary Gow had a pair of goals for Circle with one each for Bob Outred, Don Cherry and Dick Knapton. Leo Goyer again led the Terror attack with his second two-goal effort of the day. Singletons went to Vern Goyer, Bill Storms and Frank Donovan.

VIOLENT FLOODS

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — The Incomati River Friday went on the worst rampage in 20 years, isolating towns, cutting railways and marooning hundreds. Once-Famed Maginot Line Secretly Made Over to Serve West in Event of Atomic War

By GEORGE MacARTHUR

PARIS (AP) — Buried deep in the French-German border country, the once-famed Maginot Line has been secretly over-hauled to serve as a western strongpoint in the event of atomic war.

Not since the tense days before the Second World War have officers in the French defence ministry been so secretive about the concrete and steel forts, emplacements and underground corridors.

The old line extends along the frontier from Switzerland to Belgum and scattered fortifications extend to the Channel coast.

Some of the fortifications are as closely guarded as they were in 1939 before Nazi Germany's Panzer divisions swept around the line at Sedan.

LITTLE DAMAGED

The main concrete network of 25 big forts, dug more than 200 feet deep in spots, never suffered much damage. French engineers started minor repair jobs after the war but the corridors remained mainly dank and unlighted until western commanders began to seek burrows suitable for nuclear command posts.

Despite the secrecy, the costly network is known, nowadays, to house spanking new communications headquarters, radar eyes, command posts and arms stockpiles.

Last August a big radar scanning post was installed in an Alsace portion of the line. From there, monitors count planes landing and taking off at faraway. Prague, Czechoslovakia. Other areas behind the Iron Curtain are also watched.

There is plenty of room in the old line for all sorts of secrets. The corridors are seven storeys down in spots. Railroads run underground within the forts, some for 13 miles or more. Communications lines also run here, linking the command and radar operations.

Across the frontier similar activities are reported going on in the old Siegfried Line, which suffered worse damage during the war.

The French started serious work in 1954, restoring the Maginot line from Arlon, on the Belgian frontier, to the Rhine. The sector from there to the Swiss border got lesser attention later.

You can still get an argument from French military tacticians and engineers about the value of the fortifications. They cost France about $500,000,000 to build, a big sum in pre-war days.

The forts were carefully hidden in hills and woods. There were hundreds of lesser positions. Artillery turrets rose from concealment to fire, then sank back into the ground.

French officers insist that the line was a victim of its own publicity. It was presented as a kind of wall, when it wasn't intended for that. Furthermore, the German forces swept around the line and then its supporting troops were withdrawn to other areas. Finally, the troops in the line were ordered to surrender by the Vichy government.

EFFECTIVE WHERE USED

Despite the surrender, one group of Frenchmen fought on for a month from a fort near Strasbourg. In 1944 several German groups did the same thing, despite the fact that the gun emplacements were pointing the wrong way. One German fort literally had to be starved into submission.

One of the great weaknesses, of course, was that it left France's border with Belgium lightly—if at all — defended. France once started to build more elaborate defences from Sedan to the Channel, but Belgium protested this might merely be an invitation to Germany to violate Belgian neutrality.

So the line ended near Sedan, and when the Hitler's Panzers started to move, they simply swung around the end of the line above Sedan and on into France.

Farm Radio Forums Will Discuss Wills

TORONTO — What happens to your family if you have left no will? Is your farm agreement with your son of any legal value? Are you aware that present laws may be unfair to your wife and family unless you take legal steps to protect them? Did you realize that contract farming may involve serious legal problems? These and many other questions will be considered by Farm Forum across Canada, under the title "Let's Make It Legal."

Donald F. MacLaren, a lawyer from Barrie, along with members of the Canadian Bar Association from each province will be heard on the National Farm Radio Forum broadcast which will open the discussions at 8.30, February 3.

'Silent Witness' Film Viewed By Y.F.C.

Belleville Youth for Christ once again packed the Masonic Temple to capacity with the second rally of this year.

The main feature of the evening was the film, "Silent Witness". This film was taken from a Bible Club in a city high school. In this club the students gathered in a classroom twice a week to have a sing-song, testimonies and sometime they invited special speakers to come.

A quiet and reserved boy by the name of "Bill" gave his testimony in the club one day. His heart was heavy because he had been intending to invite a pal of his to the Club, but was too shy to ask him Bill had several opportunities, but neglected them.

This pal of his was suffering from an injured shoulder from playing football and becoming seriously ill was rushed to the hospital. After a time of suffering it was discovered it was an inward wound and he died instantly.

When Bill received the news of his pal's passing, he was broken up because he didn't know what peace he had in his soul and he had not taken the opportunity to ask him to come to the Bible club. Now there was not another chance.

This film stirred many hearts and many decisions were made to help someone in the next few weeks to become more certain about their Christian standards of living.

CONTESTING BIBLE QUIZ

The High Schools in the Bible quiz were: Picton and Tweed: Napanee and Quinte. The scores were: Tweed 180 points; Napanee 80 points; Quinte 40 points and Picton 30 points.

The president of Quinte Secondary School Bible Club, Miss Noreen Brooks, rendered a solo. Other musical entertainment was a duet by Bud Rodgers on his saxophone and Ed. Taylor on his violin, playing, "Come Unto Me," under the direction of Carl Green. The choir sang "Fairest Lord Jesus."

Testimonies were given by two young people from Napanee, John Craig, who is now a student at Toronto Bible College, and his sister Lorna, who has just been nominated the president of the Napanee High School Bible Club.

Both Lorna and John expressed their appreciation of a Bible Club work in the High School.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

The Belevile Youth For Christ director, Jim Blackwood, announced that the next Youth Rally would be a double feature with Bob Bradford, (ventriloquist), on film. "Bob and his Buddy." plus the Rev. Wilfred Moutoux, outstanding Youth speaker from Petersburg, Ontario, and De Verne H. Mullen, baritone soloist.

Gamma Mu Sponsors Coffee Party

Gamma Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. D. MacKinnon, Bleeker Avenue.

Mrs. J. McDonald, conducted a short business meeting. It was reported that the special deep crib donated by the chapter has been installed in the paediatric ward, Belleville General Hospital, and is now in use. An official presentation will be made at a later date.

A letter from the Elizabeth Fry Society, Kingston, thanking the members for a donation was read. Donations of women's clothing and suitcases for the released prisoners have been requested.

Mrs. W. McCormick gave a most interesting cultural program on 'sculpture' and showed illustrations of the various periods of sculpture.

The highlight of the evening was the coffee party given by Gamma Mu for the members of Alpha Lambda. The refreshments were provided by all the members of Gamma Mu.

After a pleasant social hour president Mrs. V. McLean, graciously thanked Gamma Mu for the opportunity of visiting the chapter.

Congregational Meeting

ROSSMORE UNITED

The annual congregational meeting of Rossmore United Church was held on January 14 in the upper auditorium of the church with Mr. Henry Farrow, supply minister, presiding.

Previous to the business meeting, a potluck supper, provided by the ladies of the church, was enjoyed in the Sunday school auditorium at long tables laden with all manner of good things.

Mrs. A. Hanna presiding at the piano, the meeting proper opened with an appropriate hymn followed by Mr. Farrow giving the invocation, after which Mr. Frank Belnap, as secretary, gave the minutes of last year's meeting, which were approved.

The following reports from the various departments of the church were read: Mr. Hannah gave that of the Sunday School; Mrs. C. Reddick that of the W.M.S.

1958 OFFICERS

The slate of officers for the ensuing year: elders, honorary, C. Reddick; others, F. Belnap and J. L. Gerow. Stewards: Rex Alyea, Bill Clapp, Angus Hannah and Mrs. Douglas Reddick; trustees, Mr. and Mrs. C. Reddick, Mrs. Bill Clapp, Frank Belnap, J. L. Gerow and Mrs. S. Root; secretary, F. Belnap; treasurer, Mrs. C. Reddick.

Ushers: Monty Alyea, Wayne Alyea and Robert Reddick; organist, Mrs. A. Hannah; assistant organists, Mrs. Weese and Mrs. J. L. Gerow.

Sunday school superintendent, J. L. Gerow; assistant, A. Hannah.

W. A. president, Mrs. S. Root, and assistant, Mrs. F. Belnap.

OTHER BUSINESS

Other business included the sending of a letter of thanks to Mr. H. J. McFarland for his gift of $25 for the purchase of new hymnbooks for the church. These books are being engraved in tribute to Mr. McFarland.

It was decided to re-decorate the Sunday school rooms. A discussion was held regarding the buying of a new oil burner for the church, but will be dealt with at a later date.

There has been a fine and devoted spirit of co-operation within the church and an excellent leadership by Mr. Farrow. All hope to accept a greater responsibility for church advancement this coming year.

APPRECIATION EXTENDED

Special appreciation was extended to Mr. and Mrs. A. Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gerow, Frank Belnap, Mrs. C. Reddick and Monty Alyea, who have contributed time and talents to this worthy cause.

An invitation has been extended to Mr. Farrow to remain as pastor for another year, and it is hoped he will accept.

Mr. Farrow closed the meeting with prayer.

House of Dior Will Continue To Operate

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — The Paris couture fashion collections for spring and summer focus worldwide attention on a young designer, Yves St. Laurent, who was comparatively unknown until Christian Dior died in Italy last October.

Although the "decade of Dior" is over, the House of Dior, owned by industrialist Marcel Boussac, will continue under collective leadership, with Dior's 21-year-old protege as designer.

The big question in the fashion is: "Has Yves St. Laurent the creative genius to carry on this empire?"

NO BIG CHANGES

People in the business are convinced that Boussac has no intention of allowing his major investment to lose its gilt - edged rating by slipping to second place among the couture houses, and that he must therefore have implicit confidence in St. Laurent's ability.

Psychologically, the shy, Algerian-born designer carries a heavy load. He has indicated that he intends to produce no revolution in existing styles, but will evolve a spring and summer theme around the master's last collection.

Dior left no sketches or concrete plans for the spring collection when he died. The nucleus of each forthcoming collection, compiled in hundreds of rough drawings, usually was not completed until six weeks before the opening.

As fashions are easily influenced by current events and geographical background, some foreign trends may well show up in the spring and summer collections. Many of the designers have travelled far in the last few months, reeking atmosphere to evolve their creative ideas.

HEMLINES SHORT

As regards the summer line, the big question is whether the chemise dress, paired with the short hemline, will continue to hold sway in Paris. The "plain Jane" look needed time to gain universal acceptance, and women may not be ready to relinquish their sacks.

The word from the fitting rooms of all top French dressmakers is that the short skirt length proved to be the dark horse that won the fashion race.

Many private clients said, when placing orders last season, that they wished their hemlines to be stabilized at the former long length of 15 to 16 inches above the floor. After the first fitting, these same women were heard to say: "I have changed my mind. Please shorten my skirt to an 18-inch length."

MOUNTAIN VIEW W. I.

MOUNTAIN VIEW — On January 8, Mrs. James Wallbridge, formerly of Huff's Island, opened her new home in Belleville for the purpose of entertaining the ladies of Mountain View Women's Institute. There was a large number in attendance.

After the business part, conducted by the president, Mrs. Neal, the remainder of the program was carried on.

Mrs. R. Barber, convener for community activities and public relations, assisted by Mrs. Mazer, gave interesting readings on these subjects.

Mrs. Clifford Barber spoke briefly on the motto: "A Wise Mind Groweth Like a Bank Account." Mrs. Willet Barber spoke on 'rug making' and plans were made to form a class for learning this art.

The meeting was closed and delectable refreshments were served by Mrs. Wallbridge and her daughters, and everyone enjoyed a social get-together.

Mrs. Wilfred Motley thanked the hostess and her daughters for their generous hospitality.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Clifford Barber, of Huff's Island, in the evening of February 5th.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S HINT: ABOUT MAKING NEW FRIENDS

Did you make a New Year's resolution to "make some new friends"? If so, how is it going? If it isn't progressing satisfactorily, may it perhaps be that you expect other people to take all the initiative, to make all the friendship advances? Remember that to make friendships, you have to meet friendly people halfway . . . at least halfway.

WHEN CHILDREN AREN'T INVITED, DON'T BRING THEM

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My wedding is to be very soon, and, after the ceremony, we are planning to have a reception-and-dinner. My big problem of the moment is: How not to invite children. The only children I'd like to have at the reception would be the few nieces and nephews. But there are so many relatives and friends who have children and I am sure they would like to bring them along. How can I, without hurting anyone's feelings, invite the parents and let them know that I do not want their children to come? Would it be proper to have on the invitation "No children permitted"? — H.

This can indeed be a real problem, and because you are so sure that it is a problem you must face, you are very wise to face it definitely and forthrightly. The rule of etiquette is, of course, that when the parents are invited to a wedding reception, and the children's names are not included on the invitation obviously the children are not invited, and the parents shouldn't take them to the reception. But if you know that some relatives and friends will pay no attention whatever to this rule, and will bring the children even though they aren't invited, you must in some way make your request most emphatic.

Please don't spoil the appearance of your invitations by having on them "No children permitted" [illegible] any other such phrase. Instead [illegible] advise that you enclose in your invitations to these relatives and friends who you think might bring their children to the reception, a written note explaining, for example: "We are sorry it will not be convenient for us to invite any children (except, of course, nieces and nephews) to the reception and dinner. We are sure you will understand this necessary planning."

Women's Activities

CARMEL W.I.

Mrs. Percy Reynolds was hostess for the January W.I. meeting. Mrs. Whitmore, president, called the meeting to order. Thirteen members answered the roll call, "Something I Learned from My Grandmother."

Letters were read and business was dealt with. It was decided to buy flanelette and make layettes for the Unitarian Service of Canada.

Report of standing committee: Mrs. Rodberg reporting on "Health," talked on the Salk vaccine. It has done so much for mankind. Research still has a long way to go, but it is felt that since one vaccine has been found there is hope they can find all vaccines.

Mrs. Allison reported on citizenship.

Mrs. Patterson, convener of the program, took charge. A scrap book, which belonged to an aunt of Mrs. Patterson's was on display. It contained many pictures of dress styles of that day which were interesting. A couple of features in the book were a wedding, Sherman-Hall (some of the W.I. group knew [illegible] families), also a social [illegible] held at Gilead in honor of Miss Allison, organist, and J. R Sheffield, superintendent of the Sunday school.

Readings, "The Watcher Mother," and "The Old Tale," by Mrs. Patterson; "Little Granny Grey" by Mrs. Reynolds, and "Kate," by Mildred Jones, were given.

Mrs. Patterson chose as her topic for her paper, "The Story Behind the Song 'When You and I were Young Maggie'." The meeting closed with the singing of the song.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Au Revoir On The Empress of France

By Mary Moore

But for the alertness of a C.P. police officer, my snow boots would have gone to Liverpool with Marianne and Gary and David. In my eagerness to say "goodbye" quickly without one tear drop showing, I left them in the clothes cupboard in Marianne's stateroom on the Empress of France. A little later while standing at the top of Shed 6 waiting for a taxi my feet felt cold and I looked down and they were in sling pumps with high heels. At that instant the taxi lights swung around the corner and I asked the attendant to hold him while I ran back to the freight gang plank where the police officer was on guard. As soon as I told him I had to catch the train to Fredericton and had no time to spare he said, "Madam, pick up your boots at the Police office here at Shed 6 on Friday when you return". Sure enough when I called two days later there they were ticketed — "To be picked up by Mrs. Mary Moore Friday, January 10th." That famous service constantly amazes me. I'd give a lot to know what went on in Marianne's mind when he knocked at her door.

Suddenly the Empress ships and I are old pals. I spent all day with Marianne and the boys on the Empress of France before she sailed at midnight, on the high tide, having lunch in her stateroom and dinner at the table next to the Captain's. Both meals were delicious but I will always remember dinner for we both knew the minute we left that table that I left too, and it was "goodbye" after nearly seven months of being together.

We had oysters on the half-shell, poached turbot with mousselaine sauce, (see below), roast young turkey with cranberries and Frenched green beans and carrots and peas, celery, olives, meringue ice, salted almonds and cafe noir.

The oysters launched me on a Maritimes diet for the remainder of my trip. So far I have kept to my resolution to order nothing but sea food or strictly New Brunswick or Nova Scotian products. With a strong assist from Betty MacDonald of the N.B. Travel Bureau, I had fiddleheads too. And if we aren't soon able to buy them at home it will not be because this determined woman did not ask the the grocers for them.

Watch for an increasing number of delicious fish dishes, starting with Poached Turbot With Mousselaine Sauce A La Empress: There are several methods of poaching fish, but I would advise using no water or a minimum of water. 1) Cut 2 lbs. turbot in serving portions. Place in oiled baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, lemon juice and chopped parsley. Dot with 3 or 4 tablespoons butter and bake slowly at 325 deg. Fahr. until it will flake.

Low heat extracts fish juices and fillets cook in them. Use juice for sauce below. 2) Place 2 lbs. turbot on rack in steamer or large kettle, add water under rack. It should not touch fish. Steam until fish will flake, about 20 minutes for a 1" thick fillet. When fish is cooked place on hot platter and pour over

MOUSSELAINE SAUCE:

Three tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup fish stock or juice or water left over from poaching fish made up to 1 cup, ½ cup cream, ¼ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 2 egg yolks, ½ tablespoon lemon juice. Melt butter, add flour, and stir until well blended; then pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, stock and cream. Bring to boiling point and add salt and pepper. Just before serving add egg yolks, slightly beaten, and lemon juice.

Congregational Meeting

CENTRE ST. UNITED

The congregational meeting of Centre Street United Church was held at the church with a good attendance on January 14.

The minister, Rev. W. E. G. Dovey presided and welcomed the members and asked the Rev. O. E. Wagar to conduct the devotional service. The hymn, "Blest be the Tie That Binds," was sung followed by the Scripture from 2. Cor. 4, and prayer by Mr. Wagar.

Mr. Dovey took charge for the business period.

Mrs. Fergusson was elected to act as secretary and read the minutes of the last annual meeting which were approved.

Mr. Dovey gave a report on the work which has been accomplished since he came to the charge last July, showing the progress of the different groups which have been organized in the Belleville suburban churches, which was quite encouraging.

The secretary-treasurer of the church, Mrs. Keitha Fergusson gave her report and Mr. Wagar gave the building fund report. These reports showed a substantial increase in the church offerings. A well was drilled, a new kitchen was built, washrooms constructed and a new oil heating unit installed at a cost of about $2,000. The report showed a small balance on hand.

The report of the W.A. was given by Mrs. Gladys McLeod; the M. and M. fund by Mrs. K. Fergusson, the Young People's group by Mrs. Dorothy Hudgins, the Sunday School by Mrs. Edith Schamerhorn. These reports were most gratifying.

Mr. Clifford Belch gave a report on the progress which the boys' club is making and commended Mr. Dovey for his help.

Mr. Dovey thanked the different church groups for their reports and asked for continued support.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The election of officers was then held.

Last year's officers were re-elected: secretary-treas., Mrs. Keitha Fergusson; the board of trustees to remain the same; the board of stewards was re-elected with the addition of Mr. Archie Longhurst; the elders to remain the same with the addition of Mr. Dan Vanderwater and Mr. Robert Schamerhorn.

The Sunday school superintendent, Mr. C. Belch and the assistant, Mr. Robert Schamerhorn, were re-elected. Mr. Belch thanked those who had helped in the Sunday school in the past and asked for more teachers. Mr. Dovey offered his services as teacher of the Bible class, which was readily accepted.

Mrs. Edith Schamerhorn wished to resign as secretary treasurer of the Sunday school and Mrs. Peggy Belch was elected. Mr. Morris was re-elected as caretaker. Mr. O. Wagar and Mr. C. Belch were re-elected as auditors. This completed the election.

Mr. Dovey welcomed Mrs. Lula Longhurst as the new president of the W.A. and wished her and the members a successful year.

Mr. Belch tendered a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Dovey and Mr. Wagar for their help in the past year.

Mr. Edward Schamerhorn, a student at Queen's University, was to be tendered best wishes for his success in his studies.

The reports showed that a financial campaign, organized by Mr. Wagar enabled the congregation to undertake a building program, and other improvements in connection with the church.

The W.A. has been re-organized with Mrs. A. Longhurst as president, Mrs. G. McCloud as secretary, and Mrs. C. Wood as treasurer. An interesting program of activities is planned for 1958.

A boys' TYRO group has been organized, under the leadership of Robert Schamerhorn, with about 15 members. Mr. Dovey and C. Belch, Sr. are the counsellors. Worship, business and recreation, including participation in a church hockey league are among the activities.

A girls' Explorer group, under the leadership of Mrs. C. Belch, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Schamerhorn, with 25 members, and a CGIT group with Mrs. C. Belch, Sr., and Mrs. J. Morris as leaders, with 15 members have been organized.

The Sunday school, under the superintendency of C. Belch, Sr., is outgrowing the building. The congregation, too, is steadily growing.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

Thomasburg WA Headed by Mrs. H. Elliott

The January meeting of the Thomasburg W.A. was held at the vestry. A delicious dinner was served to the school children by the W.A. ladies at noon and the meeting followed.

The new president, Mrs. H. Elliott, opened the meeting by reading a poem about New Years.

Two readings were given on the subject "Hope."

Mr. Dyson officiated at the installation of officers for 1958, which are as follows: honorary president, Mrs. G. Dyson; past president, Mrs. F. Preston; president, Mrs. H. Elliott; 1st vice-president, Mrs. H. Morton; treasurer, Mrs. E. Carter; secretary, Mrs. H. Vance; pianists, Mrs. D. Walker and Mrs. R. Wilson; flower and card committee, Mrs. A. Brough and Mrs C. Adams; auditors, Mrs. Dyson and Mrs. Preston.

The president took charge of the business part of the meeting with the secretary and treasurer reporting.

Fees were paid; letters of thanks were read; plans were made for a bazaar; another school dinner is to be held next month with Mrs. L. Grills and Mrs. G. Morton in charge.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Jacqueline S. — Dora thinks her reputation was ruined when she was born.

Dora M — My parents are hypocrites.

Jacqueline S. — I am a girl of 17 and have a best friend of my own age who has a terrible problem.

Dora is really a nice girl, but she goes too far in petting and kissing with her dates. When I told her this was wrong, she said it can't make and difference because her reputation was ruined when she was born. She said she has learned that she was born only seven months after her parents were married.

I told her that nobody will ever find out about this, but she could get into trouble because of what she is doing. She is sure, however, that everyone in our community knows about it and that no nice boy will marry her.

Dora M. — My parents always said they were married a year before I was born and celebrate their anniversary on a date which corresponds to this story. But one day a few years ago I was looking for something among my mother's papers and found this marriage licence with a different date on it.

Ever since that time I have had no respect for my parents. They are hypocrites because they are always preaching about doing right, but they don't do right themselves. They always talk about other people drinking too much, but they have often come home tight after a party.

If I ever get into serious trouble, it will really be because of my parents. They are worse than anyone else in spite of all they preach.

The Council: Dora has a serious problem indeed, but it is not the one she thinks.

Dora's real problem is her estrangement from her parents, her suspicion of them and the fantasy she is building up about herself and them.

Dora should not have been poking around among her mother's personal papers, but since she committed this breach of ethics and found something that concerned her and upset her, she should have spoken to her mother about it. We suspect there is a possibility that Dora was mistaken about the date she saw on the marriage license. Young adolescents sometimes build up a grandiose fantasy based on an error or a small incident.

It is also possible that Dora was a premature child and, to spare her and themselves any embarrassment, the parents decided to celebrate their wedding anniversary on a different date. In any case, Dora should try to understand the facts before condemning her parents. Even if these parents were married after their child was on the way, Dora should give them credit for rectifying their error, maintaining their marriage and preaching righteous conduct to her.

Dora's general attitude, however, suggests that she feels she is bad and unworthy of nice friends and decent relationships. She tries to put the blame on her parents and this means that she is free of responsibility for creating her own good life. We agree with Jacqueline that she is headed for serious trouble. She needs lots of help from her parents and should tell them everything on her mind.

Girls like Jacqueline, who receive family confidences from their friends, should refuse to become embroiled in the problem. They should tell their friends to talk it over with their own parents.

LEST WE FORGET!

This is "Minor Hockey Week in Canada."

From coast-to-coast in metropolitan centres and backwoods settlements, anywhere youngsters are playing or learning to play Canada's great winter game under adult supervision, it is the kiddies' great chance to show Mom and Pop what they are learning, how they are taught, and what they can do.

And it is hoped that the thousands of Moms and Pops will take advantage of the special opportunities to watch Junior in hockey action, not to mention the men who are doing yeoman service in teaching and looking after the moppets' hockey needs.

The organizations and individuals who are associated with the game hope to draw all-out attention to minor hockey, with its many facets in a number of ways.

They hope to publicise the week so that every man, woman and child in Canada will have a new awareness of the game, its characteristics, possibilities and advantages.

They hope to impress upon parents the work being done for their boys, and encourage them to support the leagues, managers and coaches, and to encourage fathers to become actively interested in the operation of the various leagues and teams.

They hope to draw attention to the values of the game, in teaching sportsmanship, citizenship, character, respect of authority and respect for other people's property.

The game also has body-building advantages, not only because of the fact that through it, youngsters are taking part in active exercise, but because the boys are taught that if they wish to become good hockey players they must keep in shape, train, eat properly and keep proper hours.

All of these things are the little things that add up to the important total of better boys, and eventually better citizens. And we feel, that to keep one lad out of trouble is worth all the effort of all the managers of all the teams of all the leagues in Canada.

But if you want to be strictly mercenary about it, and as taxpayers we might well be, we can point out that on the average it costs about $100 per boy to keep the lads playing for an averige hockey season. To arrest a boy, try him in court, and keep him in a government institution for the length of his punishment for the same amount of time, would cost the government—and you and I as taxpayers—about $340. How would you like our money spent?

The Belleville Minor Hockey Association is observing "Minor Hockey Week in Canada" on Wednesday night and next Saturday morning. Seven games will be played Wednesday between eight squirt and six midget teams besides another game. The games average 35 minutes in length. Next Saturday morning four peewee and four bantams will be played.

Tonight in Memorial Arena where the Belleville Lambert-Rollins juniors clash with the Peterborough Stoneys in a regular schedule game, the minors will come in for their share of the spotlight. The Belleville midgets will play the Stirling midgets prior to the junior tilt and here is a fine chance for parents to see their, or their neighbors' youngsters, in hockey action.

BMHA officials—and the kiddies—too, hope that Memorial Arena will be packed next Wednesday night—and a good crowd out Saturday morning. If you have never seen it before, you are missing the sight of your life by not seeing the face of a boy warm with the glow of achievement and split wide with a grin after he has scored a goal. And if he happens to be your boy, his thrill and pride will be exceeded only by your own.

So how about making it a date with Junior and his hockey pals on Wednesday night or Saturday morning, or both. Show him and his buddies that you are really interested in his hockey. He will appreciate it, so will his coach and manager.

Five Canadian Records Set At Swim Meet

HAMILTON (CP)—Five Canadian records were set Saturday when the United States beat Canada 228-202 in the fifth annual Canadian - American all - star swimming meet. U.S. swimmers won 27 of the 50 events.

Joe Aikire, 15-year - old flash from San Diego, Calif., won the junior 100-yard freestyle in 52.8 to clip 1.2 seconds off the previous mark.

Tom Lindsay, Pittsburgh, knocked four seconds off the junior 100-yard butterfly record winning the event in 59.8.

Lindsay and Aikire teamed with Joe Brown of Flushing, N.Y., and Garry Vischer of Pittsburgh to break the Canadian junior 200 - yard freestyle record. Their time of 1:37.7 bettered the old record by 4.2 seconds

WINS AND HELPS

George Park of Hamilton set one record and helped crack another. He won the senior 100-yard butterfly in 58.6, one-half second under the previous mark.

Park then anchored a Canadian team which won the senior 400-yard relay in 3:34.7, breaking the [illegible] mark by 3.3 seconds [illegible] swimmer Sarah Bar- [illegible] Brantford, dominated the [illegible] competition winning three events—the 100-yard freestyle, 200-yard backstroke and the 100-yard butterfly.

Mary Lou Whittall of Brantford was a member of the Canadian team which won the 200-yard freestyle relay for girls 15-16 years.

Dave Sime Sets World Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Duke's Dave Sime captured the featured sprint series of the Evening Star Games Saturday night, setting a world's record and whipping arch rival Ira Murchison twice.

Sime couldn't match Murchison's explosive start and lost the 70-yard dash to the stubby western Michigan speedster who had been undefeated in 15 straight indoor meets.

But in the 80- and 100-yard straightaways Sime had space in which to catch up and he did.

Sime floated over the 80 in 7.8 seconds, one-tenth better than the old mark which Henry Thresher, then of Mercersburg Academy, created eight years ago.

OTTAWA WINS BONSPIEL

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP) The Ottawa Glebe rink skipped by A. S. Merriken won the Rankin Trophy in the 27th annual three-day bonspiel here by defeating F. A. Corry's Montreal Thistle rink 12-6 Sunday in their final match.

Late Game Goals Turn Tide Against Red Wings, Toronto; Detroit Upsets Canadiens

By MARTY GOODMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Send Boston Bruins into each game with only five minutes to play and chances are they'd be leading the National Hockey League.

Especially if Jerry Toppazzini and Don McKenney were playing the way they have in recent games.

Toppazzini and McKenney were the scorers when the Bruins erupted with three goals in the last five minutes Saturday to defeat Detroit Red Wings 5-3.

McKenney scored one goal and assisted on another in the last five minutes Sunday when Boston tied Toronto Maple Leafs 3-3.

In other games Saturday, Montreal Canadiens beat Chicago Black Hawks 2-1 and Barry Cullen scored three goals as Toronto beat New York Rangers 7-1.

In Sunday's games, Detroit upset Montreal 4-2 and Chicago edged New York 4-3.

MOVE NEAR DETROIT

The fourth-place Bruins, apparently solid again after a lengthy slump, moved to within a point of third-place Detroit and two of second-place New York as a result of the three-point weekend. Toronto is two points behind.

Montreal maintained its lead at 21 points and last-place Chicago fell four points behind Toronto.

Boston and Detroit were tied at 16:42 of the third period Saturday when Toppazzini scored for the Bruins. Alex Delvecchio got that back for Detroit and Toppazzini scored again. McKenney got the insurance goal after Detroit yanked goalie Terry Sawchuk for a sixth forward. It was the second goal of the game for both McKenney and Delvecchio.

Jack MIntyre for Detroit and Real Chevrefils for Boston were the other scorers.

Wings suffered another loss in the game. All star right winger Gordie Howe suffered possible rib fractures in the first period when he was sandwiched by two Bruins. It was not known how long he would be out.

WAS LOSING

Boston was losing 3-1 to Toronto at 16.20 of the third period Sunday. McKenney scored his fourth goal in three games on a pass from Toppazzini and with one second left, started a play that resulted in Leo Labine tying the score. Goalie Harry Lumley was off the ice at the time.

Ron Stewart scored twice for Toronto and Gary Aldcorn once. Doug Mohns was the other Boston scorer.

Delvecchio was back at work Sunday when the Wings, missing Howe, who defeated Montreal on Detroit ice for the first time this season.

Delvecchio scored twice again for 13 goals this season, one coming with the Wings shorthanded. Forbes Kennedy and Johnny Wilson also scored for Detroit.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion scored his 27th, high in the league, and Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard his 21st for Montreal.

League-leading scorer Dickie Moore, with his 26th, and Claude Provost were the marksmen Saturday as Montreal edged Chicago 2-1 in a tight-checking game. Ron Murphy scored for the Hawks with teammate Ed Kachur in the penalty box.

STAGE COMEBACK

The Hawks bounced back Sunday and broke a 17-game jinx by goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley and the Rangers to defeat New York 4-3. It was the first victory for Chicago over New York with Worsley in goal at Chicago Stadium since Jan. 30, 1955.

The Hawks beat the Rangers in Chicago earlier this season, but the New York goalie was Marcel Paille, who replaced Worsley for several games.

Bobby Hull, Glen Skov, Ed Litzenberger and Elmer Vasko scored for Chicago. Andy Bathgate had two goals and an assist for New York and Camille Henry scored his 25th goal.

Barry Cullen's three goals led the Leafs with singles going to Dick Duff, Bob Pulford, Frank Mahovlich and Tim Horton. Danny Lewicki scored for New York.

Canadiens Edge Kingston 5-4 Tied With Kings in 2nd Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston CKLCs probably dread their Ontario Hockey Association Eastern Senior A games with Ottawa - Hull Canadiens. With good cause, too. Ottawa have won the last six.

They chalked up the sixth Sunday, edging the CKLCs 5-4, and are tied with Pembroke in second place.

Canadiens' Bob Boucher scored the winning goal 11 seconds after Kingston withdrew netminder Lynn Davis in favor of an extra forward. With five seconds to go, Gerry Moore closed out the Kingston scoring.

Other weekend action in the series saw Belleville McFarlands crash 8-5 before Pembroke Lumber Kings Saturday and recover Sunday to defeat Cornwall Chevies 4-2.

Claude Richard paced the Canadiens against Kingston, scoring twice. Terry Gray, Boucher and Gilles Tremblay scored the others. CKLCs' marksmen were Moore, with two, Jean Gauthier and Neil Colvin.

Pembroke built up a 4-1 first-period lead against Belleville and pushed it to 7-3 in the second.

The Giesebrechts—Bert, Bruce and Jack — all scored for the Kings, Bert netting twice. Lionel Barker, with two, Jim Maxwell and Bernie Limoges added with others. Kings' scorers were John Muretich, with two, Barton Bradley, Ike Hildebrand and Minnie Menard.

Paul Payette scored twice in McFarlands' victory over Cornwall. Gerry Goyer and Bradley added the others. Ray Laplante and Moe Savard scored for Cornwall.

Hockey's Big Seven

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal's Big Three—Dickie Moore, Henri Richard and Bernie Geoffrion—harvested a total of six points in weekend National Hockey League play to consolidate their hold on the first three positions in the individual scoring race.

The leaders:

Toronto Pair Collects Three Skating Titles

OTTAWA (CP) — A Toronto skater and his pretty, dark-haired partner collected three of the 10 titles decided at the Canadian figure skating championships.

Bill McLachlan, 19, a trainee in his father's construction business who says skating isn't for sissies, and Geraldine Fenton, 20, also of Toronto, won the senior dance, waltz and 10-step championships in the three-day ice tournament which ended Saturday night.

The couple are to compete in the world championships next month at Paris.

World champions Barbara Wagner, 19, and Bob Paul, 20, also of Toronto won the Canadian pairs title for the third straight year. They will defend their world title next month.

MOSTLY TORONTO

Most of the 10 titles were won by skaters from Ontario's capital city. Here's how they went:

Charles Snelling, 20, won the senior men's singles for the fifth consecutive year. His sister, Sonia, 15, won the junior ladies singles.

Carl Harrison, 20, Toronto, won the junior men's singles and Margaret Crosland, 17, of Winnipeg, the senior ladies.

Mirek Staroba, 15, of Toronto and his 19-year-old sister, Svata, won the junior dance title, and 17-year-olds Alastair Munro and Judith Rudd of Ottawa, the junior pairs.

Runners-up included:

Donald Jackson, 17, Oshawa in the senior men's; Doreen Lister, 15, Schumacher, senior ladies.

LAST-LAP WIN

TORONTO (CP)—The University of Western Ontario Mustangs Saturday edged Toronto Varsity Blues 44-42 in an exhibition swim meet. In the final lap Western's Denes Szvetko pulled away from Toronto's Larry Freeman to finish one second ahead and give Western the edge.

Many Celebrities Will Attend Sports Dinner

TORONTO (CP)—Asking Marty Barry, one of the more than 20 guests in town for tonight's sports celebrities dinner for crippled children, to compare the National Hockey League of the 1930s with that of the 1950s could prove frustrating.

Barry was a standout centre with Detroit Red Wings during the 1930s, making the first all-star team in 1936-37 and winning the Lady Byng Trophy the same year as the player best combining ability and sportsmanship.

But since his retirement in 1940 he has seen only four NHL games the last a playoff game in 1944. It was a remarkable one.

Montreal Canadiens defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 11-0 in the fifth game of the semi-final series, the highest shutout total in playoffs.

Barry is one of four players from the 1936-37 Stanley Cup Red Wings on hand for the $25-a-plate dinner. The Montreal native, now coaching a team in Halifax, will be joined by Jack Adams, Eddie Goodfellow and Normie Smith also first team all-stars that year.

HELPS CRIPPLED

Proceeds of the dinner, seventh of its kind, go to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. Sponsored by the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association, they have raised $126,581 for crippled children's work.

The dinner also serves to open the nation - wide Easter Seals campaign March 6.

Other hockey figures are Maurice (Rocket) Richard of the Montreal Canadiens, hockey's leading goal scorer, and George Dudley of Midland, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, being honored for his contributions as an executive.

The celebrities include Bob Paul and Barbara Wagner, Canadian pairs figure-skating champions for the third straight year; pitcher Lew Burdette, whose three victories led Milwaukee Braves to the World Series championship; Willie Mays, outfielder with Los Angeles Giants; former heavyweight boxing champions Gene Tunney and Jim Braddock; jockey Johnny Longden; and former British Davis Cupper Fred Perry.

Junior Grid Body Rejects Age Limit Hike

TORONTO (CP) — The junior committee of the Canadian Rugby Union Saturday rejected a proposal from western delegates to raise the age limit for junior football players.

Players must still be under 21 on Sept. 1 to play in the junior leagues. Western delegates wanted the limit extended to include players who are 21 before Dec. 31.

Jess Fitton of Toronto, re-elected secretary - registrar for the 11th consecutive year, reported that some 1,500 youths played junior football with 39 teams last year, compared with 32 teams in 1956. There had been a tremendous increase in interest in the Maritimes.

Mr. Fitton said the junior committee has picked Nov. 22 for the junior final—to be held in the East—next year. A committee was formed to pick the location, which will not necessarily be the hometown of the eastern champion.

Another committee was formed to co-ordinate the business of the four eastern junior leagues—the Junior Interprovincial Rugby Football Union, Ontario Rugby Football Union, Quebec Rugby Football Union and Maritime Football Union. The western teams all come under the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The two-day session elected Jack Bannerman of Calgary chairman. He succeeds Bill Leveridge of Toronto, now vice-chairman.

McFarlands Divide Weekend Decisions; Retain Top-Spot Position

Drop 8-5 Tilt to Pembroke, Take Chevies By 4-2 Score; Ottawa Shades Kingston 5-4

The Belleville McFarlands emerged from their down-east round-the-horn junket over the weekend with split decisions but still a point in front of the pack in the Eastern Senior "A" playoffs standing.

On Saturday night they bowed to the second-place Pembroke Lumber Kings 8-5, but roared back on Sunday afternoon to take a 4-2 decision from the Cornwall Chevies. In another weekend game Ottawa Canadiens shaded Kingston 5-4.

A record crowd of 2,305 Pembroke fans saw the Lumber Kings race to a 7-1 lead before the Macs found their hockey feet Saturday night. The Hildebranders struck back hard, scoring four times to make the count 7-5 before the Kings added another insurance marker late in the game.

It was different in Cornwall Sunday. The Macs swept into a fast first-period offensive with the frame ending 3-1. Both teams scored before the game ended with the Macs holding a balance of play.

The McFarlands, who are in front, one point ahead of the Lumber Kings and Canadiens, meet the latter here tomorrow night and on Wednesday trek to Pembroke again. Friday they tangle again with the Lumber Kings here and on Saturday go to Kingston to meet the CKLC's.

PEMBROKE 8 BELLEVILLE 5

PEMBROKE (Special) — Taking a leaf from the Belleville McFarlands book and scoring three goals in the first nine minutes of play, Pembroke Lumber Kings built up a 7-2 lead in the first half of the game here Saturday night and went on to defeat the men of Hildebrand 8-5.

The win gave the Kings a one point edge over the visiting crew and top spot in the O.H.A. Eastern group, pending the result of the Cornwall - Belleville tilt Sunday afternoon. The Kings were hard pressed for a time in the second and third period as the Macs staged a rally that netted them four goals to draw within a pair of the tie but Lionel Barber's marker late in the third period put the game out of reach.

Jim Maxwell, Barber and Jack Giesebrecht all scored in the first half of the opener to open up a three goal margin before Minnie Menard broke the ice for the Macs. Late in the same period, Bernie Limoges forced the fourth Pembroke marker, a blooper that bounced over a stick and into the net.

Bert Giesebrecht scored a pair of goals nine seconds apart in the second frame to give Pembroke a 6-1 lead. His second goal being the finest of the night as he poked the puck through the defence, picked it up and after faking a shot, had the whole net to shoot at.

Bruce Giesebrecht scored for the Kings at 4.09 of the frame. A minute later the Macs replied with Ike Hildebrand deflecting Moe Benoit's shot from the point and they made it 7-3 late in the period with Johnny Muretich connecting for the first of his two goals.

The Macs opened fast in the third with Barton Bradley and Muretich scoring in the first four minutes, but there the rally ended as the Kings getting staunch work from John Craig between the pipes closed the door. Lumber Kings missed a lot of scoring opportunities in the period and failed to click until 18-32 when Barber duplicated Bert Giesebrecht's feat of eluding the defence and deking Bell out of position.

Pembroke — goal, Craig; defence, Douglas, O'Connor, Fildes, Limoges; forwards, Bert Giesebrecht, Jack Giesebrecht, Menard, Chiarelli, Clarke, Barber, Bruce Giesebrecht, Maxwell, Plamandon.

Belleville — Goal Bell; defence, Crawford, Lepine, Benoit, Botley; forwards, Payette, Hilbebrand, Menard, Bradley, Brown, Marineau, Goyer, Muretich, McDonald, Kowalchuk.

Referee Lou Lecompte, Ottawa; Linesmen — Joe Fitzpatrick, Hub Anslow, Pembroke.

Penalties — None.

BELLEVILLE 4 CORNWALL 2

CORWALL Staff — The McFarlands broke the "away" jinx here Sunday afternoon, defeating the Chevies 4-2 for their first victory on Cornwall ice in five starts. The win put the Macs back on top of the heap, a point in front of Pembroke and Ottawa-Hull.

Stung by their 8-5 set-back in Pembroke Saturday night, the McFarlands took the play to the Chevies from the opening whistle scoring three goals in the first period against a single return by the homsters. The Macs added another in the second period with the Chevies scoring the only goal in the third chapter.

The game was another rugged Belleville-Cornwall battle with Referee McEvoy of Ottawa handing out 12 penalties all minors, eight going to the Hildebranders. Three flare-ups featured the game with Bradley and LaPlante tangling in the second period, Don LaBelle and Kowalchuk mixing it up later in the frame and Crawford and Laplante staging a tussle. All, six were assessed minor sentences.

Paul Payette stood out for the McFarlands against his former home-town team scoring two goals, with Gerry Goyer and Bart Bradley getting the others. Bradley also drew an assist as did Brown, Marineau, Menard, Hilbebrand and Kowalchuk. Moe Savard and La Plante were the Cornwall triggermen.

Bradley started the Macs off in the right foot after three minutes of the first period scoring on a three-man-offensive with Brown and Marineau. Gerry Goyer took Kowalchuk's pass eight minutes later to put the Macs two up. Moe Savard got that one back at 12.58 beating Bell on a play with Pete Payette and Bingley, who played forward for this game, while Joe Lepine was sitting one out.

Paul Payette racked up his first marker of the game near period and taking Hilbebrand's pass to score. He scored his second goal of the game at 12.47 of the second period after LaBelle and Brawford had retired following a roughing scramble. Bradley and Menard were given assists.

LaBelle and Kowalchuk went off early in the third period but no damage was done until Lionel Botley got the gate at 13.26. The Chevies put on the pressure and LaPlante cut the margin to 4-3 while they had the man advantage.

THE TEAMS—

Belleville: Goal, Bell; defence, Crawford, Lepine, Benoit, Botley; forwards, Payette, Hildebrand, Menard, Bradley, Brown, Marineau, Goyer, Muretich, MacDonald, Kowalchuk.

Cornwall: Goal, Fredericks; defence, D. LaBelle, Bingley, Marshall, Sydlowski; forwards, Savard, Payette, Grigg, Henri, Muir, Burke, LaPlante, Aitken, St. Hilaire, R. LaBelle.

Barons Nudge Hershey Bears; Bisons Beaten

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hershey's seemingly insurmountable American Hockey League lead was in jeopardy today after the Cleveland Barons had closed to within three points of the Bears.

The Bears, who had threatened to spread-eagle the field, lost to Springfield Indians 5-4 in overtime Sunday night, meanwhile the resurgent Barons edged Providence Reds 2-1. Rochester Americans and Buffalo Bisons tied 2-2 in the other game.

Saturday Hershey nipped Rochester 3-2, Cleveland edged Springfield 3-2 and Providence defeated Buffalo 5-1.

Floyd Smith's overtime goal, his third of the game, gave Springfield their victory over Hershey. Gerry Ehman and coach Cal Gardner supplied the other goals for the Indians while Hec Lalonde, Obie O'Brien, Dunc Fisher and Willie Marshall scored for the Bears.

Cleveland got early goals from Pete Goegan and Don Hogan and then stood off a strong late drive by Providence, allowing only Zellio Toppazzini's tally at 8:40 of the final period.

In the stalemate at Buffalo, Kenny Wharram got both goals for the Bisons with Cec Hoekstra and Eddie Mazur counting for Rochester.

Fisher's 50-foot shot in the final period gave Hershey their win over Rochester Saturday night. Les Duff and Marshall scored earlier for the Bears and Ray Cyr and Earl Balfour for the Americans.

Cleveland started off their four-point weekend with Steve Kraftcheck, Bo Elik and Bill Watson counting against Springfield. Ehman and Al Nicholson were the Indians' marksmen.

At Providence, second-period tallies by Bruce Cline and Toppazzini in less than three minutes over Buffalo. Gary Collins and Jimmy Barlett supplied the others and Dick Gamble scored the lone Bison tally.

Adams Says Boston Players Used 'Deliberate Dirty Play'

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—Jack Adams, fiery general manager of the Detroit Red Wings, today accused two Boston Bruin hockey players of deliberate "dirty play" in putting all-star Gordie Howe out of action for a month.

"It was lousy, dirty, uncalled for—anything you want to call it," said the grizzled manager. "It's one H—l of a way to play hockey."

Howe was hurt Saturday in the first period of the Wings' nationally televised National Hockey League game in Boston. He collided with Leo Boivin, Bruin defenceman, and suffered two broken ribs. Boston won the game 5-3.

"It was a frame-up job all the way," Adams yelled, "and they didn't even call a penalty."

TOUGH LOSS

Howe's loss could be disastrous for Detroit. Although the Wings defeated the league-leading Montreal Canadiens 4-2 Sunday night, they have lost the player Adams calls "the greatest man ever to pull on a pair of skates."

Howe recently led the mid-season balloting for the NHL's most valuable player award, which he has already received three times. He is the team's leading scorer.

The Red Wings currently are in third place, one point ahead of Boston and one behind second-place New York.

Adams said Real Chevrefils, Boston forward, "steered Howe right into Boivin—and then Boivin gave Howe the butt end of the stick right up under his hip pads."

Since his injury Howe has been in Carney Hospital in Boston.

Teeps, Marlies Battle to Tie; Irish Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Left winger Doug Riseley of Toronto Marlboros is unlikely to forget the second goal he scored against league-leading St. Catharines Teepees in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series game during the weekend. Nor is Teepees goaltender Dennis Dejordy.

After Riseley banged the puck goalwards, it hopped 10 feet in front of the net and then bounced over Dejordy's shoulder. It also earned Morlboros a 4-4 tie.

The Marlboros, who now have tied nine games this season were in another 4-4 duel Sunday. They split eight goals with Hamilton Cubs. In the loop's only other weekend game Toronto St. Michael's scored four third-period goals to defeat Peterborough Petes 5-3.

TIES WITH MARLIES

Teepees tie with Marlboros gives them a 13-point lead over Hamilton in the standings. Marlboros remain in third place a point behind the Cubs.

Jim Murche and Ross Morrison scored the other Marlboro goals against St. Catharines. Matt Ravlich and John McKenzie scored two each for Teepees.

A gamble by the Cubs, benching their goaltender in favor of a sixth attacker, paid off against the Marlboros. Gerry Sullivan scored with less than a minute remaining to earn them a tie.

Murray Oliver scored two for the Cubs, Brian Smith adding the other. Marlboros marksmen were Barry Johnson, Sonny Osborne, Bill Kennedy and Bill White.

Guy Black scored all Peterborough's goals against St. Michael's. The Collegians' marksmen were Jack Martin, Bob Pallanta, Jack Costello, Bob McKnight and Dick Mattiussi.

On the Tracks

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Round Table led all the way to win the 11th running of the $156,990 Santa Anita Maturity for four-year-olds by 4½ lengths Saturday. The $80,630 first money moved Round Table into seventh place among the all - time money winning thoroughbreds.

The Irish-bred Seaneen was second and Promised Land was third. The Searcher took fourth money. Round Table's time for the 1¼ miles was 2:01 4-5. Special Look was fifth and Roscoe Maney last.

In other stake races, Happy Hill Farm's King Maker won the $30,000 Royal Palm Handicap at Hialeah Park in Miami, Fla., by almost three lengths over Calumet Farm's Iron Liege, the Kentucky Derby winner, and Tenacious captured the $13,525 Pelleteri handicap at New Orleans Fair Grounds by a neck.

Bill Harmatz shot Round Table into an early lead. It was a ridiculously easy victory for Travis M. Kerr's bay colt and, never seriously challenged.

Round Table paid $2.40, $2.40 and $2.10; Seaneen $4.80 and $2.20, and Promised Land $2.10.

Seaneen got $30,000 for second money; Promised Land returned $20,000 to Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs and The Seafcher earned $10,000 for Bert Martin.

Whitby Whips Bulldogs 7-4; Dutchies Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach John (Peanuts) O'Flaherty of Sudbury Wolves, 4-3 victors over tearaway Whitby Dunlops last week, saw his team's chances of making a playoff spot in the OHA-NOHA Senior A series slip further away during the weekend.

The fifth-place Wolves dropped both weekend games — 3-1 to league - leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and 4-1 to third-place Windsor Bulldogs.

The defeats still leave the Wolves in fifth place, but they have now played two games more than Chatham Maroons in fourth position—last playoff spot.

The Bulldogs also tackled the Dunlops during the weekend and for a spell held the upper hand. Then Whitby's high - powered scoring machine got to work, slammed in five third - period goals and won the game 7-4.

In the loop's only other weekend game, second-place Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds defeated cellar-dwelling North Bay Trappers 5-1.

Windsor held a 3-2 second-period lead against Whitby, then the Dunlops burst into life. Doug Williams, with two, Alf Treen, Bobby Attersley and George Samolenko scored in a devastating final period in which the Bulldogs managed only one goal, scored by Frank Bathgate.

Other Whitby goals were scored by Jack McKenzie and Gordie Myles. Bathgate, Irwin Grosse and Mickey Roth built up Windsor's early lead.

Wally Pawlyshyn paced the Buildogs to victory over Sudbury, scoring three times, twice in the first period. Lou Bendo scored the other, Joe Zorica scoring for Sudbury.

All the goals in the Sudbury-Kitchener duel came in the first two periods. Wolves took an early lead through Gord Heale, but Bill (Wiggle) Wylie tied the score. Don Rope and Ron Howell scored the Dutchmen's second - period goals.

Greyhounds Rubic - Bailey-Lumley line clicked into gear against North Bay, splitting their squad's first three goals. Jim McBurney scored Soo's other goals. Stan Maxwell scored the lone Trappers' marker.

Minor Hockey

Four games were played Saturday morning in the bantam section of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association.

The Maple Leafs blanked the Black Hawks 1-0 with Barry Overend playing a fine game in Leaf nets for his second consecutive shutout. Stu Malloy scored the game's lone goal, unassisted.

Peter McNevin also recorded a shutout while tending goal for the Barons, blanking the Rangers 7-0. Rod Follwell had two goals with one each for James Rushlow, Rob Blaker, Bob Jeffery, Ted Rowland and Ron Morgan. Bill Rushlow picked up three assists with one each for Wood, Rowland and Blaker.

The Browns whipped the Red Wings 6-1. Dennis Ray and Dennis Hull each scored a goal and added an assist for the Browns while the other goals were scored by Ron Stratton, Nelson Kinkaid, David Reid and Ray Gaffney. Turner earned two helpers with one each for Ted Butcher and Fisher.

Canadiens defeated the Bruins 4-2 with Gary Reid's goal and assist leading the way. Gary Duvall, Jerry Jones and Jim Rutherford also scored with Skinner claiming one assist. Ken Nolan and Gary Thompson were the Bruin marksmen with Gilroy and Burr assisting.

Marlene Misses 18-Inch Putt Loses Florida Golf Tourney

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Mary Ann Downey weathered a squally wind and a wobbly start Sunday to win the Helen Lee Doherty golf championship in her eighth year of trying.

The Baltimore girl spent most of the second 18-hole round catching up with 1-up leads scored by Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto and Fonthill, Ont.

Came the 36th and last scheduled hole and Mrs. Streit, who needed only to halve it for her own first Doherty victory, missed an 18-inch putt. On the 37th, Mrs. Streit almost canned a 12-foot putt but Miss Downey ended the match with an eight-footer.

Rain-laden winds of more than 35-mile velocity interrupted the match for half an hour on the 29th hole.

Mary Ann lost three of the first four holes in the afternoon round and Mrs. Streit went 1 up. The match was all even on the 23rd as Miss Downey took a par 3. Marlene regained the lead on the next hole with a par 4, but Miss Downey closed the gap again by matching par on No. 25.

TAKES THE LEAD

A birdie 4 gave Mrs. Streit the lead again on the 27th hole. They halved the 28th. On the 29th, after the squall drove the players and most of the gallery of 2,000 off the course, Miss Downey canned a 12-foot putt for a birdie 4 to even the match as Mrs. Streit took a 5.

Mrs. Streit went 1 up on the 31st hole. They halved the next four, then Miss Downey got on the 36th green, 60 feet from the cup, in two strokes and Mrs. Streit was short. The Canadian chipped to 12 feet from the pin. Miss Downey rolled a putt to within eight feet of the cup. Mrs. Streit putted to 18-inch range and Miss Downey putted to less than six inches. Mrs. Streit conceded her opponent's putt but missed her own.

Mrs. Streit has been U.S. and British amateur champion. She has played in the Doherty four years and Miss Downey, eight. Marlene was a finalist in 1954, losing to Grace Demoss of St. Augustine, Fla., and Miss Downey made the finals in 1952 when the title was won by Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga.

Frenchmen Win Monte Carlo Motor Rally

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (Reuters)—Two Frenchmen driving a baby Renault Dauphine Sunday won the 1958 Monte Carlo motor rally.

Diminutive Guy Monraisse, 25, and his co-driver, Jacques Feret, copped top prize in their 845 CC rear engine Renault—the Prince Rainier Trophy, awarded for the fewest penalty points.

France also swept second place with Alec Gacon and his co-driver, Leo Borsa, in an Italian Alfa Romeo Giulietta. Both teams started the rally from Lisbon, one of eight European starting points on the 2,000-mile driving test.

Minor Hockey Stars Later Whitby Dunlops

The second phase of Minor Hockey Week in Canada commenced today when Jack Roxburgh, chairman of the C.A.H.A. Minor Committee released a second slogan: "Keep Canada First — Support Minor Hockey" in connection with the countrywide observance being sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association this week.

Roxburgh stated that it seemed more than appropriate that Whitby Dunlops start on the first leg of their trip to the World Championships in Oslo during Minor Hockey Hockey Week in Canada. He observed that if the people of Canada genuinely wish Canada to regain — and retain — world hockey supremacy "And I feel sure they do", they must start right at the bottom by supporting minor hockey.

"Minor Hockey Week in Canada is as good a time as any to start, and we hope that once started, the parents of our 85,000 minor players will not stop supporting their lads and the men who help them to play hockey" he said.

Mr. Roxburgh pointed out that Bob Attersley, Tom and Ted O'Connor had all risen from the Oshawa Minor Hockey Association, and that the first two had, during their Bantam or Midget playing days, won "most valuable player" awards in that league. The rest of the Dunlops had all started off in the minor association in their respective home towns.

"This should be enough to illustrate that if we are to have good senior hockey — world championship hockey — we must start right with the foundation. There is only one way to Keep Canada First — Support Minor Hockey" he said.

Baltimore Wins Battle of Bucks With $110,000

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Baltimore Orioles got young Dave Nicholson in the latest battle of big league baseball's billfolds.

For a week the lineup at the door of the 18-year-old outfield prospect looked like a roster of the majors' representatives.

Dave signed a Baltimore contract Sunday and tucked away a bonus cheque estimated at $110,000 or more.

During the week 15 teams went to the bidding block for the husky right-hand hitter. Only Detroit Tigers passed.

The Nicholson family called in a tax consultant to give an opinion on the offer with the most eventual value.

Mrs. Lucille Nicholson, the boy's mother, said the Oriole offer was not the biggest cash bid but it offered a great opportunity.

BEST FUTURE

Dave said: "The Orioles offered the best future. I think I'll have a chance to reach the majors faster."

He will join the Oriole spring training camp at Scottsdale, Ariz. and Oriole observers will be watching to see if his 217 pounds fit into what has been regarded as a weak outfield.

Nicholson's playing experience is limited to high school ball and the Ban Johnson League, where 18- to 21-year-olds try to impress the big league scouts.

Nicholson's estimated $110,000 puts him up with another St. Louis boy for the tops in baseball bonus payments. Frank Baumann got about $125,000 from the Boston Red Sox in 1952.

Venturi Takes Tourney Win; Leonard Third

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The traveling golfers have closed out the major tournament campaign of the winter season in California with Ken Venturi of San Francisco, the latest winner.

The 26-year-old professional from San Francisco stood off an array of seasoned performers to win the $15,000 Thunderbird invitational Sunday.

Venturi, a pro for only 13 months, put together rounds of 70-63-66-70 for a 72-hole score of 269, 15 under par for the route, to win the event, worth $1,500 in cash and a $4,500 sports car.

En route to the payoff Venturi disposed of three-time winner Jimmy Demaret, Gene Littler and, to a lesser extent, Canada's Stan Leonard, Jackie Burke and Don Fairfield.

DEMARET BIG THREAT

Venturi's main threat in the final phases was Demaret, who a year ago killed off Ken and Mike Souchak in an 18-hole playoff here.

Demaret, with a 69, and Littler, with 70, tied for second with 273 totals. Leonard, from Vancouver and Lachute, Que., Burke and Fairfield were next with 274.

Leonard's two final rounds were sizzling 66s—five strokes under par—to lift him up among the leaders. His payoff was $566.

Toronto's Al Balding, who finished with 277 and a tie with three others, won $275. Tom Nieporte, Souchak and Paul Harney duplicated his total.

Tommy Bolt came in at 275. At 276 were U.S. Open champion Dick Mayer, Dave Marr, Frank Stranahan and Billy Maxwell.

BOLD RULER AILING

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Trainer Jim Fitzsimmons reported Saturday the Wheatley Stable's 1957 horse of the year, Bold Ruler, has a minor leg ailment which will delay his 1958 debut but is not expected to keep him out of the $100,000 added Widener Feb. 22. The soreness in the horse's left hind leg developed overnight following a workout.

March 4: Czechoslovakia vs Russia, Sweden vs United States.

March 5: Finland vs Poland, East Germany vs Norway.

March 6: Czechoslovakia vs United States, Sweden vs Canada, Russia vs East Germany, Finland vs Norway.

March 7: Czechoslovakia vs Canada, Sweden vs Poland, Russia vs United States, East Germany vs Finland.

March 8: Czechoslovakia vs Norway, Sweden vs Russia, Canada vs United States, East Germany vs Poland.

March 9: Czechoslovakia vs Sweden, Canada vs Russia, United States vs Finland, Poland vs Norway.

Harness Racing

MONTREAL (CP)—Plans for the richest event in Canadian harness racing history were completed Saturday by officials of Quebec Raceways.

Representatives from Blue Bonnets and Richelieu tracks in Montreal and the Quebec City Raceway agreed on details to stage an eight-leg event carrying an $88,500 purse this year.

Limited to Canadian-owned two-year-olds, the event was inaugurated last year to standardbreds, ensuring a steady flow of good racing horses in Canada.

The initial venture proved so successful that officials decided to raise the value of the event to $88,500 from last year's $58,000.

Officials also decided to extend the event outside Quebec province this year. One leg would be raced at Toronto's Old Woodbine Raceway.

Other races are scheduled for Blue Bonnets, Richelieu, Quebec City, Trois-Rivieres, Jonquiere, Sherbrooke and Connaught Park, near Ottawa.

The name of the event has been changed from the Quebec juvenile circuit to the Canadian juvenile circuit with the addition of the Toronto leg.

Giants, Tigers Mark Time On Player Deal

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The San Francisco Giants and Detroit Tigers marked time for waiver clearance today on the deal that would send first baseman Gail Harris and infielder Ossie Virgil to the Tigers for infielder Jim Finigan.

It was the only definite deal acknowledged in the weekend winter meetings of the major league.

Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants said Finigan "definitely will stay with us." That removed Finigan, a third baseman-second baseman, from any part of any subsequent Giant deal for an outfielder.

While the deal did not include any big names, it did upset rumors that the Giants were dealing for an outfielder and nothing more.

The Tigers, in turn, apparently were unable to get together on a deal with the Washington Senators—a club faced with the problem of dealing off Roy Sievers, the American League home run leader, to get enough over-all strength to escape the cellar.

But the big surprise of the meeting was the National League's refusal to accept the proposed territorial rights plan.

The plan had provided that any city of 2,000,000 or more population was open to two teams.

The plan also met opposition in the American League, where Detroit took exception to the provision that a National League club could move into Tiger territory with no more authority than the approval of the national league.

In other action, the majors decided to make the rejection of the bonus rule retroactive to cover all bonus players now in the majors. This permits clubs to send such players to the minors before the completion of the two-year limit provided by the bonus rule.

The melodic songs and dazzling lyrics of Rodgers and Hart are heard in Columbia Pictures' Technicolor motion picture version of the smash Broadway stage hit, "Pal Joey," starring Rita Hayworth, Frank Sinatra and Kim Novak at the Park Theatre being held over for 3 more days.

The songs include "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered," "I Didn't Know What Time It Was", "There's a Small Hotel," "The Lady Is a Tramp" and "My Funny Valentine." Among other Rodgers and Hart hits sung by the stars are "Zip", "What Is a Man?" "Do It the Hard Way," "I Could Write a Book", "Happy Hunting Horn," and "That Terrific Rainbow."

Quebec Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two three-goal hat tricks featured Sunday's Quebec Hockey League action which saw Quebec Aces overpower the pace-setting Chicoutimi Sagueneens 7-1 and Shawinigan Falls Cataracts shade Montreal Royals 7-6.

Jean Marie Cossette scored the hat trick to lead the Aces at Quebec City.

The Aces now are in third place with 42 points, 12 points behind the first-place Sagueneens.

At Montreal, meanwhile, Claude Laforge counted three goals, including the winning marker for the second-place Cataracts.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Monday, January 27, 1958.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Any unwse expenditures of money for either repairing property or buying extravagantly will result in upsetting whole budget, limiting you for a long time to come. Zip your purse, be economical instead.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Here is a day when in attempting to be at your very best you achieve instead such a strange and unsuitable effect that you hardiy recognize yourself. Stick to natural good taste and look to your health.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) A good comrade has his or her nerves on edge now and could demonstrate certain unpleasant characteristics that you were unaware of. Forgive easily for it was unintentional, and wait until another day to gain your point.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) Be very careful while driving today or you may ruin your automobile, injure yourself quite badly. Also use caution with your antagonist, or the slightest unguarded remark could result in a fight.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you go against established laws in any way at all today, you can take much away from your prestige or abundance so carefully built up. Care results in gaining a friend, who will make the future much better for you.

[illegible] (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Here is a day when you must utilize every ounce of patience and character you possess for you are sorely tempted to dash of elsewhere and leave others to suffer because you are bored, tired and annoyed. Stick.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You received some advice in the past, or very recently that you now feel was not good, and want to upbraid the giver. You requested it, so be a good sport, Besides, it may turn out better than you think.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A determined person cannot and will not see eye to eye with you on a vital matter. Don't attempt to force your will on his or hers. State rather that you respect another opinion, and you are the winner.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Here is a day when you must exercise the greatest care in doing even the smallest things, for there could be spilling, breaking, cutting, etc. Get health in the pink of condition, Relax and all is well.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) How you would love to enjoy yourself to the hilt today and get others to spend lavishly, too, but Oh at what price! Change your thoughts and find simple pleasures with good friends, save your money for a rainy day.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Someone at your home is in a dreadful temper and would take it out on you at the least provocation. Remember that by keeping silent ,the storm blows over. You can then straighten him or her out at a later date.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) This is one of those days when you want to show your superiority in everything to the other fellow. Don't take any chances or you may wind up having an accident. Be wise and do only what you excel in.

If your child is born today .. The child born today is the delightful kind who believes that the road to success is by bumping against every boulder on the road. Make it clear early that by going around an obstacle, using kindest and most courteous methodr much more progress is made and infinitely easier. This youngster will do well in sports, any career where dealing with the public is concerned, especially.

OK LOANS $50 to $2500 A COMPLETE LOAN SERVICE

BILLS PILING UP?

pay them off with a cash loan from

CITIZENS FINANCE

We like to say "Your loan is OK"

When bills pile up—and they always do around this time of year—the easiest way to take care of them may be to total them up, and pay them all off with a cash loan from Citizens. This way, you'll have just one easy monthly payment. Your friendly Citizens Finance Loan Manager can advise you on this and other money problems. Let him arrange a loan for you with a repayment plan that fits your budget. Citizens Finance has a reputation for fast, courteous, confidential service. If you like, all arrangements can be made by phone—then just come in to sign and pick up the cash. Give us a call or drop in to see us soon.

6th Sidney

6th SIDNEY — Master Ricky Wright and sister, Susan, of Stirling, spent Tuesday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Sine.

Mr. Gordon Carr and Miss Isabelle Galbraith, Trenton, called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carr, on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sine; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dafoe; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dafoe; Mr. and Mrs. Edison Sine, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Consaul, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phillips, Friday evening.

Mrs. Ron Moorman and Paul, Belleville, accompanied by Mrs. Orloff Pearson, 2nd of Sidney, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Martyn on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clare and boys, Thurlow, and Mrs. Robert Read, Frankford, were Tuesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Sine.

FARM FORUM

Brookdale Farm Forum met at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. R. McMullin on Monday evening. The topic for discussion was, "Consumer Marketing."

Those present believed that marketing boards stabilized the sole of produce, and in some cases, were able to raise the price of commodities. This latter is true of the cheese board and the milk control board. Besides stabilizing price and sale, they also insure a product of good quality. If it were not for these marketing boards pooling and storing many products, much would be dumped on the market in large quantities thus creating a surplus and lowering the prices.

When goods are channelled through either a buying or selling co-operative the producer is again protected by the stabilizing of sales and prices.

A monopolistic system of buying and selling is not good for the prime producer because the profit goes to a company entirely divorced from the producer and the producer receives only a fraction of what he should receive for his produce.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wright and children, Stirling, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Carr and granddaughter, Margaret, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Audy Carr, Glen Miller.

KILLS WIFE OF 51 YEARS

CHELSEA, Mass. (AP)—Nicholas Perrotta, 76, was held on a murder charge today after police quoted him as saying he strangled his wife, Maria, 75, with a window cord in her bedroom because she wouldn't talk to him. The couple was married in 1906.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"NOW let's see it stick!"

Slash Production By One-Third

WINDSOR (CP) — With a week to go until month end, it appears that 30,000 motor vehicles will be produced in Canada in January, Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday.

The total represents a slash of one-third from output in January, 1957 (44,980 units).

This week's industry program calls for 5,930 vehicles, a decline of 27 per cent from last week (8,117).

5th Sidney

5th SIDNEY — The January meeting of Uniondale Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Phillips, 5th concession of Sidney, with 22 members and two visitors present.

"Thank you" cards from Donnie Phillips and Mrs. Ross Dafoe were read by the secretary, Mr. George Striker, also a letter from Mrs. Haggarty, provincial president, thanking members for their co-operation during her first year as provincial president.

Conveners' reports were distributed among the Uniondale conveners for reference and the C.A.C. bulletins were given by Mrs. Margaret Anderson; a Christmas letter was read by Mrs. George Burkitt from Mrs. W. Ewen, of Guelph, Ontario.

The project of "Layettes for Korea," was discussed and March 1st is the "Achievement Day" for the cereal shelf workers.

The "Garden Club" is again on the list for 1958 and will be carried on by Mrs. Milton Grills if enough girls are available for a club.

The program for the meeting was started by joining of hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne," as a friendly chain for 1958; a piano twosome was played by Joyce Anderson, "Gertrude Stream Waltz" and "Dull Stream."

A demonstration on the making of wax candles was given by Mrs. M. Sine; this idea will save many pennies for the 1958 Christmas table decoration.

Marilyn Phillips also favored with two piano solos, "Winter Wonderland" and "Farewell Waltz."

A contest on different parts of the body was won by Mrs. M. Sine and second prize was a tie between Mrs. M. Grills and Mrs. M. Mallory.

The main topic for the January meeting was a visit from Miss Williams of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society of the Quinte branch. She ran a film on "Arthritics," and the great work that can be done to help these sufferers, through exercise and visits of the physiotherapist. One cannot express the great need of this work too highly to all organizations of the surrounding branches of W. I. work, or anyone, who can become interested financially or that is interested to study this work. They need help to keep up their good work in the Quinte branch. Uniondale signed a generous cheque to be added to their funds and Miss Williams thanked them.

For her work a gift was given to her by Mrs. M. Grills, a member of Uniondale.

The February meeting of Uniondale Women's Institute will be held at home of Mrs. Keith Bush in the afternoon of February 6th at 1.30, the topic will be "Mental Health," and a speaker has been engaged for this meeting. Lunch conveners will be: H. Frost, B. Bush, M. Dodds, F. Phillips, F. Loney and C. Frost.

Refreshments were served by the January hostesses and a social time was enjoyed by all.

WAS ONTARIO BORN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank L. Shaw, 80, who was mayor of Los Angeles during one of its stormiest political eras, died in hospital Friday of cancer. He was born near Warwick, Ont. Shaw became mayor in 1933. A reformist movement swept him out of office in a recall election in 1938.

GOVT. PLANS

Federal - provincial tax-sharing was one of the big issues in the last general election and likely will figure again in the next one. Mr. Diefenbaker emphasized he wanted to get the increase to the provinces quickly to help them prepare their budgets and fight unemployment.

The $87,206,000 outlay will be made up of $44,932,000 in higher tax concessions to the provinces, $17,224,000 in increased share-the-wealth equalization payments and $25,000,000-a-year grants to the Atlantic provinces, the latter for the next four years. All this is to take effect in the next fiscal year, which starts April 1.

Of the $25,000,000, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will each get $7,500,000, while tiny Prince Edward Island will receive $2,500,000.

The combined $62,206,000 federal payment in increased tax grants and equalization payments will boost Ottawa's cost of the tax-sharing arrangements with the provinces to some $690,000,000 a year. The cost represents lost potential revenue and increased expenditures.

Tax-sharing has been one of the most controversial of Canadian political issues. Under the constitution the provinces and the central administration have equal rights to the direct tax field—personal income tax, corporation income tax and succession duties.

SHIE FROM TAXING

Because of political risks, most provinces had tended to shy away from imposing taxes of their own atop the federal levies double taxation. Instead they have pressed for a bigger share of the federal tax pot.

A new five-year arrangement was worked out by the previous Liberal government, giving the provinces 10 per cent of the federal personal income tax, nine per cent of taxable corporation income and 50 per cent of federal succession duties. Along with this went equalization payments to bring the per capita direct tax yields of the less wealthy provinces to the average of the two highest—Ontario and British Columbia.

Mr. Frost said the take-it-or-leave-it formula was inadequate. He openly sided with Mr. Diefenbaker in the last federal election campaign, charging that the Liberals were trying to bleed Ontario of much-needed revenue. Former prime minister Louis St. Laurent said the Diefenbaker-Frost "partnership" would lead to higher taxes for the entire country or increased revenues for Ontario at the expense of other provinces.

At the November fiscal meeting, Mr. Frost suggested an increase in the concessions to 15 per cent of federal personal income tax and to 15 per cent of taxable corporation income. He received support from some other provinces.

PREMIER'S COMMENT

Mr. Frost said of the "interim" proposal:

"I am delighted with the decision . . . The federal government in recognizing the position of the provinces is also recognizing that they are the right arm of development and expansion."

The concession will give Ontario an extra $21,316,000 in 1958-59, boosting her direct tax yields almost to the $200,000,000 mark. Quebec's yield would climb by $17,780,000 to about $197,700,000.

Likely yields in other provinces with the 1958-59 increase in brackets: Newfoundland $18,100,000 ($1,595,000); Prince Edward Island $4,500,000 ($370,000); Nova Nova Scotia $29,500,000 ($2,627,000); New Brunswick $24,200,000 ($2,111,000); Manitoba $36,300,000 ($3,219,000); Saskatchewan $38,800,000 ($3,290,000); Alberta $49,000,000 ($4,335,000); British Columbia $58,100,000 ($5,563,000).

All provinces except Ontario and Quebec rent their tax fields to the central government in return for annual payments. Ontario rents her personal income tax field but collects her own corporation and succession duties. Quebec collects all her own taxes.

CANADIANS

While the country's two biggest political guns were out west, the capital buzzed with speculation as to the date of the next election.

A popular guess was Monday, April 14. Others: Monday, March 31, and Monday, June 9. However, there were some who felt a September date more likely.

A 60-day period is necessary btween the dissolution of Parliament and voting day.

It is understood there is a strong feeling among cabinet members favoring an early election.

For one thing, Canada's relations with other countries, especially in the fields of trade and investment, are adversely affected by a continuance of minority government. Foreign investors, faced with the possibility that a combined opposition in the Commons can defeat the minority Conservative government almost at any time, can't be sure where they stand here.

Another argument advanced by those speaking of an early election is that although it might land in a period of high unemployment the Conservative could still attempt to blame the former Liberal government for the situation.

LOSE INITIATIVE

The initiative rested with the Liberals a week ago, but they promptly lost it when they so phrased a motion of non-confidence in the government that it could not be accepted by the other opposition groups in the Commons.

That indicated clearly that the Liberals don't want an election right away, prefering to wait at least until June when they will have had time to organize behind their new leader.

With the opposition parties showing no immediate willingness to combine to defeat the Progressive Conservatives in Parliament, the initiative again rests squarely with Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

And, from the standpoint of going to the people again and saying he has acted on the most urgent of his promises to them in the campaign for the last general election in June, 1957, he can be considered about as ready as he ever will be to call an election.

LEGISLATION PUSHED

At the current Commons session that opened Oct. 14 his minority government has pushed through legislation to increase old age pensions, provide cash advances on farm-stored grain for Prairie farmers and assist the Maritime provinces in power development. It also effected some tax cuts.

During the last campaign, Mr. Diefenbaker also had promised a new system of farm price supports and a better tax deal for the provinces.

On Saturday, the farm legislation was passed by the Commons and the government announced greater financial assistance to the provinces.

Works Minister Howard Green, government House leader, has reiterated that the administration hopes the session will end by Friday, Jan. 31.

Once it ends, the decks will be cleared for an election, if the prime minister wants to call one and if the Commons opposition hasn't acted in the meantime to defeat his administration.

Standing in the 265-seat Commons: Progressive Conservatives 113; Liberals 106; CCF 25; Social Credit 19; Independents 2.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — The Johnstown C.G.I.T. held their meeting at the home of Evelyn Harry on Tuesday evening.

The service opened with the C.G.I.T. hymns and prayer. A quiz of popular songs was presented by Beverley Clapp. Call to worship was given by Rosemary Bush. The Scripture lesson was read in Unison. Mrs. Douglas Harry read about the industrial life of Japan. After the "Purpose". the girls made song book covers as a craft project. They are making a large scroll on which each week they will write some of the Ten Commandments.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Vera and Helen Kravacek on January 28.

Glad to report Bill Harry is improving. He will undergo a check-up at Kingston General Hospital on Sunday.

Bruce Hogle and daughter, Miss Ida Hogle, of Belleville were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frederick, of Fort Rowan, were Sunday night visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Maitland Harder.

The Johnstown Women's association held a quilting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, of Trenton, on Tuesday afternoon. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Karen St. Hilaire was a Sunday evening supper guest of her friend. Miss Carol Hart.

Twenty Glen Miller ladies attended a plaque demonstration put on by Vincent Mulvihill, of Belleville on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gare.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harry attended the Junior Farmer 4-H club Award Night held at Stirling, Monday. Mrs. Harry is president of the Club Leaders association.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dudgeon and family, of the 6th concession of Sidney, were supper guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Bonisteel, on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Brooks and family, were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Will Black, York Road Trenton, on Sunday evening.

Carmel

CARMEL — The W.I. meeting was held at Mrs. Reynold's on Thursday of last week. There were quite a number in attendance. A pot-luck supper and election of officers was held.

Mrs. S. Dafoe, who spent the weekend in Belleville with friends, returned on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hopkins and family spent Sunday in Picton.

A very enjoyable time was spent Saturday evening at the home of Percy Reynolds at a party for John Reynolds. A number of young people were there to enjoy the sports.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Guay and boys called on Mr. and Mrs. Carman Dafoe on Sunday afternoon.

Glad there is little sickness at Carmel at the present. The colds and 'flu seem to have disappeared, for which all are pleased.

Melrose

MELROSE — The executive for the Melrose Scouts and Cub pack met at the home of the secretary, Vincent Pascoe, on January 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Legate, of Foxboro; Jim Churchill, the Canadian Scout who attended the Scout Jamboree in England last summer and was presented to the Queen, were honored guests.

Mr. Legate, chief district Scouter, presided over the meeting and conducted the election of officers for 1958.

The following will assume office this year: chairman, Jack Diamond; vice-chairman, Frank Bush; treasurer, Clarence Hagerman; secretary, Vincent Pascoe; Scout leader, Thomas Howard; assistant, Carman Milligan; Cub leader, Mrs. Jack English; assistants, Mrs. V. Pascoe and Mrs. T. Howard.

Mrs. Jack English reported on the Cub activities for 1957, which included a banquet in the township hall in April, sports day Cubaree in Belleville, a family picnic in July and a Cub camp weekend in August which proved a successful first experience.

Special thanks were extended to Scouter Phil Stewart, Belleville, for giving leadership in rambles and recreation.

The Belleville Scout Association generously assisted in lending tents, cooking equipment, etc. The parents' co-operation also contributed much to the success of this undertaking. Also Ray Reid's generous reduction on the grocery bill was much appreciated.

The church service on Sunday morning at Melrose United, when the flags of the troops were dedicated, concluded what is hoped will be a forerunner of many future successful outings.

In September the Cubs made a conservation display for the Shannonville Fair and in November, they were guests of the RCAF at Trenton Air Station, when officers of the Communications and Air Rescue Unit took them on a guided tour of the buildings.

To conclude the year's activities the Cubs met at Melrose School and made four scrapbooks which were presented to the Children's Ward at Belleville hospital. The local teacher, Miss Scott, assisted the children and leaders with this project.

The Cub leader commended her assistants, Mrs. Vincent Pascoe (Baloo) and Mrs. Thomas Howard (Bagheera).

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lazier accompanied by the latter's sister, Mrs. Marjorie Sherman, Belleville, left early Sunday morning for the Southern States. Mrs. Gordon Snider, of Louisiana, who has been visiting here will join them in Toronto and continue with them to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Willett Casey and boys, lately recovered from measles, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Grant McLaren.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Callahan and children spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jack McLaren.

Some members of the Masonic order attended the service for a late member, Mr. Kennedy of Picton, on Sunday afternoon. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved sisters, Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Thomas Leslie, a former resident of this community.

The congregational meeting, preceded by a potluck supper, was held in the township hall on Monday evening.

Melrose Modern Mixers held their cooking class at the home of Mrs. Jack Macfarlane Friday evening. As their course is nearing completion the girls are looking forward to a social gathering which usually completes the project.

Scoharie

SCOHARIE — Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. William Whitehead and family, Mount Pleasant, in the sudden passing of her father, Mr. Albert Harrington, Picton, R. R. 6.

Mrs. Kaschl returned home Thursday after nine weeks in Prince Edward County Hospital following a car accident. It will be awhile before she is completely recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Baxter, Lindley and Jean; Miss Norma Foster and Ross Foster attended the pot-luck supper and congregational meeting at the Sunday School rooms of the Bloomfield United Church, on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moxam and son, Garry, Belleville; Miss Gwendolyn Noxon and Mrs. H. Calnan, Picton, were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Harry Foster and Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Baxter, Lindley and Jean, Roger Hobson are among those who have been enjoying the new arena at Picton.

Mr. Evan Sexsmith, Picton, was guest speaker at the Y.PU. on Tuesday evening and also puled taffy, enough for all. The Young People are grateful to Mr. Sexsmith for a most pleasant evening.

4th Sidney

4th SIDNEY — The January meeting of the Stone United Church Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. F. Tucker.

Mrs. R. McMullin, the president, opened the meeting and asked Mrs. E. B. Phillips to preside over a short worship service.

Mrs. W. J. Tufts read the Scripture from Philippians. In these verses Paul speaks of two of his friends, Timothy and Epaphroditus. Timothy was a son of a Greek father and a Jewish Christian mother. He was greatly influenced by his mother Lois, and grandmother, Eunice. Mothers have a great influence for good in their children. In the last words of the chapter a challenge for life is found.

One can serve in so many ways in the home and neighborhood and church work. Christian service means looking for jobs, offering to serve and cheerfully carrying on to the end. Christ died, and one must be prepared to answer God's call.

Mrs. McMullin gave a talk on the study book on "Japan" and having, at one time, been a missionary in Korea, could add much to make this study interesting. A map explaining the situation of the islands and articles was displayed showing things imported and exported.

Mrs. F. Tucker assisted with the question and answer section. The Japanese are artistic and every home has some sort of a flower arangement in it.

1958 OFFICERS

Mrs. S. W. Lloyd gave the secretaries report and the following is a list of the officers for 1958:

QUEEN MOTHER VISITS MONTREAL, B.C.

Expect Congress To Allow Sharing Nuclear Secrets

Atomic Committee Head Says Action Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate-House of Representatives atomic energy approve the sharing of United States nuclear secrets with the Allies "if we expect NATO to stay together."

The chairman, Representative Carl Durham (Dem. N.C.) today promised speedy handling for President Eisenhower's proposals for sharing atomic data with friendly powers. He predicted congressional passage of the plan—but not without a fight.

Always in the past, proposals to lower the bars around U.S. atomic data have been strenuously opposed in Congress.

"There is not much else we can do now," Durham said. "We have got to go along if we expect NATO to stay together and work with us."

The joint committee Monday received the Atomic Energy for amending the Atomic Energy Act in line with Eisenhower's plans for making available to the Allies nuclear information, raw materials and weapons components—but not complete weapons.

NO CHANGE

(In Ottawa, officials said any atomic-information legislation would not change the present flow of information between Canada and the U.S. Canada's interest in atomic research and development is exclusively for peacetime purposes.

(Canadian concern for up-to-date information on the effects of nuclear and thermonuclear explosions of all scales had been for purposes of civil defence and military planning. Officials said Canada's requirements in those fields already are being met.)

Durham said he was impressed during a trip to Europe last summer by the extent to which neutralist sentiment had spread in the NATO countries, and by the need for vigorous action to renew enthusiasm for the Atlantic alliance.

He so advised the president n White House meetings with Congress leaders last month at which revision of the Atomic Energy Act, among other things, was discussed.

"RISK" UP TO IKE

The amendmennts now proposed would give the president discretion to turn over weapons data to Allies whenever he determined "that the proposed co-operation and the communication of the proposed restricted data will promote, and will not constitute an unreasonable risk to, the common defence and security."

The amendments also would provide for transfer of atomic materials to Allies without the present restriction that such materials may not be used for weapons manufacture.

As for actual weapons, the amendments would allow the non-nuclear components to be turned over to Allies, but the US. would retain control over the atomic portions of its own weapons.

Turks Battle British Forces For Third Day

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — British troops and Turkish Cypriots battled again today on Cyprus for the third successive day. The British forces opened fire for the first time, and four persons were killed.

Security forces were braced for still more trouble with the island's Turkish minority, which planned a mass protest in connection with the funerals of two of their people killed in the batling Monday between demonstrators and British forces.

Earlier demonstrations had been sparked by Turkish fears that Britain might cede the island to Greece. But today the Turks were inflamed by the killing of an aged Turkish man and woman Monday. Both were hit by military vehicles trying to push through stone-throwing mobs.

The British troops previously had held their fire, but today opened up on a crowd of young Turks trying to enter the walled Turkish quarter of Nicosia to attend the funerals. Two Turkish boys were killed and others were reported wounded.

British military beadquarters said two men also were killed in disturbances in the port of Famagusta this morning.

British forces were reported battling angry crowds of Turks inside the walled sector.

Dept. Reopens Hearing on Two Plessners

HALIFAX (CP) — The immigration department enquiring into the case of two Toronto car dealers who mysteriously left Canada in June and returned again Dec. 28, has re-opened its hearing here to gather more details.

Joseph Plessner and his son David—known in Toronto as Arthur Morris and Len Jacobs, respectively—were ordered deported several weeks ago by the immigration department. They remained here awaiting an appeal decision from Ottawa.

The immigration department said Monday more information was requested in Ottawa and the original "admissibility hearing" reconvened its hearing.

The Plessners are British subjects, but not Canadians. They came to Canada from Britain in 1951 and built up a big used car dealership in Toronto.

Boom Boom Injured

MONTREAL (CP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion was believed seriously injured today in a practice session with Montreal Canadiens when he was heavily checked during a scrimmage. Geoffrion was rushed to hospital.

Today's Chuckle

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Eastern Canada continues under the influence of a persistent influx of mild moist air from the Atlantic with overcast skies, occasional light snow or drizzle and remarkably uniform temperatures ranging between 30 degrees at night and 35 in the afternoon. Accumulations of snow continue very light with a few exceptions. Little change is forecast for today and Wednesday.

Start With Small Issues, Work Up Khrushchev's Formula for Parley

MOSCOW (AP)—Still plugging for a summit conference, Nikita Khrushchev has proposed that government heads start with issues "we can agree on before tackling the tougher and more basic problems."

The Communist party chief was talking Monday night with Western ambassadors at an Indian national day reception. He spoke with the good humor he usually displays on the Soviet capital's cocktail circuit, in considerable contrast to his blasts at the United States and the West in a speech last week in White Russia.

Khrushchev did not say just how Russia and the Western Allies can agree on which smaller issues they are likely to agree on. The West has proposed that talks by ambassadors and foreign ministers work this out prior to any summit meeting.

Summit talks, Khrushchev said, "should be like a Russian meal—let's start with zakuksa (hors d'oeuvres), proceed with soup and fish and end up with the main course."

The Soviet Union will not return to the United Nations disarmament subcommittee talks, Khrushchev reiterated, adding that "deliberations of the subcommittee were hypocritical." The Russians announced during the last General Assembly that they were quitting the UN arms negotiations, contending that they were stacked against Communist and neutral countries.

The government newspaper Izvestia meanwhile has published the Western Big Three's replies to Premier Bulganin's earlier proposal for a summit meeting. The answers contained proposals which "can only lead any international problem into an impasse," Izvestia comments.

CBC PRODUCTION PERSONNEL GIVE ULTIMATUM

May Strike Tonight If Demands Not Met

MONTREAL (CP)—A union ultimatum that could bring some 1,200 CBC production personnel in Montreal and Toronto out on strike by midnight still stands, a union spokesman said today.

The ultimatum calls for settlement of a dispute between the CBC and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (CLC) by 6 p.m. today.

Midnight strike action of IATE's 600 members employed at the CBC's Montreal studios would be recommended if the dispute is not settled by the deadline, Yvon Dansereau, Montreal IATSE representative, said today.

A meeting of union members has been called for 6 p.m. EST.

In Toronto, 24 union shop stewards representing 600 employees pledged support of the Montreal union's actions. They said they will recommend to their members the staging of a sympathy strike.

FIRED STAGEHANDS

The dispute began during the weekend when the CBC fired 41 stagehands for refusing to perform "their assigned duties." The union said the duties were outside the limits of job specifications laid down by the CBC and claimed the CBC action constituted a lockout of all stagehands about 115 altogether.

The CBC said the 41 employees "had not been locked out but dismissed," and added that other stagehands "apart from those dismissed" would be assigned their regular duties if they returned to work.

The dismissed employees, the CBC said, "were attempting to enforce a claim which at the moment was the subject of a grievance being processed through the normal legal procedures provided for in the agreement with the union."

The CBC offered to meet with IATSE's international representatives if the union's ultimatum was withdrawn. The alliance's headquarters are in New York, but the international representative for Canada is Hugh Sedgewick of Hamilton.

Mr. Dansereau consulted Mr. Sedgewick and New York officials by telephone and said the union was willing to meet with CBC authorities if federal conciliator Raoul Trepanier attended the meeting.

Farmers Ask Auto Industry For Fewer Frills, Less Power

MONTREAL (CP) — Fewer frills and less horsepower, more economy — that's a request to the Canadian automotive industry from some Canadian farmers.

A resolution to that effect was laid before the Canadian Federation of Agriculture's general meeting Monday as one of 72 resolutions to be discussed in the next two days.

The auto industry resolution referred to cars and trucks "with unnecessary horsepower and frills, plus too frequent retooling, which costs the average-income consumer too much to purchase, finance, insure and operate compared with European cars . . ." It said a motor vehicle is a farming necessity and urged a more economical type which would produce more sales and thus more Canadian jobs.

Monday, the convention heard a poultry professor warn that any increase in the egg floor price established in 1950 would be a "disservice" to the industry. It would, said Prof. J. R. Cavers of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, encourage an intensification of the egg glut prevailing in some Canadian regions for seven months last year.

He said the floor price of 38 cents a dozen wholesale might or might not be an incentive to production but in 1957 it was "no longer a deterrent."

One of the resolutions before the federation coincides with the warning by saying a high floor price "may be a danger," it suggests that eggs be exempted as one of the nine specific farm commodities named in the farm stabilization bill passed by the Commons last Saturday. The legislation would provide a minimum floor price for the nine items, set at 80 per cent o. their average price over the 10 preceding years.

Another asks the egg floor price be maintained at its present level.

Russia and U.S. Sign Accord Regarding Tourist Exchange

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anywhere from 500 to 2,000 Soviet tourists, scientists, wrestlers and what-have-you will be visiting the United States during the next two years under a monumental Russian - American exchanges agreement.

The accord, signed Monday at the state department of Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin and negotiator William S. B. Lacy for the United States, was hailed on all sides as a possible thawing trend in the Cold War.

President Eisenhower welcomed it and, in a statement, expressed hope that its carrying out might "contribute substantially to the betterment of relations between the two countries, thereby also contributing to a lessening of international tensions."

Zarubin called it the most important achievement of his five years here as Soviet ambassador. He sails Wednesday for Russia, to become a deputy foreign minister.

Neither the U. S. nor the Russians got everything they wanted in the agreement. Washington had to settle for a half-measure on exchanging radio - television broadcasts, but officials said they were content with that because it showed the Russians willing to move, however cautiously, toward easing the Iron Curtain.

Dodgers' Star Catcher Suffers Fractured Neck in Accident

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Roy Campanella, a baseball stalwart for many a season, suffered a fractured neck early today when his car skidded, overturned and crashed into a pole. His condition was termed critical and an operation was begun in hospital here.

Campanella, conscious but apparently paralyzed from a pinched nerve in his spinal cord, discussed the situation calmly with doctors. Told an immediate operation was needed, he replied:

"Whatever you fellows think is necessary."

The operation was described as a laminectomy, a procedure to relieve pressure from the fracture on the spinal cord. A spokesman at the hospital said this was necessary before it could be determined whether any permanent injury had been suffered.

The operation was begun by a team of seven surgeons at 8:30 a.m., and was expected to last about two hours.

Campanella's automobile accident occurred at 3:30 a.m. on a Glen Cove street not far from his home. He was pinned in the wreckage for half an hour before emergency workers could free him.

GOVT. SHARPLY CRITICIZED FOR DELAYING PARLEY

Swift Passage for Tax Bill Expected

OTTAWA (CP) — The Progressive Conservative government has been sharply criticized by opposition groups in the Commons for not reconvening the federal-provincial fiscal conference this month.

Former Liberal health minister Paul Martin said Monday night no one in the House would seriously accept the government's "excuse" that the meeting of premiers could not be called because of Parliament's "protracted" session.

Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, added that the administration's reason would just make many Canadians laugh. Members would be glad to adjourn the House for a full week if necessary to allow the government to complete the federal - provincial tax-sharing job.

But while all opposition parties lined up in almost solid criticism of the government's handling of the touchy tax issue, they also stated clearly they would give the government's tax bill swift passage to help the provinces meet mounting cost burdens. Approval may be given tonight.

LEGISLATION TERMS

The legislation as proposed by Finance Minister Donald Fleming would:

1 Give the provinces 13 per cent of the federal personal income tax instead of 10 in the next fiscal year starting April 1.

2. Give the four Atlantic provinces an extra $25,000,000 a year over the next four years to help them overcome their special handicaps.

Mr. Fleming aroused opposition criticism soon after launching debate. Critics observed that he had issued a revised set of figures detailing how much each province would get by the increase.

For eight of the provinces the new figures showed an increase over those he had issued Saturday. For British Columbia and Prince Edward Island, they were revised downward.

For the tiny Maritime province it means only a drop of some $370,000. For B.C., it will mean a cut of some $2,700,000 from the previous $5,563,000 estimated increase.

"We all sympathize with Premier Bennett of British Columbia," said A. M. Nicholson (CCF Mackenzie). On Saturday Mr. Bennett had heard he would get an increase of $5,500,000. Now he would hear that "owing to a mistake of the minister of finance or the prime minister this percentage would be slashed to $2,800,-000."

STUTTGART, Germany (Reuters)—Tenor Mario Lanza broke off a West German tour for health reasons Monday night after receiving an enthusiastic reception during a concert here. His manager said Lanza has cancelled appearances at five other cities on doctor's orders and will go to Munich for medical treatment.

West Should 'Take Initiative' In Peace Talks Says Pearson

BRANDON, Man. (CP) — The West should "take the initiative" in negotiating with Russia for world peace, Lester B. Pearson, 1957 winner of the Nobel peace prize, said Monday night.

He spoke to the annual meeting of the Brandon Chamber of situation. The new Liberal leader said he was an "old boy in that field, even though I may be a new boy in others."

He told the meeting that although strength is a short-term deterrent to war, negotiation of world problems is the only answer for world peace. There should be a determination to "negotiate our differences with the people behind the Iraon Curtain.

"We should take the initiative in these matters and we shouldn't be letting Bulganin (Premier Bulganin of Russia) send all the letters.

"Why don't we send him a letter every week?" he asked. "Let's put him on the spot, and make him answer a few."

As the audience chuckled, Mr. Pearson said perhaps this wasn't the answer and it was just a form of propaganda. "But propaganda is a part of peace. . . . Negotiations are just as important as missiles and rockets."

He said peace and war was still the world's No. 1 problem.

"If we can't solve that, none of the other problems—unemployment, trade and agriculture—are going to matter."

Mr Pearson said the West should keep strong. "As long as the people behind the Iron Curtain know they will be faced by instantaneous retaliation they won't be ready to start aggression."

He was certain of one thing: "If anybody starts anything, everybody goes down.

"In the long run, strength alone has never prevented war; but in the short run, strength may hold off war."

Russia now may well have decided that an all-out war is out of place and an economic war may develop.

Starts Journey To New Zealand And Australia

Her Flight Round World First for Royal Family

LONDON (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth took off today for Montreal on the start of a round-the-world tour by way of Australia and New Zealand.

Her plane, a British Overseas Airways DC-7C, was due in Montreal at 2 p.m. EST and in Vancouver at 11:30 p.m. PST tonight.

The Queen Mother was seen off at London Airport by Queen Elizabeth, Prince Philip and Princess Margaret. She waved and blew kisses as the plane taxied away.

In a cable received before the departure, Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia said: "We are looking forward expectantly to welcoming you."

Menzies also said that the Queen Mother's visit, coinciding with the current visit to Australia by Prime Minister Macmillan, would strengthen further "our ties with the Old Country."

When the Queen Mother returns to London March 10 she will have flown around the world—the first member of the Royal Family to do so.

During a brief stopover in Montreal the Queen Mother was scheduled to have tea with Governor-General Massey in his private railway car on a siding near Dorval Airport. In Vancouver she will stay a day with Lieutenant-Governor F. M. Ross of British Columbia and Mrs. Ross.

From Vancouver she goes to Honolulu, and then flies on to Fiji, where she will transfer to a Britannia airliner for the last stage of the journey to Auckland, N.Z.

The Queen Mother goes on to Australia Feb. 14 and leaves for home March 7 via the Cocos Islands, Mauritius, Nairobi and Malta.

STAFF OF 16

With the Queen Mother are her staff of 16, including two footmen, a page, and a hairdresser. She will also be attended by Lady Jean Rankin and Hon. Mrs. John Mulholland, ladies-in-waiting, as well as Lt.-Col. Martin Gilliart, her private secretary, and Maj. John Griffin, her equerry.

Also attached to the Queen Mother's household for the tour are group Capt. A. D. Mitchell of the Queen's flight ant wing cmdr. J. W. Garraway, a RAF surgical specialist.

At the Queen Mother's request, the tour will be of the informal, "meet-the-people" kind.

She last visited Australia 31 years ago, with her late husband King George VI, then Duke of York.

There will be open-air parties instead of state banquets this time and trips out and about to see people at work and play.

Bonds Worth $1,800,000 Amongst Loot

MONTREAL (CP)—A total of $1,800,000 in bearer bonds—negotiable by anyone—was stolen by thieves during the weekend robbery of a trust company and its banking subsidiary here, it was officially announced today.

The robbery, one of the largest in the city's history, was at La Societe Nationale de Fiducie, a trust company, and La Caisse Nationale d'Economie, its banking subsidiary.

Henri Ouimet, president of La Caisse Nationale d'Economie, said the bearer bonds were taken from company's vault, one of two drilled and blasted by the thieves.

The thieves did not take the securities of the trust company or its clients.

ISSUES STATEMENT

A statement by Mr. Outmet said:

"The managing directors of La Societe Nationale de Fiducie inform us that the bandits did not steal any of the securities, bonds, etc., belonging to the trust company or any of its clients, estates, etc., and the bonds deposited for safe keeping.

"As far as La Caisse Nationale d'Economie is concerned a review of the whole portfolio has been made and it now has been established that the bonds stolen amounted to $1,800,000, all bearer bonds, which include bonds issued by the Province of Quebec, cities, towns and villages in the province and bonds issued by trustees for churches in the province.

"The complete list of the stolen bonds will be transmitted today to the head offices of all banks in Canada and to investment dealers associations in Canada."

Leafs to Train At Peterborough

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Howard Radford, manager of the memorial sports centre, said today Toronto Maple Leafs will do their National Hockey League training here next September.

The team plans daily workouts at the new $1,000,000 centre and use the Kawartha links for golf sessions, he said.

In Toronto, team officials said a statement will be issued Wednesday.

CITY and DISTRICT NEWS

BREAK-IN NETS THIEVES $20

Provincial Police at Belleville are investigating a break-in at the new Loblaw supermarket on the outskirts of the town of Trenton which netted the thieves about $20 in coin.

Corporal G. Stout said entry had been gained through a roof door, following which the intruder made his way to the manager's office and pried open a small office safe.

Nothing else was taken and police stated the person or persons responsible apparently did not go downstairs into the main part of the store.

DISTRICT GROUPS WILL HEAR SPEECHES

Tonight B. J. Bernard, assistant Ontario manager of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, will address a meeting of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Bernard will address the Picton Chamber tomorrow night.

The Belleville and District Builders' Exchange will meet tomorrow night in the Kiwanis Centre to hear a talk by E. L. Fowler of Ottawa, eastern field superintendent for Plywood Manufacturers Association of British Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dupuis have left for Toronto where Mr. Dupuis will attend a Chamber of Commerce meeting later this week. He was the guest speaker last night at the Belleville Chamber of Commerce's 93rd annual meeting.

Heavy Beam Falls on Man, Rushed to B.G.H

A 22-year-old employee of A. Safe and Company, scrap metal dealers, suffered hip and leg injury this morning when a heavy metal beam fell on him while he was working in the metal yards on South Front Street.

Donald Vance, 10 Wills Street, was taken to Belleville General Hospital by Bush's Ambulance after being freed by fellow workers.

Vance was preparing to help other workers load metal onto a truck when the heavy 12-foot beam slipped from a pile of scrap, knocked him over and pinned him to the ground.

Five workers had to use crow bars to lift the beam and free the injured worker.

Winter Sports Day at Albert Much Enjoyed

The annual winter sports day was held at Albert College last Saturday. Classes were cancelled and the entire school participated in events which included a soccer match in the snow between Canadians and Internationals, a series of broomball games on ice, skating races and a hockey match.

There was a great deal of enthusiasm as students and faculty jostled one another for possession of the ball, and a more advantageous position on the ice.

The day wound up with a highly successful hard times dance in Ackerman Hall.

The sports day was planned by Mr. J. H. Mackay, Mr. James Payton, Miss Mary Beattie and Mr. George Cunningham.

W. A. VanTassel Returning Officer For S. Hastings

William A. VanTassel, chairman of the Recreation Committee, and former chairman of the Public School Board, who has been active in the ranks of the Progressive Conservative party for some years, has been appointed Returning Officer for the riding of South Hastings by the Secretary of State, Hon. Ellen Fairclough.

Mr. VanTassel has been active in every phase of community work for some time. His primary project has been recreation and he was instrumental in having formed the committee now operating in the city. He has been the chairman of this committee on several occasions and the progress in child and adult recreation within the city has been rapid and well founded.

The new returning officer is salesman for the Deacon Shirt Company and has been employed with that firm for a number of years.

Canadian Businessmen Called To Face Year With Optimism At C of C Annual Dinner

Raymond Dupuis, Q. C., immediate past-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce last night called on Canadian businessmen to face the challenge of 1958 with optimism.

Mr. Dupuis addressed the 93rd annual meeting of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce in Hotel Quinte.

"At the present time," he said, "we must maintain an atmosphere of confidence and look to the many constructive elements in our economy. In short, businessmen whether operating large plants or small, should look upon 1958 as a year of challenge. They should use their best managerial abilities, in co-operation with labor, to increase productivity and efficiency generally, stimulate sales and put their best efforts into quality and service to meet the rigorour tests of the market, both here at home and abroad."

The speaker stressed the need for Canadian businessmen to preserve their basic freedoms — with emphasis on freedom of enterprise. He asserted that support of freedom of enterprise is the cornerstone of the whole Chamber of Commerce movement.

POSITIVE POLICY

The policy declaration on freedom of enterprise which leads off the Canadian Chamber's policy platform describes this system as positive and dynamic and imposing on the individual the duty to be enterprising and in so doing to maintain a high standard of ethics in the community and to contribute to the common good," said Mr. Dupuis.

There are many basic strengths in the Canadian economy and in these basic strengths, rather than the month-to-month situation of individual businesses, lies the best indication of Canada's future progress.

"Across the years many factors have been quietly adding to the strength of our economy. I need only mention the upsurge in population (we're nearing the 17 million mark), the growth of scientific knowledge and technological advances, the insistent desire of people to earn more and live better, the development of mass markets to match mass production, a growing labor force which in 1957 pased the six million mark for the first time," he said.

MANY CURRENT PROBLEMS

The reason Mr. Dupuis cited these basic strengths was not to minimize current problems such as a huge wheat surplus to market, difficulty in finding profitable markets for some of Canada's base metals and other products, higher seasonal unemployment than experienced in past years, but to try to put the present situation in proper perspective.

"When we do not put it in proper perspective we realize that there are always pauses and interruptions in forward progress," he said, "we have every justification to be optimistic and confident that our future is not only promising but probably unmatched by any country in the world."

Looking ahead, Mr. Dupuis remarked that the longer term growth in the Canadian economy will be determined by no small measure by the ability of Canadians to preserve their freedoms.

"We need a stock-taking every so often so that we can proceed with a fresh appreciation of our aims and with new enthusiasm and determination," said the speaker.

It is important during this inventory for Chamber of Commerce members to retain their perspective and to cut through the detail and many side issues and arguments that might have a tendency to becloud the horizon.

UNCERTAINTY IN AIR

"This," he said, "is particularly true during the present time when there is some uncertainty in the air about our immediate business prospects."

Mr. Dupuis reminded his audience of over 100 people that Canada is only in its 91st year as a nation. This country has gradually turned away from an agricultural type of economy to one based on industrial development, and in this connection "our country has a tremendous potential."

Canada, he asserted, is a vast storehouse of nature's bounty. Here nature has created vast deposits of oil, natural gas and iron ore, to name but a few resources. And this country possesses energy from water power, coal, oil, natural gas and uranium. Canada is a major supplier to the world in forest products and metals and beneath its soil, this country has tremendous sources of copper, lead, zinc, asbestos, uranium, titanium and other much sought after metals.

NATIONAL PRODUCT UP

"The opportunity to develop these resources is a challenge to Canadians of this generation," he said.

An overall measure of Canada's economic achievements is provided by the gross national product. This aggregate measures the value of goods and services produced by Canadian residents by adding together all costs arising in production, he explained.

"In 1937, Canada's gross national product was less than $5½ billion. In 1957, just 20 years later, the value of goods and services produced by Canadians is estimated to be about $31 billion."

Mr. Dupuis emphasized that Canada, like any young country, is currently having "growing pains."

"The pace of our development over the years," he said, "has not been steady. There have been pauses in expansion, periods in which we have had opportunities to strengthen our position before moving forward."

The speaker cited the period following World War II as this country's greatest era of expansion and mentioned four 'breathing spells' Canada has known since then. First was in 1946 when the country changed from wartime to peacetime conditions. Second was in 1949 with the outbreak of the Korean War; the third pause was in 1954 and the fourth pause is being experienced now.

POSITION QUITE STRONG

"In the face of the threats from Soviet Russia," said Mr. Dupuis, "we should recognize that our position as one of the great democracies is stronger than we might think, not because of our high standard of living, but rather because freedom is so deeply rooted in our spirits and minds."

He believed the biggest problem facing Canadian business today is that of devising ways and means to keep productivity as near to the balancing point as possible with rising costs — costs which, in the main, are made of high labor income and high taxation.

"Present indications are that productivity is not now keeping pace," he said.

Mr. Dupuis concluded that the responsibility of all Chamber of Commerce people is to bring about a fuller understanding and appreciation of the principles upon which Canada's democratic system has been built. Also, they must contribute towards a fuller understanding and appreciation of the economic system of competitive enterprise which has been responsible for this country's progress.

The speaker was introduced by F. C. Miller and thanked by Gerald Wishart.

C of C Officers, Directors Installed at 93rd Meeting Of Organization in City

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce held its 93rd annual meeting at a sumptuous banquet last night in Hotel Quinte and was highlighted by an address from Raymond Dupuis, Q.C., of Montreal, who is the immediate past-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Over 100 Chamber members and guests attended the festivities which saw the 1958 Chamber of Comerce officers and directors officially installed by A. B. Collins, who was president of the local Chamber in 1929.

An hour-long reception was held in the hotel to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Dupuis and to allow Chamber members and guests to meet the speaker before dinner.

Alpin O. Drysdale, Chamber president for 1957, was chairman until the installation of J. N. Yanover as the new president. But because Mr. Yanover was not able to attend the function, J. W. Deacon, newly-elected first vice-president, took the chairman's gavel from Mr. Drysdale.

Those installed as Chamber officers for 1958 were J. N. Yanover, president, Jack Deacon, first vice-president, F. C. Miller, second vice-president, A.F.E. Jarrett, treasurer, G. A. Freeman, by-laws and regulations chairman, J. A. Ireland, chairman tourist committee, J. C. R. (Bud) Punchard, national affairs chairman, A. J. Wolfenden, head of the membership committee and directors, J. E. Buchan, Mayor Gerald Hyde, W. L. McDougall and Gerald Wishart. Robert G. Hamilton is the Chamber's secretary-manager who came to Belleville from Peterborough a few years ago.

Mr. Deacon introduced the head table guests and Mr. Punchard introduced the past presidents which included Mr. Collins, J. A. McIntosh, 1938, C. L. Jewell, 1942, C. B. Morgan, 1944, J. J. Trudeau, 1945, G. A. Freeman, 1947, P. C. McGuire, 1955, H. P. M. Cane, 1956, and Mr. Drysdale. A number of other past presidents were not able to attend.

Mr. Collins, on behalf of the Chamber, expressed regret that Jamieson Bone, president in 1920-21, was not able to attend the meeting because of a serious illness. Mr. Bone was wished a speedy recovery.

Harold J. Fuke, last year's treasurer, reported that the Chamber has assets of $3,966.10 and a $649.06 deficit.

Before relinquishing the presidency, Mr. Drysdale thanked the directors and members-at-large for their support in 1957 and asked them to give the new president the same co-operation they had given him. He said 1957 was a very active year for the local Chamber of Commerce. Referring to the Chamber's deficit, Mr. Drysdale said it could not be offset by increasing membership alone.

Twenty-two percent of the Chamber members belong to the manufacturers section; 37 percent to the retail section and 41 percent are members-at-large, Mr. Drysdale pointed out. Overall membership is 325 people.

On taking over the chairmanship of the meeting in the absence of the new president, Mr. Deacon, on behalf of the new directorate, pledged allegiance to the ideals of the Chamber movement and promised to "do our best to accept the honor and obligations you have given us."

$200,000 Worth Tax Certificates Have Been Sold

Belleville taxpayers are taking advantage of the tax certificates offered by the city in a program encouraging the prepayment of taxes with over $200,000 worth having been sold in just over three weeks.

City Manager - Treasurer Drury S. Denyes, noted this morning that the tax certificates bear interest at the rate of 4 1-2 percent per annum and will be sold up until February 28th.

Then, when city taxes are due these certificates are honored as a cheque in payment of taxes.

Generally tax certificates up to the amount of estimated taxes are purchased but the city will accept additional purchases if desired.

"We'll accept additional purchases of certificates. They save the city money," he stated.

The tax certificates benefit both the city and the taxpayer. Through the certificates the taxpayer receives a higher interest rate than would be received at the bank, while the city saves money on bank borrowings.

The policy of selling tax certificates was adopted by the city this year for the first time.

Chimneys Will Be Inspected By Dept. Head

The office of the Belleville city building inspector during the next few months will carry out a program of chimney inspections aimed at rectifying loose chimney bricks and poor defective mortar joints.

This was agreed at this week's city council committee meeting with City Building Inspector Grant Stickle being authorized to carry out the inspections.

The inspections will be "street" inspections and home owner then can either have redefects are spotted. The home owner then can either have repairs done themselves, or the building inspector can order the work done with the repair bill to be sent along to the owner.

City Manager Drury S. Denyes noted that the chimney inspection program would be carried out over a period of several months with one section of the city being done at a time.

BCI Glee Club To Present 'The Mikado'

The halls of B.C.I.V.S. are ringing once more with the gay lilting tunes of Gilbert and Sullivan. All is hustle and bustle at noon, after four o'clock, and in the evenings, as the leads and chorus shuffle about in typical Japanese fashion — for this year's musical production is an abridged version of the ever popular "Mikado."

Under the direction of Clifford Templer and Linton Read, the senior Glee Club of the school has been working for several months now in preparation for the annual operetta, this year scheduled for Thursday and Friday.

The gay satire of the Japanese court revolves around the love story of Yum Yum and Nanki Poo. There to add complications and fun to it all are: Pooh Ba (The Lord High Executioner), The Mikado, and his daughter-in-law elect, Katisha.

Tickets are available from the Quinte Book Store, or any member of the Glee Club.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market slipped a little lower in moderate morning trading.

Price changes were narrow with losses holding a slim edge over gains in most major groups. Trading was behind the average pace for the last two weeks. Volume at 11 a.m. was 607,000 shares compared with 681,000 at the same time Monday.

Industrials, golds and western oils each lost one-quarter of a point on index. Base metals were virtually unchanged despite a ¾-point dip to 70¾ by International Nickel.

Trans Mountain, Powell River, Imperial Bank, General Motors and Canada Iron Foundries each lost at least ½ point among industrials while Bank of Montreal and Building Products added small gains.

Sherritt advanced 15 cents to $4.20 among index base metals but Consolidated Smelters and Hudson Bay joined Inco on the downside. Uraniums were quiet and showed few changes.

Western oils moved down in a 10-cent range. Gains were few and generally less than 10 cents.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged today.

The egg market was reported steady on large and barely steady on medium with offerings in excess of quiet demand.

Country dealers are quoted by the federal department of agriculture on graded eggs, delivered Toronto, in fibre cases: A large 36; A medium 29-30; A small 26; B 29; C 25. Wholesale to retail: A large 41; A medium 34-35; A small 31; B 34; C 30.

Butter prices: Canada, first grade: Ontario 62½-63 (nominal), western 62½-63 (nominal).

Will Sell Club

WINDSOR (CP) — The army, navy and air force veterans' club will be put up for sale next month by the federal government in an attempt to recover $20,000 in income tax judgments against its jailed owner.

Owner Leo Finnigan, and John Curly Gardiner, are each serving a year for operating a common gaming house in the large brick building. The club was raided by provincial police November13. The last of 28 found-ins today paid $25 fines.

The $20,000 judgment against Finnigan was handed down after an investigation of his income tax returns for a six-year period.

Armed Forces Pledge Support For New Junta

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela's revolutionary junta was bolstered today by a pledge of all-out support from the armed forces.

The pledge was delivered to the junta president, Rear-Admiral Wolfgang Larrazabal, Monday night as the new regime made progress in bringing order out of the turmoil that followed the ouster of dictator Marcos Perez Jiminez.

Defence Minister Jesus Maria Castro Leon told Larrazabal that the armed forces were "united in the most absolute form in their decision to support absolutely the present government." Larrazabal said the pledge gave his five-man group the needed power to ensure peace again.

One ticklish issue was cleared up with the departure of Juan Peron, former Argentine dictator, for the Dominican Republic. Perez Jiminez and members of his regime already are refugees there.

PROBE OPERATIONS

The junta meanwhile launched an investigation of the former regime's operations. Larrazabal said a commission had been appointed to look into financial dealings of the former dictator, said by presidential palace sources to have had nearly $250,000,000 cached abroad.

In another report reminiscent of charges made against Perón after he was thrown out of Argentina, a naval investigating commission said Perez Jiminez had staged "bacchanalian revelries" at a $3,000,000 pleasure palace on an island 100 miles northest of Caracas. The report said the former president got drunk, dashed about on a motor scooter and chased women on the beach.

Peron, who had taken refuge in the Dominican Embassy when the revolt erupted, hastily decided to leave after armed bands fired twice on the embassy Monday. The junta supplied a plane for his trip.

On arrival in Ciudad Trujillo Peron said he would leave soon for Europe by ship, to "get some rest."

Farmers' Day Program at Rotary Enjoyed

Members of the Belleville Rotary Club honored their rural brothers Monday noon, staging their annual Farmers' Day program at their regular weekly luncheon at the Hotel Quinte.

District agricultural representatives, legislative assembly members and about 15 Hastings and Prince Edward county farmers were Rotary guests for the occasion. The farmers' day program was staged under the direction of urban committee chairman Dr. Harry Burns.

Included among the guests were Sid McDonald, newly appointed agricultural representative for Hastings, his assistant, Jack Riddell, and Donald Taylor, agricultural representative for the county of Prince Edward. Also present were W. E. "Sandy" Sandercock, M.L.A. for Hastings West, and Roscoe Robson, M.L.A. for Hastings East.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Mr. Berny Wilson, agricultural supervisor for Canadian Canners with headquarters at Hamilton, Ont.

Terming modern day farming as being "big business," Mr. Wilson noted the changes which labor saving machinery had had on farming techniques and the effect which farm marketing legislation had on farm population.

The speaker was introduced by Lennox Smith and thanked by Fred Wilson.

President Joe Demeza chaired the meeting. Birthday greetings were extended to W. J. Morrison, Jamieson Bone, Freeman Burrows and J. S. Barber. Only Mr. Morrison was present to receive his birthday cake.

General Strike In Bahamas Nearing End

NASSAU, Bahamas (CP)—The end of a general strike that has stalled Nassau's tourist industry for more than two weeks appeared in sight today in plans announced for immediate reopening of most hotels on a partial basis.

The Bahamas Hotels Association made its announcement Monday night as the colonial legislature met for its first business session of the year.

The colonial legislature, after debating for 3½ hours, voted 16 to 6 against a resolution calling for a royal commission to investigate political, economic and social conditions in the colony.

At the end of nearly seven hours of debate, only a handful of a large crowd that had gathered outside remained. Throughout the night, the crowd remained orderly.

When the hotels closed Jan. 15 as their workers walked out in sympathy with union taxi men who started the strike, hotel men said they would not reopen until all the employees who walked out walked back in again.

Power plant workers and street cleaners, who also walked off their jobs, returned last weekend.

TAXIS STILL OUT

There is still no sign of a settlement, however, in the taxi dispute which set off the general strike involving Negro workers—generally blamed on unrest among the Negro majority over discrimination and lack of representation in the government.

Negroes make up more than 35 per cent of the Bahamas' 90,000 population, which is usud ally doubled at this time of year by tourists from Canada and the Unied States.

The British governor, Sir oaynor Arthur, has estimated the daily loss in tourist business to this capital city alone at $112,000 since the strike began.

STAGE SITDOWN

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP)—About 275 prisoners of the Montana state prison staged a sitdown strike Monday. Warden F. O. Burrell said there was no violence. It was the first reported disturbance at the institution since a violent riot last July 30. Burrell said he did not know what caused Monday's strike.

Airman Hurt As Car Snaps Hydro Standard

TRENTON — LAC Francis L. Arthur was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital Sunday after the car he was driving skidded on the wet snow and hit a hydro pole. After treatment in the Trenton Hospital for a cut and bruised forehead, he was removed to the RCAF hospital at the air station.

According to the police report the airman's car was proceeding along Dundas Street west when it went into a skid just past the Catherine Street intersection. Rain and soft snow were falling at the time and the road was very slushy.

Out of control, the car went across the street and broke off a hydro pole on the north side of Dundas Street.

The pole, valued at around $75, will have to be replaced, and the damage to the airman's car was estimated at $200.

The accident occurred around 8 a.m.

Norman Anderson of 18 Kerr Crescent stopped suddenly on Dundas Street east to avoid hitting a pedestrian crossing the street in front of Kirk's grocery store and a car driven by Bill Cooney of 195 Sidney Street was unable to stop in time and smashed into the rear of the Anderson car.

Damage to the rear end of the Anderson car was estimated at $70 while the Cooney car, badly damaged on the front end, was thought to be damaged in the vicinity of $350. The mishap occurred around 12.20 p.m. on Saturday.

Another accident, which occurred on Marmora Street, involved the town's snow removal equipment, although there was no damage.

It was reported that Donald Denton of 227 Dundas Street East was proceeding past the town equipment when he was forced to stop and await oncoming traffic to pass. The car behind him, driven by Allen Weese of 58 Bondhead Street, was unable to stop and ran into the rear of the Denton vehicle.

Damage to the Weese vehicle was estimated at $150 to the front end and $40 to the rear end of the Denton car.

Both vehicles belonging to the town were displaying their red and yellow flasher lights.

First Dog Fatality

TRENTON — The fifth dog reported hit by motorists in town this year didn't get off as luckily as the four pooches before him. He was killed instantly.

Albert Glicksman of 97 Grace Avenue, Toronto, reported to police he was proceeding north on Front Street when a brown and white dog ran out in front of his car and was killed.

The pooch was reported to have run out onto the street and it was impossible for the motorist to avoid hitting him.

The four other dogs hit during the year were believed to be slightly injured with only one of them sticking around after the mishap to let his injuries be known. That dog was struck by a minister's car.

Six Violations

TRENTON — Frank Mitchell of Trenton was fined a total of $60 and costs of $5 in Magistrate's court here yesterday when he pleaded guilty to six charges of violating the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Mr. Mitchell was given one month to pay the fine and default of payment in that time would result in 30 days in jail.

The defendant was represented by counsel and had been remanded over from last week.

Explosion Rocks Creosote Plant, Two Men Hurt

TRENTON — Town fire engines were called out yesterday afternoon at 5:15 to the Canadian Creosoting Company Limited on Marmora Street where an explosion had rocked one of their garage buildings.

It was reported two men were slightly injured, from the blast, with burns to the hands and scorched faces.

The two workmen were Keith Alexander of Wragge Street and Bill Todd of West Street.

The explosion which occurred in a gargage containing diesel engines was enough to blow out the walls of the 40-by-40 foot cement-block building and the three large front doors.

It is believed the blast was caused by fumes from gasoline being used by the workmen while they were repairing the machines, but this was not confirmed officially.

Town firemen had little trouble getting the fire under control and the estimate of damage has not been released.

Lands Minister Takes Over Finance Post

QUEBEC (CP) — Lands Minister John S. Bourque Monday was appointed Quebec finance minister in what was described as a stop-gap move pending an important reorganization of Premier Duplessis' cabinet later this year.

Mr. Bourque, 63-year-old lumber dealer from Sherbrooke, was sworn in by Lieutenant-Governor Gaspard Fauteux following a special meeting of the cabinet presided over by Mr. Duplessis. He succeeds Onesime Gagnon, 69, who resigned the finance past Friday amid speculation that he will become Quebec's next lieutenant-governor.

A top government official said the appointment "is of a temporary nature."

The new finance minister, who said Monday he will bring down provincial budget early in February, is one of a half dozen cabinet ministers reported to be planning to retire prior to the next provincial election in 1960.

Fly to Rescue Monoxide Victim In Antarctica

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—A U.S. Neptune plane flew from the South Pole today to pick up a member of the British transantarctic expedition stricken by carbon monoxide fumes.

The victim is 33-year-old Geoffrey Pratt, a seismic expert.

Radio reports from Scott Base said the request for help came from Dr. Vivian Fuchs, leader of the expedition now about 150 miles from the pole.

The plane presumably will try to land on skis near the British party, which is attempting the first land crossing of the Antarctic continent.

Mrs. N. Gamble Given 6 Months For Vote-Padding

TORONTO (CP) — Prosecution of five Liberal party workers accused of vote-padding in Toronto's St. Paul's riding in the June 10 federal election has closed with a third person receiving a jail sentence.

Mrs. Nora Conacher Gamble, 44, who took full responsibility for a scheme to add about 500 fictitious names to voters' lists, was sentenced Monday to six months in jail on each of 36 charges of forgery and uttering and two charges of perjury. The sentences will be served concurrently.

Mrs. Gamble's case immediately followed that of George Ewing, 57, who was found guilty of eight charges of forgery and uttering and remanded until Friday for sentence.

OTHER SENTENCES

In the other three trials which arose out of a judicial inquiry into vote-padding in the riding by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court:

Mrs. Kathleen Vollum, 50, was acquitted on six charges.

Thomas Middleton, 49, was sentenced to six months after conviction on 32 charges.

Bernice Price, 27, was sentenced to one month and fined $300 after being convicted on 18 charges.

All five persons were paid or voluntary workers in the campaign for Liberal James H. Rooney, defeated by Progressive Conservative Roland Michener, now Speaker of the Commons.

Defence counsel John J. Robinette said Mrs. Gamble had changed her plea to guilty from not guilty Monday because of her health.

"She is very nervous," he said.

Mr. Robinette said Mrs. Gamble was "taking the blame" but made her mistakes "through political enthusiasm" rather than for personal gain.

H. R. Daiter, counsel for Ewing, contended before the assize court jury that Ewing, an admitted informer, "had no intention of doing anything wrong."

Ewing had testified he was employed by the Progressive Conservatives to spy on Liberal workers and testimony by Paul Kayz, Mr. Michener's campaign manager, said that Ewing had been paid to get information on vote padding in the riding.

Cyril F. H. Carson, special crown attorney, said Ewing's testimony was "shocking" to all Canadians and vote-padding to pass along information was no defence in law.

Plan Command Of NATO Type In Middle East

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

ANKARA (AP) — Premiers and foreign ministers attending the Baghdad Pact conference today were reported moving toward formation of a unified command for defence of the Middle East from the Dardanelles to the Khyber Pass.

Informed sources said the five-power pact's military planning group, reinforced by U.S. membership, seems likely to be expanded gradually into a full-blown unified command. At this time the pact has no military arm outside its joint defence planning body.

Company Fined $8,000 for False Tax Returns

TORONTO (CP) — Hawinda Taverns Limited of Penetanguishene, Ont., its president and vice-president were fined $8,000 after guilty pleas were entered to 18 charges of making false statements in income tax returns over a six-year period.

Magistrate T. H. Wolfe ordered Leonard Sullivan of Toronto, Gordon McMacken and the company to pay back taxes of $20,022.

At the recommendation of special Crown prosecutor Norman L. Mathews, the men were also ordered to return $96,000 which they suppressed from income to the company.

The men were given one week to pay the fine and told by the magistrate that they would go to jail for six months in the event of non-payment.

Magistrate's Court

Seven days in jail is the price which a Prince Edward county man will be called upon to pay for a $2.60 meal ordered at a local restaurant and for which he had no money to pay.

Over the weekend the Northport man ordered a big steak, took his time eating the meal and then calmly informed the restaurant owner that he had no money and what was he going to do about it.

Police were called and the man was charged with vagrancy.

A drunk driver who lost control of his car on Station street, and then backed it into a verandah, was also sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

And two local young men charged with theft of articles from a parked car on Front street were given suspended sentence for one year.

NO TIME FOR MISTAKES

The Canadian Press has reported that a decision on whether to proceed with production of the CF-105 supersonic jet fighter plane is one of the most critical facing the federal government. However, the dispatch continued, the cabinet is not expected to make the decision until sometime next summer. Meanwhile, Western intelligence sources in Russia will try to find out if the Reds are still concentrating on producing long-range bombers.

Chances are that if the Russians are still favoring manned bombers over intercontinental ballistic missiles, the federal government will sanction the spending of millions more dollars to get the CF-105 into operational use by the Royal Canadian Air Force.

However, if Russia has switched attention to mass production of ICBMs or other missiles, there is a strong likelihood of scrapping further development of the 1,200-mile-per-hour jet plane.

"The decision will be critical from an economic as well as a military standpoint. A mistake could result in waste of hundreds of millions of dollars on an aircraft that might not have any useful role," said The Canadian Press.

The CF-105 was designed as a bomber interceptor. To date, $89-million has been spent by the government (both Liberal and Progressive Conservative) to develop all but the plane's costly armament control system. Cost of each CF-105 if put into operational use would be about four million and it would cost Canadian taxpayers at least a billion to equip the RCAF's Air Defence Command with these planes.

This critical decision will rely on the ability of humans, prone to mistakes, to ferret out accurate information about facts the Russians will try to keep secret. Just how the Canadian Government proposes to obtain such information, we do not know. We should expect that in part the Government will depend on reports gathered by the intelligence services of some of its NATO allies, although we suspect that the very nature of intelligence work prevents allied governments carrying integration as far in this field as is possible in some other phases of the mutual defence program. Canada may have some reliable intelligence sources of its own; the fact that one seldom hears about such intelligence work is certainly no sure sign that it is not being undertaken. Indeed, in many instances lack of public information about intelligence work is a sign of the efficiency with which a country's intelligence service is operating. This is one field in which the otherwise ubiquitous public relations expert has not yet found his niche.

AFFECT OF THE PAST

Some events cast long shadows. A "road map of industry" from The Conference Board, New York, showing population changes in the United States between 1950 and 1957, throws a revealing light on one of the consequences of the lean years in the thirties.

It shows that both the male and female population of the United States increased between 1950 and 1957 in every age group except one, that for those between the ages of 18 and 24. Both males and females in this age group were fewer than the figures of 1950. The decline in the number of males was .3 per cent, in the number of females .5 per cent, not in itself a startling drop but noteworthy when compared with substantial increases in other age groups.

A person who reached his or her 18th birthday in 1957 would have been born in 1939; a person 24 in 1957 would have been born in 1933. In other words, this is the age group born during the depression years. By contrast, persons in this age group in 1950 would have been born between 1926 and 1932.

What happened a quarter of a century ago is still having an affect on us today, reducing the number of young people who are starting out on their careers.

Of course, eventually the U.S. and other countries will reap the benefits of the spectacular increase in the birth rate in the years immediately following the Second Great War.

JUST FOLKS

A FISH STORY

A fisherman once said to me:
"Tomorrow we shall rise at three,
Because I know a splendid spot
Where big ones always can be got."

We rose at three, as he had planned,
But spent an hour upon the land
Because we had to go for bait,
And I was left alone to wait.

He couldn't find his tackle box,
His anchor nor his oar locks,
His landing net, his minnow pail,
And so 'twas late e'er we set sail.

At last we reached the spot where he Had said big ones were bound to be.
But lo, to our dismay, we found
A man already on the ground.

The moral's plain. To know the spot
Where big fish are and can be got
Is not enough. You've got to be Upon the spot at tap of three.

And when you plan to start away
To reach the spot at break of day,
Have all your tackle right at hand
Or some one else your place will land.

Railways Find Dice Loaded

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

A United States Senate subcommittee is studying the plight of the railroads in that country, and the evidence to date is very depressing indeed. It is a picture of the giants of former years, stripped of their best sources of revenue by competition, hamstrung by government regulations, hard-hit by unbending union regulations, and in fact facing the distinct danger of going under.

The railroads are a victim of changing times, as much as anything else; for in few fields of human endeavor have changes been greater than in transportation. The tractor trailer, the luxury bus and the airplane have been stealing business from the railroads in great chunks. The railroads still have a lot of traffic left, to be sure; but much of the passenger business is the uneconomic commuter service, and a great deal of the freight business is low-grade produce that scarcely pays its way.

The story will have a familiar ring on this side of the border, too. But we can't even speculate about the future of the country without the railroad systems. They are absolutely essential to us. Confederation was made possible by the railroads, and despite all the changes in transportation, the country still must have them.

Our railroads are fighting hard to stay healthy. On the surface they appear to be doing a better job than the U.S. lines, if the picture is as black as it is painted before the U.S. Senate sub-committee. But just the same, our railroads seem to go from one committee-room battle to the next, and always the dice appear loaded against them.

The CPR has just finished a mammoth fight with the firemen's union, in the hope of getting the firemen out of the diesel cabs on some locomotives. At the moment, it isn't known how the board's decision will go—or if the firemen will accept it if it is unfavorable to them. But even if it gets rid of the extra man in the cab, the CPR will be quite a while getting back its costs of fighting the matter. It has offered to make wide concessions to firemen presently employed.

Then both railroad companies are in a new wage dispute with their non-operating employees, and that seems certain to wind up in government - directed arbitration. The unions want 30 cents an hour; the companies do not want to pay any increase at all. The companies point to their annual statements; the unions point to the fact their wage scales are below comparable groups, such as the durable goods trade.

Finally, the railroads are still in a battle over the freight rate increase granted them by the tariff board. Just about everyone west of Port Arthur has filed an appeal against it. But no one seems inclined to get to the heart of the problem, which is the fact that the railroads have been hauling some freight in the West at ridiculous rates. The Crow's Nest Pass rate, for instance, is based on price levels prevailing in the '90's; and even then was a break-even deal for the railroads. The rate is still in force for some traffic — no wonder that both the railroads and the unions think they are being used unfairly as instruments of government policy.

Maybe someone ought to start a study of our railroads — not to see what's wrong with them, but to figure out how they do as well as they do.

LIVING LIFE TO ITS FULL

Some people live a complaining life. You have met that kind no doubt in home, office, club, or factory. Still others are bitter about what the circumstances of life have done to them. There is the alibi type of person who can specify all the bad breaks which prevented his being a success. There is the whining, sickly type; doctors often examine such people and find them perfectly sound of body and mind. But they are really mentally and spiritually sick because they have to live with themselves. They have the type of disposition which tends to take all joy and wholesomeness out of life both for themselves and for others.

Sir Philip Gibbs, whose writings were much in vogue a few decades ago, wrote: "Let us live life in laughter and tolerance and good fellowship. Let us hate cruelty. Let us dedicate ourselves to the children of the world so that they may get a decent chance of happiness. Let us have courage above all to face this life, this strange adventure whatever it brings in hardship and peril."

Here, of course, is wholesomeness, consecration to great ends, willingsness to sacrifice. Don't ask yourself whether or not life is worthwhile. Start to live it clear up to the hilt and you will be joyfully surprised to find that it is. The only thing that can spoil the precious quality of life is our preversity and sin. The only person who can spoil our lives is ourself.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The first intimation that the advertising profession was losing faith in the human speaking voice as a selling medium was the singing commercial. When the singing commercial first dawned on radio, most of us listeners had developed a sort of automatic shutter in our minds. We could pull down a blind in our minds until the program resumed. The singing commercial fooled us, for a time. Our automatic shutter did not work, because our mechanism thought the singing was part of the entertainment.

But when everybody adopted the singing commercial, our shutters were soon adjusted. Most of us, right now, could not repeat or name a single singing commercial out of the scores that are dinned into our ears every day at a cost of countless thousands of dollars' worth of programs.

But on radio, particularly, the human voice has been so down-rated as a selling medium that most of the voices you hear doing the commercials are distorted, eccentric, queer. They are high squeaks, like the tiny voices of midgets. They are twisted to sound like the voices of animals, bears, rabbits, horses. On TV, for one straight human voice commercial, you get a dozen little animated cartoon figures bouncing erratically about, with preposterous parodies of the human voice, in a desperate attempt to catch our attention.

The dilemma the advertising profession faces lies in that they have worn out the human voice and the human face as a means of normal communication.

My shutter is beginning to work even when people in the flesh speak to me.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

KEEP ADVANCING

Those who advance most are those who help others advance. Two advance best because then there is a combined interest. Conversing and exchanging ideas benefit both. There is a famous saying that "two heads are better than one," but not unless both heads are in top condition. (No double meaning meant!) A mixture of ideas and information is essential to progress.

We must be able to inspire ourselves before we can hope to inspire others. There must be a unity of purpose and interest. It is all very well to often be alone, concentrating upon definite objectives, but in co-operation with others we make better progress, and a happier one.

Keep advancing. There are interests every-where we go, all along the way. Thoreau was happiest when he was most alone, in his many walks, discoveries and thoughts. Emerson says that in the many walks he had with Thoreau he learned much from him, one thing being that Thoreau knew by name every flower they came upon. What a stimulation must have resulted from such walks.

We cannot help but be inspired through the reading of "Walden," Thoreau's greatest book, and one of the greatest ever written by an American, or by reading his famous diary. He depth of mind and his sincerity are outstanding. His entire life was one of advancement. Near the end of his life a friend suggested that he "make his peace with God." Thoreau's reply was that they had never quarreled.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 28th., 1938

Dr. Lily B. Mathieson of this city has been honored by professional colleagues in being elected one of the three out-of-town vice-presidents of the Medical Alumnae of the University of Toronto.

At the annual meeting of the vestry of St. Thomas' Parish which was held in the parish house, the vicar, the Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne presided and Mr. George A. Bear acted as vestry clerk. The vicar appointed Mr. L. C. Pattrick as his warden and the vestry elected Mr. W. E. Burrowes as people's warden. Col. E. A. Geen was re-elected as representative to the Diocesan Synod for a term of three years and Mr. T. Y. Wills was elected a representative to the Synod for a term of two years to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Norman E. Edwards who desired to retire. Miss Ena Potter was appointed envelope secretary and Mr. D J. D. Jones and Mr. Hubert Jones were appointed auditors. The following were elected to compose the executive council: Messrs. Wilson Bird, Frank Potter, C. Patterson, P. W. Geen, George A. Bear, H. McGinnis, D. J. D. Jones, G. H. McElheran, Geo. N. Gorman, Fred Chapman and Norman E. Edwards. The vicar referred to the death of the Rev. C. T. Lewis, who, during his residence here, where he lived retired, had on many occasions rendered valuable aid in conducting the services of the church.

Twenty-five men taken from the relief lists and ten trucks are engaged in hauling away the piles of snow from Front Street.

William McKenna, plastering contractor, and his staff are busily engaged in plastering the interior of the McCarthy Theatre. No date for the opening of the theatre has yet been set.

The Rev. C. G. Smith, who has been the popular pastor of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church for the past eight years has resigned in order to accept the pastorate of the Temple Baptist Church in Montreal. He was born in Toronto and is a graduate of Yale University He came to this city from New Haven, Conn. Many friends regret his departure from the city.

A lusty young blizzard blew out of the west and struck this city about one o'clock this afternoon. Passenger trains are late again from one to five hours and freight traffic is in difficulties. The storm makes worse the fuel situation here as coal now en route here is greatly delayed. Some dealers were entirely out of coal this morning.

Commercial travellers say that good times will be here again soon and will open with a bang. All signs they say point to better conditions.

The game of hockey which was played last evening between the Bankers team of this city and the Bankers team of Deseronto turned out to be one of the best games—if not the best game — of the season. The attendance, however, was small and the gate receipts amounted to $13.00. The Belleville team won by a score of 4 to 3. The following composed the teams: Belleville — Phillips, Pepper, Allen, Burke, Reeves, Illsey, and Narraway. Deseronto — Culhane, Garrison, Thomas, T. Grant, B. Grant, Stafford, and Reid. Dr Gilbert was the referee.

At the inaugural meeting of the county council this afternoon Mr. W. G. Farley, reeve of Thurlow township, was elected warden of the county for 1908.

Many Children Are Not Fit

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

We are living at a time of tension and when many of us are under almost constant pressure. But what are we doing effectively to use our advanced knowledge to stay well in these days of pressure? How is the young generation being prepared for the situation that points to the need for being physically fit?

The current Monthly Letter of the Royal Bank of Canada cites studies made in recent years which show that North American children fail to measure-up to the physical health of children in Europe. In this connection the letter says:

"General opinion leans to the belief that the typical way of life on this continent is to be blamed. Our children are driven everywhere; to school, to play, and to the shops. Even on weekends and vacations, says Dr. Mary O'Neil Hawkins in Child Study, they often sit for hours cooped up in cars. Their recreation has become increasingly passive and visual. Movies and television take up much time."

For one thing, physical training in our schools needs an overhauling, according to those experienced in physical fitness. We have spectator sports in plenty, but only a few children are on the teams. Only the members of the teams and their replacements and the cheer leaders get any muscular exercise; the rest are admirers, exercising nothing but their lungs.

A report published recently by the Bureau of Statistics showed children under 15 years had a high incidence of diseases in the respiratory system. Diseases of the respiratory system dominated in all age groups.

Diseases of the bones and organs of movement, which had a rather low rate for persons under 25 years of age, began to show prominence, increasing from 9 to 22 illnesses per 1,000 population.

Middle-aged persons, 45 to 64, showed the increasing prominence of the diseases of the bones and organs of movement, about 42 per 1,000.

It is evident that anything that can be done in childhood and adolescence and young adulthood to develop top quality in the bone, joint and muscle structure of the body will be a service of great value in middle and later ages.

Physical fitness in childhood should be sought not only because it will be beneficial in later life. It is of value here and now.

Personal Health Talks

Riboflavin and Chapping Lips

A reader reports that, following a suggestion in this column, he tried to purchase 100 5-milligram (that's one-tenth of a grain) riboflavin tablets.

Riboflavin is otherwise called vitamin B2 and was formerly known as vitamin G.

The sage of the soda fountain took time out from the potato salad to inform the poor soul that "we'd rather not sell riboflavin alone. It destroys vitamin B-1 in the system."

The Creator evidently made a mistake when he caused riboflavin to grow, in such foods as wheat, beans, peanuts, ham, liver, milk, peas, pecans, alfalfa, sardines etc., in combination with vitamin B-1 otherwise called thiamin.

But the reader goes on to explain what the fizz-ician had up his sleeve — "a preparation of great merit, containing all the necessary vitamins plus iron, B-12 etc., etc."

The suggestion in this column was a letter from a lady with cataracts, who said she began supplementing her diet with four 5-milligram tablets of riboflavin daily, plus optimal daily ration of calcium and vitamin D.

"The last time I had glasses fitted" she said, "my doctor said one of my cataracts was perfectly clear. I am now 80, read all I want to, enjoy movies and television, play a mean game of croquet, cards, etc. . . . I believe God caused me to see your article that saved my sight."

Oh, with apologies to Mr. Peavy, I wouldn't say that. In fact, the nurition sttudies of Dr. Paul Day, University of Arkansas, are practically all I have to support the suggestion that one with cataract should boost his daily intake of riboflavin. Other investigators have not confirmed Day's experimental work on animals.

But in view of the harmlessness of riboflavin and the possibility that there may be value in the idea, I'd certainly supplement my diet with four or five 5-milligram tablets of riboflavin daily if I had cataract.

The reader says nothing about cataract. He says: "My lips chap so in winter, I think I need riboflavin."

Here we go again. It is true that riboflavin deficiency may manifest itself by constant chapping of the lips. Or not just chapping, but more annoying and unsightly pallor of the lips particularly at the angles of the mouth with maceration, cracking, sometimes bleeding and formation of crusts. This condition is called cheilosis ($10) or if that seems a little steep maybe we'll settle for angular stomatitis at $3.50 to $5.

Nutrition authorities estimate that less than 5 milligrams of riboflavin daily will prevent manifestations of riboflavin deficiency. Nevertheless I'd take not less than four 5-milligram tablets daily for not less than two months to determine whether my cataract or sore lips might be due to riboflavin deficiency.

Other signs of riboflavin deficiency are a fine, scaly, greasy condition of the skin over the wings and bridge of the nose, above the eyebrows, in the nasolabial folds; magenta, dry, atrophic, painful tongue; burning feet; brown itching vular or scrotal dermatitis (skin inflammation); itching or burning eyelids and photophobia (intolerance of sunlight), in some instances "eyestrain" and twilight blindness which is not corrected by vitamin A.

A familiar sign of ariboflavinosis (riboflavin deficiency) is injection of the little blood vessels on the eyeball, a bloodshot appearance.

Please remember that any or all of these abnormalities may be due to causes other than riboflavin deficieney. If you decide to boost your riboflavin intake for a month or two and experience no noticeable benefit from it, the experiment will have done no harm anyway.

Foods that supply considerable riboflavin are plain wheat, wheat bran, wheat germ, shredded wheat, pecans, almonds, peanuts, dried beans, beet greens (tops), broccoli, alfalfa, dried lentils, fresh or dried peas, evaporated milk, dried milk, cheese, liver, spinach, sardines, fish roe, salmon fresh, or canned, dried prunes, milk, eggs, ham, lean beef, water cress and sweet potato.

HISTORIC BELLEVILLE

(Article sixteen in a weekly series contributed by members of the Hastings County Historical Society.)

Changes in Transportation

The speed of modern transportation is one of the most remarkable developments among the many changes which have occurred since the white man first visited the Quinte district.

Compare the 26-day journey from Montreal to Weller's Bay in Prince Edward County made by the Sulpician monk, Father Fenelon (October 1668) with the few hours required today to complete the same journey by car or train, or the few minutes by jet plane.

Like Champlain, who had visited the Bay of Quinte on his 1615 expedition, Father Fenelon travelled mostly by water, landing only to portage or make camp at night.

Water remained the chief avenue of transportation even after the coming of the Loyalists. For many years, it was considered a waste of time and money to open roads when the bay provided excellent summer transportation and winter traffic, whenever necessary, "was made comparatively easy . . . by snow and ice, which made the most remote points accessible by snowshoe and dog sled," according to Ontario historian Edwin C. Guillet. As a result, the earliest inhabitants blazed few trails through the woods.

Before 1800, there were no roads worthy of the name in the Quinte district. William Canniff noted that travellers from Montreal to the west "would come by a bateau or Durham boat to Kingston. Those who had business further west made the journey to Ernestown, Bay of Quinte, on horseback. A white man conducted them to the River Trent" where they would be furnished with fresh horses and an Indian guide to conduct them through "an unsettled country, the road being little better than an common Indian path."

The first section of roadway in the Quinte district is reported to have been that constructed in early Loyalist days between Bath and Kingston.

Between 1798 and 1801, this road was incorporated into the Danforth Road, which reached from Kingston to Toronto. Belleville was not on this early highway, since the route from Bath westward passed through Prince Edward County, emerging at the Carrying Place. Then as now, a ferry carried travellers between the Adolphustown shore and garden county.

In the next 20 years, the Danforth road fell into disrepair because of the lack of any effective system of road maintenance. Accordingly, in 1815-16 a second highway, known as the Kingtson Road, was opened between Kingston and York (Toronto). Generally it followed the route of the old Danforth road, but with one important exception. Between Ernestown and the site of the present town of Trenton an alternative route was provided which passed through Napanee and Belleville. The crossing of the Trent River was effected by a ferry near its mouth.

False Arrest Charges Against Two Dismissed

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Charges of false arrest, false imprisonment and malicious prosecution were dismissed Monday against two of six persons involved in a camage suit brought by William Lyle Kennedy, an Orran Township farmer.

Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson dismissed charges against Edward Chappell, Kennedy's father-in-law, and lawyer Roy Tomlinson, but reserved decision on charges against Crown Attorney J. W. Freeborn of Bruce County.

Kennedy launched suits for damages in connection with his arrest and conviction last summer on a charge of vagrancy, after which he was placed on suspended sentence for one year.

Besides damages for false arrest, false imprisonment and malicious prosecution, he sought damages from his wife, Mrs. Isabel Kennedy, for money received from the sale of his farm, from provincial police Constable Ivan D. Wade, who arrested him last May, and from Magistrate Otto McClevis, who sentenced him on the vagrancy charge.

TELLS OF CALL

Aubrey Stauffer of Walkerton, former provincial police officer, said he was working part-time the night Kennedy was arrested and he received a telephone call from Bill Kennedy Jr., in Port Elgin. He said the younger Kennedy reported his father was on his way to Walkerton with a 12-gauge shotgun and had threatened to shoot his wife.

He dispatched Constable Wade to intercept Kennedy, Mr. Stauffer said. Kennedy was arrested and charged with vagrancy after he was taken to Walkerton, 30 miles south of here.

Roscoe Jacklin, town constable at Port Elgin, also testified he had been told by Edward Chappell that Kennedy was on his way to Walkerton with a gun to kill Mrs. Kennedy.

The case, being heard by Mr. Justice Ferguson and a six-man Ontario Supreme Court petit jury is continuing.

Scientists Fire 2 Rockets 90 Miles in Air

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Scientists fired two rockets 85 and 90 miles into the air Monday in the fourth and fifth launchings of 1958 in International Geophysical Year tests.

The launchings were the second and third in just over 13 hours and brought to five the number completed in the last three days.

An Aerobee rocket launched at 12:45 p.m. CST fired off 18 signal grenades before it reached its maximum altitude at 90 miles. A 19th grenade ejected a small sphere containing an accelerometer and a small transmitter at the highest point reached.

The accelerometer was to measure the drag on spherical objects at extreme altitudes. It was believed this might have something to do with satellite development.

WELL SATISFIED

F. L. Bartman, a scientist from the University of Michigan, said he is extremely satisfied with the shoot.

Ground teams quickly reloaded and readjusted receiving equipment and a Nike-Cajun rocket was fired from a separate launching ramp at 1:18 CST. It rose to an altitude of 85 miles.

U.S. and Canadian personnel watching the rocket saw its Nike booster cut off. The rocket coasted 14 seconds before the motor in the Cajun part cut in, boosting the nose cone to its peak altitude.

The speed with which the last three rockets were fired was a record for the Fort Churchill launching site in the sub-arctic, 510 miles north of Winnipeg.

Soon she was reported to have "infected" part of her parents' home and her garden, which were found to be "seriously" radioactive.

500 Young PCs Will Attend Ottawa Meet

OTTAWA — More than 500 young Conservatives will attend the joint annual meetings of the Young Progressive Conservative Association of Canada and the Progressive Conservative Student Federation, at Ottawa, January 31st-February 2nd.

Delegates representing every province and territory in Canada will be attending. The Student Federation meeting will have representatives from 37 Canadian universities and colleges.

The principal speaker during the two day national rally will be the Prime Minister of Canada, the Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker. Other speakers will include Hon. Leon Balcer, Solicitor General;Hon. George Nowlan, Minister of National Revenue; Hon. Sidney Smith, Secretary of State for External Affairs, Allister Grosart, National Director of the Conservative Party, will conduct a discussion on political organization.

On January 31st, the young Conservatives plan to present to the Prime Minister a wagon-sled built in the famous wagon shop of his grandfather in Hawkesville, Ontario.

On Friday evening the 36 Conservative Members of Parliament, under 40, many of whom are graduates of young Conservative organizations, will act as hosts at an official reception for the delegates.

The principal business of both Young Conservative and Student Federation meetings will be the election of new national executives. Recommendations on the subject of party policy, submitted by young Conservative and student clubs, will be discussed, as will matters of young Conservative organization.

New Federal Road Program Is Indicated

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

QUEBEC (CP)—A new permanent federal highway program was envisaged by Hon. Howard Green, minister of public works, in an address Monday night to the annual dinner of the Canadian Construction Association.

The new program — still apparently in the future — means that the federal government, now assisting the provinces in the building of the trans - Canada highway, plans to continue to assist in projects of national interest, particularly road-building programs into the Far North.

In the Northwest and Yukon Territories, which are under federal jurisdiction, highway construction will be a matter of federal expenditure only. Such a federal highway, Mr. Green said, might be one from Aklavik to Dawson City.

Highways in which federal and provincial governments might co-operate include roads in Northern Manitoba and Ontario.

BY AGREEMENT

In a press conference following the annual dinner, Mr. Green indicated that the various things he mentioned are not immediate and, where the provinces are concerned, will necessarily be a matter of federal - provincial agreement.

The construction men—who expect this year to equal last year's record of nearly $7,000,000,000 of construction work — obviously liked Mr. Green's panoramic picture of projects from coast to coast and from the American border to the Arctic.

Mr. Green emphasized that he could not give any details on any of the projects he mentioned, because, when the time came, they would be the subject of estimates which must first be presented to Parliament.

Mr. Green said the government is increasing its program of public works and is trying to build a "shelf" of public projects to be carried out when employment falls off.

DEFENCE PROJECTS

R. G. Johnson, president and general manager of Defence Construction (1951) Ltd., in an address today stated:

"We expect that in 1958 we are likely to award new defence work close to a value of $100,000,000. This compares with awards by defence construction in 1957 amounting to $58,000,000.

"We expect that we will put in place in 1958 defence works having a value of $63,000,000. This compares with approximately $100,000,000 put in place in 1957.

"In addition we estimate an expenditure of some $58,000,000 on the pipe line (across Northern Ontario for natural gas) and some $12,000,000 to $14,000,000 on the other non-defence program—the Colombo plan.

"This would involve us in administering a total defence and non-defence expenditure of $135,000,000 in 1958, if our estimates prove reasonably accurate."

Clerk Captures Armed Bank Robbery Suspect

TORONTO (CP)—Bank clerk M. E. Weber overpowered an armed bank robbery suspect on a downtown Toronto street Monday after a gunman escaped from a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce with an estimated $4,700.

Lehmann Reinhard, 24, was charged with armed robbery in the bank holdup. He told police he came here from North Bay.

Mr. Weber told police a man tried to get a loan from the bank but was turned down. He then drew a sawed-off shotgun from beneath his coat and ordered a woman teller to wrap "all the money you have" in a newspaper.

When the teller, Mrs. Erna Wallner, 37, handed over the money the man tucked it under his coat and walked from the bank while 20 employees and customers watched.

"I followed the robber along Gould Street," Weber said. "He didn't even look back."

Mr. Weber said he recognized bank customer Tony Witkowski, 38, on the street and asked his assistance.

"When I got up behind him (the suspect) I slipped my arms through his and grabbed him around the waist. We both went down. Witkowski landed on top of us."

Another bank customer, Louis Lazonick, followed Mr. Weber from the bank and helped hold the suspect until motorcycle Constable Norman Morrison arrived and wrested a sawed-off shotgun from the man. Police said the stolen money was recovered.

Army Will Be Given Chance To Launch Earth Satellite

By BEN FUNK

CAPE CANAVERAL Fla. (AP) The United States Army will be given a chance soon — perhaps Wednesday or Thursday — to launch the earth satellite it claims it could have hurled into space in 1955, long before the Russian Sputniks.

Following the navy's latest failure to get its Vanguard satellite rocket off the ground, new activity around the army's Jupiter-C launching pad indicated today that this missile now has the go-ahead and is close to its firing time.

Many experts have expressed the opinion that the Jupiter-C, a creation of the German scientist, Wernher Von Braun, has a better chance than the Vanguard to put the first American "moon" into orbit around the earth.

FIRST BLEW UP

The first Vanguard blew up on its firing pad here Dec. 6 after an immense publicity buildup. Last week a four-day effort to shoot a second Vanguard ended in failure. Bad weather and mechanical difficulties were blamed.

Following that attempt, the Vanguard was dismantled, clearing the way for the flight of the Jupiter-C.

Maj. - Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the army ballistic missile agency, told a Senate committee after the first Sputnik was launched that the U.S. Army could have done the same thing in 1955 if the navy hadn't been given exclusive operating rights in the satellite field.

The Jupiter-C satellite will weigh 29.7 pounds, nine times more than the little aluminum sphere the Vanguard has tried to launch. It will have a radio voice, but nothing else is known about the instruments it will carry.

The regular monthly meeting f St. Michael's Parent Teacher ssociation was held in the asembly room on January 20th. r. E. Cook presided.

The reports from the various onveners were given. A letter was read from St. Michael's Academy Parent-Teacher Association inviting the members to ttend its next monthly meeting o hear Mrs. McLarnon of Peterborough, president of the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations, who is to be the guest speaker.

It was decided that one of two films be shown at a future meeting. The Rev. Sister M. Lenore, principal of the school, called upon the students from grades 11, 11A, 12 and 13 who had won their respective class and public speaking contest.

These students were as follows: Grade 11: Lenore Morrell, Casey Soden; Grade 11A: Maria Narusevicius, Bob Langabeer; Grade 12: Esther Bawder, John Shannon; Grade 13: Theresa Anton and John Black.

The judges were Dr. Edith Petezkin, Miss Ane Someville and Mr. Frank Buckley.

In a closely contested speech fest, the following students emerged as winners: 1st prize went to John Shannon; 2nd to Theresa Anton and 3rd, John Black.

The judges commented on the many good points and the few bad ones of the various speeches.

The consensus of opinion among those present was that they were a promising young group of future parliamentarians.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Anton and her committee.

Christ Church E.B.W.A. Enjoys Slides of Japan

Monday evening the slides on the study book, "The Cross and Chrysanthemum" were much enjoyed by the members of the Evening Branch of the W.A. of Christ Church and their guests the Afternoon Branch, the Girls' Auxiliary and members of the congregation.

Following the opening hymn with Mrs. Hibbard at the piano, Mrs. A. Swain read the verses of Scripture and Mrs. H. Stevens extended a hearty welcome to the guests of the evening, and suggested anyone not associated with an organization, would be made welcome by the Evening Branch.

With Mrs. C. Fuzzen showing the slides, Mrs. J. Miles explained each one and told of the work of the church being carried on in Japan. The pictures clearly displayed the colorful beauty of the country at the different seasons, the traditional dress and customs, the modern educational methods; the churches and the wonderful work of the missionaries in the land of millions of population with such a small percentage Christian.

Mrs. G. G. Wright expressed the appreciation of the guests for the splendid presentation of the film as did Miss Marina Bongard, of the Girls' Auxiliary.

The president, Mrs. A. Bongard, mentioned there would be no meeting next week on account of the annual vestry meeting, which all are requested to attend.

The hostesses, Mrs. H. Ingram, Mrs. E. Green, Mrs. L. Mason served cookies and tea and the ladies enjoyed a social hour.

Club Activities

HALLOWAY KUM DOUBLE CLUB

On Thursday evening the Halloway Kum Double Club met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Embury Hough.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Robson were in charge of the worship period. Mrs. Robson read an article by Bliss Carman, "I Took A Day To Search For God".

Mrs. Freddie Wellman read a story, "Pierre's Part", and Mrs. Roscoe Robson favored with a verse "To Be Alive". Mrs. Roy Shaver gave a story and accompanying verses "Your Mission".

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Snider presided for the business period. The next meeting, in the form of a box social was planned. Tentative plans were also made for the "Men's Night" program, later this spring. The Young Adults' Valentine dance is to be held at Tobe's early in February.

The "Halloway Howler" was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Earle Snider, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMullen and Miss Bessie McMullen.

Sputniks Seem To Have Turned Fashion Heads

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters)—The Sputniks seem to have turned the thoughts of London's fashion designers toward the heavens.

The freedom of a body in limitless space, the lightness of air, the clear blue of a cloudless sky or the vivid shades of sunrise and sunset — all these are reflected in London's current fashion picture.

"It's heaven!" is, in fact, the theme of a pre-collection display of accessories by the associate members of the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers.

The display is being arranged in connection with a pre-collection ball for overseas buyers and important guests, to be held Feb. 3, the eve of the London openings.

Some 200 yards of "heavenly blue" velvet stretched on frames will create a room within a room in the grand salon of Dartmouth House, with its lovely marble staircase.

Within this man-made "heaven," angels floating on clouds of white tulle will display the various fashion accessories made by the associate members of the society—hats, shoes, furs, stockings, costume jewelry, lingerie and corsets.

The London collections this year are being shown after those of Rome, Florence and Paris. London's couturiers agreed to make the experiment as a result of complaints from overseas buyers that the overlapping of the London and Florence openings made it impossible for them to attend both.

Details of "the 1958 look," as seen by London's designers, are secret until each opens his collection. But there are a number of straws in the wind.

It is almost certain that there will be no violent change of line. Evolution rather than revolution is in the air—and that includes evolution of the autumn "sack" dress into an easy fitting shape with lightly-marked waist and belt, or a version of the two-piece jumper suit.

The sack, as such, already is finished in London, though its influence lingers. For weeks now, there has not been a "pure sack" in sight.

Bag Silhouette Paris Decree For Spring Look

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters)—It's still the sack, the chemise, the shapeless shape and the bag silhouette.

Those women who have turned thumbs down so far on the formless fit must take another long look, for Paris decrees — and business will back up—that this will be the outstanding theme women will have to buy for the coming season.

Summing up the first four big Paris collections — from Gres, Jean Patou, Jacques Heim and Pierre Cardin — the following trends are outstanding:

Hemlines shorter than ever and raised to a scant 19 and 20 inches. The unfitted look, which is coming through even stronger than last season; wider shoulders and bold open-up necklines.

Heim made news with his collection based on the free, unfitted silhouette. He calls this the new satellite in the orbit of fashion.

The "spoon shape" stars a brief 18-inch hemline with the loose chemise look, playing with an endless variation of waistlines that are indicated but never secured.

Cardin calls his new line the "sickle," and states that "today the natural body of a woman is out of fashion."

"It is the female figure that must conform to the shape of the Letter From India

Editor's Note: Two years ago there appeared in the Intelligencer several letters from Miss Ferne Gerrie, Missionary to India from the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle of this city, telling of her work there. Last year Ferne was home on furlough, and last September left for New York City, on the first lap of her return to India for her next term of spreading the Gospel to those that sit in darkness. The following letter gives a pen picture of her trip to Akola by boat and train, and the reception accorded her.

Greetings from India, and a very happy and blessed new year to you all! As we look back over the past year, I am sure we can all say with the Psalmist, "Thou crownest the year with thy goodness; and thy paths drop fatness." Psa. 65:11.

On October 9th I left the shores of New York on the Queen Elizabeth, taking my last view of the Empire State building for the next 5½ years. We had a very enjoyable crossing with companionable cabin mates. The Lord gave a very marvellous opportunity to witness to a hungry German Jewess. She has since written that she has received a copy of the Bible — an edition which is especially arranged for Jews — and is reading it. Do pray for her.

Upon my arrival in London, England, the Shipping Company told me that my next ship had suffered a fire the previous night, and would be indefinitely delayed. However, the afternoon before we were to sail, they wired to say that the ship would be delayed only a day. Our voyage from London to Bombay took 17 days, travelling through the Mediterranean Sea, the Suez Canal, the Red Sea and into the Indian Ocean. All was peaceful in that troubled part of world from all appearances, and the various Egyptian hawkers were as eager as ever to sell their colorful wares to the passengers from their little boats. Mount Sinai was very misty, but we could in a small way envision what the children of Israel saw as they trekked through that hot, tree-less desert.

As we neared the shores of India in the late afternoon of November 4th, the Indian pilot came aboard to steer us safely into port. The gateway of India stood erect and stately in the declining rays of the sun, welcoming us back to this land that we had grown to love. "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit," were the words that the Lord seemed to whisper to me as we slowly and deliberately entered the harbor of Bombay.

Through the mass of shouting, haggling coolies I could see several of our missionaries who had come to meet me. After the usual red tape of immigration and customs, during which the Lord greatly helped me, I was soon aware that I was back in India. The spicy-scented air, the scores of beggars asleep on the streets (for that is their only home), and the terrible poverty apparent everywhere came with a fresh jolt to me. One can never get used to poverty, especially after coming from the land of prosperity.

WEEK OF MEETINGS

A week after my arrival in India, the Lord visited Akola in a real way. The Billy Graham of India, Dr. Akbar Haaq, held a week of meetings in our church. Morning and evening the church was packed with about 700 people, and many stood outside because of lack of space. A number of high caste and educated Indians attended the services, and were greatly impressed to hear this man, who was not only a doctor of philosophy but also had his doctorate in Persian, expounding the simple truth of Christianity.

We saw a demon-possessed youths delivered; a Hindu man found Christ and immediately cut of the sacred brass bracelet which represented some vow he had made to a god. He also cut off the long strand of hair on the crown of his head which all orthodox Hindus wear. Two Anglican or Episcopalian clergymen's wives who had come to observe also found Christ. They said, "We came empty. We go home full." Many young people met the Lord and some were caled into His service. Whole families were saved and reunited at the feet of Jesus At the end of 5 days there were 340 decisions recorded for Christ The whole expense (1500 rupees) was assumed and met by our local church, and it greatly encouraged them to see how God met expenses through His own children's offerings. Since the meetings ended, reports continue to come in of others who are finding Christ through the testimony of those who met God in the meetings. Do pray that the Spirit will continue to work in hearts.

THE EVERLASTING ARMS

Truly the Lord has protected me many times since arriving. Just a few days after my arrival I was travelling on one of our fast trains. We were delayed seven hours. Upon inquiring I heard that a serious train wreck the night before had been the cause for the delay. The next two days that same mail train was derailed by saboteurs and 35 lives were lost and hundreds injured. It was no doubt instigated by Communists. Truly He does keep the feet of His saints. We do need your prayers and are counting on you, our coworkers, to bear us up before the Throne of Grace.

Yours in His service,
Ferne Gerrie

Quinte SS Open House Program Wins Well-Deserved Approval

The result of hard work by the Quinte Secondary Home and School Association and the friendly co-operation of the teachers was vindicated last Thursday night when an estimated four hundred parents visited their children's school. Mrs. Clifford Brown and her executive received congratulations from parents and teachers alike for the well organized and smoothly executed program.

As the parents entered the main door, a book was there for signatures and a blackboard reminding parents of the next general meeting February 27th. Besides the blackboard announcement, there were announcements made over the P.A. system because some parents entering by the side entrance did not get around to signing the book or seeing the blackboard. At the last count there were fifty new memberships accounted for that evening and indications are that many more will be forthcoming by the February meeting.

At each classroom door where a teacher was waiting to interview parents, there was a Room Mother. The Room Mothers had been organized and arranged by Mrs. Green and the Frankford representative. A Room Mother took the parent or parents into the classroom, presented them to the teacher and left. At the end of five minutes the Room Mother re-entered the room indicating that other parents were waiting to see the teacher. This quiet gesture made it possible for the teacher to end an interview without embarrassment and with courtesy. The Room Mother would then bring the next parents forward and present them in turn to the teacher.

It proved a happy and efficient solution to a problem. The process continued throughout the evening from seven o'clock until approximately ten o'clock. The whole evening was devoted to a single purpose. It was an opportunity for parent and teacher to meet, to discuss a student's problem and to understand one another's viewpoints. There was no business meeting. It was "open house" in both the literal and the actual sense. There were probably better than one third of the parents of the school present that night and the general consensus seems to be that the beneteachers and the pupils. This in return is the reward that comes to the school's H and S Association.

Quinte S. S.'s Home and School Association plans a community project for the February 27th meeting. It is hoped that special speakers will be here from Kingston and Peterborough to discuss health services in secondary schools. Mrs. Brown and Mr. Reid are convinced that the topic is not only of interest, but is of concern to the secondary school. They hope that Quinte parents will contribute to the success of this discussion by attending and bringing other parents from the schools.

DDGM Pays Official Visit To Minerva 138

Last Friday evening, Minerva Chapter 138, O.E.S., was largely attended at its regular meeting on the occasion of the official visit of Mrs. Marion Thompson, of Arden, D.D.G.M. of District No. 12, who was heartily welcomed by Mrs. Margaret Hunt, W.M.

There were many visitors present from chapters of the surrounding district. These included P.D.G.M.s, Presiding Matrons and Patrons, Past Matrons and Patrons, from Belleville 55, Trenton, Tweed, Quinte, Lakeside, Picton and Napanee. All were welcomed by the Worthy Matron, assisted by W. P. Mr. Leslie Finkle.

The Worthy Matron, Patron and other officers were congratulated on the efficiency of their work and all enjoyed a short inspirational talk on "Influence," by Mrs. Marion Thompson, D.D.G.M.

A lovely solo was rendered by Mrs. Alice Furmidge. A small gift of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Thompson, D.D.G.M., by Mrs. Frances Marner.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Merle Brennan's and Mrs. Norma Milligan's group, assisted by the special refreshments committee convened by Mrs. Janet Williamson and Mrs. Elsie

Congregational Meeting

BRIDGE STREET UNITED CHURCH

The congregational meeting of Bridge Street United Church was held in the church school auditorium last Wednesday evening. The meeting was opened by a brief devotional period led by the minister, the Rev. Harry M. Davis, following which the names of 27 deceased members of the congregation were read. J. D. Demeza was named chairman of the meeting and R. S. Robb, secretary, and a mimeographed report of departmental work was distributed and reviewed in some detail by Mr. Davis.

In 1957, 97 new members were received by the church and 78 members were removed by death or certificate, making an increase in church membership of 21, for a total congregation of 1,600, up almost 500 from 1956.

Some of the highlights of the year's activities were summarized briefly:

In July, the Rev. Robert F. Sherwin came as assistant minister from Cherry Valley. Miss Jean Boswell, who acted as director of Christian Education, and the Rev. H. H. Hillis, who rendered service to the sick and shut-ins, retired. Mr. Hillis was elevated to honorary minister of visitations.

Miss E. Morden was placed in charge of the newly-created office of secretary of envelopes and Miss Vera Miller was appointed church secretary.

A church visitation school was held in July under the direction of Miss Boswell and Rev. Sherwin and others.

Rev. Dr. G. Ernest Thomas from the Methodist Church, U.S.A., conducted a mission in the church.

CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICE

For the first time, a Christmas eve service was held in the church. The AOTS Men's Club purchased a tape recorder which has already been used to record services in the church for the enlightenment of the sick and shut-ins.

Mr. Davis remarked that 700 families are members of the church and 148 others who are not connected with families also are members. Total number of persons under pastoral oversight is 2,715.

Last year 33 baptisms, 18 marriages and 39 funeral services were held in the church. Fifty-three new members were received by profession of faith, 59 received by certificate.

Mr. Davis extended thanks to church officials for their faithful service, to Alec Gordon, organist; Mrs. O'Neil, Miss Morden and Miss Miller for their secretarial services; Sonny Belch for his untiring services as caretaker; Alan Banting for remaining with the Sunday School as superintendent; to the Sunday school staff; leaders and members of women's and youth groups; J. W. Hodgson for making use of 124 members as ushers; to Miss Helen Sulman and Mrs. Moon, who are the flower committee; to Miss Grace Tucker, Miss Morden and Miss Nettie Ketcheson as members of the communion arrangements committee; to Mrs. Clare for two years of faithful leadership of the W.A., and to everyone in any way connected with the missionary cause of Bridge St. United Church.

Rev. Robert Sherwin, assistant minister, reported on the Christian Education program and said that work in this field falls into two divisions: the church school and the mid-week group. He cited the "excellent leadership" of Mr. Banting and other church school superintendents as being primary reasons why the school is now well-organized and staffed.

Mr. Sherwin remarked that church school attendance has shown a "slight increase" to 479 pupils, while the average attendance is "down a bit." Lack of sufficient classroom space is still a problem, but the new Tower Room is a "very welcome contribution" towards the solution of this problem.

NO UNUSED SPACE

"At the moment," he said, "almost every nook and cranny of the building is being utilized for class space, and tribute must be paid to the teachers who carry on their task under conditions that are not ideal."

Mr Sherwin said that although the church library is reasonably well stocked, there is room for more literature that would assist teachers and mid-week leaders.

He congratulated Miss Joy Nichols, the missions superintendent, for providing interesting and informative programs. Miss Carolyn Franklin, he said, was a delegate to the Youth Temperance Conference in Toronto.

In the mid-week phase of the Christian Education program, groups for all ages meet regularly and carry out full programs. The mission band has a membership of 33 youngsters and it held 10 meetings, carrying out a program of study, worship, handwork and recrea-

H. M. Davis and Mrs. R. M. Patterson retired. In the fall, their duties were assumed by Mrs. D. J. Ross and Mrs. S. J. Loynes. Membership in the Explorers is 38, with an average attendance of 89 percent, under the leadership of Mrs. R. Schryver.

The C.G.I.T. has 40 members in the church and several of the girls attended the intermediate camp at Quin-Mo-Lac and the senior camp in the Ottawa valley last summer. In September, Miss Margaret Hillis became superintendent and she, with her assistants, Mrs. F. R. Burrows, Misses E. Black, I. Clarke and S. Foster, is carrying out an active program.

Harold A. Parker, chairman of the committee of stewards, reported and thanked the congregation for its support. He said that during the year considerable renovating and repair work had been carried out in the church, including the installation of new oil heating equipment.

Mr. Parker thanked the W.A. for a $1,300 donation to the organ fund.

W. H. Finkle, chairman, and treasurer Ethel Morden, of the missionary and maintenance fund, reported that $14,376 had been received during the year as compared to $12,800 in 1956.

The Afternoon Auxiliary of the W.M.S. had disbursements of $1,600 as against receipts of $1,606.58. The Jubilee Evening Auxiliary of the W.M.S., with 77 members, showed receipts of $1,045.13 and disbursements of $1,027.50.

The Benevolent Fund fed 61 people, distributed 12 Christmas boxes and sent flowers to sick people. A special collection of $500 was given to help renovate Centre Street church. Disbursements were $951.45 and the credit balance is $324.06.

The W.A. of 177 members wound up the year with a credit balance of $489.31. Coronation Club balance is $12.11.

Other reports were heard from the Mission Band, Baby Band, choir, library, A.O.T.S. Men's Club, 11th Belleville Cub pack and Scout troop, Junior and Senior Y.P.U.s, Explorers, C. G. I. T., and the Church Vacation school

The church school reported an enrolment of 479 children. Balance of the White Gift fund is $313.56.

RECEIPTS TOTAL $51,319

N. Thompson submitted the church financial report for treasurer Harry Ackerman who is ill in hospital. The report showed $30,288.49 was collected in 1957 in envelope and loose collections. Royal Bank notes totalled $15,000. Total of receipts was $51,319.33. On the debit side of the ledger was $13,663.46 for salaries and $1,336.15 in income tax. General repairs to the church took $2,843.61 and to the windows, $1,250. Balance on hand is $1,839.26 with $17,000 in notes outstanding. Balance in the organ fund in $3,862.40 and the increase in collections over 1956 was $4,337.25.

A resolution was presented by W. J. Morrison thanking the Rev. and Mrs. Davis and the Rev. R. F. Sherwin for their services during the year. Another resolution was presented expressing regret at Mr. Ackerman's illness and extending him best wishes for an early recovery. Mr. Ackerman had acted as church treasurer for over 40 years.

Replacment Elders are David Thompson, Dr. Reg. Edwards, David Vice, Newton Macfie, Dr. James Loynes, Stuart Robb and Gordon Lachlin.

New Stewards are Robert Brailey, J. D. Courtney, William Delline, Bruce MacKenzie, Fred F. Taylor and R. G. Walsh.

Tribute was paid to the following church members who died during the year: Mrs. George Woodhouse, Mrs. Helen Baker, Mrs. Jane Skinner, Roy K. Thompson, Percy W. Dewberry, Charles B. McGuire, Edward S. Sherry, Bert Kiser, Mrs. L. N. Phillips, H. W. Leavitt, Norman Montgomery, Henry Lough, Mrs. Jean Hodges, Ross J. Bateman, George E. Foster, Mrs. Mildred Morgan, Morley R. Duff, Herbert W. Fox, James Andrew Little, Denzil L. Storey, Ila Boyd, Dorothy Roblin, Mrs. Amy Richardson, Milton Fowler, Mrs. Oris McLeod, W. D. Steward and Simon George Kerr.

English Silver Exhibition Draws Interested Crowds

By MARY FRAN BURKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Highlighting seven centuries of the silversmith's art, an exhibition of English silver is drawing interested crowds to the Royal Ontario Museum. During the first two weeks more than 7,000 attended the show which continues until March 10.

More than 300 pieces are in the collection, valued at $3,000,000. The exhibits range from intimate pieces such as a picnic set (a silver cup with cutlery) to ornate drinking horns and chandeliers and the modern cup commemorating Sir Edmund Hillary's conquest of Mount Everest.

Items for the collection were loaned by the Queen, private English homes, museum, colleges, and private collectors in Canada and abroad.

Most spectacular are treasures from the German House of Brunswick—a 10-foot silver mirror, table and chairs in silver—all arranged as they were in England in the court of George II.

Two sauce boats lent by the Queen are outstanding. They are of solid silver, with a layer fold on top, known as silver-gilt. Figures representing Venus form the handles and the shell-shaped sauce boats are supported by dolphins, rocks and shells.

Earliest pieces in the exhibition, other than spoons, are a silver-gilt mounted ox-horn and a coconut cup, both with impressive cresting, moulding and trefoil.

Simple forms of the wine cup, small trencher salts, a pierced bread basket and ostrich egg cups, with little or no decoration, are found in the Puritan era items.

During the Stuart period decorative features in silver took on a new kind of circular or oval lobing. Patterns in the wine taster, strawberry dish and porringer were produced by punching, dotting and incision.

As the exhibition shows, this period introduced toilet sets, ink stands, sconces and silver or silvered furniture, punch bowls and mugs. Graceful candlesticks are seen in hollow-stemmed columnar and cast. Embossing, chasing and engraving is common to all forms of decoration—the acanthus leaf, flowers and scrolls are popular decorations.

In the Queen Anne period exhibits, silver items take on a simple, plain somewhat massive style. Teapots, fruit dishes, brandy warmers and wine cisterns display plainness despite the use of ornamental decoration.

In the Georgian era a new style, rococo, sought richness of effect at the cost of regularity. Elaborate table centrepieces, cake baskets and soup tureens are shown.

Some items, mainly of the Queen Anne and Georgian eras, from Canadian collectors are outstanding.

From Edmonton comes the E. E. Poole collection containing a beautifully ornate George III soup tureen with fluted edges. A silver tray with curled edges and scroll design, and a Queen Anne silver-gilt cup and cover are included.

An anonymous entry from Nova Scotia includes a massive goblet (no decoration) a hot water jug with sweeping lines and high, curved wooden handles.

Answer: I would like to say thanks to the following people for their marvelous response to the 'flap jack' request. To Mrs. E. D. H.; Mrs. Jean T.; Mrs. I. M. T.; Mrs. Margaret S. (thanks for the trifle recipe also; Mrs. [illegible]; Mrs. B. L. the Demerara sugar may now be purchased at health food stores); and to Mrs. E. M. for her Oatcakes. Anyone who has asked for information or recipes etc. they will be mailed direct to you. So thank you one and all for your 'operation rescue'.

Question: I have been trying to find a recipe for a candy which a friend of ours . . . calls 'Spuds'. Usually see about St. Patrick's day . . . look like miniature potatoes . . . if you can help me I will appreciate it very much. Make your recipes and they are successful, Mrs. E. F.

Answer: Thanks for your letter. Yes these candies have been a favorite for years and the base may be used in many different ways. Fondant: 2 cups granulated sugar, 1 cup water, 2 tablespoons corn syrup or ⅛ teaspoon cream or tartar, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Put sugar, corn syrup and water in saucepan and heat slowly. Do not let it begin to boil until the sugar is completely dissolved. Wash down the sides of the pan with a fork wrapped in a damp cloth, or cover and cook for 2 or 3 minutes so that the steam will carry down the crystals that have been thrown on the side of the pan. Remove the cover and continue to boil slowly without stirring to soft ball stage (235 deg. F.) While cooking keep the cover partly on to keep the crystals washed down. Remove from heat and pour at once on large platters or slabs which have been dipped into cold water and let stand till lukewarm. Add vanilla. Stir with fork untill creamy. Then knead with from lumps.

Fondant is better if allowed to ripen for several days. Wrap in wax paper and put in tightly covered jar.

To shape spuds. Pinch off a small amount and roll in your hands into a ball, then slightly elongate to the shape of a potato. Roll in cinnamon and set on wax paper. To make the eyes — press the potato in spots with the blunt end of the clove — just before you roll in the cinnamon.

Question: . . . have you a recipe for stuffing for roast goose? Miss J.A.J.

Answer: Sorry you lost your recipe but am always glad to help.

POTATO STUFFING
(Roast Goose)

2 cups hot mashed potatoes, 1¼ cups soft stale bread crumbs, ¼ cup finely chopped fat salt pork, 1 finely chopped onion, ⅓ cup butter, 1 egg, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon sage. To the potatoes add bread crumbs, butter, egg, salt and sage. Mix well, then add pork and onion and mix well again. Stuff bird not too tightly and truss.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

PATIENT SHOULD PAY FOR HER TELEPHONE CALL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Yesterday I had to wait so long in my doctor's office that I realized I would not be able to keep a luncheon engagement I had made. So I asked the doctor's office nurse if I might use the telephone. I did not think I should offer to pay for the call, but my husband insists this was rude and also unbusinesslike. What is your opinion? — R.M.

I agree with your husband . . . you should have taken it for granted that you were to pay for the call. This is businesslike . . . and considerate.

SENIOR EXECUTIVE AND WIFE SHOULD GIVE FIRST INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband is a junior executive in his company, and recently has been transferred to this branch of his company here. Of course it is important that we make our social way very carefully and properly. We are both faithful churchgoers, and are planning to join the church of our denomination here.

We have not been able to do any entertaining since we have been here, because we wanted to entertain in our home. But this week we have moved into a rented house, are fairly well settled. I would like first to invite my husband's superior, a senior executive in the company, and his wife, to dine with us. But my husband disapproves of this, says it's "pushing," "too previous," insists that we should wait until the "boss" and his wife invite us to come to their house. Which of us is right about this? (We just mustn't make a social misstep!) — Puzzled Reader

Your husband has the wise and sound social point of view about this, as is natural because he has more opportunity to observe the social-business procedure at close range. Do take your husband's advice to wait for his "chief" and his wife to do the first inviting. I am sure that they will expect to be given this initiative, and probably, if circumstances permit, will make a social gesture to you and your husband soon.

Mildred F. — My sister is a 60-year-old widow, who is living a perfectly miserable life because her daughter is so mean to her.

Ann goes to work every day in spite of her age, but she has no peace or pleasure when she comes home. The daughter, Nora, made a bad marriage about ten years ago and has been soured on men and life in general ever since. She is just a bundle of nerves and picks on her mother for every little thing.

I would like Ann to come live with me. I am also a widow and I am living alone. I have plenty of room in my home and we could really enjoy life together.

Ann D. — How can a mother think about her own comfort when she sees that her child is suffering?

Nora married a real heel and spent the most miserable two years of her life with him. She is now nearly 40 and has nothing in her life. She hates her job, has no men friends and her future looks hopeless. How can I leave her alone?

At the same time, sometimes I think I'll have to get away from her or she'll drive me crazy. She yells at me for nothing at all. Then she cries and says she didn't mean to do it, so I can't hold anything against her. I would be happier with Mildred, but what about Nora?

The Council: As we get the picture, Ann is now providing her daughter with an outlet for her nerves. Beyond that — and possibly serving as a domestic convenience — she is doing nothing, and is able to do nothing, to help her daughter.

This sacrifice is unnecessary and it may be hurting Nora even more than Ann. Nora is evidently living in entirely negative terms. She hates her job, is irritated with her mother and, beyond these feelings, has nothing.

We think it would be a good idea if Ann rocked this unpleasant boat by letting her daughter know that she finds the living arrangement unsatisfactory. She should, by all means, move in with her sister if it would make her happier. Her "child" is now nearly 40 and is responsible for creating a life of her own.

Ann should recommend that her daughter find companionship of her own age. If Nora is seriously depressed, she should avoid living alone, and should try to find a young woman with whom she can share her apartment.

Such an arrangement would force her to be more considerate of somebody — and that experience in itself might lead her out of her self-centered brooding.

Nora needs friends, interests, hobbies — but not a scapegoat, the role her mother is now playing. If she makes no effort to find a happier, healthier way of life, her mother should suggest that she seek psychiatric help.

MADOC W.I.

MADOC — Madoc branch of the W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Albert Empey on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Bailey, the president, opened the meeting.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $256.80 on hand. It was announced the Girls' Club will hold a class, "The Cereal Shelf," in Trinity United Church school rooms on February 15th at 9.30 a.m. Visitors are welcome.

Mrs. K. T. Nicol, who attended the first national convention of W.I. members held in Ottawa in October, will give a report of the meetings at a special meeting to be held in the Masonic banquet hall in January. Members of the surrounding branches will be invited to attend.

Mrs. E. Moore, health convener, was in charge of the program, which included a reading and an interesting paper on "National Health." It was mentioned that the Home for Retarded Children at Plainfield had been taken over by Hastings County. Mrs. Beatty gave a reading, "The Modern Kitchen." It was decided to hold the next meeting on February 14 as the regular meeting date conflicted with the special World's Day of Prayer.

A vote of thanks was extended to the hostess and those who took part in the program.

Mrs. Empey and her assistants served refreshments.

Congregational Meeting

COLLEGE HILL UNITED

The annual congregational meeting of College Hill United Church was held in the Sunday School auditorium on January 15th, following a pot-luck supper. There was a fair attendance of members at both the supper and meeting.

The Reverend W. E. G. Dovey officiated at the meeting and opened with the singing of a hymn, Scripture reading and prayer.

It was agreed that Mr. O. Dafoe act as secretary for the meeting.

Mr. Dovey gave a report on church activities since he arrived on the charge.

The reports from the various organizations of the church showed that 1957 was a good year for all organizations.

Mr. H. Burley gave the Sunday School report and stressed the need for more teachers. He also reported on the communicants class under the direction of Mr. R. Dafoe, as a result of which 26 new members were received into the church.

Mr. R. Armstrong moved a vote of thanks to all those who held office in the various departments of the church during the past year. Mrs. N. Greenwood also moved a vote of thanks to all those who had any part in the building of the new manse.

It was agreed that there should be 12 steward's for the coming year; those elected were: R. Armstrong; Mrs. N. Neal; B. Moorcroft; K. Belcour and M. Waite.

The new elders are: L. McIquham; E. Keene; J. McBride; G. McCreary, who were added to the six former elders, making a total of ten.

It was agreed that the board of trustees; the building committee, and the officers of the Sunday School remain unchanged. Mrs. Worley will be retained as church caretaker, and Miss Carolyn Belcour will be retained as church organist, and Mr. L. Brown as choir leader.

Mrs. B. Moorcroft and Mrs. T. McIquham were elected as auditors for 1958.

Mr. Dovey closed the meeting with the benediction.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Sammy Pollock's colorful Ottawa-Hull Canadiens juniors will be the guests of the McFarlands tonight—and thereby hangs a five-point tale.

The Bytown youngsters picked by some, exclusive of Toronto, to win the Memorial Cup, not to mention the St. Laurent bauble, can hop into first place in the Eastern League standing if they can knock off our side, since through the generosity of the Eastern moguls at a mid-summer meeting, the Baby Habs garner three points for a victory, two for the first tie and one for the second, and so on.

A win for the young Habitants will give them 44 points, two in front of the Macs, while a tie, their second of the season will bring them on even terms with Ike's crew for the league lead. As of now the Ottawa band is tied for second place with Pembroke, each with 41 points.

The McFarlands have a three-won-two-lost record with the Pollock youngsters, winning two of them on Hull ice, and one here. The last game in Hull saw the McFarlands extended to the limit. After blowing a two-goal second period lead, the Macs came back to win the tilt in overtime with Gerry Goyer's disputed goal turning the trick.

The Macs face a tough week's schedule, playing four games in five nights. Wednesday night they trek to Pembroke where Wally Lenser's Golden Goose is once again hanging high, with the Lumber Kings right back here come Friday night. Saturday night, the Macs hike to Kingston to take on Dick Allen's CKLC's.

Digressing for the moment, do not forget the train excursion to Kingston Saturday evening. The Booster Club is sponsoring the trek and tickets are tabbed at $3.00, including fare and arena ticket. You can get them at Moe's Coffee Shop, the C.N.R. ticket office and Bill Cook's Tobacco Store. Better grab 'em while they're going. The Quinte Kiltie Band is going along to provide the skirls for the party.

The McFarlands and the Pembroke Lumber Kings have the mathematical opportunity of beating out the Whitby Dunlops for the official league leadership come schedule end, with the Macs having a slightly better chance.

They have thirteen games left to play, including tonight's tilt, and must win eight of them to nose out the Dunlops by a single point. Pembroke also has thirteen games left but must win eight and tie one to obtain the desired effect.

And if you're a betting man, better ask odds that neither club will accomplish the feat since five of their thirteen games see them pitted one against the other, with three slated for the northern town. Four wins this week, while it is a lot to expect, would help the Macs no end.

Meanwhile up around Golden Lake where the man with the arm of the same name, nuggets and timbers, everything is hunkey-dory. Wally Lenser with brother Wilfred are wearing that cat-that-digested-the-canary look — and who can blame them.

Mayhap it was a publicity stunt, as some dubbed it. Perhaps Lenser intended to move the Kings, lock, stock and barrel to Hull—a suggestion that tossed the hackles of Samuel Pollock and Scotty Bowman into an up-end tizzy. And maybe he was just tossing a scare into the not-so-faithful faithful of Pembroke.

Lenser coupled his threat to fire any player who was not hockey-minded with the change of venue. And apparently did it to the accompaniment of a lot of table-thumping, not to mention that of the publicity drums.

In any event, it worked. The Lumber Kings snapped out of their alleged lethargy by winning four in a row and the pewsters exchanged living-room television, suds and movies for the less comfortable atmosphere of the Community Centre.

Saturday night a record crowd of 2305 clicked the turnstiles. Sunday another 1,500 contributed to a week-end attendance record.

Durelle Meets Hinnant Friday; Anthony Sick

NEW YORK (AP)—Yvon Durelle, 28-year-old fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., will meet Clarence Hinnant of Washington instead of Tony Anthony of New York in a light - heavyweight match at Madison Square Garden Friday.

Hinnant was signed Monday and replaces ailing Tony Anthony who has come down with the grippe. It was the second time the match had been knocked out. Durelle had pulled out of a Jan. 10 date with Anthony because of food poisoning.

WHITBY (CP) — Whitby Dunlops closed out their home season Monday night with a 2-2 overtime tie against Sudbury Wolves of the OHA-NOHA senior A series.

The Dunlops were scheduled to leave after the game for New York and the first leg of a tour that will end in Oslo Feb. 28 and the world hockey championships.

The largest crowd of the year, estimated 2,700, saw Connie Broder and Tom O'Connor score for Whitby and George Sennick and Bob Forhan for Sudbury.

There were some rough moments in the game with the Wolves drawing 10 penalties and the Dunlops four, including five-minute majors to Sudbury's Sennick and Whitby's Charlie Burns for fighting in the third period.

LASHED AT FAN

Sudbury's Norm Gustaverson drew a 10-minute misconduct for lashing out a spectatr.

Reform Institutions Minister Dymond of Ontario presented Whitby with $1,000 from the Ontario government at the end of the first period.

The Dunnies are leaving their wives behind.

The wives and children will do their cheering from this side of the Atlantic because club officials say too many problems unrelated to hockey would be created if they went along.

"After all," said manager Wren Blair, "we're not going overseas on a sightseeing tour but to play hockey with a sole aim of bringing back to Canada the world hockey title."

WIVES DISAPPOINTED

"Of course we were all a little disappointed at first," said Mrs. Jean Attersley, wife of star centre Bob Attersley. "But we are all now resigned to the fact we will be hockey widows for the next two months."

The players face a tight schedule once in Europe. Between Feb. 4 and 28 they play 14 games in England, Germany, Norway and Sweden. After the tournament they go to Zurich for two games, Scotland for one and London for two more.

Chuvalo Gets Unanimous Nod Over Mederos

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's George Chuvalo gave away experience and reach but showed more power and better condition to win a unanimous 10-round decision from Cuba's Julio Mederos Monday night.

A crowd of about 5,000 in Maple Leaf Gardens watched the 20-year-old Chuvalo knock Mederos down twice in the second round.

Mederos took a count of three after being hit by a looping left hook and was down a few seconds later after Chuvalo drove him into the ropes and connected with a right cross.

Referee Jim Braddock, former world heavyweight champion, reached a count of four when the bell rang. Braddock did not hear the bell and was at nine when Mederos, 24, was helped up by his handlers.

TIRED AT LAST

Mederos, who at one time ranked in the heavyweight division's first 10 contenders and has gone the distance with several heavy punchers in more than 30 professional fights, tired in the late stages and clinched repeatedly. The crowd booed constantly during the last three rounds.

Mederos used a four-inch reach advantage to stay out of range after the knockdowns. He had not fought since July.

Both fighters stand six feet, a half inch. Chuvalo weighed 208½ and Mederos 202.

In the preliminaries, Moses Graham 203, Buffalo, decisioned Willie Bell, 191, Syracuse (6); Charlie Pavlis, 175½, Toronto, TKO'd Jim Reilly, 172, Hamilton, 1:46 of second round (6); George Kartalian, 181, Syracuse, decisioned Gordon Baldwin, 192, Toronto (6); and Gene Tortorice, 148, Niagara Falls, N.Y., split-decisioned George Ferenczi, 149¾, Toronto (6).

MUST WEAR HELMETS

NEW YORK (AP)—Although it was not announced at the week-end meetings, it was learned Monday the American League has voted to make it mandatory for players to wear protective head gear. The National League took similar action about two years ago. Most American League players have worn the helmets or plastic liners but it was not required by league rule.

National Grid League Opens 4-Day Confab

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The four - day National Football League annual winter meeting opened here today with the college draft, a 10-hour job of player selections. Coaches, general managers and owners from each of the 12 pro clubs were on hand.

The first four rounds of the annual 30-round draft were held Dec. 1 That left 26 rounds involving 312 players to be run through today Commissioner Bert Bell indicated there was a slim possibility the owners might decide to reduce the draft by five rounds.

The reason for this is that the NFL has a contract limit of 60 players with a regular season maximum of 35 men. Thus even if a team signed all its draftees it would have 65 players, five over the contract maximum. It takes a unanimous vote to make the change.

ACCORDING TO FINISH

The teams will select in the order of their finish in the 1957 standings from last to first with the championship club last.

After the draft, the owners meet in executive session to take up such matters as congressional recommendations for changes in the league's constitution and by-laws, playing rules, schedules and expansion regulations.

Bell said he will recommend the lowest team in the standings each year for 12 years automatically get the bonus pick. Each team would be entitled to win just once. This means the lowest eligible team after the first year would get the bonus.

The owners also will be faced with a request by the players association for a pension plan.

Teeps' Mackenzie Takes Over Junior Lead

TORONTO (CP)—St. Catharines Teepees' Jack McKenzie crept one point ahead of teammate Ed Hoekstra last week to move into first place in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A individual scoring race. Another St. Catharines player, Matt Ravlich, is third, 10 points behind.

McKenzie has scored 28 goals, the same number as Hoekstra, but has one more assist, 50, for a total of 68 points.

Ravlich, however, tops the goal scorers with 30 and has, in addition, 27 assists for 57 points.

Hamilton's Murray Oliver is fourth with 53 points and Barrie's Bill Forhan follows with 51.

Len Broderick of Toronto Marlboros has the best goal-tending record with an average of 3.23 for 35 games. Dennis DeJordy of Teepees is next with a 3.29 average in 36 games and Cesare Maniago of Toronto St. Michael's is third with 3.29 goals in 31 games.

Edmonton Eskys Sign Coach From Oklahoma

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos of the western football conference have dipped into Oklahoma, their favorite football barrel, for a new head coach. He is Melvin (Sam) Lyle.

The club said Monday it signed Lyle, 35-year-old former Louisiana State end who has been an assistant coach at the University of Oklahoma for four years, to a three-year contract. He succeeds Frank (Pop) Ivy, who came to Edmonton four years ago from Oklahoma, and whose job at Oklahoma Lyle filled at that time.

Many of Eskimos' outstanding players of the last several years have been from Oklahoma, including Frank Anderson, Kurt Burris, Roger Nelson and Joe Mobra.

Ivy left Edmonton recently to become head coach with Chicago Cardinals of the U.S. National Football League. He took assistant Ray Prochaska with him.

Lyle has asked that Eskimo assistant Eagle Keyes be retained and he is expected to bring along another assistant to increase the staff to three again. An announcement on Keyes' decision and namng of a second assistant is expected shortly.

Lyle is a native of Eldorado, Ark., where he won all-state rating as a high school end. He played with Louisiana State after spending three years in the navy and he captained the state team that lost to Oklahoma in the 1950 sugar bowl.

He has eight seasons of coaching experience behind him, one as Louisiana State's freshman coach, three as an assistant at Georgia Tech and four at Oklahoma under Wilkinson. As coach and player he has been involved in six bowl games.

Habs' High-Scoring Tribunal Still Top National League

MONTREAL (CP)—A couple of fellows well down the scoring list supplied plenty of fireworks in last week's National Hockey League action, but not enough to cause Montreal Canadiens' leading triumvirate to even look back.

Don McKenney of Boston Bruins, a team that had the best record for the week, ran wild with four goals and four assists and seared from a 20th-place tie to a 10th-place deadlock.

Alex Delvecchio of Detroit Red Wings, seemingly taking charge in the absence of injured Gordie Howe, also potted four goals and added one assist. Delvecchio vacated the same 10th - place bracket for ninth spot.

These outbursts raised McKenney's point-total to 38 and Delvecchio's to 39.

BIG THREE UNCHANGED

At the head of the parade, in the official NHL statistics released Monday, Dickie Moore, Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion went serenely along in their 1-2-3 ranking.

Moore had two goals and one assist, boosting his total to 59 points. The little Rocket gained a point on his mate by scoring once and assisting three times and now has 56 points.

Geoffrion follows with 50 points, the Boomer counting only a goal. But it was a big one, giving him 27 for the season and leadership in goal production. Closest is Moore, with 26, followed by Camille Henry of New York Rangers with 25. Henri Richard's 35 assists are tops in that department, two better than Moore.

Howe, injured early in the first of Detroit's two games, had no points and dropped from a fourth place tie to sixth. Bronco Horvath of Boston made fourth spot his own with one goal and one assist and Andy Bathgate of New York moved up a notch to fifth place on the strength of two goals and an assist.

Horvath now has 47 points, Bathgate 46 and Howe 45.

STASIUK—SEVENTH

Vic Stasiuk of Boston, with a one - one record, holds seventh place, breaking a deadlock with Camille Henry whose one goal was his total production. Behind Stasiuk and Henry, who have 41 and 40 points, respectively, come Delvecchio with 39 and then McKenney and Billy Harris of Toronto Leafs with 38 each. Harris had four assists for his week's work.

As the best team of the week the Bruins picked up five of a possible six points on two wins and a tie and took sole possession of fourth place in the league standing. Toronto Maple Leafs, with a win, a loss and a tie, slipped to fifth place.

Montreal Canadiens, winning two of three starts, remain far in front with 67 points. New York dropped both games played but retains second place with 46 points. Detroit won and lost and remains in third spot with 45. The Bruins have 44 and Toronto 42. Last place Chicago Black Hawks lost ground with two losses against one win and have 33 points.

SIGN OUTFIELDER

BALTIMORE (AP)—Outfielder Al Pilarcik has agreed to terms with Baltimore Orioles for the 1958 season. Although details were not announced it was believed Pilarcik received a substantial pay boost which would put his salary at about $11,000. Last season the speedy outfielder hit .278 for the American League club.

Sox Sign Three

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox announced the signing of three more players today, including infielder Billy Goodman obtained from Baltimore in a December trade.

The number of players agreeing to 1958 terms now is 18.

The newest additions, besides Goodman, are utility infielder Sammy Esposito and Hal Trosky Jr.

CATCHER WITH A's

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry Chiti, 210-pound catcher, Monday signed his contract with the Kansas City Athletics, becoming the 10th player to agree to terms for the 1958 season. The 25-year-old Dearborn, Mich., player who was on the Chicago Cub roster in 1951 and 1956, played last season with Richmond Virginians of the International League.

Timmy, Rocket Steal Honors Sports Celebrities Dinner

TORONTO (CP)—Two dozen of the sports world's past and present stars headlined the annual sports celebrities dinner Monday night with a capacity $25-a-plate audience.

Baseball greats Lew Burdette, the world series Yankee-killer for Milwaukee Braves, and Willie Mays, San Francisco Giants' outfielder, matched speech-making talents, with ex-heavyweight boxing champ Gene Tunney, Edmonton Eskimo quarterback Jackie Parker and a host of other stars. And they "murdered 'em."

But a little boy whose steel-wrapped legs were propped by crutches stole the honors before 700 sportsmen when he shyly eyed Maurice (Rocket) Richard and quietly thanked his audience "for letting me meet my favorite hockey player."

SYMBOL OF CRIPPLED

The boy, 11-year - old David Crocker of Toronto, is Timmy of 1958, the symbol of Ontario's crippled children.

The dinner, organized by the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association, netted more than $17,000 for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. Since 1952 the dinners have raised upwards of $142,000.

The night's speeches ran from the sublime—Detroit Red Wing hockey executive Ebbie Goodfellow picked his past and present "dream teams"—to the ridiculous—Fritz Hanson's recollections of his wacky road trips with the 1935 Winnipeg Blue Bombers who won football's Grey Cup on Hanson's touchdown dive.

They had a touch of romance as Harold and Olga Connolly, gold medallists at the 1956 Melbourne Olympics, recalled their international romance which touched off world headlines and, for a moment, lifted the Iron Curtain around Czechoslovakia.

But Willie Mays summed it up for all the sports stars when he admitted that he had first tried to escape the trip to Toronto.

"My agent told me I was coming up here to see Timmy and I said 'who the heck is Timmy.' Honestly, I had him figured for some kind of Canadian athlete who was being honored for somethin' or other. Today I arrived here and met him. Believe me, I'd of been here a lot faster if I'd known this brave little fellow was waiting."

FROM NEAR AND FAR

Among the other celebrities on hand were golfer Al Balding, who was awarded a trophy as Ontario's athlete of 1958, Johnny Longden, the world's winningest jockey, Barbara Wagner and Bob Paul, Canadian and world pairs figure-skating champions, tennis great of the 1930s Fred Perry, ex-heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, swimmer Bill Yorzyk and footballers Cam Fraser and Bob Simpson.

It was announced that the sports writers and sportscasters are embarking on a new project for crippled children—a $150,000 swimming pool as part of a new crippled children's centre in Toronto to serve all Ontario.

The dinner proceeds have already helped to build three holiday camps for crippled children in the province at a cost of $126,000.

Peterborough Shades Juniors 3-2 With Flukey Goal Deciding Issue

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Superb goaltending by Don Dobson and a fluke goal in the final two minutes of play gave Peterborough a 3-2 victory over Belleville Lambert - Rollins in an OHA Junior "B" fixture before a fair-sized crowd here last night.

Belleville came up with one of its better performances of the year on home ice and outplayed the Petes almost all the way but were just unable to dent the twine behind Dobson. Peterborough led 2-0 after the first period while Belleville, dominating play in the second heat, knotted the score at 2-2 after forty minutes.

Again in the final frame the construction crew carried the play but it took a fluke goal off the stick of Ron Jay at 18.20 to break the deadlock and give the Petes their 18th victory in 20 games. Jay blasted a long, high shot toward the Belleville net which would have gone completely over the cage. Belleville's Gord Irwin reached up to knock the disc down while standing in front of goalie Jack Gilby. Irwin's hand deflected the rubber just enough for it to drop lazily behind Gilby. Coach Pete Jones lifted Gilby in favor of an extra forward for the final 30 seconds but to no avail.

Ron Jay bagged a pair of the Peterborough goals while the other went to Paul Parnell. Larry Ferguson had his club's only two assists. Ab Wright and Gary Rowbotham were the Belleville marksmen with Gary Goyer earning the lone assist.

The contest was one of the cleanest junior affairs of the season here with referees Mike Rain and Harry Morgan assessing only nine minor penalties, five to Peterborough. None of the penalties figured in the scoring.

Dobson was hot in the Peterborough nets from the opening whistle, robbing St. Louis twice and Brennan once in the first ten minutes of the game. The Petes' goals came near the middle of the period, Parnell slapping in Ferguson's pass from the side of the net at 10.22 and Jay sliding home another Ferguson pass just one minute later. No penalties were called in the first period.

The middle session was all Belleville as they bombarded Dobson with drive after drive. Jack Gill had a breakaway at 6.39 but was slashed down from behind by Parnell, the latter getting a two minute sentence.

Pete Jones' boys, led by the Wright - St. Louis - Goyer line, continued to carry the play until at 10.54 Wright took Goyer's pass and whistled a drive by Dobson to cut the Petes' lead to 2-1. Gary Rowbotham netted the equalizer at 19.20, stealing the disc off a defender at the blueline and waltzing in to deke Dobson for the 2-2 score.

Hungry for victory, Belleville worked hard in the third with Wright at three minutes, Gill at 5.40 and Goyer at nine minutes and 16.30 going in only to have Dobson kick out their labelled shots. Meanwhile Gilby turned back Horton's bid for the winner at the eleven minute mark on a clean break and kicked out several other tough shots. Then came the heartbreaker which Gilby had no chance on. Elliott of Belleville and Pearson of the Petes, were thumbed for roughing at 19.07 and Horton joined them at 19.30. Gilby was replaced in favor of an extra forward at this point but Belleville could not score with the five men to four advantage.

The line-up:

Peterborough — Dobson, Roberts, Casey, Jewell, Pearson, Horton, Parnell, Daley, Ferguson, Martin, Jay, Greenaway and Douglas.

Belleville — Gilby, Mann, Culloden, Titterson, Asselstine, Irwin, Rowbotham, Kerruish, Gill, Wright, Elliott, Brennan, Goyer, St. Louis.

Referees — Mike Rain and Harry Morgan.

Schmidt Says Adams' Charge Is 'Ridiculous'

BOSTON (CP) — Gordie Howe was in hospital nursing two broken ribs. But Detroit's all-star hockey player wasn't complaining, publicly at least.

He left that to his manager, Jack Adams, home in Detroit.

"Deliberate dirty play," Adams caleld it. "It was lousy, dirty uncalled for."

Milt Schmidt, Boston Bruins coach, seemed flabbergasted at Adams' outburst.

Schmidt said it was "utterly ridiculous" to suggest that two Boston Bruins deliberately hurt Howe, Detroit's leading scorer.

"I am positively dumbfounded that a man of Adams' capacity would make such a statement."

Adams charged Boston's Real Chevrefils steered Howe into Leo Boivin and the latter "gave the butt end of his stick (to Howe) right up under his hip pads."

Schmidt said:

"It was a perfectly harmless check. It happened right in front of me. It wasn't even a hard one. Howe and Boivin ran into each other and it was just odd the way Howe got hurt. Why, he was barely touched. And it didn't even warrant a penalty."

At Montreal NHL president Clarence Campbell said he will ask Adams for an explanation.

Campbell said he had talked by telephone with referee-in - chief Carl Voss, who was at the game, and that Voss is sending along a formal report.

"When I have that, I will be able to ask Adams the basis of the remarks attributed to him," said Campbell.

Stout Heart, Natural Ability Amazing Secret of Konrads

SYDNEY Australia (AP)—The secret of the amazing Konrads kids in their recent battering of world swimming records is natural ability—and lots of heart.

Tests made on 13-year-old Ilsa Konrads and her 15-year - old brother John show their hearts are so big and strong that their endurance is far greater than normal.

Swimming coach Forbes Carlile checked the youngsters on an instrument called a heartometer, which can measure the ability of the heart to pump oxygen-carrying blood through the body as it is needed in times of exertion.

The tests showed Ilsa's heart can stand up under strain much better than many men of 20, and pumps blood at a far greater rate than any other Australian woman swimmer tested.

John's heart shows the same characteristics.

TOMORROW THE WORLD

"Before long they should completely dominate Australian swimming," Carlile said. Today, that virtually means world swimming.

Ilsa gained international notice when she finished half a yard behind Olympic champion and world record holder Lorraine Crapp of Australia in the 440-yard freestyle final of the recent New South Wales championships.

Two days later, the five-foot, five-inch, 119-pound girl cracked Lorraine's world records for 880 yards and 800 metres in her first competitive race over the half-mile distance. She was timed in 10:17.7 for 880 yards (record was 10 34.6) and 10:11.1 for 800 metres (record was 10 30.9).

John, a five-foot, nine-inch, 168-pounder, broke into the act ..Jan. 11, when he smashed American George Breen's world marks for 880 yards and 800 metres with a time of 9:17.7. Breen's time for the distances was 9:19.2.

Four days later, John wiped out Australian Olympic champion Murray Rose's world standards for 440 yards and 400 metres with a clocking of 4:25.9. This clipped 1.1 seconds off Rose's 400-metre record and 1.2 seconds off Rose's 440-yard time.

LEFT EUROPE

The Konrads family left Riga, Latvia, in 1944. They now are naturalized Australians. Father John works in Sydney as a dental technician.

"We did not go out of our way to make Ilsa and John swimmers," said Mrs. Konrads. "I can't swim. My husband can swim, but only the way most Australians can swim."

"Five years ago Ilsa could just paddle across the local pool at Bankstown, a Sydney suburb. John could swim about half the length.

One day the two Konrads youngsters asked coach Don Talbot to teach them to swim properly.

Talbot did just that and although he said both were natural swimmers, he kept the pair out of competition until he felt they were strong enough to race without over-straining themselves.

NORMAL, EXCEPT

They are normal school kids and lead normal lives except that Ilsa swims 3½ miles a day and John does about 4½ miles.

At home they listen to jazz records and rock 'n' roll and go to the movies occasionally. Ilsa sews, collects stamps and reads.

John plays tennis when he doesn't swim. He wants to be an architect. He has no special girl friend.

There's no doubt in the minds of Australians—about where they're going in July, 1960. The place is Rome, Italy, and the occasion—the Olympic Games.

THE KID VS MORENO

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Olympic Auditorium says world featherweight champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria will defend his title here March 20 against Mexico's Ricardo (Pajarito) Moreno. Matchmaker George Parnassus said the 15-round bout will be held outdoors in Wrigley Field.

Millionaires Score 8-1 Win Over Bancroft

MARMORA (Special)—Marmora Millionaires tightened their grip on second place in the OHA Intermediate "C" northern group last night by whipping Bancroft Pontiacs 8-1 at the Dr. Crawford Memorial Arena.

The Millionaires took a 2-0 lead in the first period and extended the margin to 7-0 by the end of the second. Bancroft got one back early in the third before Marmora added the final marker.

G. Leonard and Earl Cousins were the top scorers for Marmora, Leonard getting a goal and three assists while Cousins had a pair of goals and one helper. Bob Maynes and Jones each earned one and one with Brooks, Deering and Mantle also scoring. Trumble and Gray had single assists.

Czerwinski fired the lone Bancroft goal at 6.45 of the third period with Green assisting.

Tom Brooks of Marmora and Bruce of Bancroft tangled in the second period and were assessed major penalties for fighting. The pair continued their scrap in the penalty box and both were ejected from the game.

Bancroft drew ten of the game's 19 penalties over all.

Ashley Cooper Cracks Jinx; Retains Crown

SYDNEY (AP)—Ashley Cooper cracked a longtime jinx and retained the Australian national tennis championships Monday by beating Mal Anderson 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.

Anderson, who had smashed Cooper in the United States finals and also in two Australian state tournaments with the loss of only one set, appeared weary from an hour and 22 minutes of tennis in a postponed semi-final match earlier in the day.

Near the end of the match with Cooper, the slender Queenslander had trouble keeping his feet. He staggered around the court and several times swung listlessly at a passing shot. Cooper, on the other hand, was at his serving and volleying best.

Anderson's semi-final with left-handed Mervyn Rose was called because of darkness Sunday with Anderson leading 6-2, 5-7, 6-4.

Resuming this morning, the two players went 34 games without loss of service. Anderson broke Rose's delivery in the 35th game and held his own service for a 19-17 set and the match.

Anderson acknowledged later that while he had returned to the hotel before the final match he had been unable to sleep.

The exultant Cooper said he was sorry his foe had been forced to finish the earlier match.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop was smoking to himself thoughtful, saying to ma, High ho. time matches on.

Goodness that's right, I promised to call up Maud Hews at 8 therty, and it's neerly that now, ma said, and pop said, I was thinking of time in a broder sense. A man's mind should continue to be as active as a young grasshopper, but in the course of years his body is bound to slow down, and he should drive himself carefully and stop at all corners.

I've always told you that, William, ma said, and pop said, I've heard you at last, my dear. From now on my motto is going to be take things easy, eat less and think more, he said.

Well of course, William, ma said. If you drive yourself like an enraged bull, you'll find other peeple only too willing to drive you like a willing horse. And you are quite right, William, the time to be sensible about your helth is while you are still reasonably young. My goodness, I meen for land sakes, you dont need to wait till you have one foot on the other shore before you learn moderation, she said.

You're a hunderd per cent right, tax included, pop said. I think I'll tell the boys I wont bowl with them tomorrow night. I'll stick to my principals and skip this week, he said, and ma said, William, you're feeling your bad back again and just making a temporary virtue of necessitty with your fine fillosophical speetches. I can reed you like an open book she said.

Reed on, Mack Duff, owtch, pop said.

Meening a suddin pane in his bad back.

Gene Sarazen Wins Senior Pro Golf Title

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Chunky Gene Sarazen, top golfer in the U.S. a generation ago, battled back from five strokes off the pace and won his second Professional Golfers Association seniors' golf championship Monday.

"I didn't know I'd get such a kick out of winning at 56," said the two-time U.S. open champion who will reach that age next month.

The tremendous rally by Sarazen—he had a two-under-par 70 brought him charging past tiring Mortie Dutra and scrambling Charles Sheppard. Sarazen had a 72-hole total of 288—even par for the 6,589 yard PGA national golf club course. Sheppard was second at 291.

The victory brought Sarazen $1,200, the Teacher's Trophy and an expense-paid trip to England to meet the British senior champion

William Lamb of Toronto, Canada's only contestant after the field was cut to the 100 low scores Saturday, had a 78 Monday. With earlier rounds of 81, 77 and 75, this gave him a total of 311.

Hockey Turning Into Ping-Pong Gripes Kennedy

TORONTO (CP) — Ted Kennedy, former National Hockey League star with Toronto Maple Leafs now coaching the junior A Peterborough Petes, says referees in the Ontario Hockey Association are turning hockey into "ping pong or a basketball game."

"They are ruining hockey by calling every minor infraction they see. This is not the game as I grew up to know it. We should try and keep it a man's game."

A month ago the OHA ordered its referees to call the games strictly. The order followed several fights in junior games.

Kennedy made his comments after Petes lost 5-3 Sunday to Toronto St. Michael's Majors.

Referee Lou Maschio said: "Kennedy was at the meeting with the officials and coaches. If he disagreed why didn't he say something then. We are just trying to do what the league instructed."

St. Michael's coach Bob Goldham was milder in his criticism.

"They are not consistent. They let things go one time and call them the next time. And if they are going to disqualify body-checking from the game I wish they'd tell me."

Over 600 Curlers Of U.S., Canada Enter Bonspiel

QUEBEC (CP)—Some 600 curlers from Eastern Canada and the United States will start play for assorted trophies next Monday when the week-long Quebec International bonspiel gets under way.

"We're planning the draw for 120 rinks," said H. E. (Jim) Weyman, bonspiel organizer. "Last year with 128 rinks some of the curlers complained about only having two hours to play their games."

"With eight fewer entries we can give them two hours and fifteen minutes."

Absent from this year's 45th edition of the bonspiel will be the famed Campbell brothers of Avonlea, Sask., who last year rolled through 11 games undefeated and captured the three main trophies — the Lieutenant-Governor's, the Chateau and the Grand Aggregate Bowl.

Also unable to defend their honors this year are Oscar Bigford who skipped his Brockville quartet to the Omega Trophy, and R. J. C. Likely whose Fredericton rink won the Francois Jobin Gold Cup.

Ontario is sending 30 rinks, including four from Oshawa, Nova Scotia will have 11, New Brunswick, eight, and the United States six.

The international bonspiel will be preceded by the three-day provincial schoolboys championship which starts Thursday.

Marshall Tops American League

NEW YORK (AP) — Hustling Willie Marshall of Hershey has opened up a commanding nine-point lead in the American Hockey League scoring race.

The Bears' centre collected six points during the week for a season's output of 69, statistics released by league headquarters revealed today. Teammate Dunc Fisher is runnerup with 60 points.

Marshall's 28 goals is tops in the league. His 41 assists tie him for the lead in the department with Jimmy Moore of Cleveland, who is third in the point parade with 59.

Cleveland's Johnny Bower maintains his goal-tending supremacy, having allowed 100 goals in 45 games for a 2.22 average.

Bass, Musky Season Opens 3 Days Earlier

TORONTO (CP)—The bass and muskellunge season in most parts of Southern Ontario will open June 28 this year, three days earlier than the usual July 1 opening date.

An official of the fish and wildlife branch of the department of lands and forests said Friday the opening was brought forward because of complaints from fishermen last year.

Under the new regulation, the season will open on the Saturday previous to July 1 when July 1 falls on a Sunday, Monday or Tuesday, thus adding another weekend to the season.

Oct. 15 is the closing date in most areas.

Exceptions to the general dates are the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River where the bass season opens June 25 and closes Dec. 15.

Bold Journey Shows Used To Help School Children

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Bold Journey (ABC-TV, Mondays, 8:30 p.m.), that excellent program of travel and adventure, is going to school these days.

To mark the enthusiastic reception of the idea ABC-TV today presents a special report entitled, appropriately enough, Bold Journey Goes to School (at 3 p.m.).

Last September the sponsors of the program began sending to teachers who requested it a printed guide that describes each program and some suggested subjects for discussion. The idea was an extraordinary success. Today about 2,000,000 students in 50,000 classrooms around the country are using the guides as a basis for discussing subjects related to the programs.

Dr. Irene Cypher of the department of communications in education at New York University, under whose direction the guides are prepared, emphasizes that "this is not a strict school program."

WON'T HELP MARKS

In other words, says Dr. Cypher, children can't expect to get an A in geography or history or social studies—or any of the subjects related to the program—simply by watching Bold Journey. But "it has been a great opportunity for many to discover that study can be humanly interesting," she says.

Students are under no obligation to their teachers to view the programs at home, but teachers say they have found great spontaneous interest in the idea. The plan is not aimed at specific grades or age groupings. Dr. Cypher says that the plan is working among students from fifth grade through high school.

"Quite apart from specific information," she said, "the method of questioning students about what they saw on the program teaches them to be observant.

"Most important, I think, is that parents are urged to children and discuss them together. Anything that encourages parents to talk things over with their children and find out what is important to them is certainly worthwhile."

'In Principle'

Patterson Fights in Britain, Will Tune Up Before Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson will defend his title in England this June but first may have a "tuneup" championship fight in the United States.

The champ's manager, Cus d'Amato, said today he and British promoter Harry Levene have "agreed in principle" to a London title fight — probably against British Empire titlist Joe Erskine.

D'Amato said the 23-year old champs will go to London March 25 for a three-round exhibition on Levene's next boxing show at Empress Hall. But he said tonight "then I'd like to get Floyd a tuneup fight—which would be for the title—over here before we fight Erskine. Erskine is a very good fighter and I want Floyd fully prepared."

D'Amato, who made the later statement during the fight card at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night, said he has received about "five offers" but he wouldn't disclose a site or possible opponents.

If Patterson still has his title, the London fight would be the first heavyweight title fight in 25 years to be held out of the U.S.

BEATEN BY VALDES

Erskine, 24, has lost only once in 31 professional fights. He was stopped in the first round by Cuba's Nino Valdes last February in London.

To clinch the Patterson match, Erskine must defeat Ingermar Johansson of Sweden, European champion, in a Feb. 21 bout in Sweden.

Levene and d'Amato refused to be pinned down on what would happen to the match if Erskine should lose to Johansson.

January ratings of the National Boxing Association, do not carry Erskine among the top 10. Johansson is No. 7. Eddie Machen of San Francisco, No. 1 contender, and Zora Folley of Phoenix, Ariz., No. 2, recently were matched for March 17 at San Francisco with the NBA suggesting that Patterson meet the winner.

Cubs Trounce Baby Habs 7-2

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cubs were never in trouble Monday night as they defeated Ottawa - Hull Junior Canadiens 7-2.

Gerry Sullivan was the spark that strengthened Hamilton's hold on second place in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A race, as he scored three goals and assisted on two.

Sullivan's linemate, Murray Oliver, helped the cause with a pair of goals and three assists.

Giles Tremblay and Bill Carter were the Ottawa-Hull goal getters.

"PAL JOEY"
Held Over

"Pal Joey," girl-chasing hero of the Columbia picture at the Park Theatre, now held over and probably the best known lady-killer in show business history, has his own peculiar language. "Pal Joey" doesn't refer to them as girls; in his jargon a girl is a "broad."

"According to Joey's definitions," says Frank Sinatra, who plays Joey in the Technicolor screen version of the Rodgers and Hart hit musical also starring Rita Hayworth and Kim Novak at the Park Theatre, "'Pal Joey' claims that the best known street in the world, Broadway,' derived its name from the beautiful broads who inhabited it. And he had a different name for different types.

"For instance, a 'mouse' is a cuddly broad; a 'beetle,' a flashy broad; a 'quim,' a loose broad, easy to pick up; a 'twist and a twirl,' a broad who likes to dance; a 'tomato,' a broad ripe for marriage; a 'gasser,' a real looker, a knockout; a 'barn burner,' a broad with polish and class; a 'mish mash,' a mixed-up broad."

Sinatra made no secret of the fact that he wanted to play "Pal Joey," and since it was at Columbia that singer Sinatra proved, in "From Here to Eternity," he also was an exceptionally talented actor, Columbia gladly welcomed his return.

Among the many Rodgers and Hart song hits heard in "Pal Joey," Sinatra sings, "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered," "I Didn't Know What Time It Was," "There's a Small Hotel," and "The Lady Is A Tramp."

"Pal Joey" is based on the successful Broadway play. George Sidney directed for producer Fred Kohlmar.

Complete shows are shown at 7.00 and 9.20. "Meet Mother McGoo" a cartoon and a travelogue, "Trinidad, A Land of Laughter," in Cinemascope and Color, completes the program.

Five Records Broken at Swimming Meet

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five Canadian records were broken at a weekend swimming meet here following a new training course for 16 top British Columbia swimmers.

The course, which involved swimming sprints and weightlifting, was started four months ago and follows training methods used by Australians who have set a number of world marks.

Allan Brew knocked 1-10th of a second from the men's 200-yard backstroke record, going the distance in 2:17.5. His time of 2:32.8 in the 220-yard backstroke was 3.5 seconds better than the old mark.

Dave Gayton set a record of 2:52.8 in the 220-yard breaststroke. The former record was 2:53.3. Bill Slater's time of 4:47.4 in the 440-yard freestyle was 8:10ths of a second better than the previous record. Irene Service lowered the women's 220-yard breastroke mark to 3:07.8 from 3:08.4.

All are from Vancouver. The meet was sanctioned by the B.C. section of the Canadian Amateur Swim Association.

Musicals Appear to Be Almost Facing Extinction

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Whatever happened to the movie musical?

A glance at the 1958 schedules of the Hollywood studios shows a death of song-and-dance films, which amounted to 40 per cent of movie production in wartime years. Now the musical appears to be almost facing extinction.

Twentieth Century - Fox, onetime haven of Alice Faye and Betty Grable, has only one out-and-out musical in the works—Can Can—and it has been postponed again and again. Paramount, where Hope and Crosby once cavorted, promises only an Elvis Presley film and possibly the life of jazzman Red Nichols.

Warner Brothers, which started the musical trend of the '30s with Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler and company, has scheduled Damn Yankees and no other tunefilms. RKO, which gave Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers to the world, is dark, and Universal-International is grinding to a halt on all films. Columbia has planned no big musicals.

A FEW SCHEDULED

MGM, long the citadel of the musical, is doing its bit. But the effort is a fraction of its once-heavy musical schedule. The only "pure" musicals on the 1958 slate appear to be the Broadway hits, The Boy Friend and The Bells Are Ringing. Other films "with music" are being planned. But gone is the studio's onetime stable of musical stars — Howard Keel, Jane Powell, Kathryn Grayson, Esther Williams, Ann Blyth, Judy Garland, Gene Kelly.

To get back to the original question—what has happened? I offer these observations:

1. Musicals are expensive to make. In an economy - minded era, studios can't maintain the costly staffs of singers, dancers, coaches, arrangers and musicians needed to sustain musical production.

2. More and more films are being made by independent producers. With an eye toward costs, they tend to steer away from the musical. A tunefilm can take as much as six months to complete, since the music must be prerecorded and the shooting of numbers is often tedious and exacting. Independents would prefer a straight drama which can be filmed in six weeks.

3. Musicals are a costly risk. While they were surefire in war times, when everyone sought escapist entertainment, they are by no means a cinch to recoup their heavy costs now. Even such an excellent film as Pajama Game was a disappointment at the box office. Furthermore, musicals do not have the great appeal to foreigners that they once had.

4. American audiences get a surfeit of music on TV. That's especially true this season, when every vocalist worth his salt climbed on the channels with his own show.

5. The musical makers have run out of ideas. Audiences are too sophisticated for the "show must go on" kind of musical now. As with Broadway, Hollywood has tended away from the standard musical and toward the "play with music."

MADOC

St. Pete's Club Hears Talk on 'Sunny Mexico'

MADOC — A large number of St. Peter's Club received a warm welcome by Miss E. Heslip and Miss Cecilia Heslip at the manse on Tuesday evening for their regular meeting.

During the business period places were made for a congregational pot-luck supper to be held at their annual meeting on Wednesday night.

Miss E. Heslip gave an interesting talk on "Our Heritage of Presbyterian Faith" which was followed by a solo by Miss Cecilia Heslip.

Miss Marilyn Johnston, guest speaker, took her listeners on an interesting trip to sunny Mexico through lecture and colorful pictures. Mrs. Ken West modelled a typical Mexican costume. Numerous articles of Mexican craft were displayed which proved interesting and educational for all present.

Miss Heslip, Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. W. Armstrong were the hostesses.

GOVT. SHARPLY

"This is a very serious matter for any province in these very difficult days of financing."

MINISTER EXPLAINS

Mr. Fleming quickly explained the reason for the revision. In his Saturday figures he had not taken into consideration stabilization payments to B.C. and P.E.I These payments are to make sure that no province gets less under the existing five-year tax - sharing arrangements than they would have received had the old 1952-57 tax rental pacts been continued.

As a result of the revised figures, Ontario and Quebec will each get about $1,000,000 more than they anticipated. Ontario will get a total increase of some $22,315,000, Quebec about $18,-850,000.

Mr. Fleming said the Conservatives recognize that too much of the Canadian tax dollar is going into the federal treasury. The provinces and municipalities faced increasing costs and this had to be recognized.

The extra tax payment, an "interim" measure until a new tax conference could be convened, would provide a "powerful aid" to the municipalities in developing new works projects to boost employment.

Former prime minister St. Laurent suggested the Conservatives will not call another conference in the first half of 1958, let alone at an earlier date. Mr. Martin said the Conservatives are looking for an excuse to stall a conference and to receive a "respite" from their responsibilities.

In charges that brought catcalls and boos from government supporters, Mr. Martin suggested that Conservative Premier Frost of Ontario had been brought into the confidence of Prime Minister Diefenbaker before the tax concessions were announced.

Mr Frost had stated last year that he required an extra $118,-000,000 in federal tax revenues. Now he was expressing "interim" satisfaction with $22,000,-000 The reason, said Mr. Martin, is because he doesn't want to embarrass the federal Conservatives when they offer argument for not reconvening the fiscal conference.

Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) said he could not help feeling that, by the size of the $22,000,000 increase for Ontario, Mr. Diefenbaker was paying off Mr. Frost for 1957 election campaign help.

HITS METHOD

Mr Knowles said the Conservatives did in fact place the tax proposal before the provinces in a take-it-or-leave-it fashion. They had informed the premiers of the decision in a telegram Friday but had not even taken the trouble to find out whether the telegrams were actually received before making the public announcement Saturday.

Mr. Knowles said he had checked with Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan at 1 p.m. EST Monday. Mr. Douglas had informed he had not yet received the telegram at that time.

Mr. Fleming denied that the administration had placed the proposal before the provinces on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. The Conservatives would not attempt to impose any dictates on the provinces. He said he had launched an immediate investigation to find out why Mr. Douglas had not received Friday's telegram.

RUSSIA

Ever since Nikita Khrushchev made such a hit last summer in a Columbia Broadcasting system-television interview, the U.S. government has been seeking an exchange of regular uncensored radio - TV "commentaries on world events." Lacy got instead an agreement to have sporadic censored radio-TV broadcasts on current events, with each side holding a veto over what may and may not be used.

Another U. S. disappointment was Soviet refusal to agree to quit jamming Voice of America broadcasts to Russia in the Russian language.

On the other hand, the Russians wanted a direct New York-Moscow air service so they could show off their new TU-104 jetliner The Americans demurred, pending, officials confided, the time when the U. S. also will have jetliners in service on commercial airlines.

The Russians lost out, too, on their call for trading visits by American Congress members and deputies of the Supreme Soviet. They also wanted, but did not get, a meeting of inter-parliamentary or United Nations groups.

All these things were left to possible future meetings. Apparently they hinge on how effective the sweeping new agreements - in - principle are carried out

Tourist travel is hard to figure, but officials estimate that some 1,500 Russian tourists and possibly 3,000 American tourists will visit the respective foreign lands during 1958-59 as a result of the accord.

One American move which may have helped influence the Russian decision was removal last year of fingerprinting as a requirement for a temporary visitor's visa to the U.S.

DODGER STAR

The word was immediately relayed to officials of the Dodgers in Los Angeles, where the club was recently moved from Brooklyn, and vice-president Buddy Bavasi voiced great concern over the ace catcher's latest misfortune.

The 36-year-old Campanella, who has been beset by injuries of one kind or another during his long baseball career, was returning alone to his home following a New York television appearance when the mishap occurred.

The crash made noise so great that a number of persons rushed from their homes in the vicinity to investigate. Among them was a physician, Dr. W. S. Gurnee.

DIDN'T FEEL NEEDLE

Dr. Gurnee gave Campanella an injection but said the baseball player felt no sensation from the needle, and "it doesn't look good for his baseball career."

Police informed Campanella's wife at home and took her to the hospital. The couple have six children, ranging in age from 4 to 18.

Only Monday the Dodgers signed reserve catcher Rube Walker. For the position they also have John Roseborough and some youngsters.

"But you just don't replace a fellow like Campanella," said Bavasi.

Campanella signed his 1958 contract with the Dodgers for $36,000, a salary cut after a poor season in 1957.

He had batted .242 in 103 games. His 80 hits included 13 home runs, nine doubles and 62 runs batted in.

There had been much speculation among baseball people as to his future, since he had not been able to shake recurring injuries that plagued him throughout his career with the Dodgers. The possibility of his being traded or sold had often been discussed.

Campanella was preparing to leave for Los Angeles, where he had taken a tentative lease on a new home.

He was due to report to spring training at the Los Angeles camp in Vero Beach, Fla., on March 1, the official opening date for drills.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — Friends will be glad to know that Mrs. Donald Geen has returned home from Belleville General Hospital where she had been a patient for some time.

The W.A. of Thomasburg United Church was hostess to the pupils of the senior room of Thomasburg school last Wednesday. A delicious hot dinner served in the vestry was enjoyed by the pupils and adults present. The regular monthly meeting of the organization followed at 2.30 p.m. The officers for 1958 were installed and took over their respective duties.

Mr. Thomas Ball, who has been confined to his home since mid-December, by illness, is somewhat improved but still unable to go about his regular duties. A speedy return to good health is the wish of everyone.

Miss Karen Morton of Teachers' College, Peterborough, spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thompson and Anne, R.R. 1, Halloway, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Thompson.

Late Monday night, Mr. Dansereau said the CBC had rejected the union's counterproposal. He said Clive McKee, the CBC's industrial relations manager at Ottawa, communicated the decision in a telephone call to Mr. Sedgewick in Hamilton.

But in Ottawa, R. C. Fraser, CBC director of public relations, said no refusal to meet had been conveyed to Mr. Sedgewick.

"As far as we are concerned the negotiations with the union are still open," Mr. Fraser said.

PLEDGE SUPPORT

Meanwhile, Nicholas H. Treanor, union business agent, said 24 shop stewards of IATSE's Toronto division, approved the Montreal ultimatum by a 22-to-2 vote and pledged support, even to recommending a sympathy strike to their 600 Toronto members.

So far, normal broadcast operations in Montreal have not been affected by the dispute, although Michel Chartrand, leader of the Social Democratic (CCF) party in Quebec, and two union officials refused to cross the union's picket line to appear on a television program.

They were scheduled to appear on a TV show Monday night to discuss provincial affairs.

"It is possible that further developments could bring about temporary changes in the CBC's French network programming," the CBC said in a statement Monday night.

FARMERS

Monday night, President Herbert Hannam of the federation said at a press conference the CFA remains opposed to price supports when they encourage sustained surpluses but seeks for the Canadian farmer a living standard equal to that in other sections of the economy.

He also said he thinks the CFA would be in favor of selling wheat to Iron Curtain countries, including Communist China, on a deferred-payment plan. He reiterated the CFA support for an international food program capable of co-ordinating world help for under privileged countries while avoiding disruption of normal farm commodity markets.

Other resolutions to be raised include those seeking increased hog price supports, continued restrictions on U.S. turkey imports, a cattle support price based on choice steers, deficiency payments on wool and a four-cent-a-pound duty on imported lamb and mutton, investigation of leather and hide goods price spreads, federal support for cheese prices, a new butter floor price of 64 cents a pound as against the present 58, study of a long-term farm credits program and increased Colombo plan aid by the federal government.

Marmora

REACHES 91ST MILESTONE

MARMORA—Birthday greetings were in order on Monday, January 20, for Mrs. Harry Connor, Forsythe Street, who had attained her 91st birthday. Mrs. Connor was born Christine Whytock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whytock, in Madoc, coming to Marmora some 50 years ago.

On Sunday last she visited her younger sister, Mrs. Alex McGregor and Mr. McGregor, in Napanee. Except for failing eyesight she is in full command of her facilities.

Mrs. James McGrath, (nee Mary O'Connor), celebrated her 91st birthday on the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. T. J. Byrnes, in Oshawa. Mrs. McGrath was born in Marmora township. For many years Mrs. McGrath and her late husband owned and operated "Tipperary House" at Crowe Lake, where Mrs. McGrath was a genial hostess, many of their guests booking reservations year after year from many parts of the United States and Canada.

When Mrs. McGrath was around 80 she took up her girlhood hobby of oil painting, and was still quite proficient.

Enjoying the birthday banquet with their sister, was Mrs. Margaret Keating, and Mr. E. D. O'Connor, Mrs. O'Connor of Marmora, and son, James McGrath, who is the present host of the summer hotel "Tipperary House."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grant, Mr. and Mrs. John Grant attended the funeral of their cousin, Mr. Roy Highland, in Toronto, on Wednesday. Mr. Thomas Hannah also attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, Mr. Highland.

Mrs. Percy Gray, Sr., is a patient in Civic Hospital, Peterborough.

INQUEST TO SET HISTORY STRAIGHT

After pondering for 380 years as to whether King Erik XIV died as a result of eating pea soup, Swedish officials finally opened the tomb of the monarch in Vasteras, to find out. Most historians have contended that the king died in 1577 after he had the soup spiced with arsenic by his brother King Johan III. Other accounts say the king was smothered by a pillow; bled to death by a doctor or poisoned by opium or some other drug. What the average Swede knows of King Erik XIV is limited to such details as that he sported a big red double beard; played the flute, loved wine and women, married the beautiful blonde daughter of a stable hand and was insane when he presumably was killed by his brother. Erik was born in 1533 and imprisoned in 1568 in a revolt led by his brother after an eight year reign. Above, the remains of the king are carried from the cathedral where the coffin was opened for scientific examination of the monarch's remains.

W.B. George Addresses H-S Association on Value of Sports

MADOC — OnMonday evening Madoc Home and School Association held its January meeting in the high school auditorium. Despite many other activities elsewhere in the village that evening, it was most gratifying to see so many present to hear Mr. W. B. George of Kemptville Agricultural School.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Harold Brintnell who outlined in brief many of the activities in which Mr. George participated. Following his elementary schooling Mr. George attended O.A.C. at Guelph, graduating in 1923. A few years later he joined the staff of Kemptville Agricultural School, and has been there ever since.

His work is with chemistry, soils, and fertilizers and he has had some opportunities of working with people in the local area regarding soil and fertility. He takes an active part in many fields of sports. Perhaps he is best known as past president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in 1952-55 and for three seasons travelled with the Canadian teams as they went to various countries in Europe in the World Championship matches. He was president of the Lawn Bowlers Association in 1942 and district governor for Rotary International in 1956-57.

AWARDS PRESENTED

Monday evening's meeting saw the presentation of the athletic awards won by the public school children in their field day held last spring. For that reason Mr. George spoke on 'sports'. He wanted the young people to get in and play sports and be sports for now is the period when they will build character which will be reflected in adulthood.

True sportsmanship is being a good loser, playing the game the best possible will develop a sterling quality which academic standing alone cannot achieve.

To the parents and others present, Mr. George expressed pleasure at seeing the school board and other local organizations cooperating with the school staff in developing sporting events even for the juniors. He also urged parents to help their child decide on his vocation in life rather than choose their child's profession for which he or she may be ill-adapted.

PHYSICAL FITNESS GOAL

In concluding his address, he stated that Russia has a goal of physical fitness for every citizen. In their schools each pupil is obliged to participate in a definite number of sports. A few other countries also have this system which is at variance with the optional participation.

His observation of international sport leads him to believe sport is good for national relations, and most countries enjoy true sportsmanship even at a loss.

TROPHIES, MEDALS PRESENTED

At the conclusion of his address, he was thanked by Mr. Leo McKinney following which Mr. George presented trophies and medals to the following: — Mary Rivers, Alan Danford, primary winners; Patsy Kincaid, Gary Burke, junior winners; Betty Ash, Jim Stobbart (in absentia), intermediate winners; Bob Grant accepted trophy and medal on behalf of Jim Stobbart. Also presented were two shields: Faye Robertson and Doug Phillips which was added to Madoc's Legion Shield for general proficiency. Anne Stewart and Bob Grant had their names placed on the Spelling Contest Shield.

During the evening, Miss Anne Nickle presented the Girls' choir which delighted everyone with two folk songs.

A social hour completed the evening.

Youth, Girl, 15, Hunted After Six Wantonly Slain

2 Men, Woman, Youth, Girl Shot, Baby Slugged

BENNET, Neb. (AP) — Six brutal unexplained killings—spaced in threes and discovered in a span of 24 hours—spurred an intensive search today for a 19-year-old youth described as "kill-crazy" and his 15-year-old girl friend.

Armed farmers and law officers throughout Nebraska sought Charles Starkweather, who Sheriff Merle Karnopp and Lincoln Police Chief Joe Carroll said "is the man we want," and Caril Fugate, both of Lincoln.

Chief Carroll said: "I just hope he doesn't kill any more. Never in my 27 years on the force have I seen anything to compare with these wanton murders."

County Attorney Elmer Scheele said that both Charles, 140 pounds and red-haired, and the girl will be charged with first-degree murder.

Four of the victims died with rifle bullets in their heads. Another was shot in the head with a shotgun. The other, a two-year-old child, apparently died of a fractured skull.

One of the two women slain, a 16-year-old girl, had been subjected to "an unnatural sex attack," Scheele said.

William Fugate, divorced father of Caril, said he hoped officers would "get" Starkweather, even at the risk of his daughter's life.

He said he still thought his daughter would "come home as soon as she can make a break."

Starkweather was described as an expert marksman by his brother, Rodney. Rodney added that Charles always has been a ready and willing fighter and "always shot his game in the head."

Starkweather and the girl were last seen Monday night, before three members of Caril's family were found slain at their home in Lincoln.

The teen-aged pair had been traced south out of Lincoln, and when officers converged on a farm 16 miles southeast where Starkweather's car was found

Seek Arsonist After Hull Fire In 3 Buildings

HULL, Que. (CP)—Fire investigation authorities today indicated that an arsonist played a part in the burning of three brick buildings close together in downtown Hull Tuesday night.

While firemen fought a fire and explosion in one building housing a tavern and apartments, a second blaze broke out across the street in a stairway leading to the roof of the building. This was quickly followed by another outbreak in a second-floor office in a building just around the corner.

Fire officials said they suspect arson in at least the second fire. The roof of that building had been rain-soaked for several days and was covered with a thick blanket of snow virtually ruling out any possibility that flying embers touched it off.

Police took into custody two men and a juvenile but all were later released. Police suspected the juvenile of a connection with other arson cases in the Hull-Ottawa area. The men were taken into custody for interfering with firemen.

Fire Chief Joseph Giroux and his deputy, Emile Bond, both said today they believe arson entered into the picture. They were investigating the possibility the blazes were linked with three others in the same general area a week ago that also were thought to have been deliberately started.

Tuesday night's fire and explosion left 50 persons homeless and injured seven, none seriously. About 24 dwelling units were destroyed as well as two men's clothing stores, a tavern, a restaurant and a radio-television repair shop.

Early in the battle against the flames police reported three or four persons unaccounted for but Chief Giroux said he was convinced no one was trapped in any of the buildings.

Britain Plans Missile Fired Underground

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times says in a London dispatch that Britain is developing an intermediate-range ballistic missile whose range will exceed that of American IRBMs.

The missile, "now being perfected in Britain," says The Times story, would be fired from underground sites, adding that "British military scientists regard this as a step beyond the United States missiles designed to be fired from ground level and hence as vulnerable to attack as bombers on an airfield."

The Times story says the range of the British missile will be greater than that of either the Thor or Jupiter, now in production in the U.S. It quotes "authoritative sources" as basis for the report.

Sees TV Show Without a Set By Hypnosis

HUDDERSFIELD, England (Reuters)—Five - year - old Andrew Gilfillian saw Rin Tin Tin fighting Indians on a television program — but there was no TV set.

A dentist said today it was done by hypnosis while he filled two of the boy's teeth. Before putting him in a trance, he gave Andrew a choice of programs.

Later, Andrew ran home to tell his mother about the "exciting" Rin Tin Tin adventure he had imagined.

Was Feather Queen Mother Wore Kind That Cost Hostess Her Hat?

VANCOUVER (CP)—The origin of a slender black feather atop the Queen Mother's hat, which started a controversy among reporters covering her stopover in Montreal Tuesday, remained a mystery after her arrival in Vancouver.

Her Majesty wore a blue hat with a black feather—perhaps the same one as she wore in Montreal—when she stepped from her plane for a 24-hour stopover here. But nobody was quite sure what kind of feather.

A Montreal reporter described it as "an egret"—products of the white heron, whose feathers are banned in Canada.

A few years ago Mrs. Frank Ross, wife of the lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, wore an egret-trimmed hat to a legislature opening and the hat was seized by customs officers. Mrs. Ross met the Queen Mother on her arrival Tuesday night.

A Vancouver reporter who telephoned the lieutenant-governor's residence after the Queen Mother's arrival there to spend the night was told that "Mrs. Ross said it was raining so hard she didn't get a chance to see what kind of feather she (the Queen Mother) was wearing."

The royal entourage had retired, the reporter was told.

Canadian law says hats may be trimmed with feathers only from edible birds or birds of prey. The white heron is neither.

Another Montreal reporter, thinking the feather was ostrich, consulted a hat designer who said it was "osprey" from a large bird of prey.

"I am quite sure the Queen Mother would not wear a feather which would offend anyone," the designer said. "Anyway, the osprey feather—although quite rare—is not banned in Canada or anywhere else as far as I know."

GOVT. SPENDING HEADING FOR RECORD HEIGHTS

Program for Year Is $5,539,741,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal government expenditures, under the impetus of higher social welfare payments, are headed for record heights in the fiscal year ending March 31.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming Tuesday tabled in the Commons a list of new spending estimates totalling $187,571,000. They would bring to $5,539,741,000 the government's spending program for the year.

Major item in the list is $103,000,000 to cover the anticipated year's deficit in the special fund from which old age security pensions are paid to all at age 70.

It is the largest deficit the pension fund has ever had, and compares with a $6,000,000 deficit during the 1956-57 year. That was before the former Liberal government boosted the $40 monthly pension to $46 and before the new Progressive Conservative administration raised it further to $55.

SOCIAL WELFARE

The pension increases were among several major social welfare improvements enacted last year which together helped push government spending estimates beyond the previous peak of $5,322,000,000 in the 1943-44 war year.

Old age pension payments, expected to total some $477,000,000 in the current fiscal year, are reflected in the $5,539,741,000 total. They do not enter into government budgetary accounts since they are made from the special pension fund which is financed by special tax levies.

Municipalities Told to Avoid Wage Increases

LONDON (Reuters)—The government Tuesday called on municipalities throughout England and Wales to fight rising costs through stringent economy measures.

Letters to local authorities warned that pay hikes unrelated to the general growth of real wealth are the greatest dangers facing the nation.

The directive came as unions fumed over the government's latest move in its policy against wage increases.

Last weekend, Labor Minister Iain Macleod refused to set up a committee of inquiry, approved by both union and management, into a pay claim of an additional 25 shillings ($3.50) a week for 53,000 London busworkers.

SHOULD CHANGE BACK

BELGRADE (AP) — A peasant girl who changed sex is going to serve in the Yugoslav Army. Marija Djolan, 20, an unmarried girl from the village of Rumboci, recently underwent a sex-change operation, came home in trousers and took a man's job. The army call followed.

Typical West Coast Drizzle Greets Queen Mother in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Typical west coast winter weather greeted the Queen Mother as she arrived here Tuesday night for a 24-hour stop-over on her flight from London to Australia and New Zealand.

A light drizzle, which started half an hour before Her Majesty's arrival, developed into a steady downpour by the time her plane touched down at Vancouver International airport at 8:35 p.m. PST.

But it failed to daunt the thousands of people on hand to give her a warm, spontaneous welcome.

More than 1,000 men, women and children broke into cheers after the Queen Mother stepped from the British Overseas Airways Corporation DC-7C.

Thousands more stood in drenching rain along the 12-mile route from the airport to the residence of British Columbia Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross, where she spent the night.

"My, what rain," the Queen Mother said as she looked up from the shelter of her umbrella at the airport, where she was greeted by the lieutenant-governor and Mrs Ross and met Mayor Fred Hume and Mrs. Hume.

A gust of wind blew off Mrs. Hume's hat as she made her curtsy. A member of the Queen's entourage indicated Her Majesty probably wasn't disappointed in the weather.

"Don't apologize," he told the greeting party. "It's just like home."

The Queen Mother talked longest with Mayor Hume, whom she met on a cross-Canada tour with the late King George VI in 1939. At that time he was mayor of nearby New Westminster.

"She is a beautiful and lovely person," the mayor said later. "She told me she was feeling a little tired from her long air voyage but she said: 'I am so very glad to be here'."

The Queen Mother wore a brown fur coat with a maple leaf of diamonds pinned to the lapel and a double strand of pearls around her neck. She wore a royal blue hat with a black feather.

See Greater Concentration Of Canadian Industry Likely

OTTAWA (CP) — Major decentralization of secondary manufacturing industry in Canada is unlikely by 1980, according to a study prepared for the royal commission on Canada's economic prospects.

Instead, the study of two economists suggests that any change in location will be in general towards more concentration in the central part of Canada.

The 10,000-word report made public today, was prepared for the Gordon royal commission in its size-up of Canada's economic future.

It was written by D. H. Fullerton, a Toronto economist at the time the study was made in 1957 and now treasurer of the Canada Council, and H. A. Hampson, then with the federal finance department and now with a Toronto investment firm.

They conclude that between now and 1980 "little change will occur in the location of manufacturing industry and that any change which does take place will be towards a greater degree of concentration, rather than the reverse."

Their basic reason for the conclusion is that secondary industries will continue to be located in relation to their markets, and therefore as close as possible to thickly - populated central Canada.

Also, as the need for skilled labor and advisory services grows, so will the attractiveness of large metropolitan areas for the manufacturer.

A third factor cited was that Canadian secondary industry would continue to be linked with industry in the United States and many Canadian manufacturers would continue to locate in Ontario and Quebec because of their nearness to the principal industrial centres of the U.S.

Lost 'Copter Pilot Helped By Pied Piper

LONDON (Reuters)—A British helicopter pilot, lost in bad weather over Germany, used his childhood memory of the poem The Pied Piper of Hamelin as a navigation aid, it was disclosed today.

Test pilot Donald Farquharson was flying between Dusseldorf and Hannover and was far south of his original course to avoid bad weather. Suddenly he found himself over a town he could not identify, but wondered whether it could be Hamelin. He thought of Robert Browning's poem that said:

"Hamelin town's in Brunswick,
"By famous Hannover city,
"The River Weser, deep and wide,
"Washes its walls on the southern side."

He saw that Browning's description exactly fitted the town below him. A glance at the map gave him his relative position and he made his way to Hannover safely.

Fuchs' Friend Is Recovering

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP) — A member of Dr. Vivian Fuchs' British trans-Antarctic expedition, stricken by carbon monoxide fumes, was reported recovering today after oxygen bottles were dropped to the party.

The victim, 33-year-old Geoffrey Pratt, a seismic expert, apparently was affected by fumes from one of the vehicles carrying the party from the South Pole to Scott Base. Fuchs is using one Weasel and four Sno-cat tracked snow vehicles.

Fuchs had radioed an appeal to evacuate Pratt to a lower altitude, but hazardous conditions prevented the plane from landing. The expedition is 150 miles from the pole and some 1,000 miles from its goal on McMurdo Sound.

ARTIST DIES

LONDON (Reuters) — David Jagger, British portrait painter who exhibited at London's Royal Academy for 40 years, has died at his home here, aged 67. A conventional non-controversial artist, Jagger thought modern art "a nightmare."

Zero Hour Near For Army's Bid To Launch Moon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The zero hour is approaching for the United States Army's attempt to launch an American earth satellite.

Officially, there is no information on when the army's Jupiter-C will blast off into space with its 30-pound "moon." There were indications today, however, that the final count-down check of the missile was about to start.

Attention shunted momentarily away from the Jupiter-C Tuesday when the air force took the stage with a successful firing of its Thor intermediate-range ballistic missile.

The spectacular shot was witnessed by thousands of persons in this area. The fiery Thor, with which the air force plans to put a satellite into orbit and to hit the moon, was visible for four minutes after its blast-off.

FLEW ITS COURSE

In standard language used to report a successful shot, the air force said the Thor "flew its prescribed course and landed in the pre-selected impact area." Five of the nine Thors flown from here have performed well.

Maj.-Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the air force ballistic missile division, told a Senate committee recently that the Thor will be used as the first stage of a two-stage vehicle being prepared to put up a recoverable satellite by spring.

By addition of a third stage, unmanned reconnaissance of the moon would be possible at what he called a relatively early date.

ASSAIL FLEMING OVER REVISION OF TAX-SHARING

Original Estimate Ignored One Factor

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Donald Fleming, in offering an explanation to the Commons for revising tax-sharing figures, has been charged by the Liberals with playing around with the truth.

"What rubbish!" former immigration minister J. W. Pickersgill exclaimed Tuesday night. "There is not a word of truth in it—not a tittle of truth."

James Sinclair (L—Coast-Capilano) said Mr. Fleming's explanation of an "extraordinary miscalculation" was the "weakest" he had ever heard in the Commons.

The Liberals' jabbing and thrusting at the Progressive Conservatives' financial chief continued as the House spent a second day of debate on the government proposal to boost the provincial share of the personal income tax field to 13 per cent from 10 and to provide extra payments to the Atlantic provinces.

The bill was finally given first reading. Second reading, approval in principle, is to be sought today.

TWO MAIN ISSUES

Debate swirled around two main issues: The fact that Mr. Fleming had given the House one set of figures Saturday on how the provinces would share in the revenue increase and revised figures on Monday; and the fact that the government informed the provincial premiers of the tax proposal by telegram Friday night.

Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, questioned whether in fact all the premiers had received the telegrams. And to this Mr Fleming disclosed Tuesday night that two did not.

This, he said, was the fault of an operator in the publicly-owned Canadian National Telegraph Company. He had learned this Monday after Mr. Knowles had raised the point. Duplicate telegrams had been rushed to Premiers Douglas of CCF Saskatchewan and Campbell of Liberal Manitoba.

Toronto to Seek Federal Help For New Subway

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto will ask the federal government to help finance a second subway in the city as a works project to relieve unemployment.

Metro's executive council reached unanimous agreement Tuesday on a motion from Controller Jean Newman requesting help from Ottawa for the proposed subway project.

Metro Chairman Fred Gardiner said later the executive council will go to Ottawa in a body "in two or three weeks" to call on Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his cabinet.

LONDON (Reuters) — Heavy rain swept across the British Isles from the Atlantic Tuesday, but January temperatures remained exceptionally mild.

Extortionist Got $12,600 Pension From Operating Engineers Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joey Fay, convicted extortionist and former labor leader, testified Tuesday he was awarded a special $12,600-a-year pension by a union local that put his wife on the payroll while he served time in Sing Sing.

Fay squirmed through a session with Senate rackets investigators. Digging into charges of dictatorship and misuse of funds in another local in Philadelphia which was under his wing. He denied the charges.

And, he insisted that:

"At no time I visited that union did I ever have any goons or bodyguards or tough guys at any time."

This was in answer to testimony that strong-arm thugs from Fay's own local of the International Operating Engineers, No. 825 in Newark, N.J., were imported to beat up union members who fought the regime in power.

Local 825, Fay said, is the one that hired his wife and gave him the pension. His wife went on the payroll for $125 a week when he went to jail for shaking down New York contractors for $368,000 on a water supply project. Later she was raised to $150 and then $175.

Fay said he didn't know whether she did any work for this salary but committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy contended she did not.

Four Businesses In Sprung Bldg. Are Destroyed

3 Departments Fight Fire for Three Hours

TRENTON — Fire of unknown origin broke out early this morning in the Sprung Block, on Front Street, here, gutting four businesses, a number of apartments and threatening nearby stores.

People left homeless by the fire were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Christos, owners of the Times Square Restaurant, his sister, Anna, and Nicos Kontaracis. All furniture and clothing were lost. Clothing belonging to Jimmy Christos was also lost; however, he had some insurance. There was no insurance on the furniture. Jimmy Christos did not live in the apartment, but he kept his clothes there.

The fire was reported under control at 10.30 a.m.

Businesses gutted by fire were Sam Lee's laundry, Times Square Restaurant, Sprung's Bakery and McCullough's barber shop.

Loss has been estimated, unofficially, at $250,000.

First report of the conflagration was received by Trenton firemen shortly after 7.30 a.m. and at nine o'clock, with firefighters from Belleville and the RCAF assisting town firemen, flames shot skyward and the roof collapsed.

BULLETIN

Fire Chief Clarence Orser of Trenton, said today at press time that he believes the fire started from an overheated stovepipe in Sprung's bakery shop.

There were no injuries.

OWNED BY BELLEVILLE MAN

The Sprung block, purchased a few years ago by James Yeotes of Belleville, was a familiar Trenton landmark. Only recently about 10 new apartments had been completed in the one-time I.O.O.F. hall over the gutted stores.

Nulty's Studio, Peter's Grocery and a vacant shop north of the Sprung Block, were threatened, as were Lamorre Bros. Meat Market and the Toronto-Dominion bank to the south. However, a fire wall between the block and the meat market is credited with preventing the spread of flames southward. No fire damage was reported in businesses to the north, although there was considerable water and smoke spoilage.

Last year the Times Square Restaurant, owned by the family left homeless by the fire, had been renovated at a cost of $25,000. It was reported that the Sprung block was acquired by Mr. Yeotes for $50,000, although other estimates run higher.

POLICE CORDON OFF STREET

When the fire got to the point where Trenton firemen could not handle it alone, firefighters from the RCAF and Belleville were called. Seven fire reels were on the scene.

Trenton and air force police cordoned off Front St. and kept traffic moving along the main street. However, in the early stages of the blaze, smoke was so dense that traffic moving across the Trent River bridge snarled. A light westerly breeze blew the smoke over the river, while the density of the air kept it low.

In a successful bid to save nearby apartments, firemen evacuated four more families, but they were allowed to return after flames were confined to the block.

It was reported that George Rofelsema of Belleville, an employee of the bakery, spotted flames between the ceiling and a wall of an apartment over the bake shop as he arrived for work. He turned in the alarm.

Fire Chief Clarence Orser of Trenton, commended Belleville and Air Force firemen and police for their assistance.

The Sprung block is located a few doors north of the intersection of Front and Dundas Sts., adjacent to the river.

Less than two weeks ago a $100,000 fire on the east side of the river levelled the A. A. Farrar block, a radio-TV repair shop and Armstrong Bus Company's garage. That pile of rubble is still smouldering.

Congressmen Sent to Ottawa To Learn Facts

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States Congress Tuesday sent two of its members to Ottawa to discuss Canadian-American problems with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and other Canadian government officials.

Congressmen Frank M. Coffin (Dem. Me.) and Brooks Hays (Dem. Ark.) left for the Canadian capital on a fact-finding mission for the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee, which recently has exhibited concern about Canadian irritation over U.S. government policies.

Before boarding their train, they said they hope to meet with Diefenbaker this afternoon or early Thursday.

FOUR STUDENTS WILL REPRESENT CITY IN CONTEST

Four city high school students will represent Quinte Secondary School and B.C.I.V.S. at the Central Ontario Secondary Schools oratorical contest "talk-down" in Madoc Friday night.

Geoffrey Cliff-Phillips, who last year won the junior title, will represent seniors at Q.S.S., and Sharon MacDonald will speak for the juniors.

From B.C.I.V.S., Ann Mott will represent the juniors and Richard Fuke will represent the seniors.

FOREMEN'S CLUB MEMBERS SEE PLANT

Thirty members of the Quinte District Foremen's Club were the first group in ten years to tour the Northern Electric plant here yesterday afternoon.

The tour was under the direction of department chiefs of the plant. Sid Sillitoe, production superintendent; John Grant, chief engineer; Bill Jarvah, superintendent of accounting were introduced to the group by Jim Durrant, department chief.

Mr. Punchard outlined the operations of the Belleville plant to the visitors and Mr. Durrant conducted a question-and-answer period during the refreshment session, which followed the tour.

Club president Lionel Blaker said at last night's meeting of the club, that the tour was interesting and informative. He extended the club's thanks to J. C. R. (Bud) Punchard, general manager of the Northern Electric plant.

JOHN R. BUSH NEW PRESIDENT OF SHRINE CLUB

Noble John R. Bush was elected president of the Belleville Shrine Club Limited at the annual meeting. He succeeds past president Noble John Weese.

Directors elected were Nobles Bush, Dr. Russell Scott, Kenneth Vivian, Lionel Crawford, William Doig, James Barber, John Weese, Edward Way, Kenneth Way, Lee Grills and Beverly Quincy.

Noble James Barber was elected chairman of the board with Noble Lionel Crawford re-elected secretary-treasurer.

RESIDENTS MISS LOT OF SHOVELLING

City residents are beginning to complain a bit about sloppy conditions underfoot as result of the snow and rain which has fallen over the area during the past few days.

But had the weather been colder residents would have had a much bigger snow shovelling problem than they have had up to date.

Figuring all precipitation received as snow close to a foot of snow would have fallen in recent days, it was noted this morning by officials at the local water filtration plant on the Trent Road.

"Y" SECRETARY TELLS FOREMEN HELP NEEDED

Last night George D. Diamantides, secretary of the Belleville Y.M.C.A., called on members of the Foremen's Club to help the "Y" solve its present problem of insufficient space for the many activities entertained there.

He said that by 1960 "something" will have to be done if the Y.M.C.A. is to keep operating in Belleville.

JOHN EDWARD LAWE

CAMPBELLFORD — Funeral services were conducted on Saturday, for John Edward Lawe, who passed away at Campbellford Memorial Hospital Thursday, after an illness of several years.

Mr. Lawe was born in Campbellford 53 years ago, son of James Lawe and Mrs. Herbert Williams. He married Loretta Rodgers in Toronto in 1934, and they moved to Campbellford fifteen years ago. He was a laborer and a member of the Salvation Army.

Surviving besides his wife are his mother, Mrs. Herb Williams of Toronto; four children, John of Vancouver; Helen (Mrs. George Murphy) of Toronto; Norman of Cobourg, and Robert at home.

Services were conducted at the Salvation Army Citadel by Captain Murray, assisted by Rev. H. Wale of the Campbellford Baptist Church.

The bearers were two sons, Norman and Robert; two brothers-in-law, William and James Rodgers; Robert Anderson and Charles Battman.

Interment was in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM MacDONALD

CAMPBELLFORD — Funeral services were conducted from St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church on Saturday morning for Ida M. Bound, wife of the late Wm. MacDonald. The Rev. J. C. Moloney officiated.

Mrs. MacDonald was born in Percy Township 88 years ago, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bound. Mr. MacDonald passed away about ten years ago.

She had been a resident of Campbellford for the past forty years and for the last three years had been in poor health and confined to MacArthur's Rest Home, where she passed away on Thursday last.

The bearers were Messrs. Ed Forestell, Harry McFane, Bernard Lonergan, Thos McAvella, Bernard Kerr and Thos. O'Rourke.

Interment was in St. Mary's vault and burial will take place later at Warkworth.

JAMES L. HUGHES

PICTON — Prince Edward County warden for the year 1923, James L. Hughes passed away at his home at Waupoos, Saturday, January 18, 1958. He had been confined to the house only a short time and up until then had taken a keen interest in the orchards and farms.

All his life was spent on the farm at Waupoos. He was born on October 6, 1868, son of Calvin Hughes and his wife, Sarah Hughes.

Mr. Hughes was prominent in public life for many years. He served several years as a member of North Marysburg council, as councillor and reeve. He was also school trustee and secretary-treasurer of the school for a number of years. A prominent fruit grower, he was a leader in the industry and he retained an interest in this to the end. A citizen of fine qualities, he made a lasting contribution to the community.

Surviving are a son, Reeve Calvin Hughes, a former county warden; a daughter, Mrs. Charles Creasy (Neata), Waupoos; three sisters, Mrs. James Hart (Mary Ann); Mrs. John Noble (Lillie), and Mrs. D. Jarvis (Nancy), Picton; a brother, Willard D. Hughes, also seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren, all in Prince Edward County.

Three brothers, Llewellyn, Brent and Stanley, a sister, Mrs. Frank (Millie) Eaton, predeceased him. His wife died June 3, 1954.

Many relatives and friends attended the service at the G. R. Whattam Funeral Home on Monday, January 20. Rev. Mr. Faris officiated. Entombment was in Cherry Valley vault.

The bearers were H. M. Hicks, E. Creasy, T. H. Kerr, J. Miller, C. Wright and K. Ostrander.

Lovely floral tributes included those from Prince Edward County Fruit Growers, township of North Marysburg, Bay of Quinte Lodge No. 143, I.O.O.F.

JAMES W. WILSON

MADOC — The funeral of James W. Wilson was held on Tuesday afternoon, January 28, in the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, with Rev. J. F. Lane of Trinity United Church officiating. The funeral was very largely attended and there was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes, testifying to the high esteem that the deceased was held in the community.

I.O.O.F. graveside service was held under the direction of Madoc Lodge No. 179, members of which formed a guard of honor at the funeral home and cemetery.

Interment took place in O'Hara's Cemetery.

The bearers were George Devolin, John Bristol, James Miller, George Fox, Francis Feeney, Ted Hailstone.

MRS. H. Y. COOPER

PICTON — One of the village of Bloomfield's most highly esteemed citizens, Mrs. Herbert Y. Cooper, passed away at her home on January 22, 1958. Formerly Elmira Louella Noxon, her father was Phillip Way Noxon and her mother the former Catherine Armitage. She was born on Christian Street, Prince Edward County, November 15, 1890. When seventeen years of age she moved to North Dakota and resided there until her marriage at 22 years of age, then coming back to Bloomfield to spend the remainder of her life. Of a very quiet, refined character, Mrs. Cooper preferred a quiet life devoted to her family. Her many charitable acts were known only to those who benefited. She was a member of the Quaker church.

Surviving are a son, Fred Cooper of Bloomfield, a daughter, Mrs. D. O. Leavitt, Frankford; two sisters, Mrs. S. Oglesby Valley City, North Dakota, and Mrs. J. Pickard, Cleveland, Ohio.

Predeceasing her were her parents in Valley City, N.D.; three brothers, Elwin Noxon in St. Louis, Mo.; Jonathan Noxon and Stephen Noxon, in Valley City, N.D.

Service at the Hicks' Funeral Home on Friday was conducted by Rev. Stephen Spurrell. Interment Hicksite cemetery.

The bearers were: Dunam Foster, Charles Fraleigh, Arthur Moore, Stephen Demille, Jack Stenning and Gordon Way.

JOHN FRANCIS CAIN

The funeral of the late John Francis Cain was held this morning from the Funeral Residence of George F. O'Brien to St. Michael's Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by Very Rev. Dean L. B. Garvin. Rev. Peter Murphy said prayers at the graveside in St. James' Cemetery.

A large crowd, including schoolmates of children of the deceased, attended the funeral.

The bearers were Bernard, Kenneth and Frederick Ryan, Alfred Titterson, Douglas Young and George Wells.

MRS. ELLA ALBERTA BLAKELY

TWEED (Special) — Following a lengthy illness, Mrs. Ella Alberta Blakely, of Tweed, died Sunday at Kingston. She was 82.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Coulter, she was born in Hungerford township and was a member of St. John United Church at Tweed and of the W.M.S. She had lived her entire life in the Tweed district where she was highly respected. Her husband, the late Fred Blakely, died many years ago.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Newton (Luella) A. Foster of Kingston, and a son, John Blakely of Tweed.

A sister, Mrs. Pearl Porter of Thomasburg, and a brother, Harry M. Coulter of Tweed, also survive. Two brothers, Samuel of Tweed and Addison of Foxboro, are pre-deceased.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon from her late residence to St. John's United Church where service was conduted by Rev. Douglas Louie. Interment was in Thomasburg Cemetery.

The bearers were three grandsons, Donald Foster, Robert Foster, and Garry Blakely, and three nephews, Burton Coulter, Harry Coulter, and Stanley Geen.

Six Boys Take Wolf Cub Pledge

These boys were all invested by their Akela, Mr. R. C. McMullen in the presence of Mr. Bill Yeomen and Stew Dickson, assistants of the 14th Belleville, Mr. McCelland akela of the 6th Belleville wolf cub pack, Mr. J. Townsend of the 5th, Mrs. Lillian Ashley of the 8th, and Mr. M. Maw, of the 17th Belleville. Assistant leaders were: Mrs. M. Wiliams, Mr. Gord McDiarmid, and Mr. Jim Al' ter.

Each of the akelas brought a six from their pack in full uniform. Boys invested received and Mr. McCelland. Everyone thoughtfulness and careful their Tenderpad, the Ontario Badge and their scarf, with the official colors of orange and purple.

Games were lead by Mrs. Lillian Ashley, Mrs. M. Williams and Mr. McCelland. Eeveryone took part and enjoyed the evening.

A special thanks is expressed to Mr. J. A. Jamieson for his thoughfullness and careful planning.

ARTHUR HAROLD RODGERS
(Scarboro — Rawdon)

A former resident of Rawdon township, Arthur Harold Rodgers, died at his home, 25 Willowlea Drive, Scarboro, early this Wednesday morning after an illness that extended nearly two years.

He was born in Rawdon township, 61 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rodgers and he resided in that township all of his life until he moved to Scarboro some five months ago. He was a farmer in the township and was well known and highly regarded. He has been retired for some time.

A member of St. Paul's United Church in Stirling he is survived by his wife, the former Nancy Dodwell, three sons, Meighen and George Rodgers at home, Robert Rodgers of Oshawa, two sisters, Mrs. Florence Gordanier of Stirling, Mrs. Helena Wickett, of Saskatoon, Sask., and two brothers, Alex Rodgers of Stirling and Reginald Rodgers of Brooten, Minn.

Resting at the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Speaker Predicts Less Than 7 PC of Canada's Labor Force Will Be Farming in 1980

Jack Alexander, staff assistant public relations of Massey-Harris-Ferguson, Toronto, told members of the Quinte District Foremen's Club last night in the Y. M.C.A. that by 1980 less than seven per cent of Canada's labor foce will be directly engaged in farming.

He was echoing the predictions of Colin Clark, world-famous British economist. Mr. Alexander, a former television newscaster at Hamilton, was asked to fill the speaking engagement on behalf of H. C. Kettle, director of public relations of Massey-Harris-Ferguson, who was taken ill earlier in the week.

Mr. Alexander pointed out that about 15 percent of the labor force is now actively engaged in agriculture. This percentage means roughly 800,000 Canadians are directly connected with the industry.

"In 1798", he said, "it was predicted in England that famine would strike the world within a century and wipe out mankind. That was an understandable prohecy then, but, of course, today it seems somewhat ridiculous. However, did you know that about two-thirds of the present world population cannot allay the pangs of hunger?"

The speaker mentioned a "gradual decline" in the numbers of people who devote their careers to agriculture. Today's population figures show that close to 17 million people live in Canada and that by 1975 the demand for farm implements will be two and two-thirds times as great at it is now. Canada's population by then, Mr. Alexander predicted, will be more than double the present figure.

"When today's 30-year-olds reach 'retirement age'," he said, "Canada is expected to have a population of 40 million."

Mr. Alexander said that in 1951 Canada experienced a three and one-half per cent growth in farming population and a 30 per cent increase in city dwellers. But in 1956, the farm population dropped seven per cent and urban figures rose another 24 per cent.

VITAL TO ECONOMY

"It isn't that the birth rate on farms is declining," said the speaker, "it's because the bright lights of city life seem to be attracting more rural people."

Farmers are "vital" to Canada's economy, he said, because they are "big spenders."

"Farmers tend to have larger families, more buildings, travel farther to shop and spend more money on gasoline and maintenance for their machines," said Mr. Alexander.

He pointed out that in 1949 a survey was made of Canadian farms. It was noticed that six million dollars was spent that year by farmers on farm implements, 153 million on gas and oil, and 103 million on insurance and real estate.

"It may be that 10 years from now 'agricultural engineers' will be in more demand than today's electrical, chemical and mechanical engineers," he said. "The world's industrial output has far out-stripped even the wildest prediction of 10 years ago. People will always have to eat and at the rate Canada's population is increasing and at the rate rural population figures are tumbling, it wouldn't surprise me to see farmers becoming very highly specialized and mechanized in a very few years."

In conclusion, Mr. Alexander said: "We are still merely on the threshold of developing farm machinery, in spite of Canada's amazing accomplishments, especially since the end of World War II."

The speaker was introduced by Bill Phillips and thanked by Bob Tuck.

Sermonette Given Foremen

At the Foreman's Club meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday evening, the Rev. R. D. MacLean of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church offered a "five minute" sermonette of special interest to foremen.

Mr. MacLean said that only men who have been found able to cope with minor responsibilisume greater responsibilities can ever hope to asties. He urged that foremen remember in time of distress that prayer is more apropriate than profanity.

"Able men such as fear God and hate covetousness would make excellent foremen," said Mr. MacLean.

He stressed a need for people to "be themselves" and not to pretend to be something they are not. The minister recalled a German adage that says 'Lies have short legs, they can't run far', and suggested his audience keep that in mind during their daily lives.

Guest speaker, Jack Alexander of the public relations branch of Massey-Harris-Ferguson, Toronto, cited Mr. MacLean's sermonette as being "an outstanding example of how much good can be said in five minutes."

No Blame Attached Says Coroner's Jury

Death from natural causes was the verdict returned Tuesday night by a coroner's jury looking into the death of Miss Vera Stephers, 42, who died in Belleville General Hospital Dec. 17th under anaesthesia following an operation. No blame was attached to attending physicians, or to the hospital.

The inquest was held before Coroner Dr. John Stock, with Crown Attorney John A. Pringle conducting the investigation.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) —The stock market was more active in morning trading but price changes in all sections were generally small.

The industrial index added a point as key issues moved up in a fractional range while golds, base metals and western oils each gained less than one-quarter point on indices.

The 11 a.m. volume of 901,000 shares was the heaviest in a week and compared with Tuesday's 607,000 at the same time.

A few speculative mines were busy but their prices showed little change. Senior base metals were quiet but Hudson Bay lost ¾ at 43, on a few sales. Uraniums and coppers had few changes and were mixed.

Calgary Power had the biggest change among industrials, up a point to 66½. B.C. Forest, Toronto General Trust, Canada and Dominion Sugar and Canadian Bank of Commerce were among other winners. Algoma Steel lost ⅛ at 23⅜.

Western oils were a shade firmer, led by Bailey Selburn's 20-cent rise to $8.80.

Police Blotter

Despite slippery highways and road conditions resulting from recent snow, no serious accidents were reported by either city or provincial police during the night.

In the city a two-car accident on Front street caused approximately $250 damage this morning. Police said that Jack J. Mott, 267 Victoria Ave., was northbound on Front street when, in attempting to make a left turn into the Foley Foundry driveway, a southbound auto driven by Gerald Fox of R.R 2 Frankford, was unable to stop owing to slippery road conditions.

About $150 front end damage was caused to the Mott vehicle and about $150 to the other vehicle.

Otherwise only routine matters came to the attention of officers. Children throwing snowballs were blamed for breaking a few windows.

He Suffers When Wife Does Is Hungarian's Explanation For Commotion at Hospital

TRENTON — Magistrate T. Y. Wills, Q.C., dismissed two charges against Sandor Galambos, 27-year-old immigrant from Hungary, and dealt out a two-year suspended sentence on a third charge against him in Magistrate's Court yesterday afternoon.

All three charges came under the Criminal Code of Canada and were concerning a disturbance at the Trenton Memorial Hospital on January 18, 1958, when the accused was said to have brandished a knife in front of nurses, making a threatening gesture across his throat and saying he would do that to the doctor who was attending his wife. The third charge concerned causing a disturbance in the hospital by shouting and impeding or molesting other persons.

The defendant pleaded not guilty to all charges but was found guilty on the third charge, and along with the suspended sentence, was ordered to pay $5 in court costs and placed under bond to be of good conduct.

Counsel for the defence was R. Gregory Butler of Trenton, retained by the Bata Shoe Company of Canada where the defendant has been employed since coming to Canada in January of last year.

WILL GET JOB

A representative of the shoe company indicated yesterday it would be re-employing Mr. Galambos although his former job had to be filled during his absence. The accused has been held in jail, without bail, since the time of his arrest.

Assistant Crown Attorney S. Gordon Robertson, Q.C., acted for the Crown. Mr. Galambos is unable to speak English well and Mike Gartner of Trenton acted as interpreter during the trial.

In the trial, which lasted for two days, the Crown called two policemen and four nurses to the stand on Monday and the defence called two witnesses to the stand on Tuesday.

During Monday's testimony the police told of being called to the hospital and placing Mr. Galambos under arrest and bringing him to the town jail.

The nurses offered evidence concerning the action of the accused during the "row" in the hospital. Three of them stated they saw a knife in the hands of the defendant. They also told of him running around the hospital shouting at them and waving his arms in the air.

One nurse testified she was standing only a foot away from the accused when he pulled the knife from his pocket, made the motion across his throat and put the knife back in his pocket. She also told of calling the doctor and warning him of the threat made against him and of calling the police.

On the second day of the court session Mr. Galambos testified in his own defence, after being called to the witness stand by his lawyer.

Under questions from the defence counsel he told of taking his wife to the hospital around midnight on January 17. Mrs. Galambos was nearing time to give birth to her first baby and was in the case room at the time of the incident. He said he had remained in the hospital until 9 a.m. that morning and during this time he had asked the nurses to call the doctor but they had not. At 9 a.m. he had left the hospital and went to a friend's home in Trenton and later in the day had taken a bus to his home in Frankford.

At his home he had prepared himself something to eat, packed a housecoat for his wife and took it along with other things to the hospital to his wife. When he arrived he found his wife "suffering in bed." He called a nurse asking her to call the doctor. This nurse, he testified, had called another nurse who told him to get out of the room, that there was nothing he could do there.

It was following that, he testified, he had made the statement and made the gesture he was accused of. But he said he did not have a knife in his hand but a large silver colored lighter. He explained that what he meant by it, and what he had tried to tell the nurses, was "when my wife suffers I suffer and I would sooner be dead (making throat-cutting gesture) than to see her in so much pain." He said he spoke it in part English and part Hungarian and may have used a word in his native tongue which could have sounded like the doctor's name and mistaken as such by the nurses.

He said he could not understand why they thought he was angry at the doctor. He also said he was not angry with the nurses but that he was annoyed at them for not wanting him to be with his wife.

Asked about his life in Hungary before coming to Canada Mr. Galambos told the court he had been in prison there for two years, from 1951 to 1953. While in prison in his homeland he had spent eight months in solitary confinement and that he had undergone physical torture by having his fingernails pulled out. On his fingers the date he was taken to prison was tattooed, as was the date he was to be released.

He said he came to Canada in January, 1957 and the same year had married in Frankford. It was, he said, his first marriage and his first child.

Mrs. Galambos followed him to the witness stand where she was questioned concerning a jack knife (exhibit A in court) which was found in the drawer of her table at the hospital. The nurses had previously testified it was not the knife they had seen the accused use when he made the gesture across his throat. Mrs. Galambos said she had packed it with the rest of her things before going to the hospital and, in the ward, had removed it and put it in the drawer.

She told the court she needed it to slice apples before she could eat them as she was unable to bite through the skin of the fruit.

She testified that she had never known her husband to own any knife and had not seen him with one when in the hospital.

She also testified she had told her husband she was in much pain and that the needles the nurses had given her did not help very much in relieving it. She said she had heard the commotion in the hospital prior to her husband's arrest.

Home and School Association Has New Officers

TRENTON — Entertainment was the keynote at the first meeting in 1958 of the Breadner Home and School Association held in the school at Middleton Park on Monday evening. Over 200 parents and teachers attended the session.

Group Captain A. V. Houle, president of the association, conducted a brief business meeting before Squadron Leader Jackson took over with his program of musical entertainment.

During the business the new officers took over their posts and it was decided to send a representative, who will be named later, to the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations. This convention will be held in Hamilton, during April.

The musical portion of the program was by local talent among the men of the air base, and included a ventriloquist.

New officers of the association are as follows: president, Group Captain A. V. Houle; first vice-president, Squadron Leader W. G. Scott; second vice-president, Squadron Leader R. Trumley; third vice-president, Wing Commander T. H. Fletcher; secretary, Flight Lieutenant J. C. Paterson; treasurer, Flt. Sergeant E. Gray.

There was a total of 21 named to the executive with Squadron Leader A. C. Knight in charge of projects and Sergeant T. D. Wilkinson in charge of publicity.

Police Chief Recommends Probation Officer for Town

TRENTON — The possibilities of obtaining the services of a probation officer for the town of Trenton is now under study by the chairman and members of the public safety committee.

The matter was brought up at the last council meeting in the form of a letter from Chief Constable F. J. Taylor and received some favorable comment at the council table before the letter was referred to Councillor Lloyd Worrall, chairman of the public safety committee, with instructions for his group to meet and bring back their recommendations to the council.

In his letter to the council, Chief Constable Taylor said he had had many discussions during the past few months with Dan Coughlan, Director of Probation Services for the Province of Ontario, and that he has agreed to the placement of a probation officer in Trenton to work with the Juvenile and Family Court of this town. This would be effective in April, 1958.

His letter also recalled that a few years ago this matter was considered by council, but at the time satisfactory arrangements as to the sharing of the costs could not be made in the Hastings County Juvenile and Family Court and that he (Chief Taylor) did not feel the arrangements at the time would be satisfactory to the town of Trenton.

PAID BY PROVINCE

Now, his letter continues, the salary of the probation officer and his secretary will be paid by the provincial govenmrent. The furniture and the upkeep for the offices of the probation officer and his travelling expenses will also be paid by the provincial government.

The municipal expenses would include the providing of an office for the probation officer and another for his secretary, some printing and office incidentals, travelling expenses to the training school, which is now being paid by the municipality, use of the juvenile detention at the county jail, which is also being paid by the municipality when used, and bo arium, for the judge and dep judge of the Juvenile Family Court.

The total cost for the to of Trenton, the letter s would in all probability not ceed the amount of $1,800 year, while the provincial g ernment is prepared to abs the balance of expenses wh would exceed $10,000 per ye

RECOMMENDS ACCEPTANC

Chief Constable Taylor r commends the council acc this opportunity without del He said both Judge J. C. And son and Magistrate T. Y. Wil Q.C., feel there is a defin need for a Juvenile and Fami Court and that the present sy tem is far from satisfactory. H said they would be glad to di cuss the situation with a com mittee of council.

The letter stated there are, present, only three areas in th province without a Juvenile a Family Court and Trenton one of them.

The Probation Officer duties would consist of (1) th supervision of persons placed o probation by the Magistrat (2) the enforcement of the De serted Wives and Children Maintenance Act and the collec tion of monies ordered throug the court for the support o families, (3) all juvenile case whether resulting in court action or not.

The chief's letter reminded the council that the value of this work cannot be considered in dollars and cents and will in the long run save the town a considerable sum.

It is expected Councillor Worrall's committee may be able to bring in a report at the next meeting of the council slated for Monday, February 3.

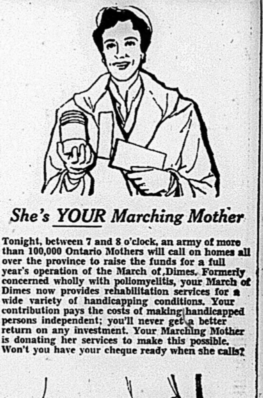
WELCOME HER TONIGHT!



She's YOUR Marching Mother

Tonight, between 7 and 8 o'clock, an army of more than 100,000 Ontario Mothers will call on homes all over the province to raise the funds for a full year's operation of the March of Dimes. Formerly concerned wholly with poliomyelitis, your March of Dimes now provides rehabilitation services for a wide variety of handicapping conditions. Your contribution pays the costs of making handicapped persons independent; you'll never get a better return on any investment. Your Marching Mother is donating her services to make this possible. Won't you have your cheque ready when she calls?

THE LONGER SCHOOL YEAR

The announcement of Hon. W. J. Dunlop, Ontario's minister of education, of a longer school year for high school students has met with mixed reactions.

Dr. Dunlop says the department's decision has nothing to do with Russia's Sputniks, that the policy had been drafted before the first man-made moons focussed attention on the question of the comparative values of the educational systems of the Soviet Union and those of the Western world.

Nevertheless, the new policy is certain to be judged in the light of the most recent criticisms of our educational system.

It is therefore not surprising to discover that some authorities are taking the view that the lengthening of the school year will be of little value unless some attention is given to the use to which this additional time will be put. Dr. Dunlop says that his department will "put more work and more time in school subjects." That seems to answer critics who contend that "more of the same" will not solve our difficulties in the realm of education.

Perhaps, though, we ought to realize that much of the criticism which we are hearing deals with conditions in the U.S. and that many of these criticisms are not applicable, in full measure, to Canadian schools. It is improbable that many graduates of Canadian high schools can say that they have completed five years of physics, four years of chemistry, five years of biology, five years of a foreign language, ten years of mathematics and one year of astronomy, to match the Russian record. On the other hand we doubt whether any president of a Canadian university has received an application from a high school graduate comparable to that mentioned by President A. Whitney Griswold of Yale, in which the only subjects the applicant took in his final high school year were English, journalism, speech, personality problems, marriage and family and chorus.

It has been pointed out that the lengthening of the high school year will not prolong the studies of today's students past the time which was prevalent when their parents went to school. Many people, too, will be pleased to learn that stress on examinations is being restored. It is unquestionably true that identical marks for two students may indicate that one of them has labored hard, while the other has loafed, to produce the same standing for students of greatly varying abilities. However, to use this fact as an argument against introducing any element of competition seems unrealistic. The world is competitive; it is no kindness to send a high school graduate out into the world without making certain he has learned that fact.

Most of them, we suspect, know this full well, despite the elimination of the old stress on competition. Few of them, we think, would be so stupid as to make a remark attributed to "London officials" who were said to be worried because the longer school year would have a "terrible impact" on Western Ontario's multi-million-dollar tourist industry.

WHATEVER YOU FELLOWS THINK

The car accident in which Roy Campanella suffered a fractured neck attracted the interest of sport addicts throughout North America.... It would, however, be of no real significance were it not for a remark made by the injured man, when told that an immediate operation was necessary.

"Whatever you fellows think is necessary," Campanella said to his doctors.

Campanella was speaking for a whole host of suffering people who, in an emergency, trust their doctors implicitly.

In one sense, it is not surprising that Campanella should be numbered among those who instantly recognize that certain decisions are best left to experts. He is himself an expert in the science of catching a baseball delivered by a pitcher. On many an occasion he has heard his judgment vociferously questioned by men who know almost nothing about the science. He knows from experience what little trust can be put in the opinions of a layman when certain problems must be solved.

THE WORLD IS SAFE

He sees men clamoring for gold,
He sees men fight and strive for gain;
He hears men publicly extolled
Because of fortunes they attain.
And yet he still believes that he
Has time to take upon his knee
His children every night
And tell them tales of ancient lore,
Or romp with them about the floor
And teach them what is right.

He sees men getting rich each day,
He sees them struggling hour by hour
Panting and weary on the way,
Their goal—a little bit of power.
And yet he still believes that he
Has time a father kind to be,
A friendly neighbor, too;
And oft he pauses on his way
To some a cheering word to say,
A kindly deed to do.

The world is in no danger while
There still remain such simple souls
Who do not crave a yellow pile
Nor seek always the lofty goals.
While some remain to pause and play
With little children by the way,
Or help some one in need,
While some still shun the money craze
To soothe another's troubled days,
The world is safe, indeed.

Why Do Birds Dislike Fog?

The Times of London

Birds shun fog. A striking instance of this was witnessed recently by the crew of a sailing barge off England's east coast when thick fog was rolling up not far ahead. A flock of starlings, pressing forward with the purposefulness of migrants, suddenly veered away from the fog banks, descended upon the barges and spent the night there.

Why did the starlings turn back? Fear of losing their bearings or simply a dislike of fog—the dislike that seems to silence singing birds whenever fog descends?

It is astonishing how little attention has been given by observers to the reactions of birds to fog; a search through that great repository of expert observation for the last 35 years — the pages of "British Birds" — yields little evidence on the subject.

Starlings will not even fly to a familiar roost in fog, yet swallows, displaced experimentally from their home district, returned through fog without apparent confusion. What, then, happens here to the favorite theory that birds keep on course from the position of the sun? There can hardly be much visual navigation when a bird is blinded by fog.

This is leaving aside that mysterious faculty, the power of orientation. In certain homing experiments, birds were transported under an anesthetic and rotated on a gramophone turntable in the dark on the outward journey.

Birds which could get safely back home after all that — as these birds did — are unlikely to be baffled by fog.

Birds will of course, descend on ships at sea simply to rest, if weather conditions are against them. Starlings went on board the Pellicula in Falmouth a few years ago and remained there, living on cockroaches, potatoes and fish throughout the journey across the Atlantic to Venezuela.

Letter To The Editor

Historical Society Needs Meeting Place

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

We respectfully solicit space in your valued publication to present briefly an appeal of consideration and worthiness.

At devious times throughout the past history of Hastings County, lone individuals and sundry groups have endeavored to organize and maintain a local society interested in the preservation of past and present community lore. Nothing tangible or permanent has resulted. However over the immediate past eighteen months this cause has again been championed by a group of sincere and enthusiastic citizens. This time their efforts have been rewarded with much success.

At the present time there are some forty-odd active members of a definitely formed and organized Hastings County Historical Society. Furthermore the potential has not been scratched nor the ultimate envisaged. This healthy situation has been achieved simply through the individual efforts of interested parties. No soliciting of financial support has been attempted or contemplated but the vital question of a meeting place is now imperative.

Hence our appeal to any public-spirited person who has, or can suggest any halfway suitable premises that could be used for meetings and as a depository for records and archives. To quote the late Stephen Leacock, "we can best learn to value this heritage of freedom by reflecting on its history. We can best appreciate the present in the light of the past, and in that same light we can realize the measure of our duty and obligation towards the future."

Written on behalf of the Hastings County Historical Society.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It was nearly two o'clock before I got into the cafeteria for lunch, having been held up by a long-winded friend whom I didn't want to have lunch with on account of his long-windedness. I told him I had already had lunch. So, seeing him safely off in the opposite direction, I proceeded to my favorite cafeteria. It was nearly empty. As I walked along the counter, I noted that most of the food looked a little tired. But there was a fine new pan of freshly-cooked spaghetti with meat balls. So I indicated that.

"Hold on, hold on!" I protested, as the counter man heaped up the plate. He was giving me about a gallon of it.

He glanced at me with surprise, and reduced the load.

The waitress who was standing by to carry my tray smiled and winked at me. When we reached a table, she remarked:

"He mistook you for a latecomer."

"I am a latecomer," I admitted.

"No," she whispered, glancing about at the customers scattered around. "But there is a kind of latecomer who is a regular. He or she comes late because, the rush being over, they get bigger helpings of what is left.

The countermen grow generous when they see certain pans of food that are bound to be left over. And the big appetiters have found this out.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

OUR HUMORISTS

Our humorists are benefactors to us all. How they spice life and give to it an inspired mellowness. How great a debt we owe to such writers as Mark Twain, Will Rodgers, Stephen Leacock, Robert Benchley, George Fitch, Walt Mason, Roark Bradford, George Ade, Fred Allen, Bob Hope, Kin Hubbard (Abe Martin), Bill Nye, and a multitude of others. These humorists help to carry us over the rough spots of life, smoothing the pathways and making them less sad. Our friend the Circus Clown may be full of trouble but he passes none of it to others. He gladdens the life of the kiddies and we grownups

Many of Mark Twain's years were full of trouble, anxiety, failures and sorrow but he passed none of this on to others. He gave cheer, hope and laughter instead, delighting millions with his gift of humor. Generation after generation will honor and love his courage in the midst of troubles.

An institution closed its doors when Will Rogers left us all. The humorist never dies. He leaves tracks behind that never become obliterated. How sorely we need our humorists during these days of fear and confusion of mind. Lincoln read Artemus Ward when his heart must have been near the breaking point. It gave him spiritual ease and uplift.

There are times when we need the voice of our humorists to give us guidance. They take so many burdens from our heavy ladened minds and hearts. They give freshness to life. As to comics, may the "Mutt and Jeffs" never die!

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

TO THINE OWN SELF BE TRUE

Caught in the art of stealing money from a classmate's room, a student was expelled from college. It was not his first offense, and the evidence against him was clear and unquestionable. But the boy persisted in maintaining his innocence: he was not stealing; it was all a mistake; it was somebody else. A psychiatrist who talked with him said later that the boy was so unwilling to face the fact of his guilt that he had actually convinced himself that he was not guilty.

Self-deceit — how much trouble and sorrow it causes There is almost no worthwhile aim which it cannot spoil. If we need to repent our sins, self-deceit tells us we have no sins. If we want to overcome our deficiencies, it hides them from us. If we wish to increase our knowledge, it veils our ignorance.

The second president of the United States, John Adams, once wrote, "Nothing in the science of human nature is more curious or deserving of critical attention than the principle referred to by moralists as self-deceit. This principle is the spurious offspring of self-love. It is perhaps, the greatest source and worst part of the vices and calamities of mankind."

And nearly two hundred years before the time of President Adams, William Shakespeare wrote, "This above all: to thine own self be true."

False Teeth Hard to Clean

Moose Jaw Tmes-Herald

Travelling in modern railroad trains is delightful; the seats are comfortable, the beds are soft and springy, the temperature controls are excellent. The doors at the end of the cars are a little too suction-tight for the oldsters and women, but just right to keep the kids confined to the car. It is wonderful to view the landscape from the dome cars and the passengers can go to bed ready for a good night's rest.

But there is the morning to be faced. These washroom facilities were designed by young men in possession of all their God-given human equipment: arms, legs, eyes, ears and nose and their two rows of ivories.

There is doubt of how the unfortunate portion of the population equipped with "china clippers" and wanting to wash and brush them, is going to get the job done. There is a basin with an arched-faucet. But how in the world can a person hold an upper in hand, press the button that will squirt the water with the other and wield a tooth brush on the plates. It just can't be done and the poor unfortunate people with dentures after struggling for an embarrassed few moments to the onlookers, admit defeat and retire chagrined to the dining car on the cafe car, or perhaps with so great a defeatist attitude of mind that he refuses to eat.

It could be solved so simply. All needed would be to put the button that releases the water on the floor of the car underneath the little basin. The unfortunate denture owners could hold their plates in one hand and brush in the other, get the job done in seconds, go to the dining car in a jubilant frame of mind, instead of retiring to the berth or the dome car to sulk.

It's only a little thing, but if the railroad car designers would adopt it, they would get the benediction of ten of thousands. We make no charge for the idea and don't care who gets the royalty on the patent so long as this gadget is modernized in keeping with the rest of the train.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Mutual Admiration Society

A North Carolian reader outlines his way of living, which may be all right for him, although I wouldn't follow it myself. Here it is:

"Although I am 69, I run a mile a day, walk two miles a day, swim in a pond every day in the year. . . ." Even when you have to break the ice to get in? ". . . . eat no cooked food, only raw, one meal per day. I am no faddist. A doctor told me forty years ago I must have my tonsils out; I still have them . . ."

We must remember that tonsillectomy was all the rage forty years ago. Some ever-ready operators even employed or persuaded social service workers, teachers, school nurses and other agents to scout the territory and bring kids into the dispensary, clinic or hospital by the bus or truck load Saturday mornings for tonsillectomy.

Don't you believe it? I have seen a youngster wheeled into the operating-room already under anesthesia, the nurse in charge of festivities informing the operator what was needed. The operator, who had never before seen the patient, looked in the throat and directed removal of the patient, who had no enlarged tonsils. But there were not many operators who exercised such discretion in the era of frenzied tonsillectomy.

". . . still another doctor told me when I was 19 that I had a bad heart; it's still going. My family eats only whole wheat bread; no white flour, white sugar, no soft drinks, little meat. The last time I saw a doctor was after World War I when they discharged me,

"But I'm thankful we have doctors. When I get sick I'm heading for one. If people would take doctors' advice they wouldn't have to take one-tenth of the medicine.

(Signed) — — — —"

Except for swimming in the pond every day in the year, your routine seems excellent. If you don't mind, I'll take a sun bath instead, or if there's no sun then an air bath. But maybe you really enjoy cold baths and not just the pleasure of boasting about them. If so, it is o.k.

I'm not sure whether you mean you eat only raw food or just that you eat one meal a day instead of the usual two or three or perhaps that you make one meal a day exclusively raw food. Whole wheat bread isn't raw. Whichever it may be, I can see no objection to it, provided the raw food is not polluted, infected or contaminated — cooking makes infected food safe, you know.

At the same time, cooking destroys essential vitamins and enzymes or ferments which make the difference between fair and ordinary and superior or optimal nutrition. Indeed, some good authorities insist that cooking or even par-boiling milk will to kill disease germs changes the chemical character of the protein so that its nutritional value is considerably impaired.

I do not mean to recommend raw milk for infant, growing child or adult, unless your local health officer or health department or your family physician aproves of the raw milk.

Let's say your heart trouble was iatrogenic. That is the nature of a good deal of chronic heart trouble or "weak heart." Iatrogenic is a $10 word meaning doctor-produced.

Best Buy in Meals

New York Times

During a lull in the conversation a voice suddenly was heard from the far end of the table. "Today's best buy in meals," it remarked quietly, "is the church supper." The lull was followed by a moment's stunned silence, while each went to his own thoughts. Was this some unbeliever, some agnostic strayed into the dining room from the dark regions that lie away from the neighborhood? Was this doctrine atheism, or commercialism to the tenth degree, or was it a conversational gambit, tossed into the air in order to see what would happen? It turned out to be none of these things, and the speaker turned out to be nothing more dangerous that a visiting gourmet. In the silence each went to his own thoughts, each visited for a time with his memories. Depending upon the clearness of those memories, each came up with pretty much the same picture. Also with the same caption —today's best buy in meals is the church supper.

Atheism, agnosticism? Not this. Commercialism to the tenth degree? No. Both the picture and the caption below it are high compliments. To say that the church supper is not a good buy is to insult those who cooked it. To hint for a moment that the helpings on the plate are niggardly is to insult those who served. The agnostic would throw out such hints, to be sure, for that is his trade. The gourmet knows better. The gourmet—in this case, the definition embraces all who attend church suppers—knows that he will find both quantity and quality.

The church supper is, of course, a tradition. Let it never perish. When the budget requires a little extra money—new vestments, hymn books, additional upkeep—the supper offers the finest way to raise it. It is a way of many graces. In the first place, after a supper or two the books can be purchased, and everyone naturally sings a little louder from new books. In the second, the cook is pleased. The best of her grandmother's recipes are taken from their carefully chosen hiding places—these out of the way of prying children—and are carefully studied. To be sure, the cook has been using the recipes for years, week in, week out, but the use has been freehand. For the supper, they must be followed exactly, since other cooks will be about, and other cooks are almost certain to ask ingredients and proportions. The supper thus becomes a sort of verbal cookbook, presumably to the betterment of meals everywhere about the neighborhood.

• •

The one gaining most from the supper, however, is the one sitting on this, the near, side of the table. Call him the gourmet, say at once he knows of what he is talking, is an expert in the field. Almost anyone can roast a turkey, but the true flavor of a turkey dinner lies in the stuffing, and the church supper specializes in stuffing. Almost anyone can boil up some turnips, but who away from the supper can add that little something which will make them ambrosia? Mince pie? Has anyone ever bettered that recipe from the now yellowed pages of a magazine from another century? The answer, of course, is no one. Just as the answer is that no one else offering meals for payment operates under the same principle as the server at the supper. She knows when a man is hungry, and fills his plate accordingly? At a million dollars the plate, such suppers would be worth it.

Sore Necks

St. Thomas Times - Journal

A new sore neck disease has become prevalent, caused by trying to do two or three other things and watch television at the same time.

Many Inquiries Handled By Manager of Chamber

What sort of inquiries are handled at the Chamber of Commerce?

To those citizens who are not very familiar with the functionings of Chambers, here are a few examples of what secretary-manager Robert G. Hamilton entertains regularly in Belleville. Be it noted that much — but not all — time is spent in this and other Chambers of Commerce answering inquiries similar to those mentioned here.

A group of "unknown" actors in England is interested in coming to Canada and hence to Belleville to present any number of "live" plays, much in line with what the summer theatre group once did in Peterborough.

In a personal letter to Mr. Hamilton, a spokesman for the group said they wish only to make enough money to defray expenses. This is a new twist: they don't want to make a profit, but, of course, they wouldn't turn down such a reward.

The group will present two performances per day, at least, if desired by the public.

Said Mr. Hamilton: "I'm favorably disposed towards this proposed venture as it would give the public in Belleville something which it isn't getting now. I would be interested in hearing from the public about this so that I can formulate a better reply than otherwise."

Another letter from England von, who is a graduate engineer tells of Paul Walmark of South De- from a Swedish university, wanting to locate in Belleville, preferably associating with an architectural or engineering firm.

From West Pakistan came an inquiry from Moghal Carpet Manufacturing Co. which wants to find an agent in this city to handle its oriental carpets.

Fred W. Lehman, proprietor of Aragain Lodge on Kashwakamak Lake near Harlowe in Frontenac county, dropped into the Chamber office Tuesday noon and outlined to Mr. Hamilton an idea he hopes might add impetus to the Lake Ontario Development Association's display at the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show next March 14 to 23.

Mr. Lehman, who spends the winter in Buffalo, N.Y., thought it a good idea if a dozen or so other resort owners in this area got together and rented space at the sportsmen's show. In this way, he believe Americans might show greater interest in vacationing in this part of Ontario.

The resort operators' booth would be well stocked with pamphlets boosting the beauty of this area.

"Out of my way — we're having lemon pie tonight"

• You can't blame the man, if it's pie made with Jell-O Lemon Pie Filling — the fresh-tasting, satin-smooth pie filling that's sure to be wonderful every time. So easy — no lemons to squeeze . . . no double-boiler needed . . . takes only minutes to make. (Jell-O is a registered trade mark owned in Canada by General Foods, Limited.)

L.A. Kells Addresses H-S Association

The recent meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held in the school auditorium, with Mrs. J. Gill presiding. Reports were read by Mrs. R. Outred and Mrs. L. Langabeer.

After announcing that the annual card party would be held in February and "Open House" in March, Mrs. Gill called upon Mr. Burgoyne, principal of the school.

In introducing the speaker, Mr. Burgoyne informed the audience that Mr. Kells had for several years been principal of King George school. Mr. Kells spoke informally, but informatively on "Shool Development in the City of Belleville." He stated that members of the school board had left definite marks on the growth of education. Mr. Kells outlined a history of the formation and re-organization of school boards in Belleville from a Board of Common School Trustees in 1861 to the present system of a High School and a Public School Board of Education.

PROBLEMS OUTLINED

The problems faced by the various school boards were briefly outlined — the main ones having been the construction of buildings and locations of sites.

It was interesting to note that the site upon which King George school was built had been a fairly contentious one between Belleville and the township of Thurlow. As a result, it was finally agreed, that it be built on the boundary line.

During the growth of schools and the solving of construction problems, teaching was being carried on: and, although there had been gradual changes in systems of education. Mr. Kells pointed out that there was no satisfactory evidence to prove that teaching is any different now. However there are more aids and better buildings: there have been additions to and extractions from the curriculum and teachers do know more about the nature of children.

SCHOOL YEARS LONGER

In commenting on the "lowering of standards", Mr. Kells stated that more children are being given more years of schooling, and the slower learner is not held at such a discouraging level that he finally gives up. Educationists realize that there is a place for everyone in society, today.

Mrs. Kilfedder thanked Mr. Kells for his interesting talk.

Attendance awards for the evening went to Mrs. Wilcox' Grade V class and Mrs. Burkitt's Grade IA class.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Storms and committee.

Eastminster W.F. Installs New Officers

The Women's Federation of Eastminster United Church was held recently at the church with a good number in attendance.

Mrs. E. Whitfield presided at the piano.

The president, Mrs. J. Kuntze, welcomed all present and called on the treasurer and different secretaries for their annual reports, which showed a most successful year. Mrs. Kuntze also voiced her thanks to all the members for their fine support and co-operation during her term of office.

Mrs. S. Dier took charge of the devotional with the theme, "Another Way." She was assisted by Mrs. K. Gummo reading the Scripture and Mrs. L. Kline taking the meditation.

The Rev. A. McDowell conducted the installation of officers for 1958 which are as follows: president, Mrs. J. R. Williams; vice-presidents, Mrs. E. Whitfield and Mrs. L. Uens; treasurer, Mrs. L. Horning; missionary treasurer, Mrs. K. Gummo; secretary, Mrs H. M. Brodie; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Willian Fothergill; social convener, Mrs. F. Simpson; co-convener, Mrs. D. Lamb; pianist Mrs. R. Gillan.

Group leaders: Mrs. M. Reid, Mrs. L. Kline, Mrs. J. Gummo, Mrs R. Knowlton, Mrs. A. Hotchkiss and Mrs. C. Hunt.

Secretaries: Christian stewardship, Mrs. A. McDowell; Christian citizenship, Mrs. N. Throop; visiting and membership, Mrs. R. Robson; relief and supply, Mrs. G. Dymock; parsonage, Mrs. H. Beach; literature, Mrs. E. Connell; press, Mrs. E. Burnham; flower committee: Mrs. N. Desmond and Mrs. J. Locke; kitchen committee: Mrs. R. Robson, Mrs. H. Farrow and Mrs. S. Hoard; nominating committee: Mrs. G. Dymock, Mrs. H. Beach, Mrs. S. Dier and Mrs. R. Ricketts.

A social hour followed with Mrs. Dier's group serving refreshments.

St. Joseph's CWL Plans Valentine Tea

The January meeting of St. Joseph's subdivision of the Catholic Women's League was held in the school on Monday evening in the form of a pot-luck supper. There were 35 members present. The convener, Mrs. V. Muldoon; the councillors, and the committee, Mrs. G. Gibbons, Mrs. M. Barlow, Mrs. B. Bankey, Mrs. V. Narusevicius, were commended for their efforts in making possible such an enjoyable evening. There was a varied array of tempting casserole dishes, colorful salads and delicious desserts.

Following the supper, the business part of the meeting was conducted with the president, Mrs. J. Hanley, presiding. The officers' reports were read by the following: financial — Mrs. F. Hopkins; correspondence — Mrs. T. Kelly, "League Magazine" — Mrs. C. Murphy; spiritual — Mrs. E. Stiver; League of Sacred Heart — Mrs. E. Hilbig; register subscriptions — Mrs. F. Collyer; secretary — Mrs. D. Durnine.

Correspondence since the last meeting consisted of seven cards sent and seven thank-you notes received.

A list of paid members has been forwarded for the League Magazine by Mrs. C. Murphy, who wished also to thank the ladies who had helped with the candy at Christmas time: The project was a success.

It was announced the communion breakfast will take place in March. A list for the League of the Sacred Heart for the first Friday was prepared. The communion Sunday for February will be February 2nd.

The Valentine tea and bake sale for February 15th will be convened by Mrs. R. Chipman. Plans were discussed for future events and members were asked to begin now to make articles for the "Spring Bazaar". Mrs. P. Halloran and Mrs. C. Murphy will be the co-conveners for this event.

Subscriptions for the Canadian Register are still being accepted by Mrs. F. Collyer.

Congregational Meetings

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH

The annual vestry meeting of St. Thomas' Church was held in the Parish Hall on Monday evening, January 27th, with the Rector, the Reverend Canon A. S. McConnell, M.B.E., in the chair. The meeting was opened with prayer, and on the appointment of Dr. J. M. McLean as vestry clerk the minutes of the previous vestry meeting were read and confirmed.

The Warden's statements for general account and missions presented by Mr. A. S. Lewis and Mr. O. Hales, and the Centennary Fund account presented by Mr. R. C. Bastable showed that an amount in excess of $30,000 was subscribed during the past year with some $5,800 sent to the Synod allotment.

Outstanding financial reports were also presented by the Parochial Guild, the Woman's Auxiliary, the Sunday School and other parish organizations. The Parochial Guild assisted in the decoration of the parish hall and the Sunday School gave $225. to Missionary work.

In his report to the vestry the Rector gave figures that showed that the parish was in a most thriving condition and listed as "highlights" of the past year the dedication of the new Memorial Organ; the complete decoration of the parish house, the finding of over $7,000 in new money subscribed to the church through the 'Every Member Visitation', and the painting and renovation of St. Paul's Mission.

He also paid tribute to the work of Mr. A. S. Lewis who had accepted his invitation to become Rector's Warden after the removal to Toronto of Mr. A.W. Coulter who had carried out this function so well for the first part of the year. He also thanked Mr. O. Hales, People's Warden for his faithful services, including in his thanks the two Junior Wardens Mr. J. A. Weese and Mr. A. A. Clarke.

Tribute was paid to the late Reverend Joseph Cantrell and the thanks of the Rector were expressed to the Reverend C. P. Heaven for his assistance at the services of the church.

The Rector intimated that there were four things which must receive the fullest consideration of the vestry council during the year: the appointment of a full-time assistant; the providing of more accommodation for parish activities; a more hearty welcome to newcomers and strangers in the parish and the ultimate participation of the parish in contributing to the Extension Fund of the Diocese.

He announced that the Reverend Canon F. J. Nicholson of Toronto would conduct a Parish Mission in October of this year.

The Rector asked Mr. Hales to act as his warden for the coming year and the unanimous choice of People's Warden was Mr. A. A. Clarke with Mr. M. F.L. Jones, and Mr. J.M. Bertrand being elected as junior Wardens. Lay delegates to the Synod are as follows: Dr. P. G. Loder; J. A. Weese; A. A. Clarke, A. S. Lewis; Brig. J. E. Genet; N. E. Edwards; alternates; R. Keel and A. R. Scott.

Members of the vestry council were elected as follows; Messrs. J. McDonald; H. R. Frink; R. Freestone; Dr. J. M. McLean; W. Anderson; Lt. Col. G. M. Davison; L. A. Kells; L. G. Irvine; Mac Smith; R. C. Bastable; M. F. L. Jones; R. H. Tanner; G. M. Miller; H. L. Carruthers; A. F. E. Jarrett; H. H. Murray; A. R. Scott and A. Fort.

Auditors appointed by the vestry were: A. F. E. Jarrett, and R. Freestone. A budget totalling $28,900 was presented by A. S. Lewis and was accepted, without change, by the members of the vestry.

Mrs. S. E. Morton was thanked for her duties as parish representative on the executive of the V. O. N. and asked to accept her duties for the coming year.

The vestry stood as the Rector read the names of 23 persons who had received Christian burial at his hands during the past year, and prayed that God would bring comfort to the bereaved. He concluded his report in these words. "I believe that we are gradually building up a loyalty to those things for which our religion stands — Christ and the Church. Old-fashioned as it may seem, I am fully convinced that regular attendance at divine service, the family pew, and a God-given desire for fellowship together with the true spirit of forgiveness, will drive away those evil traits that sometimes make our Church membership artificial and unchristian. Let us praise God for His goodness to us and let us show forth our praise not only with our lips but in our lives by giving up ourselves to His service and by walking before Him in holiness and righteousness all our days".

Refreshments served by members of the Parochial Guild brought another fine vestry meeting to a happy conclusion.

UNITED CHURCH

SHANNONVILLE — The annual congregational meeting of Shannonville United Church was held in the church hall on the evening of January 24th.

A pot-luck supper preceded the meeting and was attended by 44 adults and children.

The minister, Mr. J. Robinson, conducted the meeting and opened it with prayer. Mr. Claude Clarke, secretary, read the minutes of the previous congregational meeting, which were adopted.

Mr. Robinson reported on the year's work of the church and Mr. Everett Stratton, stipend treasurer; Mr. Claude Clarke, local fund treasurer, and Mrs. Asa Cook, M and M Fund treasurer, gave satisfactory reports.

The various church organizations gave their reports, which were also pleasing.

The elders and stewards were all re-elected for one year.

Mrs. H. Sine was re-elected pianist, with Mrs. Damon Hinchey and Miss Marina Mastin as assistants.

Mr. Tom Hinchey was appointed to look after the subscriptions to the "Observer."

Danny Bradley will again be caretaker.

A vote was taken on the hours of church service which will be 7.30 p.m. the first Sunday in the month, and 10.00 a.m. the remaining Sundays.

The meeting was then adjourned.

FREE FIVE POLES

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A Warsaw district court has acquitted five men charged with taking part in the October riots against suppression of the student paper Po Prostu. All were in their early 20s. The court ruled the evidence against them was insufficient.

This --- and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

In the January 18th column T & T referred to the Moira River Conservation Authority and we suggested that the dangers from conservation neglect were not "far fetched." Our January edition of the UNESCO Courier has arrived from Paris. It is entirely devoted to conservation with articles by world authorities. We sincerely wish that there was space to reprint a few of the startling facts that verify the real threat to mankind because conservation has been ignored.

One photo showing the waste of neglect and the salvage by protection is titled "The Rape of the Earth." One short letter asks if we are headed for catastrophe. "We have one last chance," it says, "if the power of education can overcome the power of ignorance. A rational population policy, a stop-and-arrest stand against the cancer of erosion, the adaption of cultivation to climate and soil, the preservation of renewable resources — all these depend upon education."

It points out that the gap between consumption by fast-growing population and the increase in production widens every year. Another authority points out that testing atomic weapons is a new threat to the fertility of the soil and that the earth can't stand more threats to what is, today, a losing battle. A definition of conservation in its wider sense is "making use, the best use, by wise management, of all natural resources."

The extinction of animals is shown by an arithmetical table which shows that since the time of Jesus there have been 106 mammals exterminated. During the first 1800 years there were 33 lost, during the next 100 years there were 33 more lost, and during the last 50 years 40 more have been destroyed. These figures do not take into account the large and growing numbers on the verge of extinction. This applies only to animals, but destruction has been equally serious in forests, fossils and all nature. Still another article insists that the best friend nature has can be and should be, the schoolchild.

TAKING PRACTICAL STEPS

Some countries with the help of UNESCO are taking practical steps to teach school children that every single article required to sustain human life comes from nature. An organization was founded in 1948 on the initiative of UNESCO to promote world conservation. It is the Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources. The UN Food and Agriculture Organization is seriously concerned. The delicate balance of nature is illustrated by examples. One example is the treacherous leopard which has been put under the protected list in parts of Africa. It has been proven that the life destroyed by leopards did more harm to man and his crops than the leopards themselves. When the leopard was destroyed the greater destroyers thrived. There are many examples. Even the crocodile and the hippopotamus have an influence on nature's balance. When the coyote was wiped out in one part of the U.S., it was not long before rats and rabbits swarmed over the area.

There are many signs of stirring concern. The U.S.S.R. has made over 6,000,000 acres into reserves. The U.S., Canada and many countries have established reserves. It was suggested that Solomon in all his glory was not aware of conservation so he may be excused for cutting down the cedars of the Lebanon. The resultant erosion has left nothing but bare rock for hilltops. The author writes that there is no such excuse for this generation. It is good to know that the Moira River Conservation Authority is at work in our community, making its contribution to the world wide anxiety. The UNESCO Courier vividly proves why we should support our local Authority whose head office is at Cannifton.

The housewife has to make her essential purchases regardless of trends, seasons or styles. There haven't been any spectacular changes in the essential lines such as foods, and styles are waiting for the spring splurge. Probably the most important shopping spree this week is the March of Mothers who are shopping desperately for dimes. T & T hopes that the women who are on the march this week in search of dimes find their shopping both a delight and a rewarding success.

It is simple and it may be trite to remind ourselves of the old adage that ten cents make a dime; ten dimes make a dollar and so on, but we trust the adding machines are busy so that crippled children who may be helped will be multiplied many times. Good luck to the Marching Mothers.

Rev. R.F. Snyder Heads B.Y.P. Fellowship

Rev. Robert F. Snyder of Elim Baptist Church of Belleville, was elected president of the Fellowship Baptist Young People's Association at its three-day convention at Toronto this weekend.

Mr. Snyder and Mr. Beverly Foster of Halloway were the official delegates from the Elim Baptist Church. They were accompanied by a carload of young people from the Belleville district who also attended the three-day conference. There was a total registration of over 600, mostly teenagers, from all over Ontario, and also from Quebec.

F.B.Y.P.A.

The Fellowship Baptist Young People's Association is the youth organization of the Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches in Canada, of which Elim is a member. The F.B.Y.P.A. is primarily concerned with promoting their youth work by means of rallies and conferences, publication of youth program materials, and encouragement of leadership training throughout the churches of the Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches in Canada.

Mr. Snyder has been on the advisory council of the F.B.Y.P.A. for the past seven years and in the capacity of one of the vice-presidents for three years. He moved to Belleville with his wife and four-year-old son this past September.

Women's Study Guild Hears Talk On 'Choosing One's Life Work'

Mrs. Arnold Orr was hostess to the January meeting of the Women's Study Guild. At the business session a donation was voted to C.A.R.E. to further the technical training of the Italian boy who has been of special interest to the Guild. His letter of thanks was read which gave details of his program.

Mrs. H. Mils conducted the worship service and, since the study for the evening was an aspect of education, she used the theme of "Choosing One's Life's Work". The first Christian school started when Christ gathered his disciples together to follow him, and Mrs. Mill's Scripture readings came from the familiar passages.

The basic meaning of the word 'vocation' would lead one to follow the call of God. The whole world is one, secular and sacred, and any life's work should be a dedication as much as ordination to the ministry—no matter if it be a humble or high calling. A prayer for help to this end closed the service.

Mrs. Varcoe and Mrs. Beresford combined to present a picture of what has been accomplished in the field of education in Canada since the second world war, and what is expected to be accomplished in the near future. They entitled this "Brains and Bricks". Education means to draw out powers which the individual possesses — to develop them physically, mentally and morally, in order that they may achieve the most possible for themselves and render the highest service to society. Acquiring the knowledge represented by a diploma is only to be given a fool. The use and condition is up to the owner.

The impetus given to higher education with the program for veterans following the second world war was recalled. This proved that older students were well worth educating and that an interruption could be overcome.

Everyone who works is important to society and should be trained in some skill or profession and prepared to give value for their wage. This will become more obvious as jobs are not so readily available. The cost of education brings it close to everyone, ranking next to highways in the province.

It is a problem to know how to use the best brains well: and it is to be deplored that many are taken out of the educational field into the more lucrative industrial one. Because higher education can only be opened to more people if the teaching staff is adequate, brains as well as bricks are needed to give additional schools.

ACADEMIC—TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Training is provided through the various schemes for academic and technical education, high schools, technical schools vocational schools, apprenticeship training and universities. The cost to the student who wishes to go on to higher education was presented, said to average $1,200 per year at university level. Is it open to everyone? Many scholarships, bursaries and loans are available for all types of training; these come from various sources and are increasing in numbers and value until some people state no promising student need be deprived for lack of funds.

In 1955 the Atkinson Foundation inaugurated a study of the utilization of student resources to try to discover the potential of those presently in schools and to try to augment the information provided by Grade 13 exams. These students are followed for two years, either to higher schools or directly to work.

MORE EDUCATION NEEDED

The feeling is that more education is needed for the age of automation, not less. Brawn will be replaced to a degree by brain in the control tower.

Many problems face Canada in the fuller use of potential of the young people and they are being seriously studied by the Canada Council as well as at provincial and local levels. NATO wants more basic research done in science and the humanities.

How to attract people to the teaching profession? How to pay the rising costs? How to prepare a pupil for the transition from one who is taught to one who must study? Does guidance work? How to have more graduates from, rather than more entrants to, university? Can anyone work his way through? These were some of the questions which provoked lively general discussion.

Mrs. Meldrum and Mrs. Maybee served refreshments during the social hour which followed this worthwhile program.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mary J. — It's high time Evelyn started dating.

Michael J. — Why hurry things?

Mary J. — My husband and I are having quite a controversy over our 15-year-old daughter, Evelyn. I think it is high time she started to date, but my husband seems to want to keep her a little girl always.

Evelyn is the shy, retiring type and has shown no interest in boys yet. When I told my husband we should try to arrange some dates for her with the sons of a few of our friends, he nearly hit the roof.

Mike seems to be afraid of facing teenage problems with Evelyn, but I say she has to get social experience — and the sooner, the better. If you let things slide with some of these shy youngsters, they never get around to getting married.

Michael J. — Mary has a [illegible]hobia about having an old maid [illegible]n the family because two of her sisters never got married. But I think this is being ridiculous. Evelyn is a pretty, charming girl and boys would discover her eventually even if we tried to hide her, so why hurry things?

I am much more worried about the harmful results of early dating than I am about Evelyn's becoming an old maid. You see kids of her age racing around in cars with young toughs and getting into all kinds of trouble.

Maybe I am afraid of trouble, as my wife suggests, but I can't see the sense of plunging into all these worries before we have to. Let things take their natural course.

The Council: Both Mary and Michael seem to be doing a lot of unnecessary worrying.

Michael appears to think that dating necessarily entails worry about his daughter's "racing around in cars with young toughs." This isn't so. If Evelyn is a normal, happy, well-brought-up girl, she will look for friends of her own kind. Both she and her date will respect their parents' standards for good behavior. Problems will undoubtedly arise, but usually they won't be of such serious nature.

On the other hand, Mary's worry about having an old maid daughter if she lets "things slide" is very much premature. Children develop unevenly and many have little interest in dating until the later teens.

Most authorities believe that pushing girls or boys into dating before they are ready can have very harmful effects. The children who show no interest are simply not ready for this experience. If they are forced, they are miserable and they tend to retreat from the opposite sex entirely.

Actually, there are many social forces at work which tend to push teenagers into dating. They want to do what others of their age are doing. Movies, books, songs, TV plays, all eulogize romance. The exciting, grown-up world is filled with romance and marriage.

Any normal child looks forward to enjoying this adventure. When he feels ready for it, he begins to express this interest in terms of dating. If this interest comes late, he may be a little behind the others in social experience — but eventually he will catch up.

HOW TO ADDRESS ENVELOPES OF WEDDING INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Three of my very dear friends have volunteered to address the envelopes of my wedding invitations and announcments. All of them, thank goodness, have very good and clear handwritings. But we are not quite sure about the "pattern" for writing the address. So will you please give us a definite sample? Also: should, or may, the city and province be written on one line (as one friend insists)? — E.M.

There is a very definite "pattern" (good word you use!) for addressing these important envelopes. For the usual adress, there should be four lines: (1) name on first line; (2) street-address on second line; (3) name of city (with zone number, when possible) on third line; (4) name of province on fourth line. Like this:

Mr. and Mrs. John Lane Hall
123 Pleasant Street
Home City 4
Ontario

Notes: (a) The city and province should not be written on the same line. (b) Tell those kind friends of yours: No abbreviations, please, except "Mr." and "Mrs." (c) On the inner envelope, only the surname with title: Mr. and Mrs. Hall.

Fish Chowder Halifax Citadel Style

By Mary Moore

Get set to see "When I was in the Maritimes . . ." quite often for a while for I have come home loaded with fishy and ocean-sprayed ideas.

I.O.D.E. members will be intrigued with a tale I have to tell and a recipe I have to reveal.

At the Citadel Tea Room in Halifax members of the IODE Chapter serve Fish Chowder every Friday to a hungry crowd of Haligonians.

Many a Halifax cook who has been given the recipe has tried to copy but has never succeeded in reproducing the subtle blend of lovely flavors enjoyed by the regular IODE patrons.

The secret is that the haddock fillets for the chowder are cut from whole haddock (to make ten times or more the amount that our recipe gives) and the skin and bones are boiled in the water which is called for in the recipe. So do you likewise—coax your fishman to give you some haddock skin and bones then, with your fishy parcel tucked underneath your arm, hie yourself home and make

I.O.D.E. FISH CHOWDER

Two pounds fresh haddock fillets, ¼ lb. salt pork, 1 medium onion, 2 cups water (from boiling skin and bones), 3 cups potatoes, sliced thin, 1 quart milk, 8 soda crackers, ground fine, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 teaspoons salt, pepper to taste, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Saute pork, cut in ½" pieces Add onion, chopped fine. Cook till tender, but do not brown. Add potatoes, cooked until tender. Add 2 cups water and cut up fish to mixture. Simmer gently.

In another pot heat milk, cracker crumbs, butter, parsley and seasonings. Combine mixtures and stir over low heat until thoroughly blended and thickened. Never allow it to boil. The secret is in the slow cooking.

Do I hear the wheels going round—wondering if your chapter or branch of some other worthy cause could swell your coffers likewise?

WHOLE BAKED SALMON (Atlantic or Pacific)

Measure thickness of the fish. Season on the inside with salt. Wrap fish in greased aluminum foil, envelope style. Pinch folds to make steam tight. Place package on baking sheet and bake at 500 deg. Fahr. allowing 10 minutes baking time per inch thickness of fish if fresh and 20 minutes per inch if frozen. Allow an additional 10 minutes for heat to penetrate foil. When fish is cooked juices are milky colored and flesh is an opaque color to the backbone. Remove foil carefully and then remove skin with same care. With spatula transfer fish to serving platter and garnish to taste. Pass.

Indian Woman Has Spent 108 Years on Prairie

GRENFELL, Sask. (CP)—Mrs. Bunnie, an ancient squaw of the Sakimay Indian Reserve near this town 75 miles east of Regina, has spent 108 years on the Prairie.

Now a gnarled old woman, she speaks with a booming voice and recalls with clarity the days of her youth. She was 25 years old before peace was made with the white man.

When she was a girl, her tribesmen hunted with bow and arrow. Occasionally they were killed in buffalo or grizzly bear hunts. When a tribesman was killed, it was customary to murder a brave from another tribe to make company for the dead man, she says.

[illegible]ribe rivalry ran high and [illegible]s were numerous, Mrs. Bunnie recalls. Horses were the major prize.

LIVELY HISTORY

She tells how her father, Big Sky, in a skirmish with the Sioux, pulled an arrow from his leg and killed an enemy with it. Returning with the scalp, he was the object of a big celebration.

In the old days the tribe spent the winter in a valley here and roved west in search of meat during the summer.

In one of her humorous stories, she tells how Indian women used to extract $5 from the government in the early days of treaty payments. They would put bundles under their clothing to simulate pregnancy and claim the money for an extra family member. The ruse worked until a bundle fell out one day.

Until seven years ago, Mrs. [illegible]e lived alone. Then, with h[illegible] eyesight and hearing weak and her energy declining, she moved in with her youngest son, 66-year-old Jim. Another son died recently at 86.

Mrs Bunnie has 174 known descendants and is the matriarch of six generations in her family. She doesn't consider modern living any faster than that on the Prairies a century ago.

Women's Club In Business To Lose Weight

VICTORIA (CP) — A women's group here called the Streamliners' Club holds regular meetings to help one another resist the temptation to eat too much.

Like Alcoholics Anonymous th[illegible] refer to each other by first n[illegible] only and the sole aim of its [illegible] regular members is to lose weight.

May, spokesman for the group, told a reporter that it is difficult to cut down on food "when one is constantly buying, preparing, and, even worse, washing up after it."

"Our club meets once a week," she said, "to talk and build up one another's morale while at the same time we try to lose pounds. We discuss our diets, read articles on health and keep a record of our weights.

KEEP IT QUIET

"We operate secretly because we don't want people making fun of us. To lose weight is a difficult, discouraging business and when our friends know we are trying to do it they kid us and that makes it even harder.

"Some of our husbands even do not know about it. It's a fact that a husband jibing at his wife is the hardest thing of all to bear."

"There is no royal road to thinness," said May. "The older you are, the harder it is to lose fat.

"We have a little prize once a week for the one who has lost the most and we also have a fine of five cents a pound for each pound gained.

"We made an awful lot of money in fines just after the Christmas-new year's season."

One must weigh at least 150 pounds to join the club, but that means they must be overweight. "We aren't really interested in people unless they are at least 15 to 25 pounds overweight," she said.

"Our club members realize that we must lose weight to be healthy, to avoid heart troubles and to live longer.

"Just look around and you'll see more thin old ladies in their 80s and 90s still up and about than fat ladies of the same age."

Montreal Girl Went to Haifa On Pilgrimage and Remained To Make Home in Holy Land

HAIFA, Israel (CP) — Twenty years ago the beautiful daughter of a Montreal architect came to Haifa on a pilgrimage. She remained to make her home in the Holy Land.

Today, the former Mary Maxwell is one of the nine disciples directing the religious life of the 2,000,000 of the Bahai World Community, a religious sect.

Soon after the Canadian girl came here, she became the wife of Shoghi Effendi Rabbani, a young Persian (Iranian) intellectual who was "guardian" or leader of the Bahai religion founded by his great-grandfather, Mirza Hussein Ali .

PERSIAN ORIGIN

Following her husband's death last year, the widow—now known as Madame Ruhiyyih Rabbini—was among the nine persons from five countries elected by Bahai elders to guide the destinies of 2,000,000 followers in 4,500 spiritual céntres in many parts of the world.

Other leaders with the title "hands of the cause," are from Iran, the United States, Israel and West Germany.

The Bahai faith was heralded in Persia in 1844 when Mirza Ali Mohammed, born a Moslem, publicly claimed to be the bearer of a divine message and mission. He was known as the bab (gate).

Predicting the arrival of a new prophet, he brought upon himself the wrath of Moslem authorities and was executed by a Persian firing squad at Tabriz, now described by Bahais as a "second calvary."

Nineteen years later another Persian, Mirza Hussein Ali, known as Bahullah, proclaimed himself the chosen of God. He aws banished by the Persians, imprisoned by the Turks but later allowed to live in a modest house at Acre, near here, where he died in 1892. Hi stomb in Acre is the most sacred shrine of the Bahai sect.

His grandson, Shoghi Effendi Rabbani, was to become the husband of Mary Maxwell. Ruhiyyih Rabbani, which in Persian means "the lady of the soul."

Mary-Ruhiyyih lives in a fine old Arab house beside Mount Carmel, spending many hours of contemplation and study amid beautiful gardens and statues where pheasants and peacocks roam free.

Travels with her husband gave opportunity for indulging her hobby of collecting Japanese and Chinese carvings for her home.

BUILT TEMPLE

Mary-Ruhiyyih was brought up in the Bahai religion, her father, W. S. Maxwell, and her mother having embraced the faith following a visit to Canada by the sage, Abdul Baha.

The Montreal architect built a Bahai temple in Chicago, the first in the Western world, and also designed the impressive gold-domed mausoleum on Mount Carmel where rests the sarcophagus of the Bab, known as "the heralder of one greater than he."

Mary - Ruhiyyih, studying the poetry and mysticism of the East to combine with her Western background, found no conflict between the two cultures, saying they form a harmonious unity:

"Ours is not an Oriental religion but a universal one."

UNIVERSAL PEACE

Asked about a kerchief worn over her hair, the only Oriental note in her costume, she recalled that when she married Shoghi Effendi, his mother and sister, newly-arrived from Persia, were heavily veiled.

"I decided that in order not to be conspicuous, I would wear a scarf. When they both died I was left with the scarf and now I feel lost without it."

When her husband died without heirs, Mary-Ruhiyyih decided to continue his work as much as possible.

Love of humanity and work for universal peace are the cornerstones of the Bahai creed which envisages a world super-state and complete reconciliation between labor and capital.

DIRECTOR OF WORLD FAITH

When Shoghi Effendi Rabbini, spiritual leader of the Baha-i world religion, died in London last November, his wife was elected one of the nine directors of the organization. She is the former Mary Maxwell of Montreal and in this photo taken in 1953 she poses in her Montreal home with a model of the Baha'i house of worship in Wilmette, Ill. The Baha'i movement claims it combines the best principles of all religions. (CP Photo).

PARKDALE W. I.

Parkdale W. I. held its monthly meeting on Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. E. Moon, with a good attendance, of around 25 members.

The president presided. The secretary read a letter of correspondence concerning the making of a layette: each member to bring an article of baby clothing for the next meeting. Mrs. L. Weagant gave the secretary's report. There was no report from the sick committee.

During the business, it was decided to cater to any skating parties that might be held at the hall in the near future.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. G. Devolin convener for the evening. Mrs. G. Palmer read a poem, and current events, prepared by Mrs. C. Keeble, were read by Mrs. B. Rolston. Mrs. Revoy read the motto followed by a contest by Mrs. G. Devolin.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing bingo after which Mrs. A. Hughes, Mrs. G. Priest, Mrs. D. Burley and Mrs. F. Rodgers served refreshments.

WHITE'S W.A.

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. Casey Ketcheson was hostess to the ladies of White's Woman's Association for their January meeting.

The president, Mrs. J. Glydon, presided.

Mrs. W. Jeffery was the leader of the devotional service. Mrs. Frank Sandercock read the Scripture, John 5, followed by a reading by Mrs Jeffery.

It was decided to have a fellowship supper at White's Church on Monday evening, January 27th. The annual congregational meeting followed the supper. It was also decided to omit July and August meeting. Mrs. W. Jones, Mrs. J. Glydon and Mrs. R. Ketcheson are to donate home cooking for the February meeting.

Mrs. J. Glydon took charge of the program. A vegetable contest was won by Mrs. W. Jeffery and Mrs. Casey Ketcheson was the winner of a T.V. contest.

Mrs. J. Glydon thanked the hostess for her hospitality.

The hostess served tasty refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

300 MOTHERS CONDUCT "MARCH OF DIMES" CAMPAIGN

FUNDS TO AID HANDICAPPED

Tonight an army of over 300 local mothers, armed with badges, receipt books, and special collection envelopes, will patrol the streets of Belleville collecting funds for the March of Dimes.

The money raised in this house - to - house, one - hour "blitz" type of canvass will be used by the March of Dimes to correct physical disabilities, and enable handicapped persons to become independent, wage-earning citizens once again.

The Mothers' March will be held simultaneously in more than 100 cities, towns and villages throughout the province, including Point Anne, Foxboro, Cannifton, Corbyville, Rossmore and Rednersville. More than 100,000 Ontario women will take part.

Also supporting the campaign is Mayor Gerald Hyde who stated "I have no doubt that the citizens of Belleville will want to do their part to support this practical program. The work that will be done with March of Dimes funds is important to every Ontario community."

Chief of Police Probert said today that the police department will be keeping a watchful eye on streets and collection points throughout the community during the evening.

Mrs. James Sisler, Chief Marching Mother for Belleville, said that all is in readiness for the big one-hour "blitz." With the city divided into 35 districts, each under a captain, each Marching Mother's route has been carefully laid out, covering from 10 to 15 homes close to her own home. "We've had a wonderful response from the mothers of the community," she stated, "and we expect that local residents will be generous in their support of the March of Dimes. We feel that the Mothers' March enables us to keep the expense of collecting funds to a minimum, so that the maximum amount will be spent where we all want it to be — on the patients who are waiting their turn for assistance. We hope that every family in town will be waiting with their contribution when the Marching Mother calls tonight. (Advt.)

History of House Of Happiness Told To Rotary

CAMPBELLFORD — Mrs. A. E. Toombs, wife of the Rev. A. E. Toombes of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of Campbellford, was the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club on Monday.

She told the group of the "House of Happiness" which she and her husband operate in Seymour East. While they were on furlough from India, their son had a serious accident which damaged his brain. As they were unable to find satisfactory training for him in Canada, they considered other children in the same plight, and on their return to this country they purchased a farm in Seymour East and founded the "House of Happiness."

Many underdeveloped children have found understanding, love and training there since its establishment several years ago. Every effort is made to help the children to be socially acceptable and give them a sense of belonging. Mrs. Toombs told of the many problems encountered in dealing with the children under her care.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Gordon Whitehorne and thanked by past president, Harold Carr.

Women's Institute Marks 50th Anniversary in Town Hall

WELLINGTON — The 50th anniversary meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday evening in the town hall, with over 50 members and visitors present. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. William Jackson in the absence of president, Mrs. Ellis.

During the general meeting it was announced that the guest speaker at the next meeting will be Mrs. Williams, of Belleville, representative of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. A donation to the birthday box was sent in by Mrs. Ellis.

The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. L. Wight and Mrs. B. Smith who then took charge of the program.

A lively singsong with Mrs. N. Foster at the piano was enjoyed. Mrs. J. Callow read the poem of the month. The highlight of the evening was the report given by Mrs. F. Harris on W. W. I's 50 years progress.

The Wellington Women's Institute was organized Jan. 20th, 1908, in the Masonic Hall, by Miss Susie Campbell. It was the first branch in Prince Edward County to be organized. The officers were, president — Mrs. Rockwell; vice-president — Mrs. W. P. Niles; secretary-treasurer — Mrs. Emma Bowerman.

The following have served as presidents: Mrs. Rockwell, Mrs. Noxon, Mrs. Montgomery, Miss B. Dorland Sr., Mrs. Harris, Mrs. J. Vancleaf, Mrs. A. Goodmurphy, Mrs. Craig Platt, Mrs. William Jackson, Mrs. A. Walker and Mrs. R. Ellis.

The Institute met at various places including the Fitzgerald Block; Alexander Hotel; Domestic Science Room of the W.C.S. The Library basement and finally the Town Hall.

The W. W. I. have accomplished many things during their 50 years of existence, such as the planting of the first trees in the park and the financing of electric lights in the park. In 1929 the Institute furnished the beautiful gates for the cemetery and when the new school was built in 1922, six hot plates, cooking utensils and dishes for serving hot lunches were donated. Layettes are always on hand for emergencies, 3 radios for school use. The Institute also paid and supplied a school nurse for one year, and made a yearly project at sending a girl to Consecon Camp.

In 1919 the sum of $1,000 was given to Prince Edward County Hospital to help furnish the operating room, and in 1954 the sum of $900 was given toward the building of the new hospital. In 1947 $50 was sent to Hospital for Sick Children on their 50th anniversary and donations are sent each year. Yearly donations are also sent the Children's Aid, and treats at Christmas are donated to the County Home every year. A sum of $25 was sent to the Winnipeg Flood Relief. Donations have been made to the girls and boys baseball teams. Scholarships amounting to $50 a year are awarded to W.C.S. students.

The Institute assisted in sending Eddie Vandusen (Rover Sout) to the World Jamboree ii England, furnished blinds, stve and tables for town hall, rmodelled the kitchen, furnishe guilts, clothing and food for nedy an burnt-out families in th area and sponsored a small lbrary in a building ot the late Charles Peters prperty until the new library was bilt.

Irs. Harris closed her remarks wih a poem of her own compoing.

vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Harris by Mrs. Willm Jackson.

The anniversary cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Harris, was cut by a former president, Mrs. Arthur Goodmurphy.

Mrs. Goodmurphy, who was president of the institute for nine years during the war told the members of the various money-raising projects undertaken by the organization to send boxes twice a year to each soldier from the vicinity serving overseas. She then wished the Institute many more successful years in the future.

Bingo was enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Wight and Mrs. Smith and their assistants.

LUCKY YOUTH

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — Tom Mazik, 17, who flew a kite Sunday on a wire, is alive to tell about it today because the wire was too light to carry 4,000 volts. Police said the wire melted immediately and broke the contact when it fell over two 4,000-volt power lines. Mazik was treated for a burned finger and slight shock.

YOUTH, GIRL

Tuesday, they discovered three more bodies.

One victim was August Meye 70, bachelor at whose far Starkweather used to hunt squi rels with his father. The othe two, their bodies tossed into storm cellar at an abandond school site about a quarter of a mile away, were Carol King, 16, and Robert Jensen, her 17-year-old high school boy friend. A pool of blood showed they had been shot outside the cave. The boy's body was thrown in first, then the girl's on top.

All three had been shot in the back of the head, Meyer with a .410-gauge shotgun and the other two with a small-calibre weapon.

The other three victims, Caril Fugate's mother, Velda Bartlett, 37, her stepfather, Marion Bartlett, 57, and their two-year-old daughter Betty Jean, were found dead at the family home Monday night.

The bizarre sequence of apparently related killings came to light when relatives reported that Caril had refused to let them into the Bartlett home. Her excuse was that everyone in the family was sick.

Investigation revealed Bartlett's body in a chicken coop, Mrs. Bartlett's body in an outhouse and the infant's body stuffed into a cardboard box and stacked in a pile of cartons in the outhouse.

Members of N.Y. Club, Wealthy Group of 'Exiles', Enthusiastic Canada Boosters

NEW YORK (CP)—High in the luxurious Waldorf-Astoria Towers are the club rooms of a well-heeled group of Canadian "exiles."

The Canadian Club of New York has 1,585 members—all enthusiastic boosters of Canada, even though the Canadian connections of many of them are remote.

The club also is a home away from home for many visiting Canadians.

"We're much more than just a social club," says Hugh A. Anderson native of St. John's, Nfld., and a member of the club's board of governors. We're always plugging Canada — we love the place."

The club has welcomed a host of famous figures and it was from one of these, the late Stephen Leacock, that the members received the tag of "exiles."

The Canadian humorist jabbed his hearers with a not-so-gentle wit when he told them in 1923

"You represent the exiles from the Dominion of Canada, those who failed in life, to whom the rugged north refused a livelihood."

A great many of the club's members are New Yorg business and professional men who left Canada years ago and became naturalized Americans. Some are members merely because they have business connections in Canada About 400 are Canadians still living in Canada—from Newfoundland to British Columbia—who use the club on visits to New York.

In recent years the club has entertained Queen Mother Elizabeth and Sir Winston Churchill who, incidentally, was fascinated to find a bartender named John Bull.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, on his first official trip to the United Nations after taking office, used the club quarters to give a dinner for Commonwealth UN delegates.

Anderson expressed puzzlement when he was questioned about a statement by Ray Lawson, former consul general in New York, that the club does not admit Jews.

He said there has been "absolutely no discrimination" and a number of Jews currently are members of the club. He insisted the club does not pry into the religious beliefs and racial origin of its members.

Lawson's statement was made before a House of Commons external affairs committee that was examining the status of Canada House, the 26-storey skyscraper now nearing completion on Fifth Avenue.

"It is a fine building and the only reason we did not apply for space is simply that it doesn't happen to be suitable for our needs," said Anderson.

"Our lease here has a number of years to run. The hotel provides our dining room, and furniture. It would be difficult to make the change.

"Besides," said Anderson with a smile, "Canada House is standing right beside a church, and according to New York law you cannot operate a bar within 200 feet of a church."

The first Canadian Club was formed here in 1885 by Erastus Wiman, a native of Churchill, Ont. The club subsequently lapsed for six years and was organized in 1903 as it is known today.

Club bylaws stipulate that 55 per cent of the members must be "regula,r" which is defined as "any man of good character who is or previously has been a Canadian citizen . . . who is a son of a Canadian, or who has resided in Canada, or who has served in the armed forces of Canada for three or more consecutive years.'

Associate members, comprising 45 per cent of the total, must have "Canadian affiliations of a substantial social or business nature. ' Anderson, who is a retired theatrical writer, is editor of the club's periodical, the quarterly Maple Leaf.

Current president is J. H. Clough, native of Waterford, Ont., and president of Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corporation. Vice-presidents with their former hometowns include: A.G. Curry, Windsor, N.S.; K. R. MacDonald, Wolfville, N.S. R. H. MacEachen, Pictou, N.S.; and P. D. O'Connell, Cornwall, Ont.

Minister Says Red Attack Could Be 'Devastating'

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes says any Russian air attack on North America would wreck "dreadful carnage" in Canada and the United States.

"We can't stop every bomber and missile," he said in an off-the - cuff speech to the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association.

Tremendous devastation would not mean that the war would be lost Canada would have to maintain its morale, however, in a battle for survival.

Mr. Pearkes said he is confident Russia will not start a war now or in the immediate future because it knows an attack would be suicidal.

But the Western nations must keep their defences strong to provide time to negotiate with the Soviet Union on limitation of arms and eventually on disarmament.

NATO MUST STAND

Mr. Pearkes warned that if the North Atlantic Treaty Organization splits up, Western nations would be "ruined."

People of the West must not become so "effete or luxury-loving" that they are not prepared to pay the heavy price for an effective defence system.

A few minutes after he spoke, Finance Minister Donald Fleming tabled in the Commons supplementary estimates for the 1957-58 fiscal year, including $2,800,000 for the defence department. This brings the current fiscal year's defence budget to $1,725,000,000.

Mr. Pearkes said the Soviet Union was still developing supersonic bombers and consequently Canada had to develop supersonic interceptors.

6 Men, Woman Face 100 Charges Entering, Theft

TORONTO (CP)—Six men and a woman today faced 100 charges in connection with the theft of $64,679 in merchandise and $174 cash.

Included were 10 charges of breaking, entering and theft of $10,000 worth of gold bars and $200 in office equipment from Metal Thermite United Chromium of Canada Limited and $23,000 worth of dresses and materials from Dresses Limited.

The charges also include possession of stolen goods, possession of burglar's tools, posession of explosives, car theft and theft.

Douglas James Devine, 22, faces 25 charges; Stanley Edwards, 35, 21 charges; John Joseph Kranjcec, 20, 16 charges; William Stanley Jones, 30, 19 charges; Rusell Delmar Turgeon, 26, nine charges; and Robert John Willis, 33, of Whitby six charges. The men are all laborers and single.

ARREST WOMAN

Margaret DeBerry, 42, a taxi dispatcher, faces four charges.

The arrests followed a three-week police investigation. Three men were arrested when surprised forcing open a cigaret vending machine in a garage which police had been watching for three days.

Police found two blasting caps with lead wires and an assortment of burglar's tools in the garage.

Investigations at a rooming house and a $150-a-month apartment resulted in the recovery of $3,233 worth of stolen goods.

NO MONEY, NO GOODS

ATLANTA (AP)—Parents of a three-week-old baby have gone to court in an effort to obtain custody of the child, claiming a hospital was holding it pending payment of a $334 bill. Mr. and Mrs. George Chamblee claimed that Crawford W. Long Hospital had refused to release the baby although Mrs. Chamblee had asked twice that she be permitted to take it home. The hospital said the baby, born prematurely, had a fever and was being kept for treatment.

PARIS (Reuters) — A policeman armed with a sub-machine gun escorted every district police superintendent on duty in the Paris area Sunday, following an attack Friday on Supt. Alphonse Ferrat, wounded in the arm and shoulder by two North Africans.

Union Agrees To Extend Strike Deadline

MONTREAL (CP)—CBC and International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (CLC) spokesmen were to meet with federal conciliators today in a bid to iron out a dispute that could result in a midnight walkout of about 1,200 CBC employees in Montreal and Toronto.

The union's Montreal executive Tuesday agreed to extend to 6 p.m. EST today a deadline on a strike ultimatum to give federal conciliation officers Raoul Trepanier and Remy Duquette of Montreal more time to arrange a settlement.

A weekend dismissal by the CBC of 41 stagehands here for refusing to perform "assigned duties" is behind the dispute.

Representatives of the CBC's 600 Montreal employees threatened strike action and spokesmen for a similar number of CBC employees in Toronto pledged support and prepared for a sympathy strike.

SAY MUST REHIRE

At a meeting here Tuesday night, Alliance members unanimously adopted a motion that said in part, ". . . A condition of settlement is it is absolutely necessary the CBC rehire immediately the 41 stagehands who were fired."

Picket lines have been established around the CBC's midtown building, but the dispute has not affected normal telecast operations here so far. The CBC, however, said in a statement:

"It is possible further developments could bring about temporary changes in the CBC's French network programming."

Yvon Dansereau, union representative, charged that the CBC ordered stagehands to perform duties outside the limits of job specifications set by the publicly-owned corporation. Those who disobeyed the order were dismissed and the remainder of the 115 stagehands here locked out, he said.

The CBC said the 41 employees had been dismissed, but the other stagehands would be assigned to regular duties if they returned to work.

COMMONS MENTION

In the Commons Tuesday, Revenue Minister George Nowlan, who reports to Parliament for the CBC, described the projected walkout as illegal and denied the union's contention of a lockout.

The Alliance decided to extend the ultimatum at an executive meeting Tuesday and Tuesday night the union's membership authorized the executive to take "whatever action necessary" in the dispute.

The conciliation meeting was to begin at 1 p.m. today. Neil LeRoy of Toronto, president of the Canadian Council of Broadcasting Unions, was to attend as an "observer." All unions bargaining for CBC employees are affiliated with the council.

Trois-Rivieres Bridge Rebuilt After Collapse

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis said Tuesday the Trois-Rivieres bridge which collapsed Jan. 31, 1951, has been rebuilt with a tonnage capacity of 160 tons—double the amount specified in the original project—and that the Quebec government will assume part of the reconstruction cost.

Mr. Duplessis made the statement in the legislative assembly during discussion of public works expenditure estimates.

The premier said Dominion Bridge, the company which built the structure spanning the St. Maurice River between Trois-Rivieres and Cap de la Madeleine, paid more than $1,000,000 for the installation of Bailey bridges installed after the bridge collapsed. The Bailey bridges were loaned by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission.

He said the provincial government still has to decide what share of the reconstruction cost it will assume.

The bridge originally cost about $3,000,000. It collapsed in sub - zero weather. An inquiry committee headed by Judge Rene Lippe said cause of the collapse was unknown.

Mr Duplessis said he still believed the bridge was sabotaged "either on the bridge site or in the steel-manufacturing plant."

HEAVY SLEEPER

DARLINGTON, England (CP) Robert Swann, 48, said in a hospital Sunday he thought he bad been sleepwalking when he fell asleep on a train and then walked off it while it was moving. He could remember "a strange falling sensation." Swann received only facial cuts and a bruised knee.

World Surpluses May Be Declining Farm Survey Shows

MONTREAL (CP) — A generally - pessimistic farm survey says world surpluses may be declining, providing a ray of hope for the industry's recovery.

But 1958 does not appear to hold prospects for price increases for Canadian farmers, two speakers told the Canadian Federation of Agriculture Tuesday.

President H. H. Hannam said in his address to the CFA general meeting that a variety of factors combine to indicate "no marked recovery." Any substantial upswing depended on extraordinary measures "taken through national policies and programs . . ."

The gloomy world view was offered by the CFA economist, Dr. E. C. Hope, who said possible surplus declines and reduced 1958 production might cast a beneficial effect on world markets.

However, barring a world depression, the situation did not appear capable of worsening.

SAYS NEEDS COSTS PLAN

Mr. Hannam praised certain sections of the new farm price stabilization legislation but criticized its lack of a formula which would be able to measure a "fair relationship" between a farmer's costs and the prices of his product.

The CFA would continue to urge a world food program for channeling surpluses to parts of the world where they were needed as well as solving producer-country problems without disrupting normal commodity markets.

Tuesday, the meeting of farm delegates urged federal legislation providing financial help for cheese producers.

It favored a butter floor price raised from the present 58 cents a pound to 64 effective in May, continued import controls on butter, a national food bank plan forming the "nucleus" of a world bank, and increased support for such international relief schemes as the Colombo aid plan.

U.S. PAYS WIDOWER

SOMAGAHARA, Japan (AP)—A United States army claims officer today delivered 629,396 yen ($1,748.32) to the husband and six children of the woman American soldier William S. Girard shot to death. Lt.-Col. Joseph L. Haefele knelt before a Shinto shrine dedicated to the late Mrs. Naka Sakai and knelt again in the mud to put flowers on her grave. Girard, 22, was convicted of manslaughter by a Japanese court, given a three - year - suspended sentence and discharged.

Two PCs Named Lieut.-Governors Of Sask., P.E.I.

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Progressive Conservatives have been named to succeed Liberal lieutenant - governors in Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island.

Frank L. Bastedo, 71-year-old Regina lawyer, was appointed Tuesday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker to succeed Lt.-Gov. William John Patterson in Saskatchewan Monday.

F. Walter Hyndman, 53, a Charlottetown insurance executive, will become P.E.I.'s lieutenant-governor March 31, on the retirement of Lt. - Gov. William Prowse, 69.

Appointment of a new lieutenant-governor for Quebec also is expected to be announced soon. It has been speculated that Onesime Gagnon, 69, who resigned Friday as provincial finance minister, will be named to succeed Gaspard Fauteux, who has been lieutenant-governor since Oct. 1, 1950.

Mr. Bastedo, born in Bracebridge, Ont., where he once published the weekly Muskoka Herald, was president of the Regina Conservative Association between 1921 and 1924 and was president of the Saskatchewan Bar Association in 1928-29.

Principal Kills Self in Plunge

NEW YORK (AP)—The principal of Brooklyn's hoodlum-beset John Marshal High School killed himself Tuesday as a grand jury awaited his latest testimony on violence in his school.

Principal George Goldfarb leaped to his death from the roof of a six-storey apartment building. The district attorney's office labelled the death a suicide.

Goldfarb, 55, was called before the jury twice last week after 13-year-old white girl was raped in the school by an unidentified Negro teen-aged boy.

The incident was followed by an assault on a policeman stationed outside the school and on a recreational director inside.

School Superintendent William Jansen called Goldfarb "one of the outstanding junior high school principals in the city of New York."

Indians Fighting to Save Market Square at Brantford Produce Treaty on Buckskin

BRANTFORD (CP) — The battle of Brantford Market Square — which the Six Nations Indians seemed to have lost a few weeks ago—has entered a new phase with the appearance of a treaty written on buckskin and a 100-year - old Chancery Court decision.

Mrs. Alma Green of the nearby Six Nations reserve arrived at the Indian Office here Monday with the two documents, weapons in the Indians' fight to prevent Brantford from selling its market square to developers. The Indians claim they donated the land for a farmers' market only.

The treaty, a 40-year-old copy of the Haldimand Treaty which granted the Indians the land on which the entire city now stands for as long as the grass grows, is the more colorful piece of evidence, but officials say it is the Chancery Court ruling which is the most impressive.

ONLY FOR SQUARE

Made Nov. 8, 1858, it declares the piece of land known as West Market Square is dedicated by Her Majesty's government for the sole purpose of a market suare to be used for marketing purposes. The ruling was made against the community when it wished to lease land for buildings.

In 1920, city officials say, a private City of Brantford bill was passed by the Ontario legislature wiping out all claims by the Indians to the Market Suare.

What effect this would have on the court decision, made long before the Province of Ontario existed as such, is not yet known.

The city wishes to sell the land, and city hall, to commercial interests, using part of the money from the sale to build a new city hall.

MAY BE SMALLEST

WASHINGTON (AP)—The libriary of Congress has a new contender for the smallest book in the world. It will put on display soon a copy of the Lord's Prayer in English in an 11-page bound book about one-twentieth of an inch square. The letters are 14-100ths of a millimetre high. The book, bound in black Morocco with a gold cross tooled on the front, was published in Amsterdam.

ARMOR FOR POLICE DOG

"Pony," the best-known and toughest of the police dogs of Kenya, Africa, is no exception in the need for protection when dealing with armed thugs in Nairobi's latest crime wave. Pony, with 100 arrests to his credit, was recently slashed on the head when dealing with a housebreaker and now wears a leather hat with steel -plates over the head and neck area. They are light so as to cause little discomfort to the dogs on their dangerous patrols, which recently resulted in four animals being slashed in one evening.

Freed on Parole

MONTREAL (CP)—Louis Bercovitch, 49, was freed early Tuesday on a ticket-of-leave after serving 11 years, six months and two days of a life penitentiary sentence for the 1946 slaying of Harry Davis, Montreal gambling kingpin.

Bercovitch, originally charged with murder and convicted of manslaughter, made a spectacular surrender in 1946 to two members of the old Herald reporting staff. A few hours earlier Davis had been shot in his Stanley Street gambling house.

Bercovitch was reported to have made a "full confession" of the slaying to the newspaper men. He said later at the trial: "It was either him or me."

Mantle Asks $75,000

If Contract Was a Fly Ball He Would Drop It--Stengel

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, looking for a $75,000 catch from the New York Yankees for '58, probably would drop it if the contract came in the form of a fly ball hit over his head, manager Casey Stengel indicated today.

The slight war of nerves developed after Mantle, who drew $65,000 when he won his second successive most valuable player award last year, dropped a $75,000 demand at the Yankee office and departed, unsigned, for Florida.

Stengel studiously avoided any direct reference to his star slugger's contract status but, in a review of Yankee shortcomings; said:

"Mantle should work out in centre field. He's missing balls hit back over his head. Needs some practice on that. He don't seem to know which way to turn. Turns both ways and some of those balls get over him. I'm gonna have somebody hitting balls over his head down in camp, until he learns to do it right."

RAIDS THE TEAM

While he was at it, Casey rapped the entire Yankee squad as weak in fundamentals.

"We aren't executing the plays the way we should," he said, spelling out such flaws as failure to back up bases, failure to hold runners close to the bases on bunt situations, and weakness is in executing cutoffs on throws from the outfield.

To those surprised when he named Don Larsen his No. 3 starting pitcher, behind Whitey Ford and Bob Turley.

"You'll call him 'Stengel's pet.' All right, I don't care what you say. Nobody's gonna get him. Nobody. He can be great—and he's gonna be great for me, nobody else."

Aussies Careful In Test Match

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters) — Careful batting enabled Australia to reach 117 runs for the loss of only one wicket in their second innings of the third cricket test against South Africa Tuesday.

The marathon South African first innings ended just before lunch after 13 hours, five minutes for 384 runs which gave them a lead of 221 over Australia's 163.

With one day left for play, Australia, one up in the series, needed 104 runs with nine second-innings wickets in hand to avoid an innings defeat. Jim Burke was 64 not out.

South Africa had staked everything on the Australians having last use of the pitch but it appeared to have eased considerably Tuesday. The Springboks' slow batting Monday and lack of runs in hand may have lost them the chance to drive home the advantage.

PLAN REACTOR

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) A new nuclear research reactor which will provide one of the world's most intense sources of atomic radiation was tested Sunday at nearby Lucas Heights. National Development Minister W.H. Spooner said the test was "a major step forward" to the construction of Australia's first atomic reactor and laboratories.

Bert Bell Says Player Plan Fine, If Feasible

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National Football League owners today turned to talk of pre-season schedules and player pensions and heard a report from commissioner Bert Bell on the condition of professional football.

The owners, their coaches and general managers Tuesday completed the annual draft of college players. Counting the four rounds of the draft and bonus choice held last Dec. 2, the 12 clubs ran through 30 rounds, selecting 361 players. Now all they have to do is sign them.

Bell said the first order of business today would be a discussion of the exhibition season schedule. The commissioner said setting of dates for these games was the main problem. However, it appeared certain there would be healthy discussion of a situation whereby the better clubs seek to bypass weaker colleagues in favor of lucrative exhibitions against each other.

What will result from the scheduled pension conference between a committee of league owners and representativs of th players association is problematical. The players want a pension plan. Bell says "fine, if it's feasible." Insurance executives who will attend the meeting are expected to provide an answer.

The players have indicated they are interested in a pension plan similar to that of major league baseball players. This for a small contribution from each player with the balance of the money coming from various league activities.

Mystery of National League What Happened to Chicago?

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

One of the great mysteries of the present National Hockey League season will surely be: What happened to Chicago Black Hawks?

With 24 games left in the schedule and only six points separating them from fourth place, the Hawks still have a fair shot at finishing in the playoffs. But unless they catch fire as suddenly as they fizzled out, the Hawks are likely to finish last as they have for the last four seasons.

On that record it would usually be no surprise to see the Hawks in last place again, and no mystery as to why they were there. But this season is different, because over the last half of the last season they were one of the league's hottest clubs.

This season it appeared they were bound to be better. Off-season trades had brought them offensive and defensive strength, in the person of left winger Ted Lindsay and goalie Glen Hall of the Detroit Red Wings.

LINDSAY OFF

Hall has more than lived up to his billing with a 2.74 average. But Lindsay has fallen far from the standard that made him the league's best left winger and the Hawks as a team have scored an average of only 2.10 goals a game.

Last season big Ed Litzenberger emerged as a full-fledged star with 32 goals and 32 assists for fifth place in the scoring race. This season after 46 games he has scored just half of those totals.

He is in 19th place in the scoring race, but at the same time is his team's most potent marksman.

Eric Nesterenko, who partnered Litzenberger on his scoring spree last season, is another victim of the scoring miseries this year, along with Lindsay.

Besides Goalie Hall, a strong candidate for all-star honors, the only star in the Chicago firmament this season has been blonde Bobby Hull, an outstanding rookie forward.

Tonight coach Rudy Pilous takes his Hawks into Toronto to face the fifth-place Maple Leafs while New York Rangers are host to Boston Bruins.

Bristol Upsets Burnley 3-2

BURNLEY, Eng. (Reuters)—Second - division Bristol Rovers upset first-division Burnley 3-2 Tuesday night to advance into the fifth round of play for the English Football Cup.

The contest was a replay of a game at Bristol last Saturday, which ended in a tie. Burnley had been favored to win because of the home-field advantage.

The Rovers trailed 1-0 at half-time but battled back to edge the favorites. They now will meet another Bristol team, Bristol City, in the fifth round.

Boxer Charges Given Pills Before Fight

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Welterweight boxer Andre Brown told the Louisiana State Athletic Commission Tuesday he was given two pink pills shortly before his losing fight Monday night against Billy Lynch of Hartford, Conn.

His testimony touched off an investigation by the district attorney and the police narcotics squad.

Brown said middleweight Charley Joseph gave him the pills, but Joseph denied it.

Brown said he was given the pills for "the pain in my jaw" following a tooth extraction last week.

"I felt as though I was drugged," Brown told the commission, which rules boxing in this state. "I didn't know where I was until after the fight."

Campanella Paralysed In Hospital; Brilliant Career Probably Ended

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Could it be that the elimination last year of their beloved Dutchmen by the Whitby Dunlops still rankles in the stout hearts of some of the Kitchener faithful?

Lloyd (Kitchener Record) Johnson, writing in his sports column the other day came to three conclusions after looking over the events concerning the meetings of the Dunlops, the American world tournament entry and the Fort William Beavers.

It appears the Beavers defeated the American entry 7-3, while the Dunnies took them by a 6-3 score in the first clash and were held to a two-all tie in the second.

Mr. Johnson therefore concludes that: (1) Wren Blair is alibiing for the Dunlops. (2) The United States National team was playing possum in the game with Fort William and (3) the Beavers must be the most underrated senior hockey club in Canada.

Taking the events at face value, these are reasonable conclusions, with all points deterrent to the Dunlops.

Since there is no closed season on assumptions, or conclusions, we imagine it would be more logical to assume the Dunlops were "playing possum" with the Americans since both are contenders in the forthcoming world puck jamboree.

And the wily Wren Blair did not throw any monkey-wrench into United States-Canada sports relations machinery by stating: "I am much more impressed with the United States team at this stage than I am with the Russians."

And could it be there was a lump in his cheek that was not the ole Philadelphia scrabble, as Lefty Whitman used to put it.

Regardless of what people think of the Americans, Fort William, or any other club which has played the Dunlops, the fact remains that the Dunnies represent this country, and in a lot of opinions, are the best senior "A" club in the country.

We note the American Nationals, as they have been tabbed, have an engagement with the Kitchener Dutchmen in Kitchener tomorrow night. And if the Dutchies, perchance, should wallop Yanks by any margin, appreciable or otherwise, let it not be forgotten that the Dunlops whomped the Dutchmen four times, without benefit of MacKenzie, Smith, Lamirande, Edwards and Connie Broden.

Mr. Johnson also reminds the Dunlops that the Yanks and the Russians are not the only teams to fear at Oslo. The Swedes, he says (and most people are aware of the fact) happened to be the defending champions. They vanquished the Russians on Moscow ice and this year, under the coaching of Ed Reigle (Ah, Ah), they figure to be one of the most potent overseas teams to meet Canada representatives on the world hockey stage.

We were under the impression the Swedes took the world bauble on points.

And perhaps the American coach was just as canny as the Voice of the Dunlops. He is quoted as saying: "For us these games are more or less part of a training routine while the opposition is always 'up' for the occasion. We're the club that will represent the United States in the world tournament and as such our opponents will always make a special effort to beat us."

That statement could have come just as easily from the minister with the managerial portfolio of the Canadian representatives.

The proof of the hockey pudding will now appear in the eating. The Dunlops by this time are in mid-Atlantic, their roster intact and carrying with them the best wishes of the nation.

So, as the Damon Runyon characters are wont to say: "Leave us not quibble over minor details." The die is cast and Canada's hopes rest on the Gagnons, the Smiths, the Attersleys and the rest of the gallant gang, which in this department's opinion, won't leave anything undone to bring that world hockey gonfalon back to Whitby and Canada.

LATER — If the American team is playing "possum" on its Canadian tour, they are perfectionists. Last night the Bowmanville intermediates whomped 'em 5-3.

May Recover to Normal State But Not Completely From Paralysis, Says Physician

By ED CORRIGAN

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Roy Campanella, the jovial Los Angeles Dodgers' catcher, lay paralyzed in a hospital today, his brilliant baseball career probably at an end.

Three times the most valuable player in the National League, Campanella remained in critical condition after suffering a broken neck when the car he was driving skidded and crashed into a pole in the rain early Tuesday morning.

While physicians termed the four - hour, 20-minute operation which Campanella underwent a success, there seemed little prospect that he would swing a bat or don a mask again in major league competition.

"It could take anything from two months to years before he even walks again," said Dr. Robert Sengstaken, who headed the seven-man team that performed the operation.

"He won't be able to play before a year, and in my opinion, he would be foolish if he continued playing baseball. But he is not my patient, so I won't advise him."

MAY STAY PARALYZED

Dr. Sengstaken added that he expected Campanella to recover to a normal state, but at the same time warned that it is possible that he won't recover completely from the paralysis.

The physician explained that Campanella suffered a fracture and dislocation of cervical (vertebrae) five and six.

"He is paralyzed from just below the shoulder to the toes," said Dr. Sengstaken. "He cannot push his arms out or grasp, but he can pull his arms in if they are held out for him."

If the fracture had been an inch or two higher, Dr. Sengstaken added Campanella would not have pulled through.

The fact that Campanella, a squat 225 pounds, has heavy neck muscles, probably helped save his life.

At 36, it is extremely doubtful that Campanella could return to Dodgers as a first-string performer. He has fared poorly the past two years and many observers thought that his age was catching up with him.

Yet the happy-go-lucky catcher always said that they would have to tear his uniform off to keep him away from the field. He loved the game and considered himself fortunate to be in the major leagues.

Over the years, Campanella, who joined the Dodgers in 1948, has been plagued by injuries—a bad hand which required two operations, a dislocated thumb, a fractured index finger and a broken knee cap. But with it all, he never was without a quick smile.

O'MALLEY QUIET

Dodgers' president Walter O'Malley, who is keeping in constant touch with the hospital, refused even to discuss the possibility of acquiring a new catcher.

"We're not even thinking of Roy's future in baseball," O'Malley said. "All we're thinking of is his recovery and a return to normal life. I guess it was touch-and-go for him. Until they opened up the area entirely, they could not tell whether the nerves were completely severed or not."

But while the attending physicians issued optimistic reports, O'Malley was faced with the hard problem of finding another catcher. Even if Campanella recovered in a year, doctors said he would have to take it easy, and the hard fact is that athletes crowding 40 rarely come back.

The accident took place on an S turn here while Campanella was driving a rented car home from his Harlem liquor store. He had dropped his own car off to be repaired earlier. He was pinned in the wreckage a half hour and never lost consciousness although he was in a state of shock.

Campy Was Quite a Guy!

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Here are some of the highlights of Roy Campanella's baseball career:

1946 — Started in organized baseball with Nashua of the New England League.

1947—Moved to Montreal of the International League by the parent Brooklyn Dodgers.

1948—Brought up by Brooklyn after being shifted to St. Paul of the American Assn.

1951 — Voted most valuable player in National League, hitting .325 despite an injured hand.

1952—Broke bones in right hand twice.

1953 — Again voted National League most valuable player, hitting 41 homers and batting in 142 runs, both records for catchers.

1955 — Won most valuable player award for third time, hitting .318.

1956—Underwent hand surgery for third time.

1957—Completed 10th season in major with .276 lifetime average and 242 home runs.

Geoffrion May Be Sidelined Rest of Season

MONTREAL (CP) — A freak accident in a Montreal Canadiens practice scrimmage has seriously injured hard - shooting Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, one of the National Hockey League's top scorers.

The colorful 27-year-old right winger underwent a successful operation for a ruptured bowel Tuesday night, but it appeared he might be sidelined for the rest of the season.

A club spokesman said Geoffrion, the two goal-getter in the league this season, collided with wing Andre Pronovost while skating at full speed.

The collision was reported to have occurred after Geoffrion lost the puck to Pronovost and gave chase. After the accident Geoffrion skated about 100 feet and then collapsed in severe pain.

He was taken to hospital, where diagnosis showed the outer edge of the bowel had been punctured.

BLAKE PUZZLE

Coach Toe Blake of Montreal was exasperated and somewhat puzzled by the incident. He told reporters:

"If our practices developed into wars I could understand it. But we probably have the easiest ones in the league. We don't stress bodychecking and there are few scuffles."

Geoffrion has been the second Montreal star to suffer a serious injury this season. Maurice (Rocket) Richard has been sidelined since Nov. 13 when his right achilles tendon was severed by a skate blade in Toronto against the Maple Leafs.

A muscular, 170-pounder, Geoffrion scored the 200th goal of his NHL career in regular play two weeks ago to enter a select circle with three other active players Richard, Ted Lindsay of Chiago and Detroit's Gordie Howe.

This season, Geoffrion collected 27 goals and 33 assists in 42 games, good for third place in the race for individual scoring honors behind teammates Dickie Moore and Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard, Maurice's young brother.

National League Treading On Big Four Toes?

TORONTO (CP) — National Football League teams have picked several Toronto Argonauts prospects and three more players the Big Four football union team already has under contract in the second half of the NFL draft at Philadelphia.

Quarterback Doug Maison of Hillsdale College in Michigan was seventh pick of the Green Bay Packers.

Admitting Maison was on Argos' negotiation list, which affects only Canadian teams, managing director Lew Hayman said "I don't know too much about him except that he had a real good record and that he's a big boy."

Argos will have to bid against New York Giants for the services of half Don Sutherin of Ohio State, a Rose Bowl hero, and against Washington Redskins for tackle Ben Preston of Auburn.

Hayman said he isn't too concerned about Preston, since "we're pretty well stocked with interior linemen now."

Ken Ford, the quarterback the Argos signed a few weeks ago, was made a 13th-round choice by the Redskins, but, under an agreement between the NFLF and the Big Four, they cannot bargain with him unless Argos issue a release.

The same is true of C. R. Roberts, picked by New York, and Jim Matheny, chosen by Chicago Cardinals. Roberts played several games at half with Argos last season and Matheny was a regular centre and linebacker.

Bethea, Johnson Fight Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — A pair of knockout - powered heavyweights Wayne Bethea of New York and Young Jack Johnson of Los Angeles, clash tonight at Chicago Stadium in a nationally televised 10-rounder.

Bethea, 24, is a 7-5 favorite in the scrap that will be beamed by ABC starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Johnson, 29, is a substitute for Bob Satterfield, who was forced into retirement with an eye injury. The west coast battler stopped both Ezzard Charles and Zora Folley in 1955. He dropped a close decision to Harold Carter late in 1956. Managerial troubles limited him to only one fight in 1957, a 10 round victory over Duke Sabegon on Sept. 16.

Both Johnson and Bethea have had 25 pro starts. Johnson, who at 6-3 is four inches taller than Bethea, has a 15-9-1 record and scored 8 knockouts. Bethea has a 16-7-2 and 6 kayoes.

Bethea, a Bronx tomato packing plant worker, won three out of five starts in 1957. He defeated Jeff Dyer, Bert Whitehurst and Paul Andrews and lost to Folley, current No. 2 heavyweight contender, and Harold Johnson.

Trappers Muzzle Hounds 4-0 Bulldogs, Maroons Tie 4-4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach Wilfred (Bucko) McDonald's prospects with Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds are secure for another year—he signed a 1958-59 contract Tuesday—but his team's hopes of regaining league leadership are anything but sure

Tuesday night a former Soo player was mainly responsible for a 4-0 loss which pushed the Greyhounds further into second place in the OHA-NOHA Senior A series.

The player was Cleland Mortson, and the team, North Bay Trappers. The 4-0 Trapper victory puts Greyhounds ten points behind the leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Greyhounds enjoyed the view from the pinnacle of the standings for the better part of the time this season until a month ago when the Dutchmen ended their reign.

HARD FOUGHT TIE

In the only other Tuesday night game in the series third-place Windsor Bulldogs and the fourth-place Chatham Maroons battled into overtime for a 4-4 tie.

In the Ontario Hockey Association Eastern Senior A series Belleville McFarlands shut out Ottawa-Hull Canadiens 5-0.

Veteran Pete Babando, one-time American and National League player, played left wing for Trappers in their victory over Greyhounds. Babando, signed Monday, replaced George Gosselin, who joined Whitby Dunlops for the world hockey tournament in Oslo.

After a scoreless first period, centre Gerry Cabana put Trappers ahead in the second. Mortson and Stan Maywell scored the other North Bay goals.

Maroons scored two unanswered third-period goals against Windsor to force the extra session when the teams split two goals.

Bob Brown, Frank Bathgate, Wally Maxwell and Elmer Skov were the Bulldogs' marksmen. Ted Power, with a pair, Copper Leyte and defenceman Bob Wilson scored for Maroons.

Belleville went into a 2-0 first-period lead against Ottawa, scoring their other three goals in the second.

Johnny Muretich paced the McFarlands, scoring twice. Their other goals came from Barton Bradley, Wiener Brown and Moe Benoit.

Belleville visits Pembroke in an OHA eastern encounter tonight. In the OHA-NOHA series Sudbury is at Chatham with North Bay at Kitchener.

Baseball World 'Bums' Shocked At Campy's Fate

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—The baseball world—his Los Angeles Dodgers' teammates in particular—expressed shock and sympathy today as Roy Campanella lay paralyzed in a hospital here.

"He has a lot of courage," said Dodger manager Walter Alston. "If he has half a chance, he'll pull through this all right."

"I'm shocked," said pitcher Carl Erskine. "Roy is a great team man. We need him."

Said Dodgers' vice - president Buzzy Bavasi:

"This is terrible news. There's only one Campy."

Jackie Robinson, former Dodgers' infielder, who often was annoyed at Campanella's easy-going ways, said:

"I hope and pray everything turns out well. Baseball was his whole life."

"If it takes courage," said first baseman Gil Hodges, "you can be sure Campy will be all right."

Ty Cobb, the old Georgia Peach, commented:

"Campanella will be remembered longer than any other catcher in the history of baseball."

"It's awful, just awful," said pitcher Don Newcombe, Campanella's room-mate.

McFarlands Stretch Lead To Three Points With 5-0 Win Over Ottawa

Johnny Muretich Bags Pair As Bell Registers 2nd Blank; Tackle Lumber Kings Tonight

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The McFarlands shot into a three-point lead at the top of the Eastern senior "A" league standing here last night, easily defeating the injury-riddled Ottawa-Hull Canadiens 5-0 before a mid-week crowd of 1335 fans.

The Hildebranders had things pretty much their own way for the first two periods, outshooting the Baby Habs 25-8 and scoring all their goals. The Canadiens came to life in the third heat, having the advantage of play with a 13-8 shot margin, but Gordie Bell came up with a fine effort to earn his second shutout of the season.

Johnny Muretich, who has come into his own lately, paced the McFarlands with two goals, Wiener Brown, Bart Bradley and Moe Benoit getting the others. Gerry Goyer was credited with three assists, Eddie Marineau two, and Brown, Bradley, Kowalchuk, MacDonald and Crawford one each.

The McFarlands take that three-point lead to Pembroke tonight where they battle the second-place Lumber Kings of the northern town. The teams clash again here on Friday night.

GORDIE BELL
Two Below Zero

The game was a cleanly-fought affair, Referee Bill Balmer of Toronto assessing nine penalties, six to the Macs, one of them a bench penalty served by Russ Kowalchuk.

Sixteen-year-old Claude Cyr playing his second game in goal for the Habs in senior hockey looked extremely well in the Ottawa nets, the youngster coming through with some snappy saves with the shots that beat him being clean-cut goals.

The Canadiens, using one defenceman and 12 other players, battled hard but rarely came close in the first period.

The heat lacked the drive of previous senior games although the Macs had far the better of the play, outshooting the Habs 11-4.

Moe Benoit drew the only penalty of the period, going off for interference at 11.32. Ottawa put on the pressure and Gordie Bell kicked out two close shots.

Wiener Brown opened the scoring at 11.30 taking Bart Bradley's pass to race in and beat Cyr cleanly. Five minutes later Johnny Muretich fired a beauty on a neat passing play with Gerry Goyer and Kowalchuk.

Ottawa failed to capitalize on two bunched Belleville penalties in the second period when Benoit was heaved and Kowalchuk served a team bench sentence. Crawford, Lepine and Payette did a fine job of penalty-killing until the Habs' Rousseau was chased.

Midway through the period Moe Benoit put the Macs three up with a blazing slapshot from the point after taking Brown's pass from across the rink.

Thirty-eight seconds later Johnny Muretich fired his second goal of the night on a driving play with Keith MacDonald. Longarini was chased but no damage was done until 16.27 when Bart Bradley gave the Macs a five-goal lead, scoring on a pretty short-passing play with Marineau and Crawford. The Macs outshot the Habs 14-4 in the period.

JOHNNY MURETICH
Two Direct Hits

The Ottawans showed their best hockey of the game in the third period, taking advantage of Joe Lepine's early penalty to put on the pressure. They hemmed the Macs behind their blueline and Gordie Bell had a few busy moments kicking out the desperate shots of the young Habs.

The Canadiens maintained the pressure giving the Macs few occasions to break away. Rousseau bounced a puck off the post in an open corner and Backstrom was robbed by Bell on the doorstep.

The Habs protested when Bell picked the puck off his goal line but the referee claimed it was not over. Crawford got the gate for holding and again the Ottawans rushed to the attack. The Macs held them off and part of the sting of their offensive was taken away when G. Tremblay was penalized for hooking.

Wiener Brown was chased thirty seconds later but no damage resulted. The Wiener limped off the ice after a stiff body check in the period. The Macs took the play to their young, fast-skating foemen as time ran out. The Mas outshot the Canadiens 33-21.

Lineups:

Ottawa-Hull: goal, Cyr; defence, Backstrom, Longarini, J. C. Tremblay, Begin, Olajos; forwards, Richard, Rousseau, Gray, G. Tremblay, Annable, Boucher.

Belleville: goal, Bell; defence, Crawford, Lepine, Botley, Benoit; forwards, Payette, Menard, Hildebrand, Bradley, Marineau, Brown, Goyer, Kowalchuk, Muretich, MacDonald.

Referee: Bill Balmer, Toronto.
Linesmen: Mike Rain, V. Goyer, Belleville.

Virgil Akins Rated Top of Welter Class

NEW YORK (AP) — Virgil Akins today was boosted to the top position in the latest Ring Magazine ratings of the champion-less welterweight division.

Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., Canada's lone representative in the rankings, was placed in third spot in the light heavyweights, ahead of Tony Anthony of New York. He ranked behind champion Archie Moore, Harold Johnson of Philadelphia and Yolande Pompey of Trinidad, in that order.

Akins, St. Louis veteran was promoted from second to first for his second straight knockout conquest of former welterweight champion Tony DeMarco of Boston. He moved up from second in a change of positions with Isaac Logart, the sleek Cuban contender.

DeMarco was dropped from third to fifth. Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., advanced from fifth to third while Charley (Tombstone) Smith of Los Angeles vaulted from seventh to fourth.

In another welter change, Garnet (Sugar) Hart of Philadelphia returned to the elite list in 10th place on the strength of his victory over Larry Baker, who was 19th a month ago.

Spider Webb, the classy Chicago middleweight contender, leaped from sixth to third on his sensational knockout of muscular Rory Calhoun, of White Plains, N.Y. Calhoun dropped from third to sixth.

In the one shuffle in the heavyweight list, Ingemar Johansson, Sweden's undefeated European champion, was ranked tenth. He displaced Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson of New York.

Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, moved up one notch—from third to second—in the bantamweight division in an exchange of places with Flash Elorde of the Philippines.

Would Replace Grey Cup Day In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—F. B. (Ted) Peat, manager of the Toronto Downtown Businessmen's Association, recommended Tuesday to the incoming board of directors that they sponsor either a New Year's Day or Labor Day football game here to replace the Grey Cup game this year.

Mr. Peat proposed a game involving either the Grey Cup champions and an all-star team. He said the game would be played at the largest stadium available. This year's Grey Cup game will be in Vancouver.

"I think people here would go for a New Year's Day game. They could shake out the cobwebs from the night before and have some fun."

Eastern Senior 'A' Division Standings, Scoring

While Bobby Attersley, now overseas with the Whitby Dunlops, still leads the OHA Senior "A" scoring race with 62 points, other players will likely overtake him before the season's end. His biggest threat at the present time is Kingston's Billy Colvin with 53 points and nine games left to play. Colvin has scored a loop-leading 28 goals and added 25 assists. Just one point behind the shifty Kingtson centre is Ottawa-Hull's Bob Boucher with 52 points, including the leading assist mark of 34. Holding down third place is Pembroke's Bert Giesebrecht with 49 points, followed by Moe Savard of Cornwall, and Barton Bradley of Belleville, with 44 each. Kingston's Don Bellringer is next with 43; Jack Giesebrecht of Pembroke, has 42; Bob Rousseau of Ottawa-Hull, 41; Tep Toppazzini, Kingston and Ralph Backstrom of Ottawa-Hull, 40 each.

Russ Kowalchuk of Belleville, seems a solid favorite to capture the badman "honors," having served 154 minutes in penalties.

Belleville's Gordie Bell has the top goals-against average, 3.73 in 37 games. Johnny Craig of Pembroke, is second with 3.85, while Lynn Davis of Kingston, leads in shutouts with two.

Bruins' Brass Not Criticized Says 'Jolly Jawn'

DETROIT (AP)—Jack Adams, general manager of Detroit Red Wings, says he meant no criticism of the Boston National Hockey League club or its officials when he accused two Bruin players of deliberately trying to injure Detroit player Gordie Howe.

Adams said Sunday night that Leo Boivin and Real Chevrefils of the Bruins combined on a "dirty play" that sidelined Howe for a month with two broken ribs.

"It was lousy, dirty, uncalled for—anything you want to call it," the veteran general manager said at the time.

Tuesday night Adams said in a prepared statement:

"I realize on my return from Toronto today, without repudiating any comment I made regarding the Howe injury, that an inference could have been drawn that I thought the injury had been inspired or directed by the Boston management.

"Certainly this was not my intention. I have too high a respect for men like Milt Schmidt (Boston coach) and Lynn Patrick (Boston general manager) to believe they would direct any such action.

"My remarks were directed at the two players. Other players have used similar tactics of steering a man into such a check before, and they probafly will again"

Frost Endorses Minor Hockey

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Frost has endorsed Minor Hockey Week in Canada for "building character and good sportsmanship in our young people."

Sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, Minor Hockey Week started Jan. 25 and ends Feb. 1.

"It is a pleasure to compliment those working for the boys on the job they are doing building character and good sportsmanship in our young people," the premier said.

'Ole Diz' Has High Ideals

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Dizzy Dean said Tuesday night he quit as a TV baseball announcer because more than one-a-week telecasts would hurt minor league baseball.

Dean was a sportscaster with CBS-TV's Saturday game-of-the-week last season.

"But when they started talking about making it twice a week," Dean told the Phoenix Press Box Associations annual sports award dinner, "I didn't want any part of it."

He said too frequent telecasts of major league games hurts minor league attendance.

Petes Defeat Teepees 3-1; Irish Beaten

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach Ted (Teeder) Kennedy's Peterborough Petes, taking a back seat in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series most of this season, stepped into the limelight Tuesday night by downing St. Catharines Teepees.

The Petes, whose previous 37 games had brought only 15 wins, defeated the league-leading Teepees 3-1 and hopped into fourth place in the standings, above Toronto St. Michael's, beaten 3-1 by third place Toronto Marlboros.

Petes, 1-0 ahead after a goalless first period, scored two quick goals in the third to take the decision.

QUENVILLE LOAN SCORE

Irv Spencer, Tom Clark and Guy Black were their marksmen. Teepees' solitary goal was scored by Ronnie Quenville.

Marlboros' Carl Brewer picked up five penalties, two in a stormy third period, against St. Michael's. Marlboros' Doug Riseley was also in trouble. He got a 10-minute misconduct in the third period for fighting.

St. Mike's opened the scoring in the first period with a goal by Lou Angotti, but Marlboros' Jim Murchie evened the account in the same period.

After a scoreless second, Ken Boyer and Murchie put Marlboros ahead. Boyer's goal coming off goaltender Cesar Maniago's stick.

Tonight Barrie Flyers are host to Guelph Biltmores.

Tigers, Giants Deal Completed

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers Tuesday night announced completion of a deal with San Francisco Giants of the National League, bringing first baseman Gale Harris and infielder Ossie Virgil to the Tigers in exchange for infielder Jim Finigan and cash.

The Tigers did not disclose the amount of cash involved other than to say it is above the $20,000 waiver price.

Harris 26, hit .240 and collected nine home runs in 90 games last year with the Giants. The 24-year-old Virgil batted .235 in 96 games. He will be assigned to Detroit's American Association farm club in Charleston, W.Va.

Finigan spent only one season with the Tigers, hitting .270 in 64 games after he was acquired in a trade with the Kansas City Athletics.

Says Blair

If Dunlops Cannot Win It, It Will Be Up to the Pros

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Whitby Dunlops, carrying Canada's hopes for a world hockey championship, sail today aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth for Britain.

"I think we have an excellent chance," said manager Wren Blair. "If we don't win, we'll know the reason why."

"We're in excellent condition, and we're going to keep working at it," said playing - coach Sid Smith, veteran of the National Hockey League. "This means physical training and practice as well as the games on the pre-tournament exhibition tour."

MORE KNOWLEDGEABLE

"We've learned a lot, and we'll be more effective against the European style of hockey," said right - winger Jack MacKenzie, who played with the last Canadian team—a loser—to take part in a world tournament.

These comments were typical of the attitude among players and officials as they stopped here for a day before continuing their journey. Many were accompanied this far by their wives and other relatives.

They will play a 14-game exhibition tour before the championships Feb. 28-March 9 in Oslo.

Blair said his team is as strong an amateur aggregation as could be assembled in Canada. Defeat would mean that Canada should consider revising its selection method, aiming to place players of NHL calibre in world competition.

BETTER LEAGUE

Blair said the character of the championships has drastically changed as hockey improves in various countries—it is no longer a competition with only "one or two" real contenders.

Sweden, which won last year, Russia, the United States and Czechoslovakia all are reported more powerful than ever, the manager said. His team recently defeated the U.S. 6-3 and tied it 2-2 in an exhibition series, played under modified European rules.

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen finished third to Russia and the U.S. in the Olympics at Cortina, Italy, in 1956, and Canada passed up the world championships last year.

"We're not over-confident, but we're more finished, more effective and more experienced than the Dutchmen were," said MacKenzie.

But he also said the Russian team that recently toured Canada on exhibition seemed younger, faster and more effective than the 1956 winners—and also better able to survive bodychecks.

Champ Rejects Swedish Bout

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, forgotten man in the heavyweight boxing picture, has challenged world champion Floyd Patterson to meet him in a title fight. The challenge was rejected by Patterson's manager.

Johansson, undefeated European champion, risks his crown against Joe Erskine, British Empire ruler, at Goteborg Feb. 21. Erskine appears set to meet Patterson in London in June if he defeats Johansson.

Johansson, who has won all his 18 professional fights, made his bid after the New York announcement Monday that Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, and British promoter Harry Leven, had "agreed in principle," on an Erskine-Patterson title fight providing Erskine conquers Johansson.

In New York, D'Amato said Johansson doesn't figure in his current plans.

Bowmanville Intermediates Whip American Nationals 5-3

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Bowmanville-Orono Combines of the Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate A League upset the United States National Hockey team 5-3 Tuesday night.

The Combines, given little chance against the squad which will represent United States at the world hockey championships in Oslo, jumped into a 4-0 first-period lead, allowed three goals within a minute in the second, then wrapped the victory up with a fifth goal in the final period.

The game was arranged as part of the Lake Ontario community's centennial celebrations and was watched by a capacity crowd of 1,500.

Leftwinger Syd Arnold got a pair of goals against the American team which lost and drew with Whitby Dunlops, Canada's representatives at the world tournament. Lloyd Hamilton, Chuck Armstrong and Ted DeGray scored the others.

The Americans were led by left-winger Roger Christian's two goals within 10 seconds and a single by centre Frank Eisenzph.

Don Clark, manager of the Americakn team, said his team did not play as well as it did against the Dunlops, and he blamed poor ice for part of their poor play, though he said this worked against both clubs.

The two teams will meet again in Rochester, N.Y. tonight.

Players Body May Obtain NHL Recognition

CHICAGO (AP)—Chances are good that the six club owners in the National Hockey League will recognize the NHL Players' Association, Ted Lindsay of Chicago Black Hawks, president of the players' group, said Tuesday.

Some of the owners are for us and some are fighting us, but I think our chances of recognition are good," he said. "We are not trying to do anything detrimental to hockey. Anything that is done has to benefit the players and the league."

Lindsay said the group's main objectives at a meeting with club owners in Palm Beach, Fla., next Tuesday will be:

Official recognition as bargaining agent for the players;

A percentage of television receipts for its pension fund;

A provision releasing a player from his contract obligations to a certain club if he is about to be shipped back to the minors after five to seven years experience in the league;

MOVING EXPENSES

A plan requiring clubs to pay moving and other expenses of a traded player.

Lindsay said the players are willing to let the club owners take all the TV proceeds of telecast afternoon games.

"But there are the all - star game and Stanley Cup playoffs to consider," he added. "Although the cup playoffs were televised in Canada last season I can see the day when the championship games will be seen in this country."

Lindsay said the group will take a strong stand on making veteran players free agents and will try to get in writing a $7,000-minimum wage agreement.

"A player can't be released now unless another club picks up the $15,000 waiver price and his salary," he said. "Sometimes they don't feel it is worth the risk so the player is sent to the minors and stays with the same organization. It might be different if he were declared a free agent."

BCIVS Teams Win Over OSD In Basketball

By DONN MARTINSON

On Tuesday night, the BCIVS senior and bantam teams visited OSD, both coming up with victories.

In the bantam game, neither team could capitalize on the other team's mistakes and by half time the BCI bantams held a slight 18-14 lead. In the second half the game became very dull and sloppy as the scoring indicated. Each team scored only six points, thus BCI took the game 24-20.

The BCI bantams have yet to lose a game. Don Skinner paced the winners with six points, while Csabi hooped 14 points for the losers.

In the senior game, the BCI seniors rolled up an 82-47 win, but the senior from BCI could have easily passed the century mark with better passing, better scoring around the opponent's basket and better foul shooting. In this game, the seniors made only six out of 20 foul shots.

In the first half of the game, the BCI seniors scored the first basket and never looked back. They worked the ball around best in this half and had a 49-30 lead at the half. During the second half, the game slowed down considerably with the visiting team outscoring their opponents 33-17, to take the game 82-47.

Garry Stephanson rattled in 27 points for B.C.I. while Bourget led the scoring parade for O.S.D. with 22 points.

Dale Robertson Not Happy Over Treatment in Italy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This might be titled an American in Rome or Innocent Abroad.

It concerns actor Dale Robertson and his adventures in Italy shooting Anne of Brooklyn with Gina Lollobrigida. Dale is a plain - talking Oklahoman who speaks his piece and lets the chips fly where they may. So we'll let him talk:

"Gina and I didn't have any fights. Some fantastic stories were printed, including one that I showed up at the airport with a black eye she gave me. There was nothing like that. But I will say that we didn't hit it off too well. Those (Italian film) people aren't the warmest in the world.

A POOR SPOT

"The whole thing wasn't a very good situation for me. Her husband was the producer and her partner, Vittoria De Sica, was directing and appearing in the picture, too. I was bound to come out on the short end.

"On the last day of the picture I told them that I never played so many scenes where the other actors were between me and the camera. Every scene I had with De Sica had him facing the camera and me with my back to it.

"There were 4,300 stills taken on the picture. It didn't matter how anyone else looked in the photos. If they were good of Gina, they were kept. If not, the negative was burned.

DIFFERENT SCRIPT

"When I got over there I found they were using a different script from the one I agreed to do. Then they started on billing. I was told my name had to be in type 75 per cent of the size of hers. That was in her contract, they said. I told them she'd better get a new contract or find an actor who was worth only 75 per cent of her.

"I never gave a hoot about billing, but I wasn't going to look silly. I told them none of my pictures ever lost money, which was more than I could say for hers. The name Gina Lollobrigida doesn't sell a ticket in this country. What has she done? Trapeze—but there were a couple of fair boys named Tony Curtis and Burt Lancaster in that picture. I don't think anybody here said, 'let's go see Gina Lollobrigida in Trapeze.

"Even Marilyn Monroe, who is 10 times as big a name, can't sell a picture unless it's a proven stage hit like Seven Year Itch, Bus Stop or Gentlemen Prefer Blondes. So what chance has Gina got?

"Anyway, they came back with the proposal my name could be in 90 per cent type. I agreed—if they listed me at the end of the cast: and Dale Robertson.

ROOMS AT PREMIUM

"When I got on the set, I found there was a dressing room for Gina, a room for De Sica, but I had to share one with two other actors. I asked how come and they said they were short of rooms. So I didn't beef.

"But it does seem funny. Whenever a European star comes here, they get the finest suites, uniformed chauffeur and the works. Over there, they don't even meet you at the plane."

Would he make another picture in Italy?

"Maybe," he said, "but not if the star's husband is the producer and her partner the director."

At the McCarthy

"The Enemy Below"

Producer-Director Dick Powell let the public decide the ending for his first CinemaScope picture, "The Enemy Below", which comes to the Odeon McCarthy Theatre on Thursday. He filmed this exciting sea drama, which co-stars Robert Mitchum and Curt Jurgens, with two endings, one calling for the stars to go down with their ships when they sink at sea and the other having them survive the disaster. Preview audiences voted unanimously for the happy ending.

"The Enemy Below", a Twentieth Century-Fox picture in DeLuxe Color, filmed almost entirely in the waters off Hawaii, deals with the thrilling chase of an American destroyer tracking down a German U-boat.

Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca Appear Better Than Ever

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The return of Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca to regular weekly television demonstrates that they shouldn't shoot comedians.

They should, rather, give them sabbatical leaves and bring 'em back alive. In the case of Caesar and Miss Coca, at any rate, it was good to see them back (on ABC-TV) last Sunday night. Because no one can make all of the people laugh all of the time, let's make it subjective: I think that Caesar and Miss Coca are better than they ever were.

Their timing, so essential to their delightful brand of pantomime, never was finer. The result was one of those amusing satires on human foibles in which Caesar and his first television partner remain unexcelled.

SHARP HALF-HOUR

To my mind the half-hour format of their new program is preferable to the hour-length Caesar programs for a single reason: The satire remains sharp with insufficient time to be beaten into burlesque.

On the basis of the couple's first performance together in several years there is every reason to believe that the show will improve as time passes. Personally, I thought that eating routine too prlonged and overly burlesque because I never found much source of amusement in ill-mannered eating habits.

But if everyone could return to television after a few months of vacation looking as refreshed and relaxed as Caesar and Miss Coca did, then everyone should be given a few months off.

The Face of Crime on Twentieth Century (CBS-TV) last Sunday was one of the outstanding documentaries of the season.

The searching examination of how New Jersey is dealing with youthful lawbreakers at a reformatory and diagnostic centre resulted in one of the most absorbing hours that television has offered.

REAL LIFE DRAMA

No fictional drama on television ever was as gripping as a psychiatrist's examination of a youth under a hypnotic drug. The hidden resentments of his parents which prompted him to crime were fully revealed. He wanted to be like John Dillinger, he said, but under hypnosis he admitted that he could not bring himself to kill anyone.

Even more moving were the "group therapy" discussions. The camera moved in unobtrusively and the young men talked candidly. Dramas often seek to capture similar moments, but in The Face of Crime truth proved to be far more effective than fiction.

The sponsors of Twentieth Century deserve the highest praise for fearlessness in confronting difficult subjects.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Wednesday, January 29

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—A.M. excellent for putting surroundings in order, repairing real estate. Also good for cutting records, putting larynx in good condition. P.M. converse with finest friends, dearest relatives and neighbors.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—Take time this day to make a plan for future living, the things you want to do, the people you want to associate with, [illegible] P.M. take inventory of y[illegible] possessions, plan how to increase them and your income.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—Sit down to desk work today, make reports, look into investments that are not giving enough returns, etc. Get expert advice, too, and quickly. Tonight, relax at the theatre or at some other amusement.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21)—A most determined pal can today give you the right slant that will take you out of present uncertain position into more productive, successful life. P.M. be very understanding and kind to one you adore.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Get into those outside circles where can be found the influential and right persons who will be able to see what you can do. Increase your prestige, and don't forget to pay your bills. P.M. have fun with good pals.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Run through your newspaper first today for wonlerful ideas, bargains, etc. Then contact persons in different mode of life or who can teach you things you do not know, give you fine leads. P.M. get the right backer.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Can you think of a better thing to do today than sit down with real experts in your field, plus bankers and backers, and know what you are doing, where you are headed? P.M. make finest plans and follow them!

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—It is possible now to get in touch with every associate with whom you are working in some fashion that is vital. Have complete understanding and be more successful. Tonight, romance as you plan the future happily.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—A.M. splendid for delving right into the chores that await you in the home, office, on the road, etc. Put all in order around the garden, other important spheres, and get a solid footing. P.M. frolic with mate.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Any spare time would be well invested getting appearance to peak of perfection in expert hands. Be certain to take that wonderful pal out to a delightful luncheon, cement relations. P.M. rest and get clothes in order.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Be sure you let your thoughts dwell on household and closest ties, though at work, today and the benefits will be tremendous, especially with regard to harmony and happiness in that sphere. P.M. find enjoyment in sports.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)—A.M. is wonderful for digging into all that important detail and material matters that will raise your position in life. P.M. impress family with your ability and affection and enjoy own hearth happily.

If Your Child Is Born Today—The child born today is the very opinionated, sure type of young individual who always requires commonsense surroundings and environment to thrive best. Don't endeavor to impress this youngster with highly imaginative ideas because they won't sink in at all. As the years roll by, however, he or she will learn the spiritual side of life outside, and will mellow into a truly fine individual.

PREDICTS TAX BOOST

MONTREAL (CP) — The Gazette predicts the civic administration will increase household and business taxes, probably by at least $8,000,000, in its budget which must be brought down before Feb. 15.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop was reeding the paper and shaking his head to himself, saying to ma, What a mess, the whole werld is running around with knives in their hands accusing everybody elts of carrying concealed dedly weppons.

They ought to be ashamed, ma said, and pop said, Teeto claims Russia is looking for an exuse to attack Yoogooslavia while Albania is filling the airwaves with roomers that Yoogoslavian troops are stepping over her boarders.

Somebody ought to spank the lot of them, ma said, and pop said, Meanwhile Russia is yelling that the United States is all reddy to pounce on her with everything from H bombs to germ packages diskized as fruit cake.

Sutch nonsense, ma said, and pop said Izrail claims that Egypt is preparing to come after her scalp, and little Formosa tells the United Nations that big China is making faces at her, and Morocco says Spane is bombarding her with something a lot stronger than Spannish onions.

I declare if I owned a newspaper I'd fill it full of something elts, just to ignore them, ma said, and pop said, South Korea says North Korea is arming to the teeth while South Korea is only arming to the elbows.

I wonder what the werld is coming to? ma said, and pop said, I wonder where it's going.

Honestly, William, I meen seriously, that woman next door has actually been spredding reports that I've been throwing odd bits of this and that into her back garden, ma said, and pop said, Yee gods, it's a small werld and the women own it.

And he started to reed the comic page for a change.

GOVT. SPENDING

However, any deficit in the fund affects government budgeting and officials said the $103,000,000 deficit will tend to reduce the $80,000,000 budgetary surplus forecast by Mr. Fleming last month.

Tuesday's supplementary estimates bring to $263,891,000 the total appropriations requested by the Conservative government since it took office last June. The bulk of the year's spending program was put forward by the former Liberal government.

The latest request for appropriations disclosed no new government plans. But a number of the items were inserted to carry out recently-announced policies.

These include: $15,000,000 for wheat and flour gifts to India, Pakistan and Ceylon; $2,000,000 as the 50-per-cent federal share of provincial expenditures on wintertime work on forest access roads and new campground and picnic sites; $1,450,000 for a stepped-up program of works in national parks; $4,000,000 for airport extension, and $955,000 on a speeded-up program of building transport department vessels.

Largest item, however, apart from the pension fund deficit, is $29,600,000 to cover a 1957 deficit of the government-owned Canadian National Railways.

Not included in the total of government expenditures are loans and investments the administration makes. Tuesday Mr. Fleming asked authority to make $38,468,000 in new loans, bringing the year's total to $225,305,000. Biggest new loan item is $35,000,000 to finance wheat and flour credit sales to Colombo plan countries until March 31, 1959.

TYPICAL WEST

Captain Bernard Frost, pilot of the airliner, said the absence of expected headwinds enabled the plane to keep well ahead of schedule, completing the flight from London to Montreal in 11 hours and from Montreal to Vancouver in seven hours, 43 minutes.

In contrast to the Vancouver rain a driving snowstorm cut plane-side ceremonies to a minimum at Montreal as the Queen Mother alighted.

She walked down the ramp at 2:34 p.m. while an aide in naval uniform fended snow off her with a black umbrella. Those awaiting to greet her included Governor-General Massey, Lieutenant-Governer Gaspard Fauteux of Quebec, External Affairs Minister Smith and Senator Sarto Fournier, Mayor of Montreal.

Two minutes later, greetings quickly exchanged, the Queen Mother had walked a red carpet to Mr. Massey's limousine and was on her way to take tea with a small group of guests in the governor-general's private railway car on a siding about a mile from the airport.

When they landed, she told Capt. John Woodman, the pilot, that: "It was really wonderful trip. We were very lucky."

Capt. Woodman had said earlier the trip was "above average" for an Atlantic crossing. The plane ran into snow over Quebec.

ASSAIL FLEMING

Both the CCF and the Liberals charged the Conservatives with taking unilateral action; they had brought in legislation without first finding out whether the provincial premiers would agree to it.

"It's the first time in the history of this country that we have had legislation by telegram," remarked A. Wesley Stuart (L—Charlotte).

Mr. Fleming was pressed to explain why he had revised the figures on what the provinces would receive. Under the revisions, payments for eight provinces would go up from original estimates; those for British Columbia and Prince Edward Island would go down.

The minister replied that his first estimate had not taken the stabilization factor into consideration. This factor is to make sure that no province gets less under the current five-year tax-sharing arrangements than they would have received if 1952-57 pacts were continued.

Another reason, he added, is that his original estimate was a projection based on 1956-57 tax yields while his revision was based on 1957-58 yields.

Mr. Pickersgill said the explanation represented a "sorry picture of the financial management of this country."

Jean Lesage (L—Montmagny-L'Islet) said it was not so much Mr. Fleming but Prime Minister Diefenbaker who was at fault. Mr Diefenbaker had "scuttled" the federal-provincial fiscal conference of last November and now was planning to "scuttle" Parliament.

Mr. Knowles called on the government never again to deal with any federal - provincial relationship other than on a basis of "conference, consultation and full understanding" among the central and provincial administrations.

CATCH MAD GUNMAN AFTER TEN SLAI

Next Few Days Will Determine Date Of Election

In Welter of Speculation March 31 Most Likely

OTTAWA (CP)—Events in the next two days will tell whether Canada is to have a March 31 general election.

So far Prime Minister Diefenbaker has given no indication that he is in any rush. His mind may be centred on some later date.

But in politics election dates are tightly-kept secrets. No one expects Mr. Diefenbaker to tip his hand until the very last minute.

To call a March 31 election—the date on which there is a welter of speculation — Parliament would have to be dissolved Saturday. To reporters' questions late Wednesday as to whether he believed the Commons would be sitting Monday, the Progressive Conservative leader replied:

"I don't see why not."

And earlier in the House, when asked that in considering dissolution he keep in mind jobs for part-time parliamentary stenographers, Mr. Diefenbaker said that was a hypothetical question.

"After all, the time when I commence to think of dissolution will be time enough to consider matters such as this."

IN DUE COURSE

And as for giving Parliament advance notice of any dissolution decision, he would "give consideration to that in due course."

So the guessing game continues: Will it be March 31? April 14? June 9? Perhaps only Mr. Diefenbaker knows.

Works Minister Howard Green, the government's House leader, when asked Wednesday night what the house would be doing Monday and Tuesday, he replied:

"I wish I knew."

He was reminded that more than once previously he had expressed hope that the business of this session would be ended Friday, Jan. 31. Members wanted to know whether they could pack their bags and leave for home on that day.

"The members in question can go home tomorrow if they wish," Mr Green replied tartly.

Earlier, after a two-hour cabinet meeting, Mr. Diefenbaker walked down a Commons corridor with two Canadian Press reporters, chatting about his one-day flying trip to Halifax—on which he set out today.

SAW REPORTS

Yes, he had seen reports speculating on a March 31 election and had heard opposition spokesmen suggest Parliament would be dissolved in a few days, but "I only know what I read in the newspapers."

He gave all the appearances of a man in no hurry to call a general election.

Still Seeking Formula to Settle Dispute

MONTREAL (CP) — A marathon meeting of negotiators continued today to seek a formula for settling a dispute between the CBC and its Montreal television stage hands.

The meeting behind closed doors began at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday night and was still in progress at 9:20 a.m. A CBC spokesman said it likely will break up before noon.

Two federal labor department conciliators met behind closed doors of a hotel room with representatives of the CBC and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (CLC), which represents 115 stage hands and 500 other CBC television production employees here.

The session, originally scheduled for 1 p.m., was postponed because of a long afternoon meeting among union officials themselves.

DEADLINE PASSES

A 6 p.m. deadline set earlier by the union for a strike vote among all Montreal IATSE members passed apparently unnoticed. The spokesman said it would be held up pending outcome of the negotiations.

Shop stewards representing all local IATSE members earlier voted unanimously in favor of striking to support the stagehands.

IATSE pickets were removed from around the CBC's mid-town headquarters to "create a good atmosphere" for the meeting.

The pickets were posted Saturday when the CBC dismissed 41 stagehands for "refusing to perform duties assigned to them." The other stagehands in their department said they considered themselves suspended as well.

Yvon Dansereau, Montreal representative for the IATSE, said the dismissed stagehands had lost their jobs for refusing to do work outside their job specifications.

Seaway Tolls Are Approved By Federation

MONTREAL (CP) — Delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture wound up the public sessions Wednesday night by disposing of a pile of resolutions running the gamut of farm life.

The directors took over today, approving or rejecting the resolutions adopted by the general meeting, and preparing the annual CFA brief to be submitted Wednesday to Prime Minister Diefenbaker in Ottawa.

In adopting a resolution opposing St. Lawrence seaway tolls, delegates also approved a nine-point brief for submission to the federal government outlining the reasons for opposition to tolls.

Today's Chuckle

Notice on plant bulletin board. "Please don't miss any more days from work. We can afford it, but the Government can't afford the loss of the deduction from your pay check."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A weak storm centre in Northern Ontario is still causing cloudy skies and intermittent light snow over the province. Snowfalls over Northern Ontario may add another inch or two during the day. A new storm centre, forming in the northwestern United States, is moving southeastward and will keep skies cloudy over Ontario on Friday. Little change is expected in temperatures.

YOUNG OFFENDERS

HAMILTON (CP) — Governor E. P. O'Neil of Barton Street jail said Wednesday night a "dismaying number" of young offenders are beginning to appear at the jail. He told the Hamilton fire and jail committee the increase in young prisoners makes more urgent the necessity of providing rehabilitation facilities for them.

FINAL LOG-JAM OF LEGISLATION HAS BEEN BROKEN

Only Handful Minor Bills to Deal With

OTTAWA (CP)—A final log-jam of sessional legislation has been broken, leaving the Commons with only a handful of minor measures to deal with.

The government's new tax-sharing proposal to the provinces was passed by the Commons Wednesday after a three-day debate, amid renewed opposition censures against the way the Progressive Conservative administration went about it.

At about the same time the Senate gave final approval to the farm price supports bill following a brief repetition of that measure's bumpy passage in the Commons.

The upper chamber still must approve the tax measure. But once that is done the two biggest legislative items which remained in the waning session will both be ready for royal assent.

ESTIMATES REMAIN

The Commons big remaining job is to give formal approval to more than half of the expenditure estimates for the current fiscal year ending March 31—money which has been mostly spent under prior interim authority.

Today the Commons was scheduled to deal first with the three remaining minor measures which the government wants passed and then start tackling some of the estimates.

The government's new tax plan, announced unexpectedly last Saturday, will divide an additional $62,203,000 among the provinces in the coming fiscal year and give $25,000,000 a year in special grants to the Atlantic provinces.

Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, called for a clear government statement of future policy on fiscal arrangements with the provinces.

He argued that the absence of such a statement leaves the suspicion the government will revert to "the real true-blue Conservative policy" of giving the large central provinces the best tax-sharing deal and leaving poorer provinces little or nothing.

Prime Minister Appoints Two New Senators

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today announced the appointment of Gunnar S. Thorvaldson of Winnipeg and and John J. MacDonald of Glenfirnan, P.E.I., to the Senate.

Both are Progressive Conservatives and Mr. Thorvaldson becomes Canada's first senator of Icelandic descent.

Mr. Thorvaldson, 56, is a lawyer; Mr. MacDonald, 66, long has been prominent in agriculture in the island province.

New party standing in the 102-Senate: Liberals 77; Progressive Conservatives 15; Independents 2; Independent-Liberal 1; vacancies 7

The latest appointments bring to 10 the number of new senators named by Mr. Diefenbaker since the new Conservative government took office last June.

Man in Struggle Had No Idea Opponent Was Fugitive Killer

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—"I knew that if he won, I would be dead."

Joe Sprinkle summed up his struggle Wednesday with Charles Starkweather, 19-year-old Nebraska youth accused of 10 slayings.

Sprinkle, 29, said he was on his way from Casper to Douglas, Wyo., on business.

"About 15 miles east of Douglas I noticed two cars parked on opposite sides of the highway. As I passed I couldn't see anyone in either car."

He turned around and pulled up behind the westbound car.

"I saw a young man open the highway side of the car and asked if I could help. He straightened up with a rifle he had hidden behind him and said: 'Raise your hands. Help me release the emergency brake or I'll kill you.'

"Then I noticed the dead man behind the wheel.

"As I approached him, I grabbed the gun. We fought for it in the middle of the road. I knew that if he won I would be dead. I managed to wrestle it away from him.

"He ran for the other car."

Sprinkle said he had no idea his opponent was the fugitive Nebraskan.

"I only knew that he had a gun and was going to kill me."

The rifle was not loaded.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL GREETS QUEEN MOTHER

Bareheaded in the snow, Governor-General Massey was first to greet the Queen Mother as she arrived in Montreal. Her trip across the Atlantic and to Vancouver was smooth and quiet.

Adolf Hitler Seized Power Just Quarter Century Ago

BERLIN (AP) — Twenty-five years ago today Adolf Hitler and the Nazi party took power in Germany and the "thousand-year Reich" was born.

The 1,000 years ended just 12 years later after a world war the murder of 6,000,000 Jews, the division of Germany and the spread of Russian power.

On the night of Jan. 30, 1933, more than 150,000 enthusiastic Germans packed Berlin's Wilhelmplatz in front of the reichchancellery. A cadenced roar swelled up "We want to see our fuehrer! We want to see our fuherer!"

The roar became a hysterical scream when a tense figure in a dark suit appeared, right hand upraised and a lock of hair plastered over his forehead. This was Adolf Hitler, 43, ex-Austrian house painter, former army corporal, and now the new chancellor and master of Germany.

From 7 p.m. until 1 a.m. legions of jubilant Germans marched past the chancellery balcony, chanting "Heil Hitler." The Nazi Brownshirts went out to clash with Communist strong-arm squads patrolling the workers' districts.

At a darkened window in the old chancellery, not far from Hitler's balcony, a sick, aged man silently watched. He was Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg, president of Germany.

A few hours earlier the elder statesman and national hero had handed over the chancellorship to Hitler. Now he stood there wondering what the future held for his beloved Germany.

Liberal voices all over Germany immediately sounded the alarm. Such newspapers as the Frankfurter Zeitung declared:

"It will be necessary to defend with all means the rights of the people, the basic tenets of democracy, spiritual freedom and justice against this government."

It was too late. Only four days after becoming chancellor, crying for "new living space in the east," Hitler set out on the road to war.

The road led to what is now a rubble-covered field in Soviet-run East Berlin. In the closing days of the war, as the Russians thrust into the heart of Berlin, Hitler and his new bride, Eva Braun, committed suicide in the big air-raid bunker behind the chancellery. Their bodies were carried outside in blankets, soaked with gasoline and burnt.

Today the ruins of the fuehrer's air raid bunker remain, jutting up like some prehistoric relic.

Submarine, Not Plane, Poses Greatest Threat to N. America

OTTAWA (CP)—Some defence authorities say they believe the Russian submarine, not the bomber, poses the greatest military threat to North America.

Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes indicated this week that he may share this view.

He said in a speech before the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association here Tuesday that Russia has developed a large fleet of submarines, some of them capable of firing missiles at inland as well as coastal targets.

The Russian military trend, he added, might be greater emphasis on the submarine than on the bomber in view of the flexibility of the sub and its ability to launch missiles while submerged.

Naval authorities estimate that Russia now has a fleet of at least 500 submarines. This compares with 60 Germany had at the start of the Second World War and the fewer than 250 she had when she almost won the Battle of the Atlantic in 1943.

The Soviet Union is still building subs at the rate of six to eight a month. Its undersea fleet thus will comprise about 600 vessels by the end of this year.

Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the Canadian chiefs of staff committee, has said the first sign of a Soviet attack might be a missile launched from a submarine into a North American city.

Officials here point to these advantages of the submarine:

As a missile-launching platform, it is more difficult to detect than a land ramp and far more mobile.

Under international law, it can approach within three miles of North American coasts without any defensive action being taken against it in peacetime.

With missiles of comparatively short range, it could strike at targets far inland.

It can move under ice with scant fear of detection.

This last factor is giving a good deal of concern to the Canadian navy.

As matters now stand, Soviet submarines could sail undetected under the sea ice of the Arctic Archipelago and into Hudson Bay, from where North American industrial targets would be within easy range, not to mention the bomber-detecting radar stations in the Canadian Arctic.

Further 8,500 British Troops To Leave Europe

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's Continental partners agreed Wednesday to the withdrawal of a further 8,500 British troops from the Continent.

This is in addition to their authorization last March for the withdrawal of 13,500 Britons.

Wednesday's agreement came at a meeting of the Western European Union. Its members are Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

A year ago, Britain sought to withdraw 27,000 men from the continent, leaving a total of 50,000.

DOWNPOUR FAILS TO DAMPEN SPIRIT OF QUEEN MOTHER

Leaves Vancouver On Australian Trip

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Queen Mother left Vancouver Wednesday night as she arrived 24 hours earlier, a radiant smiling figure in a dismal setting of dark clouds and driving rain.

In her stay here on the way from Britain to Australia, the gracious royal lady made light of a persistent downpour, always ready with a smile and cheerful wave for more than 25,000 persons who braved the deluge to catch a glimpse of her.

"Thanks for a lovely visit," she said to Mayor Fred Hume as she boarded her special airliner at International airport at 8:20 p.m. for the 10-hour flight to Honolulu.

As the British Overseas Airways Corporation aircraft Seven Seas climbed into the dark sky at the end of Her Majesty's first Canadian visit in 19 years, the scene was almost exactly the same as that which greeted her on arrival from Montreal.

CHEER HER

More than 1,000 persons stood at the edge of the tarmac to cheer the Queen Mother on her way, a similar throng to that which waited in the same weather Tuesday night to welcome her to the city.

The program called for a tour of the city Wednesday afternoon only if the weather was good, but the Queen Mother decided to go ahead with it just the same. She drove through 20 miles of city streets with her car window open so that she could see and be seen.

She saw more than 3,000 school children, let out of class at schools along the route, waving sodden flags at the slowly-moving limousine.

One stop along the route was at Queen Elizabeth Park, a landscaped lookout point on Little Mountain in the geographical centre of the city. There was little to be seen because of the rain and low cloud. But there was a basket of Scottish heather, grown in the park, for the royal visitor.

In a brief stop at city hall, the Queen Mother was presented with two British Columbia centennial year silver dollars for her grandchildren, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

New Head-Master

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Coulter, 44, director of the University of Toronto's extension department, has been appointed headmaster of St. Andrew's College at nearby Aurora, it was announced Wednesday.

Mr. Coulter, former player with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union, succeeds Dr. K. G. B. Ketchum, resigning after 23 years. He was head coach of the Varsity football team in 1947 and 1948.

SHE'S NO PEASANT

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) Actress Nancy Valentine, 30, once married to the Maharajah of Cooch Behar, India has divorced Frederick Tillinghast III, Beverly Hills oil mand and stock broker. She testified in court Wednesday that "he would tell our friends that I was a peasant and that he was Frederick Tillinghast III"

Shoe Salesman Asleep In Auto Is Final Victim

Nebraska Youth Nabbed When Bullets Run Out

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP) — Charles Starkweather, the teenage "mad gunman" captured in a wild chase that ended when he meekly stopped his stolen car, faced justice today in the wanton slaying of 10 persons.

The pigeon-toed 19-year-old gave up Wednesday near this cattle town after, police said, he had shot a sleeping shoe salesman and fled. It was the final killing in a savage trail which saw nine people butchered in Nebraska since Monday.

With him was Caril Fugate, 14, whose parents and infant half-sister police say Starkweather killed in the start of a murderous spree.

The bandy-legged gunman complained mostly of a small nick in his ear suffered when a sheriff's bullet shattered glass in his stolen sedan.

GIRL UNDER SEDATION

He seemed unconcerned about the girl, who was put under sedation after she had fled his car in hysterics shortly before he was captured.

County Attorney William P. Dixon said he would file a murder charge today against Starkweather in the death of Merle Collison, 37-year-old shoe salesman from Great Falls, Mont. Collison was shot as he slept in his car near Douglas. An autopsy disclosed nine bullet wounds from a .22-calibre rifle.

Starkweather had an empty .22-calibre rifle when he was surprised by another motorist standing by Collison's car.

NEBRASKA WANTS HIM

Meanwhile, at Lincoln, Neb., County Attorney Elmer Scheele said he and two officers would fly to Douglas today, and that "we are going to do out utmost to get him back here." Wyoming will have priority on prosecution if Dixon decides to press charges in the Collison killing.

If Starkweather faces Wyoming justice and is convicted of first-degree murder, the penalty is the gas chamber. But Wyoming's Governor Millward Simpson is strongly opposed to capital punishment, and recently stated that he would continue his policy of commutation.

In Nebraska, the death penalty is exacted in the electric chair if a defendant is found guilty of first-degree murder and the jury sets the penalty at death.

MORE BODIES FEARED

Lincoln officials had another problem. Mayor Bennett Martin posed it this way:

"We're still in a damn sick situation. We still don't know whether the number of (Nebraska) victims will stop at nine."

They had no way of knowing whether more bodies would be found along the gruesome murder trail that began Monday. The last three of the nine were found Wednesday only a short time before Starkweather's capture.

There might have been more in Wyoming if Starkweather had not run out of ammunition.

When captured he had an empty .32-calibre pistol—he had lost the rifle in a struggle just before—and he snarled "If I'd had a gun I'd have shot them" (his captors.)

There was no immediate statement on any possible charges against the Fugate girl. Starkweather told officers he had forced her to go along with him on the wild ride that ended in Wyoming cattle country.

In addition to the 10 deaths, police want to question Starkweather about the death of 21-year-old Robert Colvert of Lincoln, found shot in the head last Dec. 1.

STRUCK IN THREES

Striking by threes starting Monday, the killer first wiped out Caril's family of three. Then, in another foray discovered a full day later, he killed a one-time hunting companion and a pair of high school sweethearts.

Still later, probably another full day, he shot down a prominent Lincoln businessman, and stabbed his wife and their 51-year-old housekeeper.

Apprehension spread in Lincoln as the bloody toll mounted, but it was the discovery of the wanton killing of C. L. Ward, president of the Capitol Steel Works, along with his wife and their housekeeper, that set the city in its final frenzy.

Governor Victor Anderson ordered the national guard militia mobilized. They quickly started patrolling the city in jeeps and prepared for a house-to-house search to root out the killer.

Then came Starkweather's capture 500 miles away, catching the embattled city in mid-stride.

Back in Lincoln his father, Guy Starkweather, 47, a carpenter, said: "I guess everybody can sleep tonight. I don't know whether I'll sleep, though."

Report Ready

OTTAWA (CP)—The report of a royal commission that investigated the CPR diesel firemen issue probably will be received by the cabinet late this week and be made public early next week, informants said Wednesday.

The three-man commission investigated the question of whether the CPR should reduce the number of firemen in its diesel locomotive service.

A CPR proposal to this effect was fought by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC), resulting in a nine-day tieup of the company's lines last Januar.

Biggest Placer Gold Find in World Perhaps Made in Southern Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—A gold strike which some say may turn out to be "the biggest placer gold find in the world," and on which others are maintaining a "wait-and-see" attitude, has been made in Quebec's Beauce County.

M. J. Boylen, Toronto mining man, has staked 75,000 acres in the area—located 50 miles south of Quebec City—and says tests show "important possibilities."

Kosti N. Nordlund of New Westminster, B.C., a 61-year-old engineer with 30 years experience in placer mining who has directed the Boylen exploration crew, said:

"It would not be exaggerating to say this could be the greatest placer gold find in the world."

He added that no conclusion has yet been reached "but on the basis of my experience it could be a very big find."

Mr. Boylen said if tests under way since last summer continue to show sufficient values he plans to recover the gold by dredging, an operation never tried in Quebec.

The Quebec mines department, handling numerous inquiries about the area recently, says it does not know yet how important the find may be.

Mr Boylen said his organization would likely spend about $2,000,000 and production could possibly start by summer. Testing with churn drills now is going on 24 hours a day and when frost has left the ground seismic tests are to be run.

1958 DOG LICENCES ARE NOW DUE

City Dog Catcher Charles Thorn today warned that 1953 dog licences were now due and asked that pet owners purchase their dog tags as soon as possible.

"There will be no more warnings, and dogs found running at large without their 1958 tags will be picked up," stated Mr. Thorn.

Seven dogs found running at large are now in the city pound, it was stated.

NEW BEVERAGE ARRIVES IN CITY

"Near Beer" an imported cereal beverage with a malt and hops base, went on sale in several Belleville stores this week.

The beverage, in 12-ounce bottles, bears the name of a Buffalo, N.Y., brewing company. "Near Beer" raised a storm in Toronto several weeks ago when an official of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, intimated that steps would be taken to rule out its sale.

Police Blotter

City and Provincial Police reported a quiet watch during the past 24 hours, with only routine matters coming to their attention. No accidents of a serious nature were reported.

Three rural youths were charged under the Liquor Control Act following a complaint from a Front Street restaurant.

A Coleman Street resident complained of windows being broken by boys throwing snowballs.

Mother Talks With Daughter 3,000 Miles Away

Short wave radio as a long distance communications medium gained a staunch supporter in Belleville Wednesday when through a local "ham" operator she was able to talk with her daughter more than 3,000 miles away.

The new short wave radio enthusiast is Mrs. E. Veley, well known Belleville music teacher, who for over half-an-hour Wednesday afternoon talked by radio with her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Smith and family, in Guayaquil, Ecuador.

Mrs. Smith and her husband are teaching at the Christian Missionary Alliance Bible school in Guayaquil and the principal of the school, the Rev. Harvey Bestrum happens to be a "ham" radio operator. He arranged with Belleville "ham" Gene Hitchon to have Mrs. Veley listen in, and for over half an-hour yesterday afternoon Mrs. Veley talked with her daughter and her two grandchildren Gordon and Judith.

It was a big thrill for members of the Veley family, both in Belleville and in far-off Guayaquil.

Cost Accountants Divide in Groups For Discussion

The Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants, Bay of Quinte Chapter, held their monthly meeting Monday evening. Mr. D. D. Hickson C.G.A., controller, Mead Johnson of Canada was chairman and introduced a new type of group discussion. The groups were formed in a "Six by Six" arrangement with each group electing a scribe and a moderator. The topic discussed was "The Accountants' Responsibility with Respect to Inventory Control."

Some of the many facts discussed by the various groups were:

(1) Interpretation of sales trends and translation of this data into terms of stock position and requirements.

(2) Timeliness of reports and highlighting critical positions for action.

(3) The responsibility the accountant should accept in connection with proper inventory valuation.

(4) What recommendations might the accountant make in connection with finished products inventory which contain abnormal and excessively high costs.

(5) The effect that marginal and direct costing has on inventory versus the well established and commonly used total costing methods.

These were some of the subjects of discussion which were reported by the moderators, D. Ibbotson, C. Casey and W. Smith.

Labor Institute Will Be Held In This City

Panel Discussion At Film Council

Metal and leather crafts, ceramics and weaving, were topics of discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the Belleville and District Film Council held this week at the Corby Public Library.

The panel discussion was introduced by Mr. D. W. Maddocks following a showing of the film "The Talented Hands", produced by the Nova Scotia Film Board. Panel members were Mrs. Orville Summers, metal crafts, Mrs. John Clarke, ceramics, Mrs. McCreary, leathercraft, and Mrs. J. C. Hayes, weaving.

Each of the panel members commented on the film and showed samples of their own craft work and told of some of the classes in arts and crafts conducted in Belleville and district.

Film Council President H. R. Frinks welcomed the guests and briefly summarized the business of the meeting.

Mr. Maddocks reported on plans for the film workshop to be held in the city Feb. 28 and March 1 in which Belleville and District Film Council and the Prince Edward Film Council will take part. Plans for the annual film festival were also discussed.

Obituary

GARNET DUETTA

PICTON — The death occurred in Oshawa General Hospital on January 20, 1958, of Garnet Duetta, who was born in Hillier township, Prince Edward County, January 6, 1892. He had been ill for eight days with double pneumonia. His father was the late Wellington Duetta and his mother the former Margaret Macdonald, who died in 1949.

Mr. Duetta left Bloomfield and vicinity when twelve years of age and spent about 12 years in the United States. Returning to Canada he enlisted with the Canadian Engineers, CEF, and served in World War I. On his return he moved to Oshawa where he was employed by General Motors until retirement a year ago. He was a member of the United Church and held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends.

Survivors are two brothers, James of Bloomfield and Edward of Picton; a sister, Mrs. Hugh Keenan (Mary), R. 8, Picton. Predeceasing him were a sister, Mrs. Walter Nicholas (Hettie) of Picton in 1947, and a brother, Elmer, of Picton, in 1953.

Service was conducted at the G. R. Whattam Funeral Home in Picton, Thursday, Jan. 23; Rev. F. J. Whiteley officiating Interment Hicksite cemetery, Bloomfield.

Bearers were nephews: Jack Duetta, Ralph Duetta, Gordon Duetta, Robert Keenan, Hugh Nicholas, Glen Branscombe.

GLEN EGGO

TRENTON — A military funeral service will be held from the Weaver Funeral Home in Trenton tomorrow afternoon for Glen Eggo, who died suddenly Tuesday night.

Mr. Eggo, 50, suffered a heart attack at the curling rink of the R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton, and died in hospital the same night.

Formerly of Winnipeg, he established in the RCAF Telecom Branch in 1940, and at the time of his retirement in November of last year was a communications operator supervisor. He had served more than 17 years with the Air Force.

He was a keen athlete and actively participated in golf, curling, hockey and baseball. Last summer he was a member of the Trenton Golf and Country Club golf team which won the Quinte Cup tournament at Belleville and at the time of his death was the skip of the RCAF curling team.

Following his retirement he was a civil service employee in the message centre of the RCAF Station here and lived in Trenton.

He is survived by his wife.

FINDLAY S. POLLARD
Unionville

A former Canadian National Railways station agent, Mr. Findlay S. Pollard of Unionville, died in St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto on Thursday.

Mr. Pollard was born at Frankford and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Pollard. He was station agent at Bannockburn and at Keene before going to Unionville.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and also belonged to the Masonic Order and to the Order of the Eastern Star.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Elizabeth Harris; and by two step-daughters, Mrs. Claude (Margaret) Freeman of St. Catharines, and Mrs. Kenneth (Anna) Greatrix of Kirkland Lake.

Two brothers, George and William Pollard of Frankford, and three sisters, Mrs. S. Caskey and Mrs. Thomas Burkitt, both of Frankford, and Mrs. Morris Frary of Kalamazoo, Mich., also survive.

Resting at the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Chapel, Belleville; the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

EDWARD J. ALLORE

Labor Council Will Support City Fathers

The Belleville and District Labor Council will support city council on its action taken a week ago to request approval from the Ontario Legislature for reduction of council from 14 to eight members.

The Labor Council at its regular monthly meeting held Tuesday evening at the Oddfellows' Hall discussed the matter at some length, the concensus being that the ratepayers voted for the reduction at the last municipal election and the Labor Council would support city council on the issue.

The community chest payroll deduction plan was handed over to a special committee to be appointed by President D. Burshaw. The committee will report at the next meeting.

Memberships of the various Labor council committees were decided on for the coming year: Legislation and Public Relations — President D. Burshaw, J. Harwood and A. Whitehead; Organization — M. Graham, M. Crawford, H. Joyce, E. Holdenby, T. Lucas, J. King and F. Daniels; Educational — A. Whitehead, T. Duttan, R. Winstanley, F. Reynolds; Political Action — E. Nelson, G. Ellis, M. Doogan, G. Bright Future For Plywood Is Predicted

More than 20 members of the Belleville and District Builders' Exchange met in the Kiwanis Centre last night and heard three professional engineers of the Plywood Manufacturers Association of British Columbia forecast a bright future for plywood.

Evan L. Fowler, Ottawa office, R. J. Armstrong, Toronto, and Peter G. Willson, London, told the group that their association is all-Canadian, representing all Canadian manufacturers of fir plywood. The association embraces 10 companies.

The visitors said, it is now possible to build churches, curling rinks, farm storage buildings and barns solely of plywood with, of course, the exception of the foundations.

They pointed out the properties and uses of fir plywood and mentioned that their association is continually researching and developing new uses for the material.

The engineers showed a film illustrating home uses of plywood.

Invited guests were Wilmont Bailey, assessor and treasurer of Sidney township, Deputy Reeve Harley Hamilton of Sidney. Leighton Thompson, city assessment commissioner, Grant Stickle, city building inspector and W. A. Watson, architect.

Mario Fabbri, president of the Exchange, chaired the dinner meeting and Robert G. Hamilton attended as secretary - treasurer.

GROW SUGAR BEETS

RIVER CANARD, Ont. (CP)— Canada and Dominion Sugar Beet Company officials said Wednesday district farmers have agreed by contract to grow 600 acres of sugar beets this year, and 1,000 acres possibly will be grown. Extensive beet growing has not been carried out in the area for 15 years. The company said it hopes 35,000 acres will be grown in the country this year.

IN MEMORIAM

DUFFY. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ernest Duffy, who passed away January 30th, 1957.

In tears we saw you sinking.
We watched you fade away;
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping,
So peacefully free from pain;
We could not wish you back.
To suffer that again.

—Sadly missed by his wife Mary and family.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market was irregularly higher in moderate morning trading, boosted by active turnovers among a few low-priced mines.

Industrials and base metals each gained a point on their indices while western oils and golds lost a few decimal points. Volume at 11 a.m. was 903,000 shares compared with 901,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Paramaque, which added ½ cent to 7½ cents, traded 150,000 shares in the first hour and Bouscadillac had a similar volume while losing one cent to 16 cents. These two issues thus accounted for one-third the entire volume of the market.

Headway and Coulee were the features of speculative mines. Headway added 7 cents to 77 cents and Coulee gained 6 cents at 77 cents. Half a dozen other stocks selling at less than 15 cents a share were narrowly higher in fairly-active trading.

Senior base metals moved up in a fractional range, led by ¾-point gains by Hudson Bay and Noranda.

Most industrial price changes were fractional with gains holding an edge over losses. On a single sale, Loblaw Inc. jumped three points to 78. Refining oils and steels were among the other winners.

Western oils were quiet.

Stop One Train, Another Wrecks Stalled Auto

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two men who tried to get a jump on fate when their car stalled on a railroad crossing on Vancouver's east side Wednesday night came to the conclusion you just can't win.

The quick-thinking pair remembered the Canadian Pacific Rail-Express was due at the crossing within minutes. So they ran to a phone booth, called the CPR, had the train held at the terminal and returned to move the car at leisure.

Back at the crossing they found their car a wreck.

A freight train had also been due.

Literary Night At Albert College Much Enjoyed

On Wednesday night, David Conklin was chosen to represent Albert College in the senior division in the COSSA Oratorical contest to be held at Madoc, January 31. Mr. Conklin was chosen from a group of four semi-finalists who are Alice Hamblem, Sandra Kendall and Bruce Switzer. The judges were Murray Irwin Dr. H. Swann, and Miss Beth Collier.

Ted Mitchell will represent Albert in the Junior Division.

At 8:30 P.M. the students and faculty gathered in Ackerman Hall to hear an address by Cpl. Reg. Rackham, of the Belleville branch of the Ontario Provincial Police. Cpl. Rackham, who was introduced by John McDermid, spoke on the importance of finger-printing and photography in the solving of crimes. Cpl. Rackham spoke in an easy, informal manner and illustrated his talk by passing around samples of fingerprints, as well as fingerprinting several of the students.

Cpl. Rackham, who stressed the importance of knowing more about these branches, finished his talk with an open question-and-answer period. The students availed themselves of this opportunity to ask questions regarding many details of police work.

Peter Blackwell expressed the group's appreciation to Cpl. Rackham.

Fire Destroys Six Buildings In Mining Town

BOURLAMAQUE, Que. (CP)—Fire today destroyed six two-storey buildings in the main business block of this northwestern Quebec mining town, making about 25 persons homeless. No one was injured.

Town Manager J. L. Leblanc and Fire Chief John Rae estimated loss at $150,000.

The families, living in apartments above the business places, escaped.

For a while the fire, fanned by a high wind, threatened to wipe out the entire business section of 30 to 35 stores, including the 60-room Bourlamaque Hotel across the street. Firemen played water on the hotel.

CAUSE IS UNKNOWN

The fire is believed to have started in a bowling alley but the cause has not been established.

Baghdad Powers Warn Russians Not to Meddle

ANKARA (Reuters) — The Baghdad Pact powers and the United States today issued a new warning to Russia against subversive penetration in the Middle East.

The warning was in a communique winding up talks here by cabinet ministers from the five member states — Britain, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey. U.S. State Secretary Dulles was present as an observer.

The communique pledged pact members to press the "constant exposure of the familiar Communist tactics of subversive penetration, falsely presented as friendly coexistence with under-developed countries."

The ministers accused the Communists of attempting to exploit "nationalism, fear of war, economic distress, the plight of the Arab refugees, and national Asian sentiments."

The ministers:

1. Urged co-operation between the pact and "other free world regional collective security organizations."

2. Called on United Nations members to accept the concept of the UN Emergency Force for use in areas of disturbance.

3. Announced that a training exercise will be held soon by the military planning staff newly established under the pact.

The ministers also urged that the "indiscriminate use" of the veto in the UN should be given up.

Their commique declared that the pact has developed into "a safeguarding of peace, liberty and independence in this area."

It said the defence and security of the pact area is "as vital to world peace as it is to constructive co-operation for the benefit of the 135,000,000 people of the pact region who are predominently Moslem."

Farm Federation Economist Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Ernest C. Hope, economist for the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, died suddenly in Montreal Wednesday night.

Federation headquarters here said today Dr. Hope, 57, was stricken with a heart attack in a hotel where he was attending the annual meeting of the farm organization.

One of Canada's best-known economists, Dr. Hope had been with the federation for about 10 years.

Many Notables Have Attended Legion Branch

TRENTON — With the arrival of the Very Rev. Dean J. O. Anderson in Trenton last week Branch 110 of the Canadian Legion established a record which is undoubtedly unique in all Canada.

Mr. Anderson, the immediate past president of the Dominion Command, dedicated the Memorial Hall at the opening of the new premises of the branch.

Within the last year, both the present and immediate past Dominion and Provincial Legion presidents have visited the Trenton Legion and Dean Anderson's arrival completed the cycle.

David L. Burgess the present dominion president, was the first of the "Big Four" to arrive and he addressed the branch's "Over the Top" banquet on January 30 of last year.

Next came Henry Harvey, then provincial president and now immediate past provincial president, to address the branch's annual "V.F. Day Dinner" on May 6.

Fred T. O'Brecht, the present provincial president, attended the regular meeting of the branch in October of 1957 to present meritorious awards to comrades Air Commodore J. B. Harvey and F.L. Donald B. Craig. Mr. O'Brecht was, of course, present and took part in the official opening of the new hall last week.

President of the branch, John C. Farrell, expressed the Legion's thanks to the fine co-operation of these distinguished guests, all of whom have stated their desire to return to Branch 110 in the very near future.

IN TWO FIRES

For Henry van Gyzen, yesterday's major fire at the Sprung Building was his second escapade with flames in less than two weeks.

Mr. van Gyzen is a pastry chef at the Sprung Bakery from where the blaze is believed to have started that cost an estimated $250,000 damage to the building which is considered one of the old landmarks of the town.

He and his co-worker, George Roelfsema, discovered the fire shortly after coming to work and turned in the alarm.

But on Saturday, January 18, when the Farrar Block on the corner of Ontario and Dundas Streets was destroyed in a $100,000 blaze, Mr. van Gyzen his wife and two children, were forced to flee their apartment which was partly destroyed by the fire and severely damaged by smoke and water.

The van Gyzen family were lucky enough to have been able to save most of their belongings in the Farrar Block fire, but were forced to look up new living quarters. Now Mr. van Gyzen may have to look up a new job.

Two Minor Accidents Blamed on Weather

TRENTON — Only two slight accidents were reported to the town police department yesterday and both could be attributed to the weather and road conditions.

In the first mishap to be reported, at 9.50 a.m., James Holmes of 281 King Street, told police he was backing out of the parking lot on the Government Docks and ran into a car owned by Gerard Brennan of 16 Harriet Street, damaging it to the extent of $60.

At around 5 p.m. two cars were in collision on the intersection of Ontario and College Streets. Cars involved were owned by Robert E. Clay, 9 Borden Drive, and Ira MacDonald, 204 Queen Street. Streets were wet at the time. Damage to the Clay vehicle was nil and damage to the rear of the other car was estimated at $125.

Handyman Dies After Lying in Water 13 Hours

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The 61-year-old handyman found in a state of "deep freeze" after lying for 13 hours in a pool of water in an ice-covered creek, died early today in hospital.

An immediate report on the circumstances of the death was not available, a hospital spokesman said.

Wednesday the hospital reported Mr. Jacobs was on his way to recovery. When brought to hospital his body temperature was estimated at 94 degrees fahrenheit, 4.6 degrees below normal body temperature of 98.6 degrees.

Dr. Susan Kober, a staff doctor at the hospital in this town midway between Toronto and Hamilton, said Wednesday Mr. Jacobs had shown great improvement and was on his way to recovery from a state of "deep freeze."

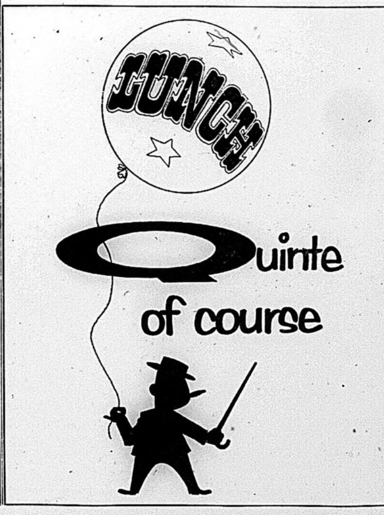
FELL DOWN BANK

He had tumbled down a 60-foot embankment into a creek at the back of his Oakville home, his fingers and legs were frozen and his condition was reported critical.

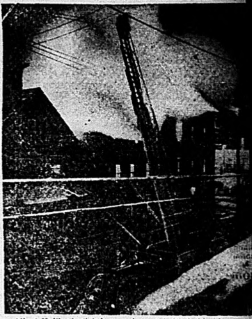
Dr. Kober said he was believed also suffering from back injuries and a skull fracture but the extent of his injuries would not be known until x-rays were taken. She said there was not a great deal of treatment possible.

PRINCESS A THIEF?

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—Princess Margaret, 60-year-old aunt of Buganda province's ruler, the kabaka, was charged today with stealing 105 sheets of galvanized iron from a half-finished building and hiding them on her banana plantation. Another member of the royal family, Prince Musanje, put up £100 bail.



SUSPECT ARSON IN HULL FIRE



All of Hull's firefighting equipment battled this blaze whi levelled three buildings containing 24 dwelling units. Sev persons were injured and 50 were homeless before the fire w quelled. Quebec police have started an investigation into t cause of the fire. Damage was estimated at $500,000. A lo explosion preceded the fire and arson is suspected.

U.S.-Educated Students Tried To Kill Chou

MANCHESTER, England (AP) The Manchester Guardian says three American-educated Chinese students tried to assassinate Red China's Premier Chou En-lai last July 28.

The Guardian says it obtained the information from a young Chinese, now in England, who was in China at the time and was associated indirectly with the assassination attempt.

The informant, referred to by the pseudonym "Mr. Li," said that although Chou escaped with his life, there were indications that he was wounded or at least suffered from shock. The three would-be killers were executed, Li said.

(Peiping radio last July 31 said Chou appeared on the platform that day before 20,000 people attending the army day celebration in the Chinese capital. Chou did not speak to the crowd, but apparently if he was the object of an assassination attempt three days before, he escaped with minor injuries or none at all.)

The Guardian says the assault on Chou was the culmination of a chain of events which began in 1950, when a group of Chinese students formed a club "at one of the largest American universities" and took an oath that they would "dedicate our lives to save China from Communism." Most of the students were either from the Chinese mainland or Hong Kong.

MAPLEDORAM AND DUCKS

Are wildfowl refuges needed in this district?

Hon. Clare E. Mapledoram, Ontario's Minister of ands and Forests, says that they are. He made this atement at the 30th annual convention of the Ontario ederation of Anglers and Hunters, held at Kingston st week. One may be sure, too, that this does not erely represent the view of an individual interested duck-hunting, but is based on the studies of wildlife ologists.

It would, therefore, be a rash editorial writer who ould rush to do battle with the Minister on this question. But if the editorial writer also chances to be a uck-hunter, he will have opinions on the subject and e have yet to meet a hunter, or an angler, who was too imid to voice his views.

Mr. Mapledoram preceded his assertion of the need or refuges "particularly in the Prince Edward County nd Lake Ontario marshes" by referring to the Department's experience with a refuge in the Luther Marsh. He declared that this refuge "serves a valuable purpose in holding ducks throughout the season so that the marsh does not get shot out on opening day. Some hunters object that all the ducks go into the refuge after the first flurry of shooting and no one gets any more for the rest of the season. But studies have shown that the presence of a refuge area of this kind actually increases success throughout the season."

Now we have no knowledge of conditions in the Luther Marsh and shall not attempt to argue this point with Mr. Mapledoram. It does seem, though, that what is true of the Luther Marsh is not necessarily true of the Prince Edward marshes. There are large areas of these marshes which are almost inaccessible to hunters and which form natural refuges. Unless we are unfortunate enough to get a mammoth influx of hunters from other areas, there is little prospect of Prince Edward marshes being shot out on any opening day for years to come.

Mr. Mapledoram supported his assertion that refuges were needed by referring to the Department's experience with a crown game preserve near Combermere. This reserve, he said, provides refuge for the ringneck duck population during the open season "and they continue to nest there in good numbers every year. If this preserve was done away with, it is probable that the ringnecks would disappear completely as they have in many other marshes."

Now, anyone who has hunted the Prince Edward marshes in the fall knows that there does not seem to be any danger of the blacks, mallards and teal ceasing to nest there because they lack refuges during the open season.

And, finally, Mr. Mapledoram cannot have it both ways - - he cannot sell refuges as a method of assuring that hunters shoot more ducks and at the same time as a way to protect the duck population. Biologists may call an area a crown preserve but if Mr. Black and Mrs. Mallard find that a crown preserve is a place which keeps one alive today in order to make sure that one gets shot tomorrow, they are going to give areas with such preserves a wide berth.

MONEY FOR SPENDING

Last year Canadians bought more life insurance, not just a little more but nearly a billion dollars more than they purchased in 1956. This figure needs to be interpreted - - they did not pay a billion more dollars in premiums but the face value of the policies they purchased increased by that amount. Or, to put it another way, they made a down payment on $5,300,000,000 of new life insurance policies. These purchases brought the total insurance in force to over thirty-four billion dollars, or double the figure for 1950.

Death benefits paid increased sharply during 1957, from $140,000,000 in 1956 to $160,000,000. Living benefits, at $270,000,000, were up thirty million over 1956

With insurance in force growing, it would appear reasonable to expect that, barring some disastrous depression, benefits paid annually will steadily increase.

All this is money pumped into the lifestream of the country's economy. Not only does it benefit the recipients, making it possible for them to live an immeasurably better life than would otherwise be possible, but it also, by creating effective consumer demand, helps to keep the country's economy healthy.

It is the result of persons living within their incomes.

WHAT WOMEN WON'T LEARN

You may tell her what is proper,
what she ought to do and say,
You may teach her how to whistle for the dog that runs away;
If you've patience you may teach her how to leave a city bus,
How to safely reach the pavement without jolt or bump or fuss;
But against one thing, I'm certain, lovely woman ever guards:
Man will never, never teach her how to shuffle playing cards.

You may teach her how to hammer, how to drive a nail in straight,
You may teach her banking methods, though your patience must be great;
You may teach her how to sharpen her lead pencil so that it
Won't appear as though she chewed it, and her teeth were not a fit;
But there's one art, I am certain,
that against she ever guards:
Man will never teach a woman how to shuffle playing cards.

What's In A Name?—Death

St. Thomas Times-Journal

About three weeks ago a London passenger train passed a signal and crashed into another train which was standing still on a suburban track, 90 people being killed and more than that number injured. Fog was blamed for the accident. But it should not have happened.

A Londan newspaperman recalls that three years ago he was talking to Sir Felix Pole, who had retired as manager of the Great Western Railway, which he had joined as a $2.50 a week telegraphist 50 years before, and the subject of accidents cropped up. The Great Western had never had an accident involving loss of life all that time. Pole said it was due to four signalmen who put their heads together and invented an automatic control which caused a whistle to blow in the cab if the train passed a signal at danger, but if the line was clear a bell rang. The Great Western adopted the system with the result stated, but other railways did not—and they have had many accidents.

Why did they refuse to adopt such a safety device? According to the late manager, it was because the four inventors had given it the name of the Great Western Audible Signal, therefore the other railroads would have nothing to do with it. Their action was due to jealousy.

London is plagued with intense fogs in winter that bring transportation almost to a full stop, including trains. The story is told that a Great Western driver brought "The Cheltenham Flyer" into Paddington station, London from Cheltenham, Gloucestershire, on time, although he had not seen a signal since he left. Reading 36 miles back. Two other railroads served Reading, but were unable to move. The G. W. driver depended entirely on the Audible Signal.

During all those years several committees have investigated the system after bad crashes, and each one recommended the universal adoption of the Great Western system. Inspectors investigating the same or other accidents have done the same thing. But the other companies would have nothing to do with it, despite the Great Western Railway's flawless record. They set up various excuses.

Sir Alan Mount, o former inspecting officer of railways, reported to the Government that between 1924 and 1937 there had been 104 people killed in 13 accidents. He advised compulsory adoption of the G. W. system, but no action was taken. He repeated his recommendation twelve years ago after an accident in which 43 people were killed. In 1952 there were 112 deaths in a crash at Harrow on the outskirts of London, during heavy fog.

• • •

The railways are all nationalized now, and the hateful name Great Western, has disappeared. There are only "British Railways" today. The British Transport Commission issued a booklet early this year in which the following paragraph appears: "The system of automatic train control has now been approved, and is to be extended to five of the main routes out of London by 1962."

But before that can be done many more lives may be sacrificed to stubborn jealousy.

Get Fussy About Spuds

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

The potato is still the main item of food in many countries. Many of us can recall the time when potatoes were served three times a day, almost every day of the week. Usually fried potatoes for breakfast and supper and boiled potatoes in some form for dinner. Occasionally creamy potato soup was a satisfying and palate pleasing item on the menu. Potato pancakes went well with applesauce.

For some reason or other, probably because the idea spread that potatoes are fattening, annual consumption of potatoes has dropped in the past generation from about 240 pounds a person to about 140 pounds.

At a conference of the Eastern Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association, part of the program was devoted to discussion of the lowly spud. It was pointed out that potatoes are not fattening when eaten in normal amounts. Many other foods considered as tidbits and eaten casually as at a social gathering are far more fattening.

Moreover, Dr. L. B. Pett of the Department of Health and Welfare put in a plug for potatoes by saying they are important sources of vitamin C, vitamin B-1, iron and other minerals.

Like in most everything else the Canadian housewife is getting fussy when it comes to buying potatoes. She prefers the mealy type that will fluff up when mashed. She wants a potato of medium size that will cook white or creamy white and not turn dark when mashed or baked.

Indeed the time seems to be approaching when consumers will want potatoes specifically for frying, or for boiling, or for baking. Of course, that will mean paying more for the extra service.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THAT SUN DIAL

I have an old sun dial in my possession that a friend gave to me. I keep it near at hand for the inspiration it gives me each day. There is a line on it that says, "I only record the Sunny hours!" Wouldn't it be wonderful, if we would only count the sunny hours in life or make them the significant ones? On the dark days we would think only of those that had blessed us during the sunny days.

Under the glass of my business desk is a line from the poet Celia Thaxter. It reads: "The Sunrise never failed us yet." We ought to think of this. It's always a companion to the clouds, and always near at hand.

Outside my library I look upon trees that are heavy under a fresh snow. The sunlight is scattering beautiful shadows across the earth into a beautiful pattern. I keep thinking of the millions of perfect crystals that form this winter covering. What amazing art there is in every corner of Nature! No man-made tapestry could ever be more mysterious or perfect than that one Nature weaves and leaves to our love and enjoyment.

That Sun Dial is a silent teacher. It seems to tell us we would be happier if we only noted the sunny hours and made them a part of our lives. I love to see a Sun Dial in a beautiful flower garden. Like a Heavenly watcher, its life there records not only the sunny hours but fragrance as well, treasuring it as a sister joy. If only that Dial could talk! Think what it could say, in the summer times, as numberless dew drops chorus the birth of another sunrise and another day!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One of my fishing buddies has a very handy habit you might like to know about. He is a busy executive who gets bright ideas wherever he happens to be — at lunch, in a tackle shop, out bird watching. He carries one of those memo pads with the tear-out tabs which can be removed as soon as the idea noted has been dealt with; thus accusing himself with any left in. But he also carries, in his wallet, a half dozen or more four cent post cards, the common blank kind you buy at any post office.

While you are lunching with him he will suddenly whip out a postcard, scribble on it, and set it beside his plate to be posted on the way out. Or, walking along the street, he will halt, rest the post card on any convenient shop window or other flat surface, and rapidly indite a memo, address it, and post it at the next letter box.

"I get more things off my mind," he says, "with these four cent post cards than by any other device. A phone call costs ten cents, at least; more, if the person I want to speak to is long distance. If I put off the phone calls until I get back to the office, I forget it. If I make a memo, I have to dictate it to my secretery; and there may be several hours delay. Or may change my mind."

"What was that one you just wrote?" I asked.

"That fishing tackle catalog I just mentioned," he said. "Got it last night. Just ordered one for you You'll have it Friday."

Dandelions in February

St. John's News

Let none imagine that the experience of the present winter up to now — and goodness knows it can change fast enough — is so unusual that it must be attributed to the increasing warmth of the world's northern regions. It is recorded, for example, that a dandelion was picked in St. John's on February 2, 1892.

Many friends regret their departure from the city.

Firemen and Policemen are now First Aid Experts. On Monday evening next, a very interesting ceremony will take place in the city hall when the members of the Belleville Fire Department will be presented with certificates from the St. John Ambulance Association for efficiency in first aid. For some months the members of the fire department, under Chief Lynch, have been studying first aid with competent instructors to the end that they may be of service in saving lives and preventing suffering as the result of accidents incurred during fires and from other causes. Ald. Jesse Barlow, when chairman of Fire Committee in the city council, initiated the first aid classes. Five members of the local police force will also be presented with First Aid Certificates; they took the course of study along with the firemen and qualified. Mayor Jamieson Bone will preside at the meeting Monday evening, assisted by Ald. Laurie Lewis, chairman of Fire Committee in city council. The public is invited.

30 YEARS AGO

January 30th., 1928

Mr. George Faulkner is home from Montreal to spend a few days.

Mr. Garn Dobbs has returned home from Toronto where he spent several days on business.

Mr. J. J. O'Brien of Regina, Sask., is renewing acquaintances in town.

Mr. and Mrs. George Teale will entertain the members of the W. W. Club at their home on Bleecker Avenue this evening.

Mr. Wally Walsh spent yesterday in Toronto

The Marmora bus was able to make its first trip to the city today since last Wednesday. The snowbanks have now been cleared from the roads.

40 YEARS AGO

Demand by the U.A.W. for a profit-sharing plan in the automobile industry is not to be taken lightly. It may be a shadow of things to come in this and other industries.

The U.A.W. has had some degree of success in the past in attaining its objectives, these including pension plans and the guaranteed annual wage. And what occurs in the automobile industry tends to spread to other industries.

It is, however, a bit peculiar that the U.A.W. should select this particular year to promote this particular proposal, one in which profits are likely to be lower than the average in the past decade.

There are serious doubts whether profit-sharing with labor provides the most sound economic and industrial base. It is quite obvious Labor is willing to share the profits but less apparent it is willing to share the losses. Yet the one involves the other.

If carried to the ultimate, profit-sharing would tend to get Labor mixed up with the responsibility of management. It is questionable if this would be conducive to the most efficient operations.

It is a fact profit-sharing systems have been a success in some industries. But these have been relatively few and scattered. That the system has succeeded in some places doesn't prove, in itself, it would be wise as a general pattern.

There is bound to be much discussion of this issue, win or lose. It would be well, however, to keep the discussion to the relevant facts, avoiding hypocrisy.

It may be argued profit-sharing is a step toward socialism. But, if that were the case, the first step was taken long ago, —by capital, not labor. In theory at least, corporations do share with the shareholders proportionately to the profits.

There is no difference, in sheer logic, between profits being shared with those who provide the labor and those who provide the capital, between those who invest their working lives and those who invest their money.

Profit-sharing long has been an established principle by big corporations. And it can't be argued appropriately that those who supply the money are intrinsically more important than those who supply labor. To so argue would be to put money values before human values.

Good arguments can be made against profit-sharing with labor. False arguments should be avoided.

Unhappy Youngsters Bundled Up For The Winter

As a youngster, says a reader, she had to walk to school and back (four miles) every day, often in blizzard or extreme cold weather. She usually arrived at school prespiring a little. Her classmates, most of them so bundled up they could hardly move, were nearly frozen. She firmly believes that anyone but an imbecile knows by his own feeling whether he has enough clothing.

Furthermore, the lady agrees wholeheartedly with the teaching that "one does not catch cold (pardon me —the cri) from being in a draft of getting wet or going out to work or play without overcoat or other extra clothing." She has worked in drafts day after day, winter and summer. She has been so wet that water ran out of her clothing, with no chance to change to dry clothing, so that the wet clothing had to dry on her, and yet she never got one little sniffle as a consequence of such exposure. And so she tells her children to wear or leave off what they please.

Probably neither the children nor their parents knew it or even thought about it, but it was fortunate for the pupils who had to walk two miles to school and two miles back home every day.

A daily walk of three to six miles is the best general exercise one can take. It is good not only for school children but for adults who live by their wits—clerical, business, professional people.

Too many school children today get only nominal physical education in school and are denied even the boon of walking to and from school, either because of traffic hazards to which pedestrians are subject in cities and towns or because their parents or guardians coddle them by furnishing the money or means to ride to and from school as befits sissies.

A mother says she has whipped up many a batch of Doctor Brady's Home Made Fool Proof Cough Medicine for her husband, her children and her mother and she believes it's just great. The children really enjoy taking it and even her husband makes no fuss at all about taking it and he's a difficult patient . . .

Evidently the mother has not encountered a druggist who attempts to dissuade the customer from buying an ounce or a half pound of sodium citrate by demanding a prescirption, implying that it is dangerous. A good many readers have. But I am happy to say that numerous honest druggists have assured me that they dispense citrate of soda whenever a customer asks for it.

Don't Tamper With Nature!

Denver Post

The momentum of man's progress has come to be an awesome thing, sometimes with man making an illogical fool of himself. No sooner has his ingenuity whipped up something epochal like the missile than he puts himself to the task of making an antimissile to eliminate the missile he made in the first place.

In his efforts at self-government we see him setting up laws, then straining to find loopholes in them, so as to escape their effect. He grubs for money to enhance his well-being, but is never satisfied until he has more than he can use, then lives in fear of losing that excess.

But it is when he starts messing around with nature that man pulls such boners that even he begins to worry about ultimate results. Only recently has he discovered he can't destroy forests, overwork lands, transplant flora and fauna carelessly, without suffering unnatural consequences.

Somebody tried to beautify the Congo with water hyacinths, and now it is clogged with them. Birds imported from Europe to America likewise thrived and became a nuisance — even while the passenger pigeon and the whooping crane were being wiped out. Now man can wipe out man.

Here in our mountains, the coyote has to go because he preys on domestic livestock. But the coyote also preys on mice, so it follows that the fewer the coyotes, the more mice and other rodents, and something must replace the coyote, otherwise we will get a pest even more troublesome.

Now on the brink of space exploration, man is also on the verge of learning to control his weather and the climate of the earth he lives on. This may be his fatal mistake. . .

It would be distressing enough to see the Russians or anyone else smear the moon with signpainter's ink. But it would be more outrageous if any man were to flood the Sahara, send blizzards to the valley of the Amazon and melt all the snow and ice at the North Pole. Horribly enough, such stunts appear to be coming into the realm of possibility.

Great as is the present rate of expansion of human knowledge, it must ever be only a little knowledge and dangerous when applied to seeking loopholes in the laws of universal nature.

RELIGION IT'S OWN PROOF

People often get confused over what constitutes proof.

In the physical world, things are proved by the scientific method of collecting data, evaluating these data, experimenting, drawing conclusions on the basis of these experiments, and then implementing the discoveries to some useful end. But there are many areas in life in which the scientific method has no usefulness. Except in the realm of science and in the consideration of physical and worldly matters, science has little place.

People fall in love with each other, and they are just as sure of their love as a scientist can be of his discoveries, but there is no possible way to prove this love by the scientific method. Religion is another field in which the methods of science are of almost no use. To be sure, in the evaluation of manuscripts and in passing judgment on great religious movements, the categories of science are sometimes used. But religious belief has to be accepted either on the basis of faith or else not accepted at all. If it is accepted on the basis of faith, religious doctrine proves to be completely reasonable, but we do not reach a belief in such doctrine through scientific investigation and discovery, but through faith.

The word of our Lord to His generation and to ours, is "Have faith"

Speaking of Facts

Brantford Expositor

A contemporary says the Russian man-in-a-rocket story was based on "unconfirmed facts." If they weren't confirmed, weren't they merely rumors instead of facts? It's like the familiar boner about "the true facts"; either they're facts or they aren't; if they're facts they're true.

BCI Hoopsters Defeat Albert In Doubleheader

By DONN MARTINSON

The BCIVS basketball teams played Albert College Wednesday afternoon and both teams came home with victories.

In the junior game, the half began with each team taking turns in scoring but the BCI team soon started to move away and rolled up a 38-29 lead by half time. Following a rough first half the BCI squad had everything much their own way in the final half as they stole the ball on several occasions and outscored the home team 27-23 to take the game 65-52. Brian MacKenzie swished in 25 points for the winners followed by Bill Skelly who potted 18 points. Robinson paced the Albert scorers with 22 points.

The senior game proved to be very rough. In the first half the BCI seniors squawked to the officials and fought among themselves and as a result played poor basketball. The half time score was 21-12 in favor of Albert. BCI's twelve points were scored by Roger Walters. In the second half BCI showed some signs of playing basketball and by three-quarter time, Albert still held a 29-21 point lead.

Gradually, the BCI team caught up and finally potted what proved to be the winning basket which made the score 34-33 for BCI. Ralph Boomhower scored a clinching foul shot which ended the game. The final score was 35-33 for the visitors. Roger Walters dropped in 24 points for the winners while Crawford led the Albert scorers with 13 points.

Library Bd. Presents Annual Report

WELLINGTON—The annual meeting of the Wellington Library Board was held in the library on the evening of January 20th. Mr. George Dorland was the chairman.

In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. John Bryant, Mr. Dorland gave her report.

The librarian, Miss Bessie Webster, reported, comparing 1957 to 1956, that there was an increase in the membership. The total amount spent for new books in 1957 was $647.37. This was almost $100 more than in 1956. She was also pleased that 25 books had been donated to the library, making a grand total of 7,372 books. The library subscribes to 10 magazines. These are on the tables for all to read. Some are allowed out with the books.

The annual meeting was followed by a special meeting with the election of officers as follows: Mr. George Dorland, chairman; Mrs. Leonard Wiltse, secretary; Mrs. C. D. Tripp, treasurer; Miss Bessie Webster, librarian; board members: Mrs. D. Gay, Mrs. F. Brimley, Sr., Mrs. M. Wiltse, Mrs. L. McClennon, Mrs. E. Marvin, Mr. J. Cleminson. The next meeting of the board will be Thursday evening, February 6th., in the library.

Ont. Dailies' Brief Proposes Right to Appeal Bd. Decisions

TORONTO (CP)—A group of 34 Ontario daily newspaper publishers proposed today that in some circumstances decisions of the province's labor relations board be subject to appeals to the courts.

The group, in a brief submitted to a legislature committee studying amendments to the Ontario Labor Relations Act, also urged that secret representation votes be mandatory where there is evidence of strong opposition among a firm's employees to union representation.

Labor legislation in Canada and in Ontario has become increasingly more important during the last few years and the respective rights and obligations of labor and management affect directly or indirectly a great proportion of the population and the general welfare of the country, said the brief.

UNJUST TO ALL

Daily newspaper publishers, among the oldest employers of organized labor in Ontario, felt in some aspects the terms of the Labor Relations Act and its administration did not do full justice to the rights of trade unions, employers and particularly of individuals It was of prime importance that rights of individuals involved be not forgotten since the labor relations act was enacted primarily to protect them.

The publishers submitted four points intended to ensure that the basic rights of the individual and the rights of all parties will be protected:

1. Individual employees opposed to an application by a trade union for certification or who changed their minds as to representation by a union should be given complete liberty to make their position clear before the labor relations board. Such individuals normally were not articulate and the board should encourage the presentation of their views.

The brief suggested a board examiner should hear their evidence in their city of employment.

2. Employees, now free to join a union of their choice: should be equally free not to join a trade union and equally free to change their minds as to their selection of a union.

The great safeguard for everyone, including the individual, was a representation vote conducted by the board with a secret ballot. In every case where there was evidence of substantial employee opposition, a secret vote should be mandatory.

3. The right of management to explain to its own employee its position with reference to the certification of a union should be protected and clarified by the act.

Under existing law, management was apprehensive in saying anything to its employees because over it hung the threat of charges of psychological intimidation.

4. The board, in its decisions and rulings, exercised at least as much power and affected as many people as any other administrative tribunal. Its decisions and rulings were of such fundamental importance that they should be supported in all cases by written reasons. On questions of law, mixed law and fact, and questions of jurisdiction, decisions should be subject to review by appeal to the courts.

The brief was submitted on behalf of: Belleville Ontario Intelligencer, Brantford Expositor, Chatham News, Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, Fort William Times-Journal, Galt Reporter, Guelph Daily Mercury, Hamilton Spectator, Kenora-Keewatin Miner and News, Kingston Whig-Standard, Kirkland Lake Northern News, Kitchener-Waterloo Record, London Free Press, Niagara Falls Review, North Bay Nugget, Orillia Packet and Times, Oshawa Times-Gazette.

The Rev. R. D. MacLean closed the meeting with prayer.

Contact Club Plans Future Activities

Monday evening was a business and work meeting for the Contact Club of Christ church. Several dates for future activities were announced. The club coffee party and bazaar will be held late in May and conveners will be Mary Fletcher and Doris Stewart.

A corporate communion of club members will be held on April 27th. In February a club auction will be arranged by Trudy Sands' group, and each member is invited to bring along a friend.

As next Monday, Feb. 3rd is the annual vestry meeting of the church there will be no regular meeting of the club, and it is hoped that as many members as possible will attend the vestry meeting and the potluck supper which immediately precedes it.

President Helen McCormick introduced and welcomed a new member, Marge Cunningham.

Catherine Roulet read a report of the last Vestry Council meeting.

Following the business meeting a busy hour was spent in sewing and knitting for layettes after which refreshments were served by hostesses Mickey Lake, Joy Savin, Irene Weatherstone, Gladys Clare, Margaret MacInnis and Greta Moult.

The president opened the meeting and gave a short talk on "Christian Duties."

Mr. Post read the Scripture taken from St. Matthew 10. A reading by Mrs. Wagar entitled "Barren or Beautiful," a solo by Jean Wagar, "O Tell Me His Name Again", a reading by Mrs. McCann, "Harvest Time."

Collection was $9.25.

Mr. Stevenson requested that the hymn "I Shall Know Him," be sung and the Rev. Shablot closed the meeting.

Congregational Meeting

ALLIANCE TABERNACLE

Tuesday evening the annual congregational meeting of the Alliance Tabernacle was held in the upper auditorium of the church with a fine representation of members present.

The meeting was opened with a short devotional service under the leadership of the pastor, the Reverend Sackville Palmer, and included the singing of the hymn "O For a Thousand Tongues to Sing," prayer by Mr. Harold Vanderwater, and the reading of I Corinthians 13, by Mr. Palmer.

In his report, Mr. Palmer, like Joshua of old, flung out the challenge, "Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you," Joshua 3: 5, stating that the words of Joshua to the people of God in his day may well find an application in the life and activities of the Tabernacle for the current year. For the Lord can do for the unconverted what He can do only through the yielded saint. "We are living in days of spiritual and moral declension. Not withstanding, it has pleased the Lord to do wonders in the midst of adverse circumstances. Let us, therefore, rise to the occasion, obey this injunction and go on to meet the challenge and command of the Master to preach the Gospel to every creature."

TABERNACLE ACTIVITIES

In reviewing the activities of the Tabernacle, Mr. Palmer mentioned the spiritual results which included between 20 and 30 conversions; some have had definite physical touches of the Master's hand; a number of new faces are seen at the services from time to time, and the temporal income for the year showed an increase in all departments. The missionary pledge was increased by approximately $800 with $4,724.90 received for missions; while the building fund was increased by $1,500.

There has been an increase in the Sunday school from 110 to 135, and the average attendance from 83 to 97. Appreciation was also expressed to the superintendent, Mrs. Fred Fraser, and to the teaching staff and officers for a work well done.

Both the work of the Alliance Youth Fellowship, under the leadership of Mr. George Fairhead, and the Pioneer Girls, under the leadership of the Chief Guide, Miss Dorothea Atyeo, and her co-workers, has been most praiseworthy and encouraging. Appreciation was also extended to Miss Selma Warren for typing assistance in the work of the church.

There have been improvements to the church and parsonage during the past year, both of which have proven satisfactory.

On the spiritual side Mr. Palmer also ministered at Ottawa, Sudbury, Midland and Guelph, while the following ministered at the Belleville Tabernacle: Rev. G. A. Skitch, of Brantford; Rev. Howard Gray of Toronto; Mr. J. O. Blackwood of Belleville; Rev. R. W. Wighton of Oshawa; Rev. Edgar Lorimer, of Toronto; Rev. Ken Opperman, Missionary to Peru; Rev. J. Mapstone, Hamilton; Rev. and Mrs. K. McGillivray, missionaries to Formosa; Bible Society representatives; Mr. Nimegan of the Christian Railroaders, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Portway, Children's Evangelists.

During the year Mr. Palmer made 556 calls, not including personal interviews.

NEW MEMBERS

Twelve new members were added to the church: Mr. Raymond Masse, Mr. J. R. MacKay, Mrs. Wilma MacKay, Miss Selma Warren, Mrs. Elizabeth Vardy, Mrs. Lewis Vardy, Mr. Howard Vardy, Mrs. Marion Vardy, Mrs. Agnes Simmons, Mr. Wilkie Simmons, Mrs. Edna Fairhead and Mr. Judson Rae.

There have been in obedience to the Lord's command, seven baptisms: Mrs. Wilma MacKay, Mr. James MacKay, Miss Lois Wright, Miss Selma Warren, Miss Ferne Millard, Mr. Wilkie Simmons and Mr. Judson Rae.

The church paper, the Alliance Witness had an increase of 27 subscriptions.

Outstanding in the work of the church was the decision of Judson Rae, Robert Anderson to train for Christian service at the Canadian Bible College, in Regina, Sask. Two others, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. McKinnon are completing their Bible training at the same college.

There were three weddings: Miss Lorna Fraser and Mr. John Burnette McCarron; Miss June Maude Whittaker and Ronald Paul McKinnon and Miss Ada Myrtle Henderson and Mr. Harold Scales, and three child dedication services: on March 17, Charles Lester Vanderwater, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Vanderwater; on September 1st, Steven Peter Witteveen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Witteveen, and on December 8, Kenneth Miles Leonard, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Leonard.

In concluding his report, Mr. Palmer added the following recommendations, every family represented at the prayer meeting; launching of boys' work; visitation for church and Sunday School, and the increasing of the building fund for the much needed extension of the church, and that every member be a soul winner.

The business included the reading of the reports from the different departments of the church with an overall total of $15,329.55 received. This was followed by the report of the nominating committee.

The following officers for 1958 were elected: recording secretary, Douglas Vanderwater; financial secretary, Dan Benn; treasurer, Mrs. M. Baragar; Missionary treasurer, Harold Vanderwater; other members making up the executive committee were: W. Simmons, H. Ward, H. Millard, K. Dixon and R. Rollins.

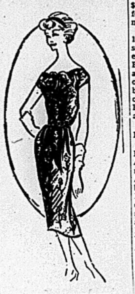
Elders: W. Wright, Arthur Breach and J. Atyeo.

Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. Fred Fraser; president of A.Y.F., George Fairhead; Women's Prayer Band, Mrs. J. L. Atyeo; head usher, Dan Benn; benevolent convener, Mrs. E. Pickard; communion stewardess, Mrs. Dan Benn; music committee: organist, Wilbur Leonard; assistant organist, Mrs. E. Pickard; pianist, Miss Grace Veley; assistant pianist, Miss D. Atyeo.

Mr. Wilbur Wright showed the architect's design for the proposed new addition to the church, explaining as he did so the various rooms, and baptismal well.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by the pastor.

Figure Flatterer



By VERA WINSTON

Many of the nicest dresses now coming into the stores are designed with a kindly eye to the more mature figure. The slender, young figure, of course, requires no such care. This dress, good for almost any type, is of black silk crepe with a pink rose print. The self bow at the neckline is worked into the drapery or the fitted bodice. The drape hipline has concealed pockets.

Try to Popularize Sack Style By Giving It Different Name

PARIS (CP) — The designers have done their worst, but now the sellers are trying to make the new "sack" style in women's clothing more palatable through a different name.

Not that it will make any difference to the lady consumers—which is to say the husbands who will have to pay the shot for new wardrobes. They'll have to take it and like it anyway, as they have in the past. But at least the businessmen, with an eye on profits, are sheering off from the "public be damned" attitude—possibly in view of the current recession.

"We need a new name for the sack—nobody likes the sound of it," complained an American wholesaler here Wednesday after the windup of the Paris fashion shows

But most of the French fashion press take the view that a sack is a sack. It's even pronounced sack in French but spelled "sac."

"The sack dress has gained at least six more months of life." Paris Presse acknowledges. "It is now certain that you will wear it this summer. All the dressmakers, even the most stubborn, treat it as queen."

Le Mond says the sack "is no longer a slip cover, but a supple line with puffed-out back."

Only Le Parisien has decided that "the sack dress is condemned." It now is the "chemise," the paper claims.

Since nobody has threshed out these subtle differences, "sack" and "chemise" mean the same thing to most people—simply a loose-waisted dress, which in the months ahead will be a blessing, at least, to the pregnant.

Elegant Coverage

By TRACY ADRIAN

If you still have a Christmas check, you might want to invest it in a fur jewel like this elegant mink topper.

Designed by Adele Simpson, it gives coverage to the waist and has a stand-away collar and three-quarter-length sleeves. This style was created especially for the smaller woman but is equally flattering to tall girls.

The Welcome Mat Is Out In New Brunswick

By Mary Moore

Some of you will remember that a potato conference was held in Guelph at the Agricultural College last August. Some of the press people were invited to attend one of their banquets and it was my privilege to meet Mr. Scott Clarkson of the Field Crop Division of New Brunswick Department of Agriculture while I was there. Because of his cheerful public relations attitude towards all things New Brunswickian I had a delightful visit in Fredericton on my recent trip and learned more about potatoes and their virtues that I though such a little package could contain. Watch out for more and better potato recipes.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Baked Ham Slice with Apple Slices; Sweet Potatoes Baked in Jackets; Frenched Green Beans with Drawn Butter Sauce; Sliced Tomatoes and Cucumber on Lettuce; Fresh Frozen Raspberries; Sour Cream Jumbles (see Tuesday); Coffee.

SUNDAY

(Guests) ....

Whole Baked Salmon (see Wednesday) with Tartare Sauce; Broccoli; Potato Puffs; Cranberry Muffins (see Saturday); Tomato Aspic Salad on Lettuce (see Friday), Pumpkin Custard Pie with Whipped Cream; Coffee.

Miss Betty MacDonald of the New Brunswick Travel Bureau introduced me to Miss Reta Underhill, Director of Nutrition Division of New Brunswick Department of Agriculture and to Miss Marilyn Trenholme, Dietary Consultant of the New Brunswick Department of Health and Social Services.

All of these girls sang the praises of their beloved province and I am torn between giving you potato, apple, salmon, fiddlehead or lobster recipes. Apples are going to win because I have devoted two columns to fish already this week and your sweet tooth craves a little attention.

SUGARY APPLE MUFFINS

(18) Three-quarters of a cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar, 2-3 teaspoon cinnamon, 6 tablespoon shortening, 2 small eggs, 1 1-2 cups milk, 3 1-3 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped apples. Mix sugar and cinnamon. Reserve a quarter of this for topping. Cream shortening with remaining sugar-cinnamon mixture until well blended, add eggs and beat thoroughly. Add milk and the dry ingredients all at once, mix until just combined. Fold in apples carefully. Fill muffin tins 2-3 full and top with remaining sugar-cinnamon mixture. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 20 to 25 minutes.

NEW BRUNSWICK BAKED HAM AND APPLES

Enough ham to serve required number of people, cut 1 1-2" thick and uncooked. Trim rinds from ham and place in baking pan. Spread ham thinly with a mixture of 2 parts vinegar and 1 part dry mustard. Slice apples thinly and spread in layers over ham. Sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. Fahr. until ham is tender. This will take about 45 minutes.

In the Maritimes this might be served with fresh frozen fiddleheads (young fern tops to you) but a good substitute is chopped spinach with a little lemon. Also serve baked-in-the-jacket or glazed sweet potatoes.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

GROOM'S MOTHER WANTS TO MAKE "LEAST AWKWARD" PLANS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son is to be married in the evening next month. It is to be a church wedding. Several months ago I broke my leg, and as I cannot put any weight on it yet, I am quite sure I shall be unable to walk up the aisle, as is customary, without the aid of a crutch or a wheelchair. I definitely shrink from doing this under the circumstances. However, I'm anxious to do whatever is least awkward.

1. Do you think I should go to the church early and take my seat in the pew before the guests arrive?

2. At the reception following the ceremony, do you advise that I maintain my place seated?

3. Is it proper for the groom's parents to entertain the bridal party at dinner the evening of the rehearsal? — R.T.

1. Yes . . . I advise that you do just that. Under this and similar circumstances, this is generally the plan, and you are being very wise to consider it the most practical procedure. And if by then you need an aid, I suggest the wheelchair (rather than a crutch), for this would be easier, I think, for the number of hours you might welcome the reassurance that the chair is at hand for your use.

2. Yes, you should be seated. and, if you wouldn't mind, I think it might be more comfortable for you and easier for the others concerned, for you to be seated in the wheelchair, then easily 'driven' to the room where the refreshments are to be served.

3. Yes, this is proper, very gracious and generous-of-thought, quite often the plan . . . but not at all a must. The party may be a dinner (often a buffet dinner) before the rehearsal, or a simple buffet supper after the rehearsal, with an "early closing hour." In your circumstances, you might consider giving a party in honor o fthe bride and groom later, when they return from their wedding trip.

FOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT CHRISTENING-PROCEDURE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

May I please ask you four questions about the christening of our child?

(1) Should there always be a godmother and godfather?

(2) Who holds the baby at the christening ceremony?

(3) Who is supposed to provide the christening dress? The godmother?

(4) And does the godfather give the minister the fee for the christening ceremony? — Mother-to-be

(1) Different denominations have different regulations and)or suggestions concerning the procedure as to godparents, the number and so forth. About this you should consult the minister who is to perform the christening ceremony.

(2) Customarily it is the godmother who holds the child during the ceremony, and who gives the child's name to the minister.

(3) The child's christening costume is the responsibility of the child's parents. However, if the godmother wishes to provide this, it is, of course, proper to accept this generous offer.

(4) No. It is the responsibility of the child's father to give this contribution to the minister.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Gertrude F. — Henry is the gloomiest person on earth.

Henry F. — Does she have to worry about the bills?

• • •

Gertrude F. — My husband and I have been married ten years and have four youngsters. We have had a tough struggle during these years and I never thought much about whether Henry and I were happy or not.

Recently, however, we visited my sister's home for the holidays. She has a young family like ours and they are not much better off financially. But when I saw how considerate her husband was of her, how he helped her and the children, and how happy she looked, I suddenly realized how much I'm missing.

Henry is the gloomiest person on earth. He never cracks a smile and it's gotten so that I don't either. It's just work, work, work and never any happiness.

Henry F. — Gertrude talks about happiness and smiles, but does she have to worry about how to pay the bills? No, she just knows how to pile up bills.

I know men who support families on less than I'm making. They aren't up to their necks in debt. Why? Because their wives know how to economize. Gertrude turns up her nose at "cheap cuts of meat." She says, "My children have to have this and that." She says, "I can't stand shabby clothes and furniture."

I'm not one for making fights, but it really burns me up inside. Gertrude wants me to be considerate of her, but I don't see why all the consideration has to be on my side. Don't I have rights too?

The Council: One reason wives get gray is men like Henry. They insist upon suffering in silence when all they have to do is speak up and something might be done to alleviate the suffering.

Why does Henry insist upon burning up inside and revealing his discomfort only in the lack of smiles, consideration and a pleasant attitude? We have a notion that he wants to suffer — mainly because he is trying to win over his wife's attention and knows no other effective way of doing so.

Gertrude has apparently been so busy with her youngsters that she didn't notice even this heavy-handed appeal until she was able to compare her situation with her sister's.

Well, now the secret is out. Henry is disturbed about money problems. Certainly, this is important and Gertrude must try to work out a satisfactory budget that will enable Henry to enjoy a little peace of mind.

Nevertheless, we think it will take more than this to bring smiles into this home. Both Gertrude and Henry must become deeply concerned about each other's happiness. They should recognize that devotion to children and to a job is praiseworthy, but marital happiness is a foundation for both. Gertrude should be aware that she, as well as Henry, has some responsibility in this matter.

– GIRL GUIDE, BROWNIE NEWS

To judge from the recent meeting of the local Girl Guide and Brownie Association, guiding in Belleville is in a very healthy state and interest in this activity is growing month by month. The Association, of which Mrs. D. Stewart is president, is making plans for its one money raising event of the year, a Spring Tea to be held at Bridge Street Church on Wednesday, February 26th, with ticket sales under the joint convenership of Mrs. W. G. Slade and Mrs. F. L. Benson. Since there is to be a prize for the Pack or Company selling the greatest number of tickets, considerable activity may be expected from eager young saleswomen during the next four weeks. It is hoped that a skating party will be possible during March, and on April 10th and 11th, Belleville will have two representatives at the Provincial meeting in Toronto.

The three Commissioners, Mrs. H. J. Floyd, Mrs. R. Settle and Mrs. J. E. Kuntze, reported on the activities of the groups under their guidance, and Mrs. Floyd made special mention of the presentation of a bassinet to the Hospital by the 3rd Girl Guide Company, led by Guider Mrs. McLean Haig.

REPORTS ON CAMPS

The meeting program consisted of three talks on the different camps visited last year by girls from this district. Ellen McCreary spoke on the Division Camp at Jarvis Lake near Madoc, which proved to be a better site than the one of the year before. The camp was divided into three sections, each of four tents, and most of the time was occupied in swimming, and working on swimming and other badges, as well as on 2nd Class work. Rain did its best to interfere with arrangements, but a successful overnight hike was held, and visits were paid to O'Hara Mills and a beaver dam.

Joy Butler attended the International Centenary Camp at Doe Lake, in honor of Lord Baden Powell's birth in 1857. 1,600 girls, from such widely separated parts of the world as Ceylon, Australia, Burma, Japan and India, were housed in sub-camps, each named after a tribe of North American Indians, and equipped with tents of every type.

One of the features of the Doe Lake Camp was the opening Camp F' , made of the wood which each contingent had brought with them; Mexico's contribution caused quite a sensation, as it burnt with flames of many colors. Another colorful ceremony was the massed flag parade at which 41 countries were represented, and wh' ' was followed by exhibitions of games and dances from all parts of the world. This talk was illustrated by photographs, and later in the evening, Mrs. Eva Smith, from Trenton, who is Area Camp adviser, showed color slides of Doe Lake.

DIVIDED INTO GROUPS

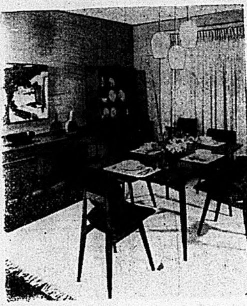
Last year's International Camp at Windsor, England, held to celebrate the "B.P." centenary, was described by Gold Cord Guide Diane Wright, who first spent a week in London sightseeing, and another week on a farm in Dorset, before she joined the 4,000 other girls, half of whom came from outside the British Isles. The campers were divided into groups, each of which was adopted by one of the Counties of England. Special events included visits to Windsor Castle, and Hampton Court Palace, as well as 3½ hours on the River Thames. Weather was fine all the time, and enjoyable camp fires were held each night. H.R.H. The Princess Royal, who is president of the Girl Guide Association paid a visit to the camp, as well as Her Majesty The Queen, and Diane's group was one of the three out of a total of eighty selected for inspection as they went about their normal routine. On one day set aside for visitors, 30,000 people visited the camp, while on the following day 40,000 British Guides came by special trains and busses to join in the fun. The camp finale took the form of a special march displaying the flags of the 68 countries taking part; the day ended with a display of fireworks.

This comprehensive coverage of the camping activities of the Canadian Girl Guide movement provided a most interesting program, which was greatly appreciated by the audience of parents who form the local association.

METEOR FOOLS SHIPS

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — A huge ball of fire—probably a meteor—led to ships altering course in the North Sea during the night. It was mistaken for distress rockets. The phenomenon was sighted over The Netherlands, north Germany and Denmark. The fireball was so bright in southern Jutland that truck drivers had to stop their vehicles because of the glare.

NEW IDEA IN FURNITURE



Jan Kuypers of Stratford, Ont., has developed a new idea in furniture, shown in this photo. Tables, dressers, chest of drawers and other items are all the same height. Yellow birch was chosen as the wood because of its delicate grain. The designs have a Scandinavian influence. The furniture is manufactured in Stratford and will soon be available across Canada. (CP Photo).

Buffets, Chests, Dressers Same Height in New Line

TORONTO (CP)—The idea of making buffets, chests, dressers and other pieces of the same height has been introduced into a modern line of furniture soon to make its appearance across the country.

Designed by Jan Kuypers of Stratford, Ont., the new line may be grouped or interchanged in the designs, shown recently in the House of Ideas at a Toronto department store.

CANADIAN BIRCH

Mr Kuypers' choice of wood is delicatedly-grained Canadian yellow birch. Finished in both a rich walnut tone and light sand the line has a touch protective sealer but the final effect is soft, like delustred satin.

Vastness was expressed by interior decorator Mel Moty whose use of blues and browns with splashes of red provides an interested background.

The floating appearance sought by the designer was typified in the recreation room by a corner table with its stem - supported shelf. Book shelves at random add charm and are used in an alcove above a two-drawer desk which fits together with another related piece, a three-drawer chest.

Mr. Kuypers uses a long custom-built cabinet for a dual purpose. The cabinet, which holds television, radio and phonograph, is used in the recreation room but the surface serves as a buffet for the adjoining dining room.

A wall-length arrangement in the dining room shows the advantage of uniform height — the four-door buffet with its slope- and glass-fronted deck, the two-door buffet and a three-drawer chest making a compact unit.

NOVEL ARRANGEMENT

The dining table has an intricate arrangement for the extension operation whereby only the top moves—the surface opens up to accommodate a self-storing 21-inch leaf to add a place setting at each side. The table also has the new convex "T" leg design which distributes the load and gives a more secure fastening.

Upholstering in the dining room and recreation room, is in a vivid blue-green.

Living room fabrics deepen to shadowy almost navy blue-green with splashes of tangerine color on the chairs. Shelves lamp tables and coffee tables have raised tray edges.

An easy chair reveals a unique construction feature — a rubber strapping which supports the seat is carried back beyond body contact point to give floating support.

In the master bedroom, cantilevered night tables which project at both sides show a functional design innovation. These are fastened to the bed head with detachable metal strapping. A row of three-drawer chests with a double-dresser lends itself to the over-all uniformity.

FORMER NEWSPAPER WOMAN

Mrs. Perren Baker, wife of Hon. Perren Baker, education minister of Alberta from 1921 to 1935, scored several firsts while a newspaper woman, then Edna Brown. She witnessed a hanging in Perth, N.B., 50 years ago while with the Saint John Sun. A few years later while working with the Vancouver News - Advertiser she was in a Curtis Jenny that crash-landed. She was the first Canadian woman to witness a hanging and the first Canadian woman to be involved in a plane crash.— (CP Photo) 1958.

Woman Never Lost Interest In News Work

By ERWIN FRICKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — A pretty, blue-eyed girl sat up all night in a lonely room in Perth, N.B., staring at a scaffold in the courtyard below.

At 6 a.m. her unnerving vigil ended — two men had been hanged for the bludgeon murder of a jewelry salesman.

That was 50 years ago. Today that fledgling reporter is, and has been for 38 years, the wife of Hon. Perren Baker, education minister of Alberta from 1921 to 1935.

At 68 she is the gracious, white-haired mistress of an imposing home in Vancouver's Point Grey district.

But talk to her about the old newspaper days and her eyes kindle and her language suddenly becomes sprinkled with reporters' expressions.

EAGER WORKER

She recalled in an interview that she had recorded a second "first" during her career. It grew out of her determination to show that a newspaper woman could "handle any assignment as well as a man."

She had left the Maritimes in 1910 for Vancouver, and worked for five years on the old Vancouver News - Advertiser, and was in the fourth year of the five she spent on the old Vancouver World.

During these years she was a women's page editor handling society news but "I worked in as much outside stuff as I could."

One of the outside assignments was an invitation to help publicize an Air League tag day by flying over Vancouver in a Curtis Jenny, a flying death-trap.

Everything went smoothly until the pilot, attempting to land, jammed the rudder control.

Mrs. Baker said the ancient Jenny's sudden plop that May day in 1919 was the first plane crash in Canada involving a woman.

One of her regrets is that she wasn't around to see her paper come out with headlines on the accident. It wasn't until a week later that she recovered consciousness in hospital.

NOTABLE JOBS

In 1920 she married Mr. Baker, and lived in Edmonton and for a time on a farm near Lethbridge. But for the next 30 years she maintained active membership in the Canadian Women's Press Club by writing free-lance articles. In 1941 the Bakers retired to Vancouver.

"I think the most interesting speech I ever reported was that given by Sir Wilfrid Laurier during the conscription election of 1917," she says. "I was carried away by his magnetic personality and the smooth flow of language.

"I found Sir Gilbert Parker (author of The Seats of the Mighty, one of Canada's first best-sellers) the hardest man to follow. He was always off on bypaths of interesting digression.

"The most vital woman I ever interviewed was Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragist. A gentle, quiet English lady, she was thoroughly incensed at the wrongs she saw."

STIMULATING WORK

How did today's news writing compare with the old days?

"Stories today have to be more concise; you have to pinpoint things. We had a little more room to move around in. Today you have more compact writing but I doubt that it is more interesting.

"Language today is a little more brittle, but not so graceful.

"But if I had my life to live over and could choose a profession, I would go back to my first love, newspaper work," she says.

"Fifty years ago it was a hard job for a woman with long hours and poor pay, but there was a fascinating stimulation, a constant opening of news vistas in life and I loved it. It was more than a challenge; it was a satisfaction."

Fashion Experts Unveil New Look for Spring

TORONTO (CP)—The new look for spring is anything but "sack-like"—it's the easy chemise silhouette.

That was the dictum from members of the Association of Canadian Couturiers at the unveiling of their 1958 spring and summer collection Monday.

Draping, ingenious use of blousing and low-placed belts all made the chemise line flattering and feminine. Even when the waistline is ignored dresses and suits cling to the figure in hip-line fit.

Blues spotlighted color tones ranging from navy through vivid to soft pastels and lilac tone. Tangerine was also shown with a variety of golds and yellows.

FABRICS VARY

Fabrics varied from soft woollens appearing in suits and coats to tweeds shown in dresses and costumes. Crepe, chiffon and jersey emphasized versatility in draping as seen in the fluid lines of the new fashions. Cotton ensembles, plain and printed, were modelled in both muted and sharp designs. All fabrics were Canadian made.

Late-day wear highlighted the barrel or bell-shaped skirt, some as overskirts worn with a sheath underneath.

The flapper look, emphasizing the extreme chemise, was worn in jersey with a loose fit tapered to a short hemline broken only by a low-placed inset belt.

Louis Berai of St. Catharines, used blue-and-white printed tricot for his "harmony in blue" dress. The top was bloused and was gathered into a wide band of plain blue at the hipline and closed with cross-over effect finished by a large bow at the front.

Women's Activities

BEULAH W.M.S.

The January meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Beulah United Church, was held at the home of Mrs. Stan Prest. A pot-luck dinner was served by the hostess.

The president, Mrs. Sam Twiddy, presided, and gave the call to worship with a reading followed by a prayer.

Mrs. G. Wood and Mrs. J. Wickens had charge of the devotional, the theme, "Brotherhood", based on St. Paul's Epistle to Philemon was well explained and instructive each one present leaving with something gained from this epistle on Christian brotherhood.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Jack Wickens from Romans 12:1-19.

Mrs. G. McInroy sang a solo, "Like Jesus", accompanied by Mrs. G. Wood at the piano.

Mrs. Malcolm MacMillan gave a portion of the study book on Japan.

Mrs. Wood closed the worship service with a reading and prayer.

Annual reports from the various secretaries showed a successful year. The WMS is ready for another year's obligations as the officer for 1958 have been installed.

Mrs. E. Rollins, supply secretary gave the Presbyterial allocation, and Mrs. Malcolm MacMillan was appointed as delegate to the Presbyterial to be held in Napanee, on February 7th. The World's Day of prayer is to be held on February 21.

Mrs. G. Wood expressed thanks for cards, letters and a flower sent to her while sick.

The next meeting will be in February at the home of Mrs. Thomas Lawson and the study will be on the book of Exodus in charge of Mrs. E. Rollins, and Mrs. Arthur Phillips.

Club Activities

RAWDON Y.P.A.

RAWDON — Rawdon Young People's Union convened in Wellman's United Church with 15 in attendance. The new president, Miss Joyce Reid, was in charge and opened with "We Have An Anchor That Keeps the Soul." Roger Smith read the Bible lesson and Mildred Morton read the meditation story after which Eleanor Smith offered prayer.

Janet Tompkins gave her report and Marion Reid gathered the offering.

Plans were made to hold the next meeting at Bethel on January 30th.

Jean and Janet Tompkins sang a duet with Barbara Hadley as accompanist, who also read an appropriate poem.

Bernard Beckett conducted the recreation.

At the close all the girls served refreshments, followed by "The Friendship Circle."

Alberta Viewing Natural Gas As Attractive Business Crutch

By RICHARD ANCO

Canadian Press Staff Writer

CALGARY (CP)—Alberta's oil industry, plagued by stiffer competition from Saskatchewan and restricted exports to the United States, is viewing natural gas as an attractive business crutch.

But the natural gas industry itself is riding unpredictable times, caught in a controversy on export potential and the desirability of ensuring sufficient quantities for future Canadian needs.

With the completion in 1957 of the westcoast transmission pipeline from northeastern British Columbia to the U.S. and about 60 per cent of the trans-Canada pipeline to Eastern Canada, industry leaders are hoping wider gas export permits to the American market will provide the incentive for further development of Canadian fields.

"VITAL" QUESTION..

Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta has frequently expressed his concern on the matter.

". . . with the decline in oil markets, it is vital to the continued development and growth of the industry in our economy that no artificial barriers be put in the way of obtaining export markets for gas which is surplus to our province's and national requirements."

Carl O. Nickle, publisher of the Daily Oil Bulletin in Calgary, says Alberta natural gas reserves must be transformed into "a second string in the bow" of the province's oil industry.

This year may set the stage for the future. N. J. McNeill, general counsel for Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., says an opinion on gas export may be obtained from the Borden royal commission on energy resources by mid-1958. Trans-Canada wants to export gas to the U.S. midwest.

HIGHER ACTIVITY

With the oil industry struggling through a recession which may extend through this year, activity seems to have been stepped up in gas.

Alberta's oil boom, hitting a levelling-off period since mid-1957, has added special attention to the gas situation. Struck by low tanker rates able to bring Middle East and South American oil to the Pacific refineries of the U.S. cheaper than from Alberta and by increased oil supplies in Saskatchewan, oil production is expected in 1958 to remain below the level of previous years.

"It is a very serious oil marketing problem complicated by new uncertainties about the chances of developing a secondary source of income from gas," says Mr. Nickle.

Wastage of gas continues in Alberta oil fields because of the uncertainty. Where gas must be produced to recover crude oil, much of it is pumped into fleare lines and wasted.

Most oil companies are planning their 1958 programs in line with assurances of revenue from gas. But the most frequent argument against additional export is that it may endanger the long-term security of supply and price for Canadian consumers. Some fear that if export doors are opened, prices will rise for domestic use.

Natural gas production in the last 10 years in Western Canada has tripled to about 200,000,000,000 cubic feet yearly and with completion of the trans-Canada pipeline will likely increase.

Known gas reserves have risen during the same period by 11 times to about 24,000,000,000,000. The Gordon economic commission envisages gas production in 1980 of nearly 3,000,000,000,000 cubic feet daily, with the Canadian market absorbing only 2,000,000,000,000.

Indirect effects of improving the gas industry would include more capital investment for exploration and development, high expenditures in operating costs which would accrue to Canadians and Canadian businesses and increased industrial development resulting in part from increased by-products derived from gas—sulphur, propane, butane, and other petro-chemicals.

You can't go 'ALL-OUT'
If you feel 'ALL-IN'

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Spencer and Mr. George Spencer, Colborne, were recent guests at the home of Mr. G. F. Spencer and Mrs. Merle Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker entertained several guests from Sidney to dinner on Wednesday. The guests enjoyed a chat and a friendly game of cards in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson entertained to dinner on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. John Rainie, Mr. and Mrs. James Rainie, Miss Emma Rainie, Mrs. Herb David and Miss Lenora Williams.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Wrightman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sharp and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McAdam and family, Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mr. Frank Spencer, Jr., represented Mount Pleasant community and gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scott.

During the evening, Mr. and Mrs. George Scott, of King city, were presented with a generous purse on behalf of Mount Pleasant community and several other interested friends and relatives. George voiced appreciative thanks for this kindness.

Mr. Clarence Scott was given a birthday ovation after which the ladies served refreshments which included a birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. James Chumbley and daughter, Nancy, of Belleville, and Mrs. Charles Dunham were guests Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Carlisle. The Chumbley family attended service at Wellman's United Church in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Clancy, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Clancy spent Sunday at Kingston, and visited Mr. Carl W. Clancy who is a patient in the General Hospital, Kingston. Mrs. Carl W. Clancy is staying in the city during her husband's illness.

Mr. W. H. Scott returned home from Kingston hospital, on Friday.

Mr. Allan Simpson is critically ill in Cempbellford Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jeffs and children spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. George Scott and baby, King city; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Toronto, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scott, and family.

The Rev. F. G. Joblin, Port Perry, wishes to be kindly remembered to all his friends in Rawdon and Stirling. He is still confined to his bed, but is also thankful for any small mercies. He expects to have an x - ray taken at the end of this week to determine how the practures are progressing. The doctors will then decide if a fourth cast will be necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Curry, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carr and family, River Valley.

The January thaw has arrived, so spring is just around the corner. The snow storm over the weekend necessitated a trip by the county snow plow.

Financing Rising Costs Of Provincial Administration Big Problem of Legislatures

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three legislatures are in session now and the rest will meet by March 11. Their accomplishments seem likely to be overshadowed by what happens in federal politics.

Financing the rising cost of provincial administration is their major common problem. The federal government has announced an increase of $87,203,000 in payments to the provinces but formal revision of tax rental agreements may be delayed by a dominion election.

Provincial participation in the national health insurance plan also is due for wide attention.

VARIED TOPICS

Otherwise, the legislative programs outlined by provincial authorities are as varied as the different parts of the country.

Proposals range from putting all Saskatchewan on Mountain Standard Time to changing the method of making school grants in Ontario; from permitting Sunday sports in Vancouver to changing some place-names in Quebec to French from English.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press gives this picture of what is happening coast to coast:

NEWFOUNDLAND

The legislature opened Jan. 20. Premier Smallwood predicted a quiet session.

Most Important business mentioned in the throne speech, prepared by the Liberal government, was legislation to give Crown Zellerbach Corporation of San Francisco the right to explore crown lands with a view to setting up new pulp and paper mills.

Other legislation would add free hospital medical services for children under 16 years to the free hospital care they already receive.

NOVA SCOTIA

Opens Feb. 12. A legislative committee studying all phases of hospital insurance may report during the session. This is expected to be the major issue.

Highway construction was a major election plank of the governing Progressive Conservative party headed by Premier Stanfield. Another issue will be financial arrangements between the province and municipalities. Debate is expected also on possible new aid for depressed areas like Springhill and Westville.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Opens March 11. As in Nova Scotia, hospital insurance is expected to be a major issue. Debate is likely on a proposal for a causeway across Northumberland Strait to connect Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick. P.E.I. has a Liberal government headed by Premier A. W. Matheson.

NEW BRUNSWICK

The second legislature session since the Progressive Conservative Premier Flemming was re-elected in 1956 is expected to open early in February and continue for seven weeks.

The legislative program is expected to be light. The medical council of New Brunswick wants to consolidate and clarify the act under which it functions. The Union of New Brunswick Municipalities wants uniform observance of daylight time. The government's reaction is not known.

QUEBEC

Opened last Nov. 13. Legislation so far passed includes bills to increase farm loans and housing aid, extend rent control to May 1, 1959, increase the number of judges in court of sessions and of magistrates; and ban drinking in automobiles.

The private bills committee has accepted a proposal that the name of Shawinigan Falls be changed to Shawinigan (an Indian word). Union Nationale Premier Duplessis and George Lapalme, Liberal leader, have agreed a government body should be set up to consider changing the names of a number of places from English or combined English-French names to French or historic names.

ONTARIO

Opens Feb. 3. The Progressive Conservative government of Premier Frost is expected to bring in legislation changing the system of school grants to municipalities, now based on municipal tax assessment rolls. The government is expected to favor a change to grants based on number of pupils, to provide more revenue for fast-growing communities.

Expansion of the provincial highway program, a close look at farm - marketing legislation and discussion of compulsory automobile insurance are likely to be other topics of importance.

MANITOBA

Opens Feb. 11. This is expected to be election year for Premier Campbell's Liberal - Progressive administration, and the session probably will be short. Political observers predict quick dissolution if a federal election is called, with provincial balloting before federal election day.

Main legislation will be to provide for Manitoba's participation in the hospital insurance plan. How to finance Manitoba's share will be a major issue.

Legislation granting crown-corporation employees full collective bargaining rights and civil servants partial bargaining rights is anticipated, along with a record road program.

The fact royal commissions are studying education, Indian affairs and workmen's compensation is expected to eliminate major debate on those topics.

SASKATCHEWAN

Opens Feb. 13. Aid to education, discussion of liquor laws and further study of recommendations of the royal commission on agriculture that was set up by the CCF government of Premier Douglas will probably occupy much of the legislature's time.

The government is expected to bring in legislation to synchronize all Saskatchewan's clocks on Mountain Standard Time in winter and Central Standard Time in summer. At present parts of Saskatchewan are in each zone and communities decide individually whether to use daylight time.

ALBERTA

Opens Feb. 20. A major issue is expected to be revision of the liquor act to provide for additional types of sales outlets, as approved by 64 per cent of voters in an October provincial plebiscite. Alberta now has only liquor stores and beer parlors.

The Social Credit government of Premier Manning also may propose legislation revising the method of municipal financing and to eliminate abuses in distribution of "dividends"—paid to Albertans last year for the first time—from oil and gas royalties.

Opened Jan. 23. The speech from the throne said Premier Bennett's Social Credit government would introduce bills to implement some recommendations of a royal commission on forestry and increase aid to municipalities. Forestry is expected to be the dominant theme of the session.

Reorganization of the provincial jail service to increase vocational and apprenticeship education also will be proposed.

A bill to permit Sunday sport in Vancouver is in prospect.

Heated debate is anticipated on merits of a government deal permitting the Swedish Wenner-Gren interests first rights to develop a vast area in Northern British Columbia.

Eats Newspaper To Pay Off Election Bet

EDMONTON (CP) — Bill Downton of Calgary, Social Credit leader on the University of Alberta campus, ate a newspaper Wednesday to pay off a pre-election wager.

Downton had bet his party would gain more seats in a campus election than the Progressive Conservative party. He was nosed out by one seat.

Aided by buttermilk and mustard, he downed four pages of the college biweekly, The Gateway, which he had denounced in an election campaign.

"This paper has been giving me indigestion all year," he quipped.

Senator Accused Of Representing General Motors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther Wednesday accused Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep. Ill.) of representing General Motors at a Senate hearing. He withdrew the remark after Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem. Tenn.) intervened.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union, was nettled when Dirksen questioned whether the UAW's much-discussed profit - sharing proposal was a serious goal of the union.

The UAW chief said it was "dead serious." He rejected a suggestion by Dirksen that it might be part of "a public relations job."

Referring to General Motors, Reuther told Dirksen, "You have a right to be their representative here."

"I think you might in all good grace withdraw that remark," Dirksen retorted. Reuther ignored the suggestion and the senator added:

"I have tried to treat you like a gentleman but if necessary, we'll take off the gloves."

Kefauver, chairman of the anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee, broke up the exchange at that point.

"Senator Dirksen is not here representing General Motors," he said.

Reuther then agreed to withdraw his remark. He added he had meant to say Dirksen represented the General Motors viewpoint, not the company itself.

The subcommittee is investigating auto industry pricing policies.

Reuther said the profit-sharing plan, already rejected by the Big Three auto makers, is a genuine UAW goal for contract negotiations this spring.

60 MPH Limit Proposed for Road at London

TORONTO (CP) — A 60-mile-an-hour speed limit has been recommended for a 38-mile stretch of Highway 401 between Woodstock and London, says Highways Minister Allan of Ontario.

A highways department spokesman said the limit for the rest of Highway 401 will remain at 50 miles an hour, except for a section about 25 miles long east of Toronto from Pickering to Newcastle where the limit is 55 for cars.

A speed study showed the 60-mile-an-hour limit to be feasible on the London-to-Woodstock section of the highway, Mr. Allan said Wednesday, but an order-in-council must be passed by the cabinet and signs changed before it becomes effective.

The new limit will be tested on this stretch. If the accident picture is satisfactory, other rural sections of the highway may get the 60-mile limit.

Mr. Allan said an earlier report, quoting him as saying in London, Ont., that a 60-mile-an-hour limit now is in effect on the whole of Highway 401, evidently resulted from a misunderstanding.

He said he told a reporter in London of plans to raise the speed limit on the 38-mile stretch but "my wording must have caused a misunderstanding."

Ask $2,250,000 To Aid Jobless

TORONTO (CP) — Board of control Wednesday asked the Ontario government for grants totalling $2,250,000 for special projects to aid Toronto's unemployed.

Of the total, $1,000,000 would be earmarked for sidewalk and curb repairs, $1,000,000 for parks and reforestation and $250,000 for other projects.

Mayor Phillips, who led a delegation to Premier Frost, said the premier asked for a report from the city. He said Mr. Frost promised to give the parks section of the city's request "immediate consideration."

FIRE DESTROYS PLANES

CHICAGO (AP) — Flames 150 feet high swept through a hangar at Midway airport Wednesday, destroying six small airplanes and causing damages estimated at $350,000. Firemen said the blaze may have started after a gas tank in one of the airplanes exploded. No one was hurt.

QUEEN MOTHER HAS SMOOTH TRIP

A heavy snowstorm welcomed Queen Mother Elizabeth to Montreal where she remained only a short time before taking off for Vancouver. Here she shakes hands with officials and their wives beside the plane which took her across the Atlantic and across Canada. Though clad in a fur coat, Her Majesty wore only shoes and had to walk through snow before stepping on to a carpet put out for her.

Wyatt Earp Causes Mighty Stir on Visit to New York

NEW YORK (CP) — Wyatt Earp, that fearless western lawman, doesn't wear his guns when he comes to New York, but he causes a mighty stir just the same.

At 10:55 a.m. he arrived from Dodge City where, as millions of American and Canadian television fans know, he is marshal, terror of the bad man.

At 11:05 a.m. he was having a shower at his suite in the Essex House hotel, an institution of elegance and expense overlooking the wide open spaces of Central Park.

At 11:10 a.m. one of his press agents arrived from Madison Avenue and another phoned, almost at the same time.

At 11:15 a.m. his secretary arrived from Los Angeles and greeted her boss, who by this time was waiting in his robe while a valet fussed with his duds.

At 11:20 a.m. the secretary ordered up Earp's breakfast, then a television network vice - president telephoned him from Hollywood to talk business.

At 11:30 a.m. Earp was assuring the New York Herald Tribune on the phone that he is, indeed, the fastest draw on television. At least, he drawled, no hombre has yet proved different.

And so it went. All this meant, of course, that Hugh O'Brian, the handsome 32-year-old actor who plays the part of Earp, was here for a two-day flying business visit.

O'Brian finally had time to turn to his late breakfast, dividing his attentions among the scrambled eggs, the telephone and a Canadian reporter.

"We shoot the Earp series in five months of the year," said O'Brian. "That leaves me seven months to travel around the country, attend benefits and rodeos and make TV and stage appearances.

"I'm now going to Palm Beach to appear in winter stock, then to Houston (Tex.) to attend a fat stock (livestock) show, then back to New York to appear with singer Patti Page on TV, and sing a duet with her, also a solo.

"I try to show Wyatt Earp as a plausable, lovable human being, with weaknesses as well as strengths."

Looking like Earp in one of his more profound moments, O'Brian added:

"The line between the hero and the heel is sometimes pretty thin, you know."

O'Brian is one of the most successful in the "thankye kindly ma'am" school of acting since the David Crockett craze faded.

Before becoming Earp three years ago, he earned a "comfortable" $30,000 a year.

"You can add two zeros to that now," said O'Brian, who has a music publishing company, a corporation for handling personal appearances and a company for renting guns to various production companies. He also appears in dramatic roles.

He has made numerous movies, including Saskatchewan and Fireman Save my Child.

LARGE ROBBERY

Thieves drilled and blasted through this steel and concrete door to escape with $1,800,000 worth of bearer bonds from a Montreal firm in one of the city's largest burglaries. The burglary was at La Societe Nationale de Fiducie and La Caisse Nationale d'Economie, its banking subsidiary. Henri Oulmet, president of the banking firm, said the bonds were taken from the company's vault. The burglars did not take the securities of the trust company or its clients. (CP Photo).

M. McDonald Presumed Dead By Court Order

TORONTO (CP) — Judge Robert Forsyth Wednesday granted an application by lawyer Mannis Frankel on behalf of Kathleen Donovan McDonald to have her husband, Donald (Mickey) McDonald, presumed dead.

McDonald, for several years one of Canada's most wanted criminals, was married at Kingston penitentiary April 10, 1946, through special dispensation of the justice department. It was his second marriage.

McDonald's first wife, once known as Kitty Kat McDonald and now Mrs. Margaret De Berry, was divorced from him in 1944. She was arrested recently with six men in connection with theft of $69,603 worth of goods and faces charges of possessing stolen goods, car theft and theft.

The second Mrs. McDonald was instrumental, in raising funds after McDonald had been sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Toronto bookmaker Jimmy Windsor in 1939. An Appeals Court squashed the conviction and McDonald was acquitted in a second trial.

In his application Mr. Frankel said he interviewed Inspector John Nimmo of Toronto city police and asked where McDonald was.

BELIEVED KILLED

He said the inspector replied that on the basis of certain information he believed McDonald was killed and his body buried somewhere in the Bronx in New York City.

Mr. Frankel said Inspector Nimmo could not furnish an affidavit in his official capacity but that McDonald's name had been taken off the wanted criminal list for a number of years.

Mr. Frankel also said McDonald had not been seen or heard from since 1948 and legally could be presumed dead.

McDonald, who would be 50 now, was in and out of jails for 20 years before being pinned down on an armed robbery and kidnapping charge in 1945. He was sent to Kingston penitentiary for 17½ years but escaped with two others Aug. 17, 1947.

Five days later McDonald and one of the other escapees robbed a Windsor bank of $50,000. One of the other two, Nicholas Minelli, was later found and returned to prison. The third, Ulysses Lauzon, was found dead in 1948.

Senator Fraser Calls Farm Bill Political Bait

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate Wednesday gave the government's controversial farm price stabilization bill third and final reading after defeating an amendment which would have sent it back to the Commons.

The legislation received final approval in the Commons Saturday and now needs only royal assent to become law. Earlier in the day the bill was approved by the Senate banking committee.

Senator Jean-Francois Pouliot (L—Quebec) moved an amendment to define an agricultural commodity as a natural or processed food product of agriculture. This would have added the word food to the bill's definition.

He said he feared the definition in the bill might make it possible for forestry products, wool and leather to receive price supports. These products could fall within the definition of a natural or processed product of agriculture.

The amendment, defeated by a voice vote, was opposed mostly on grounds that it might mean the exclusion from support of such products as tobacco and flax fibre—processed agricultural products but not foods.

PLEADS FOR ACCEPTANCE

Government Leader John T. Haig "beseeched" senators to reject the amendment.

"It is the dying end of the session," he said.

"We are trying under this legislation to give the farmers a fairer share of the wealth of this country."

If the bill did not help farmers, only the Conservative party would suffer. Canadians always remembered a government which enacted legislation which turned out to be wrong.

Senator William A. Fraser (L—Ontario) accused Senator Haig of indulging in "political eyewash." The bill, from a farmer's viewpoint, was the "worst contraption of phraseology I have ever read."

"This is simply another political bait for the farmer of Canada."

Opposition Leader W. Ross Macdonald said that although he was not opposing third reading, he felt the legislation would be of no value to farmers.

Provinces Are Gradually Winning Battle of Tax Dollar But Fight Is Far From Over

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The provinces are gradually winning the battle of the Canadian tax dollar. But the fight is far from over.

In a historical sense, the provinces now have made a striking advance with federal government agreement to turn over to the provinces 13 per cent of federal personal income tax revenue instead of 10.

This, atop the nine per cent share of taxable corporation income and the half slice of federal inheritance taxes, now gives the 10 provinces some $690,000,000 of a federal income tax pot that has been increasing over the years and now yields some $3,000,000 a year.

REARGUARD ACTION

But this only an "interim" settlement of a tax tussle that is woven through the pages of Canadian history. The provinces want more—a lot more—and federal governments appear to be fighting a rearguard action in holding back mounting demands on the federal treasury.

All levels, of government in Canada are facing increasing pressures from the public in the demand for more services—more health service, more old age security, more roads, more streets, more sewers, more defence. And with all this is a demand for lower taxes.

That is the crux of the great tax battle.

The provincial and federal governments have equal constitutional powers to levy income taxes. But because taxes are unpopular, the provinces generally have refrained from adding to the tax burden by introducing income taxes of their own. Instead they have concentrated their efforts on getting a bigger share of the federal take.

FISCAL CONTROL

Exceptions exist. Ontario levies a corporation income tax which in effect means a slight degree of double taxation for Ontario corporations. Quebec levies both corporation and personal income taxes. But the corporation tax equals the deductions the federal government allows. And in the personal income tax field, the amount of double taxation is small and applicable to only a part of Quebec's paying public.

During the war years, the then Liberal government got provincial agreement to rent the income tax fields to the central administration in return for fixed annual payments. The Liberals liked the idea since it gave them strong financial control of the economy.

But with the end of war, the tax battle was renewed. Quebec, particularly, criticized the rental pacts and refused to rejoin. Finally, in 1956, the Liberals devised a new tax-sharing formula which included an increase of $140,000,000 in concessions to the provinces—which said it was not enough. The Liberals told them to take it or leave it.

THE FUTURE

In the last Canadian general election Prime Minister Diefenbaker pledged to get the tax issue solved once and for all. He called a conference last November.

His "interim" proposal resulted The Liberals now claim he is stalling; that he has no permanent solution. The new Progressive Conservative administration says it will have one; that it will call a conference later to seek final agreement.

Back in 1956, former Liberal finance minister Walter Harris suggested "no final solution is practicable." As the Liberals see it, the fight over the tax dollar will continue for many years to come.

Magistrate Defends Action Before Court

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Bruce County Magistrate Otto C. McClevis testifying in his own behalf, said Wednesday he sent Arran Township farmer William Lyle Kennedy to a mental hospital because he thought it would help him.

Kennedy, 46, is suing Magistrate McClevis, Constable Ivan Wade of the provincial police at Walkerton, and J. W. Freeborn, Bruce County crown attorney.

He seeks damages for false arrest, false imprisonment, and malicious prosecution in connection with his arrest and conviction for vagrancy last summer.

Magistrate McClevis, who gave Kennedy a one-year suspended sentence for vagrancy, said Wednesday Kennedy, asked how he felt about medical examination at the Ontario Hospital in London, had replied: "I think I need some medical care."

Earlier evidence was given that Kennedy was arrested May 22 after police in Walkerton, 30 miles south of here, were told he was on his way to Walkerton Hospital with a shotgun and had threatened to shoot his estranged wife, who worked there, and the superintendant.

Magistrate McClevis said he was justified in sending Kennedy to a mental hospital for examination. Because a man was sent there for 60 days it did not mean he could not get out before that period of time, he said.

Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson, hearing the case with an Ontario Supreme Court six-man petit jury, commented: "But he is locked up and loses his liberties while there. . . . Would I be correct in assuming that magistrates all over the country are doing the same thing?"

Magistrate McClevis replied he knew of two who had taken similar action.

Three other Crown witnesses, all policemen, concurred with Mr. McClevis, saying R. K. McAvoy, Kennedy's counsel, entered a guilty plea when he was charged in Walkerton police court.

John Reid and Earl Wrightson of the Kincardine police, and OPP Constable John McCutcheon backed up the magistrate's testimony.

Last week Norman Kennedy youngest son of the plaintiff, testified he was present in court when his father was charged with vagrancy and heard his father plead not guilty.

"Jest a Second"

orbes Kennedy roves Surprise or Red Wings

ETROIT —(AP)—Forbes Ken- y, a rugged youngster who is becoming one of the Na- al Hockey League's most ag- ssive players, is the most asant surprise of an otherwise b season for the Detroit Red ngs.

le is a muscular, 22-year-old ward from Dorchester, N.B., o admits that hockey — or her good hockey — comes as a chore. But already, with games left to play, Kennedy done more scoring than he d during the entire 1956-57 sea- with Chicago Black Hawks. nnedy who has scored nine in his sophomore NHL sea- , shoots 20 extra pucks each to sharpen his eye.

"He didn't do much shooting in icago," said coach Sid Abel, and he's just now picking up a t of important knowledge about game."

"I never worried about scoring ore," Kennedy explained. I've always been so worried bout making the grade I spent ll my time just digging and try- ing and trying to hang in there elping the other fellows.

"I know I am not the smooth- st player in the business so I ave to work a lot harder than he average player. Things other layers do naturally — without hinking—mean extra work for me."

Bears' Marshall Fined $150

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard F. Canning, president of the American Hockey League, said Wednesday centre Willie Marshall of Hershey Bears, the league's leading scorer, has been fined $150.

Marshall protested a decision of referee Frank Udvari in a game against Cleveland Jan. 15 and received a 10 - minute misconduct penalty. When he continued to argue, Udvari assessed Marshall with a game - misconduct penalty and an automatic $75 fine.

Despite being ejected, Marshall refused to leave the ice. For this outburst Canning fined Marshall an additional $75 to go with the automatic fine.

Marshall has scored 69 points on 28 goals and 41 assists.

BALDING TIES

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Three foursomes, including one led by pro Al Balding of Toronto, tied for first place with 16-under-par 55s in the team low-ball competition Wednesday as part of the pro-amateur warmup for the $15,000 Phoenix Open starting today. Each of the winning foursome's pros got $175.

BEAT LEADERS

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) The tail-end Trois-Rivieres Lions trounced the first-place Chicoutimi Sagueneens 5-2 in Wednesday night's lone Quebec Hockey League game. The win advanced the victors to within one point of the fourth-place Montreal Royals.

Bethea Verdicts Jack Johnson In Dull Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Young Jack Johnson, who isn't young at 29, is fighting under an alias and maybe it's just as well.

His real name is John Storey, and the story goes that his handlers tabbed him with the Johnson monicker because he was supposed to have the build and the style of the former heavyweight great of yester-year.

Johnson had only two fights in the last two years and the rustiness of the 214-pounder from Los Angeles was glaringly apparent in Wednesday night's no-hitter at Chicago Stadium.

Through 10 drab rounds, Johnson and Wayne Bethea of New York clubbed at each other, pawed arm - wearingly, and clinched while 1,002 ringwise customers booed. Bethea, 204, rated the No. 10 contender by the National Boxing Assn. and No. 8 by Ring magazine, took a unanimous decision.

The gate netted only $934, but each fighter picked up $4,000 in TV proceeds for going through the motions in a bout which one fan described as "a fine example of how the heavyweight division has deteriorated."

Al Walker May Become Dodger Catcher

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tragedy has thrust the opportunity of full - time duty to Al (Rube) Walker, a catcher with little to do during the last six baseball seasons.

Walker's trouble was simple. He was on the same team as durable Roy Campanella, a circumstance that practically reduced him to the leisure class. But Campanella is gone now with a broken neck and vice-president Emil Bavasi of the Los Angeles Dodgers had this to say Wednesday:

"Walker is our No. 1 catcher now and for at least three weeks after the start of spring training. He will be given every opportunity over that period to show manager Walt Alston that he can pick up the burden."

IN THE BLACK—JUST

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Cubs finished 1957 in the black—by $357—owner P. K. Wrigley announced Wednesday at the club's annual stockholders' meeting. The profit came despite a drop of $40,000 at the gate through a decline in attendance from 720,118 to 670,626.

Rule Changes In Blocking Are Suggested

TORONTO (CP)—Rule changes to allow linemen and two "privileged" backfielders to block the full length of the field have been suggested for adoption by the Canadian Rugby Union, the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union announced Wednesday.

A meeting in Montreal Saturday of the rules committee of the Ontario - Quebec section of the CIAU decided to ask the CRU, ruling body of the sport, to allow the Intercollegiate Union to try the rule changes for a one-year experimental period.

At present linemen can block only 10 yards in front of the line of scrimmage. The two "privileged" halfbacks also can block the same distance providing they are outside each end. The other backfielders are limited to blocking one yard ahead of the scrimmage line.

The committee recommended that where two backfielders are spread beyond the line on one side, only the man closest to the line can block the length of the field

IF BALL HITS MAN

The rules committee also suggested that a kick from scrimmage which strikes a player on the kicker's side before crossing the line of scrimmage be ruled as a blocked kick. The side receiving it would thus be allowed to put it into play.

The Ontario-Quebec section of the CIAU comprises the four universities of the Senior Intercollegiate League, McGill University of Montreal, Queen's University in Kingston, the University of Toronto and University of Western Ontario in London and three other colleges, Assumption College, Windsor, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and McMaster University, Hamilton.

Changes in blocking rules were recommended by both eastern and western professional leagues at the Canadian Football League meeting in Winnipeg earlier this month.

Conflicting views of all leagues will have to be settled at the CRU annual meeting in Toronto in mid-March.

The Ontario Rugby Football Union will also ask the CRU to approach blocking changes. It voted Jan. 20 to allow unlimited blocking by linemen and two backs on running plays, but not on pass plays or interceptions.

F.I.S. Boosts Lead in RCAF Hockey League

TRENTON — A 16-3 victory over the 6 Repair Depot team gave the F.I.S. squad a three point lead in the standings of the RCAF Station Trenton Hockey League Monday night. The games were played at the Trenton Community Centre.

However the second place Rockets were idle Monday night and will have a chance to regain their position one point behind the F.I.S. squad this evening when they meet the Combines and the FIS. are idle.

The Combines have yet to win a game this season and are expected to be an easy target for the hard-playing Rockets who have only one lost one and tied one of the 14 games played

In Monday night's play the third place Falcons took a narrow 6-4 win over the lowly Sparks and the fourth-place Comets shellacked the Combines 11-1.

This evening the final games of the month will see the Rockets play the Combines in the first game, Headquarters meet Sparks in the second and the Comets and Falcons battle in the final game.

At present the Falcons are holding third position with a one point lead and a win for the Comets would give them the necessary points to re-claim their former standings.

It has been reported that the F.I.S. team may be playing a return match in Halifax with the crew of the Bonaventure sometime in March, when routine training will take the flyers down to the east coast.

The local flyboys gave their Halifax visitors a 14-2 beating in an exhibition game earlier this month.

Minor Hockey

A number of parents and friends were in attendance at Belleville Memorial Arena last night as the midgets and squirts went through their paces on a special night which highlighted "Minor Hockey Week in Canada."

MIDGETS

The TPT's scored a 3-0 victory over the Home and School Association. P. Brown paced the atack with two goals while D. Moore had the other one, all three unassisted.

Northern Electric also won with a shutout, blanking Big "A" by a 4-0 score. Jim Sheridan had a goal and assist with B. Finkle, D. Chestnut, and B. Gelsthorpe also scoring. Jack Rivist and Buck Either each had one assist.

Booth Radio-TV's defeated Elliott Motors 4-2 with Jack Boulter participating in three of the winner's scoring plays. Boulter tallied the last two Booth goals and assisted on the first. T. Boyle and L. Harvey fired the other goals. Stu Muirhead and D. Durrant tallied for Elliott Motors with G. Scott, Adams and J. Wilson earning assists.

SQUIRT

Maple Leafs and Rangers fought to a 1-1 deadlock. David Emerson scored the Leaf goal and Paul Armstrong replied for Rangers.

Bruins whipped the Browns 8-1 with Robert Lancaster firing three goals and Paul Ford two. Stephen Morris, Don Doran and Doug Maher added singletons with Harold Lupinette bagging the Brown's goal.

Barons handed the Canadiens a 4-2 setback. Gary Lucas and Jan Morris shared the Baron scoring with a pair of goals each. Stephen White and Gary Brignette were the Canadien marksmen.

Black Hawks edged the Red Wings in an evenly fought match by a 4-3 score. Don Muldoon scored twice for the Hawks including the deciding marker. Ross McDougall and Michael Brennan had a goal each. John Blakely, Bob Butcher and James Pringle scored for the Wings.

Trenton Plans Minor Hockey Show Saturday

TRENTON — A meeting of the general executive of the Trenton Minor Hockey Association was held at the Trenton Community Gardens at 1 P.M. Sunday Jan. 26th to discuss the ways and means of organizing the activities planned for Trenton Minor Hockey Day Saturday Feb. 1st. It was decided that every member of minor hockey in Trenton and this involves close to 400 boys of all ages, will take part in the evening ceremonies next Saturday.

Minor Hockey Day will commence at 1.30 with the first of a series of All Star games in which teams from the various Trenton Minor Hockey Association will meet All Star Minor Hockey teams from Belleville, Napanee, Cobourg and Frankford.

The afternoon games will be between the Rotary All Stars of the Squirt League who will meet a Cobourg team at 1.30. In the second game the Airforce All Stars of the Pee Wee League will meet a Belleville All Star team in a game scheduled for 2.45. In the final afternoon game, the Kiwanis All Stars of the bantam league will face-off against a Napanee All Star team. This game to commence at 4 P.M.

Invitations have been extended to the sponsoring bodies to have an official representative present to face-off the puck for each of these games.

In the evening the festivities will begin with a parade on ice of team members representing the 26 teams playing in the five leagues. Each team will be led on the ice by its coach and will be in uniform.

After circling the rink, all teams will line up to show the spectators the large number of young people participating in this active winter sports program. At 7.30 the first All Star exhibition game will take place between the Lions Midgets and the Belleville All Stars. The feature game of the evening will be the Juveniles against Frankford. The Trenton Halloran juveniles have been playing first class hockey all season and have participated in games against teams in other Prince Edward and Hastings county centres and have won 6 of 7 starts. The team is sponsored by Halloran Motors and is the only team under the T.M.H.A. with a private sponsor.

National Football League Eliminates the Bonus Choice

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League, acting on advice from congressional investigations, has eliminated one of their player selection show pieces—the bonus choice.

League owners at their annual winter meeting Wednesday night also reaffirmed their television policy for another year, passed a rule giving further protection to college players and joined with the Players Association in retaining former all-pro star Bill Dudley to formulate a player pension program.

Elimination of the bonus choice, though reported a possibility by Commissioner Bert Bell, came as somewhat of a surprise. Instituted in 1947 at the suggestion of ex-pro coach Curley Lambeau, this out-of-the-hat drawing had become a bright feature of the annual player draft.

GAVE CLUB RIGHTS

The bonus choice preceded the start of the regular draft and gave the lucky team negotiating rights to any eligible college player in the country. The Chicago Cardinals last Dec. 2 were the last of the 12 pro clubs to get the bonus, choosing Rice quarterback King Hill.

Commissioner Bell was told during his appearance before a congressional committee investigating pro sports that the out-of-hat system bordered on an illegal lottery. So, the owners, unable to come up with a satisfactory substitute, decided to please Congress and toss out the bonus altogether. Lambeau's original idea was to give each NFL locality a chance to obtain over the 12-year cycle, one of the top college players of the year.

Bell announced that the NFL would continue to black out telecasts of its games within 75 miles of the scene of a game.

In order to forestall any charge of tampering from the colleges, the owners passed a rule forbidding any NFL team from signing a college or high school player or coach who starts fall training with a school team. This stops the pros from attempting to acquire high school or college talent in the middle of a season.

Stan the Man Signs Contract For $100,000

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A beaming Stan (The Man) Musial stroked his pen across the richest baseball contract in National League history Wednesday and commented: "I would have settled for less."

Under the new pact, St. Louis Cardinals will shell out about $100,000 for their 37-year-old left-handed slugger.

For the last six seasons Musial's salary was $80,000 yearly. Musial said the $20,000 boost was "the contract the Cardinals wanted me to have."

Only Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox will likely receive more money this season—an estimated $125,000 when he comes to terms.

Musial, winner of his seventh National League batting crown last year with a .351 mark, predicted he will have "one or two more seasons at top speed.

Musial, entering his 17th season with the Cards, said he is in better physical shape now than in the last few seasons.

Nothing Stingy About Toronto When Black Hawks Need Helping Hand

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

He was one of the Old Pictonians. One of the guys who played against our side when we were wearing the red-and-black of the Wellington Dukes back in the days when we used shin-bones for shin-guards, worn-out underwear for body padding, the southern portion of discarded girdles to hold up the socks, sawed-off dungarees for hockey pants and broad-bladed shovels were standard equipment in case a sudden snow-flurry obliterated the ice surface.

"Yup," he sighed, "them were the days. But it's all different now in our town, thanks mainly to a guy named Phil Dodds, who nurtured the dream baby until it grew into sturdy toddling-hood, thence to its present proud status as a Prince Edward Community Centre."

"Different is right," he mused. "The fine centre on the fair grounds with its artificial ice, dressing rooms and modern lighting is a far cry from the mill-ponds of Bloomfield and Milford, the "Big Lake" open-air arenas of Wellington, and other hockey centres of the county.

"We are mighty grateful to men like Phil Dodds and others who assisted in making the centre an actuality. Years ago we envied Wellington with its closed arena, but we did nothing about it. Now we have this fine centre and not only Picton but the entire county is proud of it.

"For all that," he went on, "back in the old days we had a lot of fun. We couldn't miss what we never had, and we took the fullest advantage of what was available. Modern, air-conditioned arenas, up-to-date canteens, comfortable seats, coffee at your elbow, practice when you want it regardless of weather, are tops for the present generation, but we had the only way, the hard way it would seem now, and I for one would not have missed it for anything.

"What a difference a few years make," he said. "Back in those days we had the desire. All we wanted was the opportunity to play hockey. Money was something we spent for groceries, not for players' stipends. We practiced on those open-air arenas on Lake Ontario and village ponds when biting winds would whistle through your "uniform" or a thin sweater and thinner underwear. Most of the time we'd shovel for an hour before we could play.

"Then the big night at Ab Hare's igloo in Picton where the double-and-triple headers were played before sell-out crowds. You fellas in Wellington, Milford, Waupoos, Bloomfield often chipped in to pay the transportation. And no sugar-daddy sponsor had bought your sweaters, sticks, and skates. Sometimes you travelled by car, other times by horses and sleighs. If you lost a couple of teeth, you paid for the spare parts, unless you could pick some up from the ice. I tried a couple that belonged to Pete Cole once, but they were oversize.

"There were no deals for players and no cut-throating among teams. I did hear that Cy Welsh offered to trade Ron Church and Pete Cole to Milford for Norm MacDonald, Carson Scott and three milch cows, but the deal fell through when Roly Rorke offered the Myatt brothers and "Peckin" Welsh in a straight trade.

"Professionalism? Phooey. There was no such thing. The teams split the take at the end of the season and that was that. The only touch of pro stuff was the year Jack Yanover gathered an all-star team to play the league champions. I think it was Rogers Batteryless, and Jack's team was whomped 8-1. He gave us $1.25 to buy a lunch. But that came out of his own pocket.

"Those days are gone forever but nothing will completely wipe out the memories of those swashbuckling times when the game was played for the fun of it, and all depended on the weatherman's ice-making machinery.

"The present generation has a lot to be thankful for." he said as he rose to leave. "The young fry has arenas with artificial ice, and hockey-minded men to guide 'em. The big brothers play hockey on surfaces that are wind-free, except from over-exuberant fans. Skaters can indulge in their favorite pastime in comfort, without fear of crashing through the ice into freezing water.

"It took us here in Picton quite a while to realize the dream of a community centre and artificial ice. And if it were not for the tenacious insistence of men like Phil Dodds and others that it could be done here, we probably would be in the same old rut. And if Peg LaValle reads this I'm sure she will agree."

Campy Continues to Improve But Paralysis Still Insists

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — Roy Campanella continued to improve today but the Los Angeles Dodger catcher still hasn't shaken off the paralysis which struck him from chest to toes in an auto accident.

However, the burly, 36-year-old baseball veteran has regained some feeling in his hands, arms and upper chest.

The last hospital bulletin also said there had been an indication of strength and some movement in his hands. But his legs remained paralyzed.

He still is on the critical list. Campanella, three times the National League's most valuable player with the Brooklyn Dodgers, was injured early Tuesday. His car skidded on a winding road near his home here, hit a telephone pole and turned over. He was alone in the car.

HAS OPERATION

Campy suffered a broken neck [illegible] and has been in a [illegible] traction since a 4½-hour operation to relieve pressure on a nerve. If the break had been an inch higher, it probably would have been fatal.

Campanella's wife, Ruth, spent 2½ hours at his bedside Wednesday but he slept through the visit. The Campanellas have six children.

Doctors still consider the overall picture encouraging, but admit it may be months or years before he returns to normal. They are hopeful the paralysis eventually will disappear.

Bow More, Less Gracefully When Pilous Needs Points; Bruins Tie Broadway Blues

By MARTY GOODMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Each time Chicago Black Hawks appear to be falling out of the National Hockey League playoff race they come up against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Six times this season—and in the last four encounters — the Hawks have won and moved back into the picture.

Wednesday night, for instance, Chicago was faced with falling six points behind the fifth-place Leafs by losing.

Scoring two goals while a man short, the Hawks defeated Toronto 4-1 and moved within two points of the Leafs with a game in hand.

Toronto fell three points behind Boston Bruins as Boston tied New York Rangers 1-1. Boston moved into a tie with Detroit Red Wings, two points behind the second - place Rangers. Montreal Canadiens lead by 20 points.

HAD WON TWO

Chicago had won two games and tied one against Toronto when the Leafs won three straight. But now the Hawks have taken four in a row, the last three under new coach Rudy Pilous. Since Toronto has spent most of the time in fourth or fifth place, the victories have been important in keeping the Hawks in playoff contention.

Wednesday night's victory came as a result of two quick goals while Chicago defenceman Jim Thomson was sitting out a two-minute penalty for hooking.

Glen Skov scored on a pass from Eric Nesterenko and then set up Elmer Vasko to break a 1-1 tie. Barry Cullen had scored Chicago.

IN LAST FRAME

Ed Kachur scored during a listless third period to cement the victory.

Chicago's Glenn Hall made 29 stops and Toronto's Ed Chadwick 20.

At New York the teams battled through two hard, scoreless periods before Larry Popein banged home his own rebound for the Rangers' goal.

Midway through the period continued Boston pressure paid off with Jerry Toppazzini scoring his 16th goal. It was Toppazzini's 36th point this season, only two fewer than he scored all last year.

Gruelling Sked Faces Dunlops In World Tourney

OSLO, Norwah (CP)—A gruelling eight - game schedule faces Canada's Whitby team in its bid to recapture the world hockey title at Oslo.

Plans for the round-robin tournament, confirmed by the International Ice Hockey Federation Wednesday, call for the Canadians to meet their four toughest opponents on successive days, culminating in a last-day game against Russia that may decide the title.

The Canadians open the tournament Feb 28 with a four-game string of meetings with lower-ranked teams — East Germany, Poland, Norway and Finland. Then they'll have two days off before the real work begins.

On Thursday, March 6, they tackle Sweden, the defending champions. The Swedes upset the Russians in Moscow last year in a tournament in which Canada was not represented.

The following day the Canadians meet Czechoslovakia, which showed well against British teams stocked with Canadian professionals in a recent tour of the United Kingdom.

YANKS ARE TOUGH

Their next assignment, the United States, could be even tougher. The Americans blighted the hopes of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen at Cortina d'Ampezzo two years ago with a resounding upset that knocked the Canadians into third place behind Russia and the U.S. in the final standings.

Then comes the meeting with the Russians in the final game of the tournament Sunday, March 9.

The Russians play the Americans and Swedes on the two days preceding the final match but a day off separates these two games from their earlier meeting with the Czechs.

The Americans have to take on the Czechs, Russians and Canadians on successive days. Neither the Swedes nor the Czechs are called on to play more than two straight games against top-seeded opponents.

Bears Defeat Cleveland 5-2; Tighten Hold

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Hershey Bears defeated Cleveland Barons 5-2 here Wednesday night and tightened their hold on first place in the American Hockey League.

The victory gave the Bears a five-point lead over the second-place Barons. A crowd of 8,532—largest of the season—saw the game.

Arnie Kullman and Gordon Hollingworth gave the Bears a lead, cut by Gordon Vejprava when he scored before the buzzer. The second period was scoreless.

Jack Price, Hershey defenceman, scored early in the final period. Cal Stearns scored for Cleveland in a brief rally. At this point the Bears, defence stopped the rush and Willie Marshall and Dunc Fisher drove in the clinchers.

MAY HAVE TOBOGGANS

GENEVA (AP) — The 1960 winter Olympics may feature a toboggan event instead of bobsled races for the first time in Olympic history. The Games will be held in Squaw Valley, Calif. Prentis C. Hale, president of the Squaw Valley Organizing Committee, said Wednesday he will recommend to the International Olympic Committee that tobogganing be held. Toboggans are much lighter than bobsleds and require a less solid and less costly track.

Durelle 'Bull Hard' for Bout With Hinnant Friday Night

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—Yvon Durelle, the fighting Canadian fisherman, has two good reasons for winning his fight Friday night: He wants revenge, and he wants a new boat.

The 28-year-old Acadian says he is "bull hard" for his light heavyweight boxing match at Madison Square Garden against Clarence Hinnant, 24, who beat Yvon a year ago on a technical knockout.

"I want revenge, and I want a new boat," said Durelle, 28, who has been putting together a sizeable fishing fleet in New Brunswick on his ring earnings.

Durelle's bout has been beset by difficulties. He first was matched with the formidable Tony Anthony of New York for Jan. 10 but was stricken by food poisoning. Then Anthony, whom Durelle had held to a draw earlier came down with flu in training. Hinnant took up the challenge to battle Durelle, who is ranked third, after Harold Johnson and Yolande Pompey.

Durelle, British Empire light-heavy champ, was interviewed at his hotel with his brother and companion, Placide. He said he is willing to fight like a "mad horse" for the championship, now held by Archie Moore, but he is sure he won't get the chance.

NOT A YANK

"I don't think I'll ever get a title match because I'm not an American," said Yvon. "They like to keep the titles in the U.S."

Hinnant, interviewed at the International Boxing Club, said that either he or Durelle could beat Moore, who claims he is around 40, but generally is believed older

Hinnant, ranked eighth, predicted a "really tough" match Friday night.

"I'll box him," he said. "He has a tough punch in both hands. If I see a chance to stop it early, I'll take it, of course."

His manager, Billy Edwards, said he hungers to make a match in Canada between his boy and Durelle, in Montreal or Moncton, N.B

Said Hinnant, a handsome Negro:

"In our first fight, in Miami, they told me he was easy. He clipped me—he didn't really hit me, but he clipped me—in the second round. After that I was trying hard, and it was only because of his cut eye in the seventh that the fight ended."

Durelle said flatly he doesn't intend to let this fight go more than five rounds. Asked what his strategy will be, he said

"I JUST FIGHT"

"I don't know anything about boxing. I just fight. He will try to run away. But there's no trees to climb in a ring."

Durelle said he's been having trouble getting sparring partners since he arrived here Saturday, although he has been paying them $10 for each three rounds.

"They call me the army tank," he said.

Durelle's loss to Hinnant was his only one in 19 fights.

"I'd fight this one for nothing," he said. "I'm not going to let him go."

But the smile on the French-Canadian's face took away some of the salt of his remarks, and the impression was left that he loves boxing.

Last year he earned $30,000 in the ring, Durelle estimated.

Flyers Whip Biltmores 6-2

BARRIE (CP)—Barrie Flyers consolidated their hold on sixth and last playoff berth in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series by defeating seventh-place Guelph Biltmores 6-2 Wednesday

The win gave the Flyers 29 points for the season, five more than the Bilts, and one point more than the Flyers picked up all of last year.

The first three shots of the game found the mark. Guelph jumped to an early 2-0 lead, on markers by Rod Gilbert and Leon Rochfort. Barrie scored three times in the first frame to take a lead they never lost. Jim Josephsen, Bob Blackburn and Wayne Haig were the goal-getters.

The hosts upped the count by two in the middle session on goals by Danny Patrick and Haig.

Pete Panagabko made it 6-2 for the Flyers in the final period.

Barrie outshot Guelph 36-30.

Macs Register 1st Victory On Pembroke Ice

Spot Foemen Pair in First Then Roar Back to Win 4-3; Minnie Menard Finds Target

PEMBROKE (Special) — Barton Bradley's sizzling close-in drive midway through the third period broke up a 3-3 stalemate here last night and gave Belleville a 4-3 victory over the Lumber Kings, their first on Pembroke ice this season.

The victory gave the league-leading McFarlands a five-point margin over the second-place Kings. The teams clash again in Belleville Friday night.

The game was one of the cleanest fought frays seen here in some time with both squads playing the puck rather than the man. The referee assessed but five penalties, one to the Kings. One of the McFarland sentences was a team punishment for allegedly delaying the game with two seconds to go, and the Kings' goalie out of the net. Coach Ike Hildebrand tossed himself out of the game.

The game marked the return to scoring form of Minnie Menard who lit the light twice with Joe Lepine scoring his first in Belleville uniform and Bradley getting the million-dollar marker. Playing coach Gerry Plamondon scored twice for the Kings with Bruce Giesebrecht getting the other.

The McFarlands spotted the Kings two quick goals in the first period before cutting the margin 2-1. They scored the only counter of the second frame to tie the pastime and outscored the homesters 2-1 in the final heat.

The Kings got away to a flying start in the opening period scoring twice in 27 seconds to set the Macs back on their haunches. The first came at 7.41 when Gerry Plamondon fired home Maxwell's pass, and the second from Maxwell with Bruce Giesebrecht in on the scoring honors.

The MacFarlands settled away and Minnie Menard cut the margin to 2-1 on a brilliant sortie with Paul Payette and Ike Hildebrand.

BART BRADLEY
. . . Pots Winner

Time was running out in the second period with exactly 38 seconds to go when Joe Lepine cocked a drive from the Kings blueline that bounced off a few players before nestling in the hemp behind Plummer Craig to square matters.

The same players was chased after three minutes of the third period and the Kings lashed on the pressure. A minute had gone when Minnie Menard broke into the clear, raced in on Craig and beat him cleanly to give the McFarlands the lead for the first time in the game.

Midway through the period Jim Maxwell scored his second goal of the game to knot the count on a sortie with Bruce Giesebrecht and Plamondon. This line was credited with all the Kings points.

Both teams unleashed offensives in an effort to break the stalemate and two minutes after the score was tied Bart Bradley took on a hero's role smashing the puck behind Plummer from close in after the goalie had kicked out several McFarland drives. Bep Guidolin and Eddie Marineau were in on the game-winning play.

Both Gordie Bell and Plummer Craig in the respective nets stood out for their clubs with sensational work.

THE TEAMS—

Pembroke — Goal, Craig; defence, O'Connor, Douglas, Files, Limoges; forwards, Bert Giesebrecht, Jack Giesebrecht, Menard, Bruce Giesebrecht, Maxwell, Plamondon, Chiarelli, Clarke, Barber.

Belleville — Goal, Bell; defence, Benoit, Botley, Crawford, Lepine; forwards, Payette, Menard, Hildebrand, Bradley, Marineau, Guidolin, Goyer, Muretich, Kowalchuk.

Referee, Gord Pranschke, Ottawa; linesmen, Joe Fitzpatrick, Hub Anslow, Pembroke.

Reno Bertoia Slated for Tiger Infield

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Tiger manager Jack Tighe and general manager John McHale agree that young Reno Bertoia of Windsor, Ont., will be the club's third baseman in 1958—if he can hold the job.

The job will belong to Bertoia, 23-year-old former bonus player, when training camp opens in Lakeland, Fla.

"Whether he keeps it is strictly up to him," says Tighe.

The Tigers traded off Jim Finigan, who shared third base with Bertoia last season. Finigan and a bundle of cash went to the San Francisco Giants for first baseman Gail Harris and infielder Ossie Virgil. Virgil, also a third baseman, will be assigned to the Tigers' farm club at Charleston, W.Va.

Two years ago Bertoia started the season at second base but lasted only a short time. Farmed out to Charleston, he responded with a .290 batting average and showed good power at the plate.

BATTED .275

Last season Bertoia batted .275 in a little more than half a season at third base.

"We know Reno is developing," said McHale. "We hope this is the year he really blossoms out into stardom."

Bertoia said recently he gained a lot of confidence by playing as much as he did last year and hitting so well. "I have proved a lot to myself — now I have to prove it to the club."

The Tigers have other third base possibilities — Lou Skizas, Billy Martin and Harvey Kuenn if Bertoia fails to make the grade.

"It would be a great help to our ball club—in more than one way—if Reno can stick at third," says Tighe. "We could be steady at one position and release a couple of other guys to try their hands at other sports."

Hoad Defeats Pancho Gonzales

MELBOURNE (AP) — Lew Hoad of Australia remained the only unbeaten player in the $50,000 Australian round-robin professional tennis tournament Wednesday by defeating Pancho Gonzales 7-5, 5-7, 6-4.

Hoad's power and accurate placements kept Gonzales on the defensive throughout the first set but the Los Angeles player triumphed in the second by charging the net. In the third set Hoad again reverted to smashes.

Hoad plays Frank Sedgman, another Australian, tonight. A Hoad victory would rap it up for the former amateur champion.

Boom-Boom Geoffrion Said 'Progressing Satisfactorily'

MONTREAL (CP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, the Montreal Canadiens scoring star who underwent a major operation Tuesday following a practice-scrimmage mishap, is "progressing satisfactorily," says the last medical bulletin issued by the club's physician.

The 27-year-old right winger, who leads this season's National Hockey League goalgetting race with 27 goals, collapsed with a ruptured bowel during practice Tuesday after what was termed a mild skirmish for the puck with teammate Andre Pronovost.

He collapsed in great pain and was rushed to hospital by ambulance.

The club's physician, Dr. Lawrence Hampson, says Geoffrion should be able to leave the hospital in two weeks but neither he nor club officials would speculate on when the Boomer could return to hockey.

Other hockey circles talked of Geoffrion being lost to the Canadiens for the rest of the season.

Meanwhile, club officials were mystified as to the cause of the mishap.

COACH'S OPINION

Said coach Toe Blake:

"I am convinced that any minor knock or bump wasn't the cause It seems to me there may have been some internal weakness. Bernie has complained lately about his stomach and said he had pains."

Said rookie winger Pronovost:

"I can't recall having hit him or even touched him. I will be interested in knowing Bernie's version of it all."

Geoffrion's injury is the third serious mishap this season to Montreal right wingers. Floyd Curry missed 28 games early in the season because of a cut tendon deep in the foot. Maurice (Rocket) Richard is still out of action as a result of an almost-severed Achilles tendon suffered in a game in Toronto Nov. 13.

MISSED FIVE

Geoffrion missed five games early this season because of a severe attack of Asian flu. Goalie Jacques Plante suffered an attack of asthma. Last month, centre Jean Beliveau suffered a rib - cartilage fracture and returned to action only recently, and defenceman Doug Harvey Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard have missed a game or more because of injuries.

In another hospital was Geoffrion's wife, who gave birth last Saturday to the couple's third child. In an interview she expressed preference for the Russian amateur rules—in which bodychecking is restricted and checking into boards not allowed.

She said she has "never favored the Russians but I do like their style of hockey playing." Injuries to pro hockey players had become a source of worry to wives.

"One never knows when a serious injury might cause a player's wife to urge her husband to hang up his skates and call it a day," said Mrs. Geoffrion. She is the daughter of the late Howie Morenz, great hockey star who died at the age of 34. He was in hospital at the time recovering from a broken leg. Death was believed due to an unsuspected heart condition.

Americans Trim Bowmanville By 13-4 Score

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. national hockey team Wednesday night swamped an intermediate A team from Bowmanville, Ont., 13-4 Wednesday night in an exhibition game before 1,000 fans in the War Memorial Stadium.

John Mayafich and Oscar Mahle each scored three goals to lead the American team which will compete in the world hockey championships in Oslo, Norway next month.

The Orono-Bowmanville Combines defeated the Americans 5-3 in Bowmanville Tuesday night.

The Americans piled up a 6-1 margin at the end of the first period Wednesday night. Keith West got the Bowmanville goal. He added another in the second period and Syd Arnold and Frank Hooper finished the scoring for the Canadians in the final period.

Vivacious Disney Discovery Is New Toast of Hollywood

A glamorous new personality has zoomed into Hollywood's spotlight with one surprising performance.

Her name is Perri.

She is Walt Disney's youngest protege, making her bow in his live-action Technicolor feature production, "Perri."

Born in the backwoods of Utah, growing up as wild as they come, she has defied every tradition in winning movie fame. Unlike the many young hopefuls who annually storm the film capital seeking recognition, Perri has never come within 1000 miles of the studios.

A black-eyed beauty, slim, graceful and spirited, this enchanting young female has reached stardom without benefit of direction or makeup artists, without the usual cheesecake preliminaries, the publicized nightclub dates and the campaigns often associated with the promotion of new faces and talents.

Only the photographers who discovered her in her woodland home and won her confidence can claim any real share in her bright performance in the strangest of all screen romances.

Perri is a little pine squirrel—bright-eyed, spirited, swift-footed and graceful, elegant in her grey fur-coat and splendid plume, she is a thing to behold! Disney's first True-Life Fantasy depicts her life and loves in nature's own wild ways. There is no human interference with her fortunes from infancy and on through many tense, amusing and dangerous adventures to the final affectionate companionship with the handsome penthouse bachelor, Porro.

The story of the little squirrel heroine is derived from Felix Salten's wonderful book, "Perri." Salten also authored "Bambi," source of Disney's beloved animation classic.

He loves me, he loves me not . . . Perri, delightful new Walt Disney heroine asks the age old question regarding the squirrel in her life in this amusing scene from Walt Disney's "Perri." In color by Technicolor, "Perri" is another first for Disney — the first True-Life Fantasy. It is based on the heart-warming novel by Felix Salten.

Walter Slezak Stands Out As Monument to Good Eating

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Walter Slezak stands out as a monument to good eating.

At 270 pounds, he is fat and likes it. This may come as a shock to the melba toast nibblers and the shortcake shunners, but it's true.

"I simply like the good things in life too much," he explained. "And that means eating and drinking. Oddly enough, I am an erratic eater during the day. I may have just a bite for breakfast and catch a fast lunch. But dinner—ah That is when I lose my head.

"I also like to drink, though I never get drunk. I always eat when I drink—perhaps that is the secret. I have a couple of highballs before dinner and a bottle of beer or two with it."

HEARTY LUNCH

Slezak interrupted rehearsals to enjoy a hearty lunch: Bloody mary, chicken liver omelette, etc.

"Seven calories," he said, holding up a whole-wheat cracker before popping it into his mouth. "You see, I know the calorie count of every item of food. But I don't let it bother me.

"Oh, I used to hold my weight down. When I was a leading man in Europe I once went to a Swiss sanitorium because I felt I should be slimmer. They took the weight off scientifically and I dropped to 165 pounds.

"But when I came out I was like a lion, snarling at everyone. Since reducing did that to me, I said to hell with it, let it spread. I got fat and I've been finding roles steadily for the past 15 years."

Don't his doctors urge him to reduce?

SOME PENALTIES

"Of course. Every one of them does. They say I will live longer if I take off weight. And I must pay about seven per cent more in insurance premiums, which would be reduced if I became 50 pounds lighter for six months.

"But I think they are sticking blindly to statistics. I've known a lot of fat men who have lived to be 70 and 80 years old and a lot of skinny ones who have died young.

"My theory is that tension and frustration can do more to shorten your life than weight. I've seen too many people become miserable because they constantly watched their weight. That's not for me."

His theory holds true in at least one notable Hollywood example: Judy Garland. She had confessed that constant efforts to curtail her waistline helped make her a nervous wreck.

Exchange of Russian, U.S. TV-Radio Shows Considered

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — The compromise agreement between the United States and Russia to widen a variety of exchanges, including television and radio programs, raises some substantial problems for the American telecasting-broadcasting industry.

Viewers and listeners probably will wait a long time before seeing or hearing any Russian programs. And the Russians also apparently have a long wait.

This is not because of reluctance on the part of the American industry. Those spokesmen who will discuss the matter feel that an exchange of programs is a fine idea, but they are vague as to exactly how it will be carried out.

John Daly, vice-president in charge of news and public affairs for the American Broadcasting Company, expressing approval of the idea and a desire to co-operate in it, emphasized the basic problem when he said: "In Russia, broadcasting is a monolithic industry. In this country it's a free industry. Thus exchanges between the two raise substantial problems."

The Russians can accept or reject whatever American programs are offered, and guarantee to present those they accept on a specific number of their state-run stations. Th U.S. can accept or reject Russian programs. But because American stations are autonomous, Washington cannot guarantee that the programs will appear on a specified number of stations.

Presumably this problem could be overcome by a committee which would poll individual stations and obtain some kind of guarantee to show a specific number of Russian programs.

There exists a technical problem too. To dub Russian language onto American film is a costly undertaking. Who is going to pay for it? Maybe somebody in Washington knows, but you can't find anybody in New York who does.

This sounds negative, but there are such positive benefits to be gained from the exchange of ideas with the Russians that one hopes the problems can be overcome. If they are not, both sides probably won't exchange much in the way of programs except a little chamber music.

Red Skelton was his familiar, funny, slapstick self—with only a brief serious note—in his first live television show since his near-fatal asthmatic attack Dec. 30.

The comedian thanked viewers for well-wishing cards and letters at the outset of Tuesday night's CBS show, but quickly went into wisecracks about his illness and hospital stay in Santa Monica.

He then changed from business suit into the rag-tag outfit of Freddie Freeloader and put on a hilarious skit.

Skelton's show continued during his illness, but with previously filmed episodes.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Here is the right day to get in touch wth all dear friends or interesting acquaintances so that you may co-ordinate your efforts and do fine, lucrative, worthwhile things. Put everything on a practical basis.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) You are very wise where finances are concerned today and therefore know where to invest, how to save, etc. Be certain to devise ways, use efficiencies to make your labors lighter, happier. P. M. see your best advisor.

[illegible]ini (May 21 to June 21) Here is the day to lay down the law as to how you want the furniture, other important things around the home, office. You get your way. P.M. let your associates get a fine impression of you, get their aid.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) Get working on those personal thngs that you so like to do, promises you have made, but show others how stoical and sporting you are. Work beautifully and plan your future better, especially where budget is concerned.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you run after what you desire and should have in a most intelligent and wide-awake fashion, you will acquire same easily and quickly, Dear pals will at least appreciate your worth and will lend a helping hand immediately.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) See that person who has it in his or her power to give you the assistance you need with regard to your position, investments, etc. Also the influential politician, educator, et al. Be a go-getter. Rise.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get an early start reading your newspaper, other printed matter that will give you all the latest trends, ideas you need in connection with your affairs. Tonight is new knowledge.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Monetary matters are now properly righted by the fine aspects present within your orbit which permit you to get the correct data regarding investments, taxes, government plans, etc. Keep your feet on the ground.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A long conversation with partners, co-workers, other vital persons in your life will today bring about a greater understanding, more practical fashion in which to proceed. Insist on frankness and complete honesty.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are physically strong and eager today so that you can accomplish a great deal in such matters as regular job, or getting house and surroundings in order, gardening, pets made comfortable, sewing, writing, etc.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) This day was made for relaxation and fun for you. Everyone appears to be very pleasant, which means that you are at your best. Be appreciative and you reap fine benefits, give a word of praise, a look of love. Beam.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) This is a home for you, when you can make others appreciate your really fine, practical and affectionate nature. Also, no better day or evening to invite wealthy and important friends in to meet the family.

If your child is born today . . . The fine child born today is the type who loves people and is equipped with such a fine mentality that anything once learned is retained and used wisely at the right time. The greatest pleasure, however, comes from being a social lion, which is splendid, since the individual here is a beautiful light in the midst of a hungry world seeking for understanding and affection.

COMEDIAN RECOVERS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton, stricken Dec. 30 with a near - fatal asthmatic attack, returned to work Monday for rehearsals of his live television program tonight. "I feel fine, but I still get awfully tired quickly," said Skelton, who was confined to a hospital until Jan. 10.

CHARMING!

GRACIOUS!

EXCLUSIVE!

Are just a few of the many adjectives that describe this colonial styled executive's home located in Belleville's most exclusive residential area. As you enter this 2-storey home you are greeted by a spacious entrance vestibule tastefully complimented by the white shutter doors leading to a spacious living room and separate dining room. The modern kitchen, complete with Lazy Susans, will fulfill the dreams of any housewife. 3 large bedrooms, upstairs. The master bedroom is 16' x 13' and includes a double walk-in closet. The 4-piece bathroom, complete with ceramic tile includes a built-in vanity. An additional 2-piece washroom is located on the main floor. The many extras include an open brick fireplace, paddock fence, post light and a tastefully landscaped lot. The careful designing and excellent construction combine to make this one of the best homes recently built in the Belleville area. Located just south of Bridge St. on the west side of Bleecker Ave. Why not call around this weekend and see for yourself? Priced at $23,900, this home has excellent N.H.A. mortgage arrangements.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Mrs. Herbert Smith, president of Mount Pleasant-Rawdon W.M.S. held an executive meeting at her home.

Plans were made for the "World Day of Prayer" service to be held in Mount Pleasant United Church on Friday, February 21st., for Rawdon circuit.

The service, based on "The Bread of Life," was prepared by the women of Australia. The service strives for a better world and a worthier life. The offering will be used for inter-church council work in providing literature.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Barton, Springbrook, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tucker, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Conley, were guess of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker on Thursday.

Miss Linda Sine of Salem spent the weekend with Miss Margaret Mulheron.

Belleville Presbyterial W.M.S. convenes in Trinity United Church, Napanee, for three sessions on February 7th. Miss Wilma Thomas, M.A., who has served in Japan for eight years working with college students, will be the special speaker. The officers from this area are all busy preparing their work.

Mrs. Ronnie O'Neil, Toronto, and Miss Betty Habkirk, Port Credit, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen visited Mr. and Mrs. O. MacMullen and family, Churchill Heights, Belleville, on Thursday of last week. At the end of January Mr. and Mrs. O. MacMullen are moving to Highland Avenue.

The Children's Aid Society is planning to hold "Open House" for the public on Saturday afternoon, February 8th.

becomes cross, cranky, sulky, when constipation sours the system. At these times, wise mothers turn to Children's Own Tablets, made just for children over 3. Taken at bedtime, they sweeten sour stomach . . . relieve constipation over-night without griping, so child awakens feeling happy and bright. Sweet-tasting. Nothing to spill or stain. Get Children's Own Tablets today at your druggist and keep them handy.

NEXT FEW DAYS

Mr. Diefenbaker would first have to inform Governor-General Massey if he wanted to dissolve Parliament. Mr. Massey is at Quebec City and is not scheduled to return to Ottawa until late Monday. He will be in Ottawa for one day and then fly to the Bahamas for a three-week rest.

Only Mr. Massey can sign the dissolution document. Mr. Diefenbaker could, of course, mail the document to Quebec or stop off there on his flight to or from Halifax. But his office issued a statement late Wednesday saying there would be no stop-off.

Mr. Diefenbaker has to give at least 58 days' notice between dissolution and voting day to allow election officials time to prepare for enumeration of voters. This enumeration starts 49 days be-

CLEARED UP

The minority Conservative government has virtually cleaned up its legislative program for this session, particularly measures of major importance.

The Commons so far has passed only about 25 per cent of the government's 1957-58 estimates of expenditures. If Parliament were dissolved Saturday, the Conservative government would have to seek approval of expenditures through governor-general's warrant, a method of approving expenditures when Parliament is not sitting.

Such warrants have been used on previous occasions, in at least three general election periods, but never before have they been used to wind up a session. There has been some suggestion Mr. Diefenbaker may, instead of dissolving Parliament Saturday, seek to get more of the estimates passed before turning to an election.

Standing in the 265-seat Commons: Progressive Conservatives 113; Liberals 106; CCF 25; Social Credit 19; Independent 2.

FINAL LOG-JAM

Mr. Knowles said the policy of both CCF and Liberal parties has been to distribute the Canadian tax pie fairly to all provinces so that all Canadians can enjoy a standard level of provincial government services.

J. W. Pickersgill, former Liberal immigration minister, also demanded that the government say whether it will continue this principle of equalization payments begun by a Liberal government.

He said the Conservatives intend to give Ontario "the lion's share" of tax revenues. The Conservatives "believe they can pay off their friends in Ontario and forget the rest of the country."

Finance Minister Donald Fleming replied that the government "is quite content to be judged in what we have done." He added that the bill "carries forward the equalization principle further than before."

MARTIN CRITICISM

Paul Martin, former Liberal health minister, said the government's unilateral action was contrary to the spirit of Confederation.

James Sinclair, former Liberal fisheries minister, charged the government with stalling on final tax-sharing arrangements while making this pre-election move.

After all the criticisms, the tax measure was passed without a vote of opposition.

There were a few other legislative developments.

The Commons passed Labor Minister Michael Starr's bill to write a provision for holidays with pay into the federal labor code for the first time.

WEEK AFTER A YEAR

Applying to workers under federal labor jurisdiction, it woold require one week's paid vacation after the first year of employment and two weeks of paid holidays after the second year.

Before it was passed, the Commons defeated 103 to 46 an amendment by Mr. Knowles to provide the two - week holiday after the first year of work. Nineteen Liberals split party ranks to side with the CCF and Social Credit groups, and about the same number of Liberals sided with the government in opposing it.

The Commons also allowed introduction of a new measure to replace the federal Succession Duty Act with a new Estate Tax Act. The bill will stand over to next session for consideration then.

Minto

MINTO — The Tanner L.O.L. 509 held a successful card party in the hall on Friday evening of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Portriff of Belleville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Colden.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tanner were Thursday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner.

Mr. Arthur Burkitt and Mr. Bill Burkitt of Bonarlaw, called on Mr. Mack Anderson on Thursday.

Miss Joy Colden and friend, Miss Marlene Adams, of Peterborough, spent the weekend at Joy's home, here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Donohue of River Valley were Tuesday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner.

Mr. Bill Jackson of Toronto spent the weekend at the Mayo home.

Mrs. Joe Forestell and Larry spent last week in Peterborough with her sister, and husband, Mr. and Mrs Joe Harrigan.

Got Bad Headaches; Felt Nervous, "Tired All Over"

Also Suffered With Rheumatic Pains. Tells of Relief by Taking Syntona.

To people who suffer from tired, rundown condition, faulty digestion, or rheumatic aches and pains this message brings welcome news. It is typical of the many men and women who have found relief by taking Syntona Herbal Compound. Mrs. Selia Woods, 386½ Richmond Street, London, Ontario, said recently:

"During the past year I have suffered so bad with rheumatic pains in the joints and muscles of my knees and legs that I could hardly walk any distance. I was subject to dreadful headaches and my nerves were all on edge. Many nights I could not sleep well. Food that I ate gave me heartburn and a full, heavy distressed feeling in my stomach. I felt completely rundown and tired all over.

"Recently I read about Syntona and it has given me the first genuine relief in over a year of suffering. It relieved the pain and soreness in my limbs and knees, my nerves were calmed down, headaches do not trouble me as they did and I am able to get more sound, refreshing sleep. Also that tired, worn-out feeling is gone and I feel better throughout the day."

Syntona is sold and recommended by Dolan the Druggist.

THE CORPORATION
OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE
BY-LAW NUMBER 6958

A BY-LAW OF THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE TO REGULATE THE STORAGE, HANDLING AND USE OF EXPLOSIVES.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. In This By-law,

(a) "detached store" shall mean—

(i) a building well and substantially constructed of brick, stone, concrete, or other fire-resistant substance or of wood covered or treated with fire-resistant material,

(ii) an excavation in solid rock or earth, or

(iii) a bin well and substantially constructed of wood covered or treated with fire-resistant material; which building, excavation or bin is

(iv) detached from any building and situated at a safe distance from any highway, street, public thoroughfare or public place,

(v) made and closed so as to prevent unauthorized persons having danger from without, and

(vi) exclusively made for the keeping of explosives;

(b) "magazine" shall mean any building, store house, structure or place in which any explosive is kept or stored complying fully with The Explosives Act, 1946 (Statutes of Canada 1946, Chapter 7) and the regulations thereunder.

(c) "stored" shall mean kept in a magazine.

(d) "suitable receptacle" shall mean a substantial receptacle,

(i) that may be placed inside a building that is not itself adapted for the keeping of explosives;

(ii) the location of which is not changed from that prescribed by the person who issued the certificate of registration;

(iii) that is kept away from goods of an inflammable nature; and

(iv) that is of easy access for removal in case of fire.

(e) "explosive" shall mean gunpowder, blasting powder, nitroglycerine, gun-cotton, dynamite, blasting gelatine, gelignite, fulminates of mercury or of other metals, colored fires, and every other substance made, manufactured or used with a view to produce a violent effect by explosion, or a pyrotechnic effect, and includes fireworks, fuses, rockets, percussion caps, detonators, cartridges, ammunition of all descriptions, railway track torpedos, fuses and other signals, and every other adaptation or preparation of any such substance.

2. No explosive shall be manufactured in the City of Belleville.

3. No person shall transport, store, or handle any explosive except in strict compliance with The Explosives Act, 1946 (Statutes of Canada 1946, Chapter 7) and the regulations thereunder.

4. No explosive in excess of 500 pounds shall be kept or stored in the City of Belleville.

5. No explosive shall be stored within a distance of 1,000 feet from the nearest part of any water storage reservoir, pumping station, transformer station, water storage tank or water main larger than 12 inches in diameter.

6. No explosive shall be kept or stored in any building which is used for any purpose other than the storage of explosives.

7. All explosives in excess of 150 pounds shall at all times be kept in a magazine.

8. Detonators shall at all times be kept or stored separately from other explosives.

9. Explosives for use on any work where blasting is necessary shall be kept in a detached store or suitable receptacle and the maximum quantities of an explosive which may be kept on any work for more than eight hours continuously shall not exceed:

(a) in a detached store located not less than 100 yards from a highway, railway or occupied building—150 pounds

(b) in a detached store located not less than 50 yards from a highway, railway or occupied building—100 pounds

(c) in a suitable receptacle located not less than 10 yards from any occupied building—50 pounds.

10. Every detached store and every suitable receptacle shall have the word "explosives" printed thereon in red letters at least six inches high and painted on a yellow background.

11. All vehicles used for transporting explosives shall be equipped with red flags on the front and rear and a conspicuous sign containing the word "explosives" on the rear.

12. No person while driving or in charge of a vehicle used for the transportation of any explosive shall ignite a match or lighter or smoke.

13. Every explosive while being transported on a street shall be carefully packed so as to prevent jolting and concussion.

14. No person shall be engaged to handle any explosive or drive any vehicle in which an explosive is to be transported who is not experienced in handling explosives.

15. No blasting shall be carried out within a distance of 545 feet from any water storage reservoir pumping station, transformer station or water storage tank.

16. (1) No blasting shall be carried out within 12 feet of any water main unless and until a special permit has been obtained from the Commissioner of Water Works.

(2) The granting of the permit referred to in Sub-section (1) shall not absolve the holder of the permit from liability for damage caused by the blasting.

17. No person shall carry out any blasting operation without first missioner of Works of the Corporation.

18. Application for the permit referred to in the next preceding section shall be made to the Commissioner of Works on a form provided by him and the application shall state:

(a) the name and address of the applicant,

(b) the location of the proposed work,

(c) the estimated weight of explosive required for the proposed work and the number of detonators,

(d) the provisions for keeping explosives on the proposed work,

(e) the maximum weight of explosive to be kept on the proposed work at any one time,

(f) the precautions to be taken for covering blasts to prevent injury to persons and damage to property.

19. (1) The holder of a permit referred to in Section 17 shall keep a continuous record showing the total weight of explosives and the number of detonators delivered each day to the work, the total weight of explosives and the number of detonators used each day on the work and the disposal made of explosives and detonators not used and on completion of the work a return shall be made to the Commissioner of Works setting forth such information.

(2) The records referred to in Sub-section (1) shall at all times be available for checking by officers of the Corporation.

20. When explosives are kept at or near the site of any work in progress a watchman shall be kept on duty at all times when the workmen are away from the site of the work.

21. Any person who contravenes any of the provisions of this by-law shall on conviction thereof, be liable to a fine not exceeding $50.00 exclusive of costs, or to imprisonment not exceeding six months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

22. The place and manner of storing explosives shall be notified to the Chief of the Fire Department and the Chief of the Police Department before applying for the permit to store, handle or use explosives, from the Commissioner of Works.

23. By-law No. 6445 of 19th January, 1953, relating to the manner of keeping and storing explosives within the limits of the City of Belleville is hereby repealed.

Read a first time this 30th day of January, 1958.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE — Well, plenty of snow — and no snow plows. Makes one think of the 'Twenties' again. The Township road gang was making a real good job of trimming brush on some of the side-roads, where it was badly needed, but were suddenly laid off. One shudders to think what would happen, if there should be a really bad ice-storm. It is hoped the council will re-consider.

Little Suzanne Spencer has been confined to her home with pneumonia. At last report she is on the road to recovery.

Province Gives Municipalities 'Best Deal Ever'

Will Be Able to Collect Taxes Before Rate Set

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Mayors and Reeves Association met the provincial cabinet Thursday and came away with the prospect that municipalities can render interim tax bills.

The Association has been seeking adjustment of municipal tax structures for 10 years. This year, the mayors and reeves said "Our efforts have been fruitful."

"Giant strides have been made to place the municipalities on a sound financial basis and the association is grateful for the beneficial steps taken by Ontario to alleviate the municipal tax structure."

Premier Frost was reported to have said legislation will likely be introduced at this sesson of the legislature to permit municipalities to have taxes paid on an installment basis. The legislation would allow up to 40 per cent of the taxes to be collected before the tax rate is set.

Association President Merle Dickerson, mayor of North Bay, said "We are getting the best deal we have ever had from the province."

Officials said the municipalities have been promised "substantially higher" education grants from the province this year.

The grants would be based on a per capita basis and on the need of the municipalities, Mr. Frost said. However, he turned down association requests to assume all education, health and welfare costs.

Mr. Dickerson said the cabinet "took under consideration" requests that the provincial government do what it can to enable municipalities to borrow money at lower interest rates and expand capital works programs to relieve unemployment.

He also said the premier promised the province would relieve municipalitits of hospital costs for indigents under the forthcoming hospital insurance plan, double its grants to pay capital costs for hospitals under construction being proposed, and assume 75 per cent of the maintenance costs for such hospitals.

Conservatives Retain Elgin by Reduced Majority

ST. THOMAS (CP)—The Ontario legislature seat of Elgin was retained for the Progressive Conservatives Thursday in a by-election which recorded a heavier vote than the 1955 general election.

Ron McNeil, 38-year-old bachelor farmer and a former Liberal, won the four-way race with 8,729 votes, 3,242 more than his nearest opponent, but a majority reduced from the last election.

Ralph Auckland, Liberal, polled 5,487 votes in the byelection at which 17,356 of the estimated 27,700 eligible voters went to the polls for a turnout of 63 per cent.

The vote was 1,856 more than the June 9 election in 1955. The two other candidates, Dr. A. A. Monteith, Independent, and Lyle Tait, CCF, ran far behind. Dr. Monteith polled 1,848 and Mr. Tait 1,292.

The result was obvious 35 minutes after the polls closed at 7 p.m. EST, when Mr. McNeil held a 1,400-vote margin on returns from 64 of the 120 polls.

Mr. McNeil's majority was not as good as in 1955 when 9,000 Progressive Conservatives votes were cast compared with 4,500 Liberal votes.

INCREASES PCs

The result increased to 82 the number of Progressive Conservative seats in the 98-member legislature. Liberals hold 10, CCF three and Liberal - Labor one. There are vacancies in Huron and Cochrane North, both Progressive Conservative seats.

The Elgin seat was left vacant with the death last November of Fletcher S. Thomas.

Supporters of Mr. McNeil formed a torch light victory parade headed by a band of pipers which toured through the business section of the city to the St Thomas Times - Journal office where Mr. McNeil and Mr. Auckland talked to the crowd.

They both said they were thankful the month-long election campaign had been fought without rancor and in "gentlemanly style."

Virtually Agree On Parley for Commonwealth

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commonwealth's 11 member countries have virtually agreed to holding of history's biggest Commonwealth conference in Canada next September, officials here say.

They also said Thursday member countries understand tariff and capital proposals, aimed at bolstering Commonwealth trade, will be made at the meeting.

In federal government circles, the thinking now is that Canada will offer to lend millions of dollars—a large chunk of it to Federation of the West Indies—as capital advances to build up domestic economies.

ESTIMATE FLU TOLL

LONDON (Reuters) — Between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 persons in Britain suffered from Asian influenza last fall, Dr. John Fry estimates in the British Medical Journal. About 5,000 persons died from direct or indirect effects of the epidemic.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A slow - moving storm centre in northeastern Ontario is now east of the province and northerly winds are bringing much colder air to Northern and Central Ontario.

A storm centre, now located in western Missouri will pass south of Ontario Friday night, spreading snow over the Great Lakes regions. Temperatures will drop five to 10 degrees on Saturday as colder air sags southward over Southern Ontario.

CBC Montreal Labor Dispute Now Settled

MONTREAL (CP) — Negotiators who talked around the clock announced with weary jubilation Thursday night that they have settled a labor dispute that threatened to erupt into a strike of the CBC's television production employees.

A joint CBC-union statement that followed more than 24 hours of almost continuous negotiations said "agreement was achieved on all points discussed."

The CBC agreed to hire back 42 stagehands dismissed last Saturday for refusing to perform certain tasks assigned them.

SET HIGH BAIL

MONTREAL (CP) — Bail of $10,000 was set Wednesday for Bernard Montepetit, Montreal furrier charged with conspiracy to set a fire last August in Shawinigan Falls, Que. As a result of the fire, fire insurance companies paid more than $50,000.

Racing Back Into Burning House, Thessalon Mother Dies With Child

THESSALON (CP) — Three persons died in their blazing home early today, one of them a mother of five who ran back into the flames to save her youngest child.

Dead are Mrs. George Skinner, 42, her daughter, Coral Ann, 5, and Mrs. Skinner's mother, Mrs. Edmund Hagen, 78.

Mrs. Skinner's husband and four other children, Tim, 12, twins Ernest and Laura, 11, and Margaret, 9, escaped without injury.

Neighbors said Mrs. Skinner was apparently the first to discover the fire, which broke out about 1 a.m. in the two-storey frame home. She ran to the next house and asked neighbor Larne Falls to telephone the volunteer fire department. The Skinner home has no telephone.

Then Mrs. Skinner raced back into the blazing house.

Volunteer firemen arrived to find the house a mass of flames. They said there was no chance to save the building or those trapped inside.

After the bodies had been removed from the charred ruins Dr. William Fisher examined them. He said it was impossible to determine whether they had died of burns or suffocation.

At the height of the blaze a pall of smoke covered the main business section of the town a block away and stopped traffic on nearby Highway 17.

Mrs. Hagen was the widow of Edmund Hagen, long-time mayor of this Northern Ontario lumbering town on the north shore of Lake Huron 37 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie. The house was owned by Mrs. Hagen.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

MEMBERS READY TO START DRIVE FOR RE-ELECTION

Expect House Will Be Dissolved Tonight

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament learns today whether it will still be in existence Saturday or whether members will be starting out on a wintry election campaign trail.

Speculation could not rule out the possibility that Prime Minister Diefenbaker might act late today to have Parliament dissolved for an early election.

Interest was focussed on today's developments because cabinet ministers, notably Works Minister Howard Green, government House leader, have mentioned it repeatedly as the target date for ending the current session that began Oct. 14.

But Thursday night Mr. Green said the sessional business could not be ended by tonight. His words did not mean, however, that Parliament could not be dissolved for an election—something that has been widely speculated in recent weeks.

Meantime the Commons worked away Thursday at winding up the session's business. So did the Senate.

STUDIES ESTIMATES

Much of the Commons day was given to a study of spending estimates of the citizenship and immigration department for the fiscal year ending March 31.

Virtually everyone who spoke on the matter agreed that Indians need to be fully integrated into the main course of Canadian society as soon as possible.

The debate also produced expressions of concern that racial prejudice against the Indian exists in some parts of Canada and at times is a problem for the native's development.

Acting Citizenship and Immigration Minister Davie Fulton disclosed that his department is reviewing its immigration security policy.

He also announced that all cases involving loss of citizenship and deportation of naturalized Canadians are being held in abeyance. He indicated that this was being done because the government plans to seek passage next session of legislation to remove differences in this regard between naturalized citizens and native-born Canadians.

Robber Shot By Mountie, Escapes in Car

TORONTO (CP)—One of three men who held up a downtown branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank today was wounded by an RCMP officer during the getaway.

The man, shot in the chest, was helped into a car by the other bandits, who fled. The holdup occurred at the Dundas and McCaul streets branch of the bank.

It was not known immediately how much money was taken.

Gets Life Term

TORONTO (CP)—Marcel Lloyd Bezeau, 29, of Toronto today was sentenced to life imprisonment for manslaughter in the beating death of his five-year-old son.

The child, Richard Michael, died after falling down a flight of stairs at his home last Aug. 5. Bezeau was convicted Jan. 10 by a jury.

He 'Wanted to Be Somebody' Reason Youth Killed Eleven

CHARLES STARKWEATHER

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—The teen-age terrorist accused of 11 murders made an oral confession Thursday night to all of them—by gun, knife and clubbing—his hometown sheriff said, and gave as his excuse "I wanted to be somebody."

Sheriff Merle Karnopp of Lincoln, Neb., who stopped here for the night with 19-year-old Charles Starkweather en route back to Lincoln to face murder charges, said the cowboy-dressed youth was "cool as a cucumber" as he told the sheriff of the killings during the ride from Douglas, Wyo., where he was captured Wednesday.

Starkweather is charged with first-degree murder in Lincoln, in the area where 10 of the 11 persons died.

Karnopp said Starkweather asserted that his 14-year-old girl friend, Caril Fugate, who was with him this week as 10 of the victims were slain, had nothing to do with the killings.

Three members of Caril's family were among the victims and she, too, faces a murder charge at Lincoln.

Karnopp related that Starkweather, speaking freely and without a sign of remorse, told him

"I always wanted to be a criminal, but not this big a one.

"I didn't mean for it to be this bad.

"I wanted to be somebody. I wasn't mad at anybody."

The sheriff said "He told me that he just had a hatred that built up in himself and that since he was a kid he wanted to be an outlaw."

"I have never seen a more vicious mad killer who could talk so cool and collected," Karnopp grimly commented.

Karnopp did not give all the details of what Starkweather said in the ride from Douglas, where the youth surrendered under gunfire of officers.

When they reached Scottsbluff about 9 p.m. Karnopp said he asked Starkweather if he was tired and ready for a long sleep, and the youth replied "I slept like a log last night." He was in Douglas jail then.

Both Starkweather and Caril had meals of eggs and bacon and both were sound asleep in their cells by 10 p.m., local Sheriff Steve Warrick said.

The killings that police attribute to Starkweather began last Dec. 1.

That was when a Lincoln filling station attendant, Robert Colvert, was found dead on a side road on the city's outskirts.

Karnopp said Starkweather, in admitting the shotgun shooting of Colvert, said he had not intended to kill when he set out to rob the station.

There followed this week nine killings in Lincoln, discovered in three days. And on each occasion three bodies were found.

All fight was out of Starkweather when he surrendered. Sheriff Earl Heflin said "He thought he was bleeding to death—that's the kind of yellow s.o.b. he is."

Starkweather's head had been cut by flying glass as the sheriff's bullets smashed car windows.

Wyoming, too, charged Starkweather with murder, but late Thursday decided to let Nebraska have him.

Political Tension Mounting But No Commitments Made

OTTAWA (CP)—Nervous political tension rose another notch in the capital Thursday.

The government again declined to tip its hand on its plans, if any, for dissolution of Parliament and calling of a general election.

But this didn't deter the opposition in the Commons from trying to pry out of cabinet ministers an indication of an election date.

The ministers, however, were non-committal. Apparent ministerial hints cancelled each other out.

For instance, Justice Minister Davie Fulton said at one point: "The target date for the end of the session was set at Jan. 31 (today) by which time we hope to be finished with all the business."

Later on, Labor Minister Michael Starr was asked for the latest unemployment figures.

He said he'd give them to the Commons when the bureau of statistics published them. The bureau's figures were "usually released at some time between the 17th and the 20th of each month."

Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, asked whether the government would "honor without fail the commitment" that the Commons would deal at this session with all estimates of administration spending for the fiscal year ending March 31.

"I cannot control the course of destiny," replied Finance Minister Donald Fleming.

If the estimates were discussed fully the session might go on for another couple of weeks.

In the Senate, government leader John T. Haig when questioned about the length of the session went no further than to schedule today's business.

Meanwhile Liberal party leader Lester B. Pearson, preparing for any eventuality, named Senator John J. Connolly, an Ottawa lawyer, as chairman of a committee to be formed to mobilize party organization for the election when ever it comes. Other committee members will be named soon.

RECORD YEAR

OTTAWA (CP) — Alan Field, director of the Canadian Travel Bureau, said Wednesday preliminary figures indicate 1957 was a record tourist year for Canada. In a statement, he pointed to a bureau of statistics report showing that long-stay tourist automobile entries reached an all-time high of 2,555,074 last year.

Finds Billfold Lost in Lake Two Years Ago

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Two years ago Bob Brazil lost a billfold containing $19 when his boat capsized in Horsehead Lake near here.

Brazil said that while driving along the lake Thursday he noticed a vaguely familiar object lying on the shore line. It was his billfold, still holding the $19.

The level of the lake was lowered recently, Brazil said, and the billfold was in the exact spot where his boat capsized.

3 IN RUNNING FOR PRESIDENCY OF YOUNG PCs

600 Delegates Will Meet in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 600 delegates gather here today for the annual meeting of the Young Progressive Conservative Association of Canada.

The two-day meeting will be held jointly with the Progressive Conservative Student Federation and both groups will join in formulating resolutions.

Three young Progressive Conservatives, two of them members of Parliament, have indicated they will be candidates for the presidency of the association, succeeding Tom Bell, MP for St. John-Albert, N.B., who has held the office for the last two years.

They are:

Douglas Jung, 33-year-old lawyer and MP for Vancouver Centre, first Chinese-Canadian to sit in the Commons.

George Hogan, 29, Toronto automobile dealer, and immediate past president of the Ontario YPC, who served as executive assistant on Prime Minister Diefenbaker's campaign train last year.

Frank C. McGee, 31-year-old Toronto businessman and MP for York-Scarborough.

TO PRESENT "SCHOONER"

The delegates are scheduled to gather today at the main entrance of the Parliament Building to present to Prime Minister Diefenbaker a "Prairie schooner" type of wagon-sleigh built some 60 years ago by his grandfather.

The tailboard bears the inscription: "G. M. Diefenbacker, builder, Hawkesville, Ontario," using the original spelling of the Diefenbaker name. The Diefenbacker wagon shop at Hawkesville disappeared years ago, but some of its wagons still are around.

The wagon for the prime minister was found after the 1957 federal election on the farm of David Bauman, near Elmira, Ont., by Kingsley Brown of the Hamilton Spectator.

Smith Transport Now Controlled By CP Railway

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific Railway is to move into a highway transport empire extending from Halifax to Winnipeg as a result of a decision announced Thursday by the Quebec transport board.

The railway will buy control of Smith Transport Limited, one of Canada's largest trucking firms with 2,000 vehicles operating on routes covering 5,000 miles.

Decision of the transport board was delayed to allow testimony by representatives of smaller independent Quebec trucking firms, who feared "that the entry of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company would create an overpowering monopoly to the detriment of existing operators."

The board's order, issued Thursday, said:

"The continued existence and financial stability of the smaller independent operators is essential in the opinion of the board.

"It was stated that the opposition would probably be less severe if the control of such interprovincial and international services (as the CPR will acquire) would continue under the board."

Its decision to permit the transfer of control of Smith Transport to the CPR was influenced, the board said, by a CPR acknowledgement that it would "recognize the jurisdiction of this board in relation to the operations of Smith Transport Limited in this province."

Higher Returns for Dairy Farmers Seen Despite Likely Labor Strife

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Livestock Commissioner W. P. Watson said Thursday that during the next six months there could be a general slowdown in business, if only to give the impression union demands for pay increases are unjustified.

He told a meeting of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association:

"I am not saying it will be deliberate, but I believe that is the situation that will prevail."

Mr. Watson said that in spite of possibly prolonged labor strife in the first half of this year, farmers could expect higher returns for cattle and dairy products than in 1957.

Income from hogs might drop below last year's level, but the outlook should be generally optimistic for dairy farmers.

Harry Strang of Henshall was elected association president with vice-presidents George Van Sickle, Brantford, and Morris Darby, Waverley. A. H. Martin, Toronto, was elected secretary-treasurer. Executive members include Grover Smith, Bloomfield, Hugh Glasgow, Tupperville, and Frank Rick, Trout Creek.

Eisenhower Plea For Tariff Cuts Might Backfire

He Seeks Added Power But May Receive Less

WASHINGTON (AP)—A powerful congressional move shaped up today aimed at stripping President Eisenhower of important parts of his tariff authority.

This challenge developed in the face of the president's urgent plea for added powers to negotiate further tariff cuts under a proposed five-year extension of the United States reciprocal trade agreements program beyond next July 1.

If transformed into law, this move by critics of the program would in effect give Congress a key check on the president's trade-agreements authority.

It would deny the president the authority he now has to ignore Tariff Commission recommendations for increased import duties where the commission finds such boosts are needed to protect American industry from serious harm.

IN FOR FIGHT

As some leading members of the president's own Republican party in Congress blasted his most ardent backers conceded he was in for a fight, with the outcome highly uncertain.

Aligned against Eisenhower's proposals, it appears, are a majority of Republicans in the House of Representatives and a growing number of Democrats.

However, mixed in with the hostile comments have been some expressions of support, particularly in the Senate.

The president, in a special message Thursday, appealed for broad new authority to lower U.S. tariffs by five per cent a year during the next five years. These reductions would be in return for similar trade concessions from other countries.

To Probe Charg Against Union By Truck Owner

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontar attorney - general's departme has been asked to investigate a independent dump truck owner allegations of violence and in timidation by the Internation Brotherhood of Teamster (CLC).

The Ontario legislature's select committee on labor relations asked for the investigation Thursday after it heard a brie by John Watson, chairman of th Individual Dump Truck Owners Association.

He testified under oath tha the teamsters had carried ou "unlawful pressures, intimidation and coercion."

He said that in an attempt to gain bargaining rights union members Oct. 12, 1956, smashed dump trucks owned by the independents, overturned others into ditches and threatened the wives of pit owners that pit plants would be blown up unless their husbands agreed to sign union contracts.

Teamster leader I. M. (Casey) Dodds testified before the committee last week that violence and intimidation were not resorted to by his union and these were not tactics his union had adopted.

AT GRAVEL PIT

Mr. Watson told the committee that on one occasion about 200 men appeared at the Stoufville sand and gravel pit and demanded all the independent truckers take their loads back and dump them. If they refused, they would not get home safely.

He also testified that the teamsters' union extorted $750 in union dues from a contracting company last fall. He did not identify the firm.

I J. Thomson, representing the union's central conference, was present and told the committee the teamsters would "welcome an investigation."

POLES VOTE

WARSAW (Reuters) — Poles started voting today in the country's first local elections in four years. More than 18,000,000 voters will choose from about 300,000 candidates — all Communists — to fill 205,101 seats on regional, county, municipal and village councils between today and Sunday.

Toronto Woman Stabbed by Thug Who Steals Guns

TORONTO (CP)—Police, fearing possible holdups, today watched all banks after two thugs stole eight revolvers and 200 rounds of ammunition from a sports store Thursday after stabbing the female manager six times.

Rita Hallam, 55, is in critical condition in hospital. She suffered a punctured lung and slashed spleen when stabbed in the side, neck and back.

The Metropolitan police commission posted a $1,000 reward for two men Miss Hallam said knocked her down and stabbed her just after she opened the downtown store.

Police said one of the men said to Miss Hallam:

"We need guns because we need money."

PUSHES HER

Miss Hallam said she had just unlocked the store door when a man came up behind her and pushed her inside. As they struggled the man started to stab her.

She said she fainted several times and could recall only sketchy details of what happened. She remembered a second man came into the store and she called out for help.

Later, she said she was dragged along the floor by two men.

Police said the second man was apparently an accomplice who had watched outside until the first man got in. After dragging Miss Hallam into a washroom, the men broke open a showcase and stole the guns.

Special Articles On Diseases Will Be Featured

To acquaint readers with the progress being made in controlling some of the more common diseases, Dr. McCaul Metcalfe, Medical Officer of Health for the city, has written a series of articles which will appear daily in The Ontario Intelligencer during National Health Week February 2nd to 8th.

First of the articles written by Dr. Metcalfe to appear in Monday's edition will be on tuberculosis and will deal with treatment of the disease, the importance of early diagnosis and rehabilitation.

Other diseases to be dealt with by Dr. Metcalfe include cancer, immunization and heart conditions.

White Cane Club Holds First Meeting of Year

The January meeting of the Belleville White Cane Club was held Thursday evening at the local YMCA when club president, Clarence Morris, welcomed the 25 members and their escorts to the first meeting of the year.

A special welcome was accorded to Mr. P. I. Timmins, field secretary for the blind in this area.

Mr. Ed. Brown entertained with various vocal selections, also singing "He" in remembrance of former club members. Jimmie Corradi acted as pianist for the songfest and also favored with a number of piano selections for the enjoyment of his listeners.

The "birthday song" was sung for Arlie Scott and Pat Baverstock, whose birthdays fall during the month. Flowers have been sent to Mrs. T. Simpson at the hospital while a floral wreath was provided for the funeral of Charles Randall, first president of the White Cane Club on its organization eight years ago.

WILL BROADCAST STORY

Mrs. Harry Rollins gave a synopsis of the feature broadcast for the 1958 White Cane Week.

The broadcast will feature the true story of Hugh Gillespie of Victoria and New Westminster and of his struggle to defeat his blindness handicap. The broadcast will be on a Dominion-wide network on February 6th from 8 to 8.30 p.m.

An essay winning first prize in a contest conducted by the Canadian Council of the Blind, entitled "What the CNIB Means to Me," and dealing with the life of a young man completely blind and bed-ridden with arthritis, was read.

The story written in first persons, tells how, with a typewriter on his stomach the young man wrote many articles for magazines. At 21 years of age he had already spent three years in bed in pain and misery.

The home teacher of the CNIB taught the young man braille. He was given a talking book machine enabling him to read many books. He was taught to knot shopping bags and woollen goods in a Macrammy frame as well as to make leather and plastic belts, thus enabling him to realize his first pocket money.

A wheel chair was provided and a guide took him out to enjoy the fresh air, to hear the sounds and to "see" the sights.

The story was most interesting and proves the great boon which the CNIB is to the handicapped.

Members of the Belleville Kinette Club served lunch, while Arlie Scott expressed the club appreciation to the Lions Club for transportation, the entertainers and the Kinettes.

Isaacs, chief Boylen engineer, and Robert Corriveau, geologist. (CP Photo).

March of Dimes Drive for Funds Well Received

A generous response from Belleville citizens was reported today by the March of Dimes committee officials during the Marching Mothers Canvass throughout the city on Wednesday evening.

Final figures for the canvass total will not be known for some days as all donations are not yet received. This may take up to February 15, it was stated.

It was pointed out that donations are still being received and any persons who were missed during the city-wide canvass may donate through Mr. Jack E. McArthur at the Royal Bank. There will be no personal canvass in the retail business section for the March of Dimes campaign.

Wednesday night more than 400 mothers, working under 45 team captains, canvassed the city seeking donations.

Prime Minister, Knowles Clash In Angry Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, today accused Prime Minister Diefenbaker of playing a "cat-and-mouse" game with Parliament and the Canadian people over the calling of an election.

His angry accusation came in the Commons after Mr. Diefenbaker again declined to divulge his plans, if any, for dissolution of Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker retorted that Mr. Knowles has shown he possesses the attribute which he applies to others.

The quarrel began when Opposition Leader Pearson asked for the government's plans for the remainder of the Commons session. He said today had been set by the government as the deadline for conclusion of business and it would be a courtesy to the Commons to supply the information.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he was glad to see that Mr. Pearson now appreciates the rights of Parliament

There were angry shouts of "cheap" and "shame" from the aroused Liberals.

The prime minister said he had just arrived back from Halifax. He had had no time to discuss the matter with the cabinet. When he had done this, he would give a "general answer."

Mr. Knowles said the matter of dissolution is of proper and rightful concern to all Canadians. In view of this, did the prime minister plan to ask for early dissolution of Parliament?

Mr. Diefenbaker said this would be answered "in due course."

Mr Knowles then asked whether, in view of the prime minister's "many statements" in public and to the press, this "cat-and-mouse game benefits the office of the prime minister of Canada?"

There were cheers and applause from the Opposition members.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he wouldn't become involved in a controversy and then added that Mr. Knowles has shown at this session that he has the attribute which he applies to others.

Winter Edition Of 'Our Valley' Now Off Press

Wednesday, July 24, 1957, will be a day long to be remembered by those interested in the activities of the Moira River Conservation Authority, according to a summary of the Authority's past year activities appearing in the winter edition of "Our Valley," conservation booklet published by the Department of Planning and Development.

The above date marked the official opening of the O'Hara Mill historical site north of Madoc which has been restored by the Authority to operating condition following years of abandonment.

The mill pond has been restored and the mill proper rebuilt. Twelve hundred people attended the official opening. The area also offers recreational possibilities with picnic tables and other facilities provided.

The summarization of the year's activities notes the Authority now owns 5,275 acres of reforestation land.

The Authority now has planned a multi-use conservation area near Thomasburg to be named in honor of the late Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, one of the men mainly responsible for the organization of the Moira Authority.

The winter edition of "Our Valley" brings further attention to the Moira Watershed with the reproduction of an oil painting by Manly Macdonald, of Latta Mill at Plainfield.

Slippery Streets Given as Cause Of Minor Crashes

Slippery streets were given as the cause of several minor accidents in the city within the past 24 hours, with two mishaps occurring this morning within minutes at the corner of Baldwin and College streets.

Elwood Orser, 46 College street, was driving on College street when a vehicle driven by Howard A. Adamson, North James street, slid out from James street.

To avoid a head-on collision Mr. Orser swung his car to the side and in doing so crashed into a hydro pole.

A tow truck was called to get his car back onto the road and as the truck arrived it was in collision with another vehicle.

The first accident was investigated by city police and the second and related accident which occurred on the north side of College street was investigated by provincial police.

City police reported a number of other accidents, all of which were of a minor nature.

Russia Modifies Disarmament Body Demands

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) The Soviet Union is reported to have offered to return to United Nations disarmament negotiations if Romania, Ceylon and Indonesia are added to the disarmament commission which was enlarged from 12 to 25 members during last fall's General Assembly.

Russian delegates announced at the assembly session that they would boycott the commission because its membership is too pro-Western. They demanded then that Ceylon, Romania, Indonesia, Austria, Bulgaria, Finland and Sudan be added.

But diplomatic sources Thursday night said Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev has been telling various delegations this week that the addition of the first three of these countries would bring the Russians back.

The commission is not now in session. Since the General Assembly is not scheduled to meet until Sept. 16, enlarging the disarmament body at present would require a special assembly session.

More Research Workers Needed In Heart Cases

TORONTO (CP) — A leading United States heart specialist said Thursday Canada is in great need of a program to train more capable research workers especially in the basic causes of high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries.

Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston said the basic features that need study are man's race, heredity, physical characteristics and diet.

Dr. White, president of the International Society of Cardiology and past president of the American Heart Association, officially opened the Canadian Heart Campaign for $850,000. The national campaign for funds closes Feb. 28.

"Heart disease is our own fault," he said in a luncheon address. "We should be able to conquer it through research, training and the application of what's known."

NO SMOKING

"Stop smoking" is Dr. White's advice to the majority of Canadians. Tobacco increases blood pressure and aggravates angina pectoris. However, he said there are some persons whose health is not affected by tobacco.

And to those who are overweight Dr. White has just one prescription: "diet."

He said a new way to stop smoking is to play with conversational beads. He produced a string of amber beads which were given to him in Lebanon. He said men in Lebanon and Greece play with such beads instead of having a cigaret.

TIRES COST MORE

IN MEMORIAM

JOSLIN. — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away January 30th, 1955.

In tears we saw you sinking,
We watched you fade away;
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping,
So peacefully free from pain;
We could not wish you back,
To suffer that again.

—Lovingly remembered by daughter Madeline, son-in-law Mark, grandchildren Douglas, Beverley, Mark Jr., son Albert.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved narrowly lower in moderate morning trading.

Golds were the only issues to record an index-gain in their section. They added a few decimal points. Base metals, with seniors losing as much as a point, were down three-quarters of an index point while western oils and industrials each lost less than one-quarter of a point.

A lack of encouraging news left many investors on the sidelines, waiting for the next man to make a move. Trading among speculative mines was not as heavy as in other sessions this week, consequently the overall volume was lighter.

Sales in the first hour totalled 629,000 shares compared with 903,000 at 11 a.m. Thursday.

Steels, pipelines and utilities were lower on average among industrials. Minor declines went to Aluminium, Bell Telephone, B.C. Power, Interprovincial Pipe Line, Stelco, Trans Mountain and Winnipeg and Central Gas.

Papers were firm with Price Bros. up 1¼ to 38½, Consolidated Paper ahead ½ to 31½ and Abitibi up at 26½. Dominion Stores added ⅜ at 52⅜ at 52⅜ among other index stocks.

Senior base metals slipped. Hudson Bay led losers with a one-point decline to 43 and International Nickel and Noranda lost fractions. Campbell Chibougamau led coppers lower with a 30-cent drop to $4.70 and Opemiska eased 10 cents to $6.05.

Western oils were quiet with few outstanding changes.

Canada's Growth Prospects Bright Asserts Diefenbaker

HALIFAX (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker returns to Ottawa today after giving Halifax businessmen an optimistic prediction of Canada's economic expansion and receiving an honorary doctor of laws degree from St. Mary's University.

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Halifax Board of Trade Thursday night the outlook for Canada's expansion is bright and there is a new unified spirit among the people. "Equality of opportunity now is more than a catch-phrase, much more than a theoretical ideal and infinitely more than just wishful thinking."

He predicted the four Atlantic provinces will march ahead with the rest of Canada and after a "turndown in the business cycle" prospects for 1958 are "brightening."

Earlier at St. Mary's University, Mr. Diefenbaker told students there is a greater need for leadership in Christianity and the humanities than there is in the scientific field.

"All the scientific miracles of a lifetime can't fulfil the requirement of the world for leadership . . or nullify the need for Chritsian character," he said.

Also receiving doctor of laws degrees were Rev. W. T. Ross Flemington, president of Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., and Harold S. Foley, Vancouver, industrialist who personally sponsored the Budapest Forestry School that moved to British Columbia after the Hungarian revolution.

The prime minister did not mention politics in his Halifax eeches, and he refused to ment on an expected 1958 n.

White Boy Who Kicked Negro Girl Now Complains Life Threatened

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A 17-year-old white youth says anonymous telephone callers have threatened his family with death because he kicked a Negro girl pupil at Central High School, site of last fall's segregation demonstrations.

Richard Boehler told reporters he launched a kick at Minnie Jean Brown, 16, as she passed him near the school campus after classes were dismissed Wednesday afternoon.

He said she didn't try to fight back.

"She just put her hand to her face and cried like the baby she is," he said.

Boehler said he was suspended from Central High Wednesday morning for arguing with his teacher and for failing to pay a $1.50 school fee. He went back to take some other students to their homes in his automobile.

Boehler said someone in a crowd of white students dared him to "go get" the girl as she walked past him.

One New Member Inducted Into Kiwanis Club

TRENTON — One new member was inducted into the Kiwanis Club last night at their regular meeting which was highlighted by committee reports.

The dinner meet was held in the dining room of the Hotel Gilbert, and due to the illness of President Grant Gooding, Al Weaver took over the chairmanship duties.

The new member, Hugh O'Neil, a member of the Trenton teaching staff, was introduced to the club by Howard Aziz and was inducted into membership by Past President Claude Smith.

The chairman of the meeting gave the members a "pep" talk on the selling of tickets for the "Follies of 1958" which will be sponsored by the club next week and will take place in the High School Auditorium.

Fred Goldberg gave a report on the progress of the show to date.

In reporting on minor hockey Paul Tripp said the six teams sponsored by the club have been outfitted with sweaters and crests.

He also reminded members that this Saturday will be Minor Hockey Day in Trenton, as it will be right across the Dominion. He said the 500 youthful members of the association will be on the ice at different intervals from 1.30 p.m. to 8.30 p.m. with an all-star game between Trenton and Napanee taking place at 4 p.m.

He urged all the members to be out on that day to see what this committee is doing with the club funds in sponsoring these teams.

The chairman of the agricultural committee reporting on their activities proposed that a rural dinner be held every three months. He said a film on agriculture would be seen in the near future.

Members were told that due to the Follies being on next Thursday there would be no general meeting with only a short session of the directors taking place.

Members were also reminded that February 21 will be the 43rd birthday of the Kiwanis Club.

Fire-Conscious Brigade Rushes To Answer Alarm

TRENTON — Fire-conscious firemen and police officials lost little time last night when they received a call from a resident on College St. It turned out the home owner placing the call, became alarmed when the blaze in his oil stove began roaring up the flue. Finding the oil stove to be in normal working condition the firemen returned to the station. They were back in less than 10 minutes from the time they left.

Policemen were also on the job in nothing flat. Officers were on Dundas St. intersections directing traffic before the fire trucks came along and "Car 10" followed close behind the fire trucks on the way to College St.

When the alarm came in regular firemen, as well as volunteers, had been gathered at the fire station to view picture slides of the Farrar Block fire which were taken in color at the time of the blaze, by Jack Austin of Wooler.

Mr. Austin is now retired and took up photography for his hobby and firemen said this morning his pictures were most interesting and informative. He also screened slides on bird and wildlife which he had taken, also in full color.

Only one accident was recorded in police files yesterday. This took place about 4 p.m. on Findal Street. Total damage to the cars was estimated at about $125.

Involved in the mishap were vehicles being operated by Harold Badgley of R.R. 1, Carrying Place, and Richard Jones of RR 5, Trenton.

Vice Chairman Of Parks Board Resigns Post

TRENTON — —Lloyd York, vice-chairman of the Trenton Parks Board, resigned his post at the last meeting of the board held in the Municipal Building recently.

He gave pressure of business as the major factor in his decision and was one of the members who still had a year to serve under appointment which came early in 1957.

Also leaving the board, because of termination of a two-year tour of duty are F. J. "Pete" Aziz, and R. J. "Dick" Whitley.

"The services of these men will be missed," chairman Ted Parker said yesterday, "but in their loss we have also gained two good men in William Ireland and John Saylor."

Mr. Saylor will be taking over the post of secretary-treasurer, replacing Pete Aziz. Other members of the board are Mrs. Bert Strong and Miss Marion Baker.

It is expected a replacement for the seat vacated by Mr. York will be made at the next regular council meeting slated for Monday, Feb. 3.

At the last meeting of the Parks Board, an informal gathering was held with the older members making the new ones familiar with the work which the board has done over the past years and what their plans are for the new year.

Mother's March For Funds Was Giant Success

TRENTON — About 150 mothers turned out to make the "Mothers' March" in Trenton a giant success. Reports claim a total of $2,651 was collected and more is expected to come in.

The drive for funds, to aid the March of Dimes campaign, was sponsored here by the Kinette club and was their first attempted in Trenton.

Mrs. Lou Aziz, chairman of the Kinette committee in charge of the march, said the people of Trenton are "just wonderful" and were "waiting" at the door with their contributions."

She said the drive was such a success that most of the mothers taking part were anxious to go out again next year.

Mrs. Aziz, on behalf of her committee and the Kinette club expressed her thanks to all those who helped in making the drive a successful one.

The mothers canvassed the entire town with the Ladies Auxiliary of the RCAF Station covering the Middleton Park area.

NEW BANK MANAGER

At one time with the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Belleville, Thomas W. Hetherington, has been named manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Trenton, succeeding Mr. A. J. Boorne. He comes to Trenton from the Rideau street branch of the bank at Ottawa.

Mr. Hetherington started his banking career at Deseronto and has been at Tamworth, Belleville, Montreal, Toronto, Kitchener and Colborne.

His wife, Margaret, is a Belleville girl. They have two daughters, Margaret Ann, 16 and Joan Louise, 13.

Weekend Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Prices on all classes of slaughter cattle were steady throughout the week at the Ontario Public Stockyards. While a good cleanup was realized by the close, trading was not as sharp as in previous weeks.

The general quality of the steer and heifer offering was not quite as good as last week. Cows were fewer again this week. As usual, fed yearlings found a ready market and prices were steady on the light offering.

Replacements were 50 cents higher on the light offering and the demand was keen. Veal calves opened strong with top quality in demand and a few calves sold to a record high of $36.10. However, later trade was spotty with prices on some kinds easier than last week. Hogs were $1.50 higher, sheep and lambs were steady.

Cattle receipts were 500 head less than last week and 500 head less than the same week in 1957. Receipts from Western Canada totalled 193 cattle, compared to 224 head last week. Three loads were shipped to Eastern Canada and two loads were exported to the United States.

Prices:

Slaughter cattle: Choice steers 21.50-22 with a few at 22.25; good 20-21.25; medium 18.50 - 19.50; common ranged between 16-17.50, good heifers 19-20 with sales on a few choice lightweight kinds to 20.50; medium 17-18.50; common 14.50-17.50; choice fed yearlings 22-23 with tops to 23.50; good 20.50-21.50; good cows 15-15.50; medium 13.50 - 14.50; common 11.50-13; canners and cutters 10-11.50; good heavy bologna bulls 16-16.50 with odd sales to 17; common and medium 13-15.50.

Replacement cattle: Good stockers 20-22; medium 17.50-19.50.

Calves: Good vealers 29-33 with choice generally to 35; medium 24-28; common 18-24; boners 12-18.

Hogs: Grade A 31; sows mostly 22 with light sows at 24; stags 15 a hundredweight on a dressed weight basis.

Sheep and lambs: Good lambs 24-24.50 with a few choice at 26; medium and heavy sold downward to 21; common 12-15; sheep 4-10 according to quality.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged today.

The egg market was reported firm on medium and steady on other grades with receipts light and a good demand.

Country dealers are quoted on graded eggs, delivered Toronto, in fibre cases: A large 36; A medium 32; A small 27; B 29; C 25. Wholesale to retail: A large 41; A medium 37; A small 32; B 34; C 30.

Butter prices: Canada, first grade: Ontario 62½ in extremely light trading; western 62½ in extremely light trading.

White Boy Who Kicked Negro Girl Now Complains Life Threatened

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A 17-year-old white youth says anonymous telephone callers have threatened his family with death because he kicked a Negro girl pupil at Central High School, site of last fall's segregation demonstrations.

Richard Boehler told reporters he launched a kick at Minnie Jean Brown, 16, as she passed him near the school campus after classes were dismissed Wednesday afternoon.

He said she didn't try to fight back.

"She just put her hand to her face and cried like the baby she is," he said.

Boehler said he was suspended from Central High Wednesday morning for arguing with his teacher and for failing to pay a $1.50 school fee. He went back to take some other students to their homes in his automobile.

Boehler said someone in a crowd of white students dared him to "go get" the girl as she walked past him.

One New Member Inducted Into Kiwanis Club

TRENTON — One new member was inducted into the Kiwanis Club last night at their regular meeting which was highlighted by committee reports.

The dinner meet was held in the dining room of the Hotel Gilbert, and due to the illness of President Grant Gooding, Al Weaver took over the chairmanship duties.

The new member, Hugh O'Neil, a member of the Trenton teaching staff, was introduced to the club by Howard Aziz and was inducted into membership by Past President Claude Smith.

The chairman of the meeting gave the members a "pep" talk on the selling of tickets for the "Follies of 1958" which will be sponsored by the club next week and will take place in the High School Auditorium.

Fred Goldberg gave a report on the progress of the show to date.

In reporting on minor hockey Paul Tripp said the six teams sponsored by the club have been outfitted with sweaters and crests.

He also reminded members that this Saturday will be Minor Hockey Day in Trenton, as it will be right across the Dominion. He said the 500 youthful members of the association will be on the ice at different intervals from 1.30 p.m. to 8.30 p.m. with an all-star game between Trenton and Napanee taking place at 4 p.m.

He urged all the members to be out on that day to see what this committee is doing with the club funds in sponsoring these teams.

The chairman of the agricultural committee reporting on their activities proposed that a rural dinner be held every three months. He said a film on agriculture would be seen in the near future.

Members were told that due to the Follies being on next Thursday there would be no general meeting with only a short session of the directors taking place.

Members were also reminded that February 21 will be the 43rd birthday of the Kiwanis Club.

Fire-Conscious Brigade Rushes To Answer Alarm

TRENTON — Fire-conscious firemen and police officials lost little time last night when they received a call from a resident on College St. It turned out the home owner placing the call, became alarmed when the blaze in his oil stove began roaring up the flue. Finding the oil stove to be in normal working condition the firemen returned to the station. They were back in less than 10 minutes from the time they left.

Policemen were also on the job in nothing flat. Officers were on Dundas St. intersections directing traffic before the fire trucks came along and "Car 10" followed close behind the fire trucks on the way to College St.

When the alarm came in regular firemen, as well as volunteers, had been gathered at the fire station to view picture slides of the Farrar Block fire which were taken in color at the time of the blaze, by Jack Austin of Wooler.

Mr. Austin is now retired and took up photography for his hobby and firemen said this morning his pictures were most interesting and informative. He also screened slides on bird and wildlife which he had taken, also in full color.

Only one accident was recorded in police files yesterday. This took place about 4 p.m. on Findal Street. Total damage to the cars was estimated at about $125.

Involved in the mishap were vehicles being operated by Harold Badgley of R.R. 1, Carrying Place, and Richard Jones of RR 5, Trenton.

Vice Chairman Of Parks Board Resigns Post

TRENTON — —Lloyd York, vice-chairman of the Trenton Parks Board, resigned his post at the last meeting of the board held in the Municipal Building recently.

He gave pressure of business as the major factor in his decision and was one of the members who still had a year to serve under appointment which came early in 1957.

Also leaving the board, because of termination of a two-year tour of duty are F. J. "Pete" Aziz, and R. J. "Dick" Whitley.

"The services of these men will be missed," chairman Ted Parker said yesterday, "but in their loss we have also gained two good men in William Ireland and John Saylor."

Mr. Saylor will be taking over the post of secretary-treasurer, replacing Pete Aziz. Other members of the board are Mrs. Bert Strong and Miss Marion Baker.

It is expected a replacement for the seat vacated by Mr. York will be made at the next regular council meeting slated for Monday, Feb. 3.

At the last meeting of the Parks Board, an informal gathering was held with the older members making the new ones familiar with the work which the board has done over the past years and what their plans are for the new year.

Mother's March For Funds Was Giant Success

TRENTON — About 150 mothers turned out to make the "Mothers' March" in Trenton a giant success. Reports claim a total of $2,651 was collected and more is expected to come in.

The drive for funds, to aid the March of Dimes campaign, was sponsored here by the Kinette club and was their first attempted in Trenton.

Mrs. Lou Aziz, chairman of the Kinette committee in charge of the march, said the people of Trenton are "just wonderful" and were "waiting at the door with their contributions."

She said the drive was such a success that most of the mothers taking part were anxious to go out again next year.

Mrs. Aziz, on behalf of her committee and the Kinette club expressed her thanks to all those who helped in making the drive a successful one.

The mothers canvassed the entire town with the Ladies Auxiliary of the RCAF Station covering the Middleton Park area.

NEW BANK MANAGER

At one time with the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Belleville, Thomas W. Hetherington, has been named manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Trenton, succeeding Mr. A. J. Boorne. He comes to Trenton from the Rideau street branch of the bank at Ottawa.

Mr. Hetherington started his banking career at Deseronto and has been at Tamworth, Belleville, Montreal, Toronto, Kitchener and Colborne.

His wife, Margaret, is a Belleville girl. They have two daughters, Margaret Ann, 16 and Joan Louise, 13.

A REASONABLE PRICE FOR AN EDUCATION

Segregationists in the southern states, seeking ethods of circumventing the ruling of the U.S. Sureme Court that public schools must be desegregated, ave on several occasions suggested that the states isband their public school systems. They have enisioned the states then providing financial aid for ate schools, which would not be subject to the upreme Court's ruling.

Now a newspaper in the Deep South, the Standard of Brewton, Alabama, has rung a change on this theme. The Standard's editor recently advocated the repeal of an Alabama law which requires children to attend school, but he did so not to retain segregation in spite of the Supreme Court's ruling but to make possible the integration of the state's public schools without the outbreaks of violence which have occurred in several southern communities. He would have these schools opened to children of all races, but would leave it up to the families to determine whether or not their children should attend them. Integration, he contends, seems "a fair and reasonable price to pay for an education." But those families who disagreed with his view would not have to pay the price. If they wished they could keep their children out of school altogether, which they cannot do now without breaking the state law.

The Christian Science Monitor of Boston reprinted the Standard's article and promptly received a letter from a Virginia man assailing the suggestion. "When our very existence is imperilled because we must develop attitudes and skills to meet such competition (from Russia) as has never before been known, we are calmly faced with such as proposal as this," he protests.

Of course he is right. If compulsory education should be abandoned, the U.S. would indeed, in his words, "be ripe for the plucking of any authoritatian power that cares to take command."

Moreover, integrated schools, where all children learn to live with children with skins of a different color, provide our best hope that the children of bigots will not grow up with the same racial prejudices as their parents possess.

Yet would it not be glorious to be able to afford such a policy as the Standard suggests? In our increasingly complex world, the future belongs to the educated. The Standard's plan would reserve positions of influence for the children of families not so blinded by race hatred as to refuse them an education in integrated schools. It would automatically guarantee that, in another generation, no influential people would raise their voices in support of race segregation.

MOODS AND THE WEATHER

Wonder whether "mood" and "muse" are derived from the same word; did they have a family quarrel way back there among the Greeks or the Romans and decide to wend their separate ways? "The Monster," a sway-backed old mammoth of a dictionary, leans towards us from its neighboring shelf, begging to be consulted, but we have not the strength for the task.

Anyway, no matter what The Monster says, we still think success in wooing the muse is largely a question of being in the right mood. We were in the right mood last week to write a sparkling editorial on the wonders of the Canadian winter. We were in the mood to wax estatic over bright blue skies above dazzling white landscape. We were in the mood to praise the tingle of wind whipping out of the Arctic. We were in the mood to pity those who would seek the soft skies of the south, when they could stay in Canada and enjoy the invigorating nip of zero air.

We were in the mood - - but we were busy. And now, when we have the time, we have lost the blue skies (they are a dirty grey), and the dazzling white landscape (it is spattered with mud), and the ice-cold winds (the air is now just chilly and wet like a baby who has fallen into a mud puddle). We have lost all this - - and we have lost the mood.

The lost mood is really what worries us. It is the essential ingredient. Which perhaps proves, better than a paean of praise sung on a bright, cold day, that there is something about days like that which make life worth living and that the Canadian winter can be enjoyable on those days, alas too rare, when it is not remembering November or dreaming of March.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright 1958, Edgar A. Guest)

By EDGAR A. GUEST

HE SAID "HELLO!"

I thought I was down on my luck
And imagined my liver was bad.
I thought I had lost all my pluck
And hadn't a cause to be glad.
And I moped as I went on my way
With a frown that was frightful to see,
Till a friend with a smile said: "Good day!"
And shouted: "Hello there!" to me.

Then my head went right up in the air
And my lips formed a trace of a smile.
I seemed to take hold of my care,
For I'd carried it mile after mile,
Just as though it were nothing at all
And I sang like the birds in the tree,
For it seemed that my troubles were small
When he shouted: "Hello there!" to me.

I've been thinking about it a lot,
And concluded our "blues" are unreal.
We imagine we're down, when we're not,
And we're only too ready to squeal.
We go with a face that is glum
And loudly our fortunes we cuss
While we wait for somebody to come
With a smile, shouting: "Hello!" to us.

French Court and Horses

By JOHN GOULD in the Christian Science Monitor

The French supreme court has just decreed that race horses and farm horses are the same thing—specifically, that a man paying off wagers at the race track window is an agricultural laborer and comes under the Ministry of Agriculture. This decision has not proved popular with the men at the windows, who hoped to find themselves in a better paying category, but it shows how judges can embrace about anything and retain their aplomb.

I noticed the Associated Press made the obvious remark — that a lot of race fans felt they had detected plow-horses mannerisms in losing favorites, but it remains for me to point out the opposite. I have always been aghast at the way farm horses, every time I am around, think they are race horses. They get to thinking like these French judges, and become absurd.

We did have one horse who really was a race horse. He had been famous in his time, but that was years long gone by. Nobody could remember just what records he once held, but everybody agreed he'd held some. We swapped a small load of late hay for him, thinking he'd be good for raking hay and cultivating. He lounged around, mostly, and the hardest work he ever did for us was pull the truck fork rope when we ran hay up in the mows. But he never forgot his former fame, and reminded us of it whenever he could.

Somebody said once this horse might make a fair saddle horse Here in Maine we went more for buggies, and riding on top was left to the society folks, but we did have an old McClellan saddle in the tie-up. It may have belonged to the original McClellan. I hoisted it on the horse one afternoon when I was in an experimental mood, and climbed aboard. I was younger, then.

The horse turned his head and looked up at me with withering scorn. I glared back with equally unfeigned disadmiration, which is as good a way to handle a horse as there is. We thus spent some time glaring, after which he put his head down and began to canter. Then I drew gently back on the reins, clucking gently, trying to prevail upon him with the gentleness and tenderness so much recommended by the great horsemen of the world. I spoke to him and appealed to his better nature, if any.

Then I pulled harder on the reins, and as my determination increased I had him so he looked as if his mouth was split clean back to his withers, and he kept on eating as unconcerned as a hen an eggs. Some horses are said to be "strong in the mouth." This one was strong clear back to his tail. And, you know, it is a ridiculous thing to be all accoutered for a canter, and just sit up there while your horse finishes his dinner.

So I climbed down, whereupon the horse picked up his head, snorted, and struck off for a fine run up the road. He was gone about four hours, saddle and all.

The next day a small boy down the road came up and tried him, and the horse turned out to be a fine saddle horse for small boys. The small boy rode him for years, but whenever I went near him he thought he was one of those French judges.

We had a respectable old horse named Joe who had grown old in the service and was as reliable as the sun. Hs always worked as nigh horse of a team, so whenever we hitched him to a pung or buggy he would pull to the left. He had a way of crossing directly in front of anybody we were meeting on the road, and this manufactured some confusion every time it happened.

No matter how many times it had occurred, you were always somewhat unready for it, and as you jerked on the line to bring Joe back, he would suddenly entertain the illusion that he was a race horse. Joe had feet like bushel baskets, and he would rattle them off down the road, tossing gravel, covering the next mile in about 1:57.25. Then he would be done, and he would stand in his tracks and rest with much care, leaning against the atmosphere and snoring. No power controlled by man could make him move until he had rested. Once he stopped just below the schoolhouse, and while he rested I went in the bushes and picked seven quarts of blueberries.

Then we had Lizzie, a matronly mare who thought she was a race horse if you backed her up. You could go forwards with her forever and she was safe and clever, but if you pulled on the lines and said, "Back up, Liz," you were in for it. She'd throw caution to the winds, close her eyes so her ears were pulled forward, hump up like a catapult, and back at full tilt. We couldn't break her of it.

When we put her in the fills, we had to have the wagon backup against the barn to take the shock, and she would come back against the wiffletrees and make the barn boom like a drum. You could slow her down some by guiding her from the bridle, but as long as we had her nobody ever learned to do this. Before you thought, you'd say, "Back, Liz!" and your neck would snap like the end of a snake whip, and you'd have kerosene all over the flour, and mustard on the molasses jug, and all the people around the village wondering what you were trying to do. The French supreme court is a couple of generations too late to qualify poor Liz, wrong end to, for the Preakness.

My uncle had a horse he'd trained to go like the wind if you yelled "whoa,' and to stop only if you said "giddy-ap." Uncle was an interesting fellow. He loaned this horse to a friend who wanted to take the schoolteacher on a picnic, and shortly after they left the couple were seen going through Sabattus at race-track momentum, both calling whoa with much purpose, but no effect. The romance was delayed, but my uncle felt he had been richly repaid for his trouble He enjoyed that. I think the French supreme court would have laughed, too. At least in those days. I don't know about now, after this decision.

Stool Pigeon Was for Birds

Windsor Star

Many terms in common parlance in these modern days originated so far back their origins either are forgotten or overlooked. "Stool pigeon" offers a good example.

It dates at least as far back as the days when carrier pigeons roamed this continent in their swarms of millions. They were brutally exterminated, their bodies being packed and sold, being considered a delicacy.

The "pigeon hunters" would find a spot where these pigeons nested. They would kill them with guns, clubs or anything handy. But a most successful method was to net them. This is where the "stool pigeon" was involved. A large net would be spread on the ground; the captive stool pigeon, one leg tied by a slight string, would feed on the grain scattered on the net. He would attract droves of other pigeons. Then the net would be closed.

The poor stool pigeon didn't know what he was doing. His eyes would be sewn shut, so he couldn't see. He was the unwitting lure which meant death to the others.

The modern stool pigeon usuallly is someone who has been involved in crime, or at least lives on the verge of crime. He is the top-off man who aids police to get criminals into their net. As with the original stool pigeons, he is used for a purpose.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A DOMINANT FAITH

There are certain things that dominate our lives, without which we might not know what to do. We might just flounder and bring no good into the world, or brush all incentive away from us. There are few human beings who do not have the desire to be useful and happy. We must create a plan and purpose and then pursue it day by day. We need a dominant Faith to carry us through the storms and stress of the years — a Faith that will be a prop to us when the way ahead becomes full of fog and confusion.

There are endless ways in which a dominant Faith can serve us Regardless of the religious phase of Faith, it can become a powerful influence in our lives, and influence others as well. Life is difficult at times, but this Faith can overcome all doubt, and all fear. We were put into the world to master life as best we can, and then get on with the work we feel most capable of handling. I like to think of Faith as a powerful ozone made manifest in the heart, or perhaps the soul!

Faith is best inherited. Then we can keep polishing it for any and all emergencies. Faith keeps lessening our fears, our doubts, and disbeliefs. There is hardly anything that Faith can't remedy. It is really as essential as the air we breathe. It wipes out worries right off the map In the beautiful little book, "The Roadmender," by Michael Fairless (Margaret Fairleas Barber) she said: "To have faith is to create; to have hope is to call down blessing; to have love is to work miracles."

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 31st, 1938

Rebuilding of the United Church at Rossmore is progressing satisfactorily. The church was destroyed by fire last fall.

The spring assize opens at the court house tomorrow with Mr. Justice McKay presiding. Only one case is on the docket. It is a non-jury case and the jury assembled for the court session has been dismissed.

Orchards are coming through the winter in good condition; there has been no winter killing so far according to Mr. C. T. Stevenson of the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture with branch office here.

Miss Dorothy Rowland and Miss Patricia Rowland of Kingston were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Knowles, William Sreet.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Cummings of Edmonton and Mrs. W. C. Pitman of Stirling were guests during last week of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Patterson, Corbyville.

The Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, Col. E. A. Geen and Mr. T. Y. Wills will attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Anglican Diocese of Ontario in Kingston on Tuesday.

Mr. Charles L. Walters, of this city, High Secretary of the Independent Order of Foresters for the eastern jurisdiction in the province, attended a meeting of the executive committee in Brockville, the latter part of the week.

Temperatures: Today — Max. 33; Min. 19.

From our file copy at this time in 1888: Several pumps in public wells are frozen and people have to go a considerable distance to get water. The street surveyor should apply the necessary remedy at once.

Fire Chief Brown in his annual report states that during 1927 there were 96 fire calls and the loss from fire during the year was $17,005-06. Since 1920 the calls and losses have been as follows:
1920, 40 calls, loss $41,728.00;
1921, 48 calls, loss $18,554.50;
1922, 64 calls, loss $17,699.15;
1923, 111 calls, loss $30,764.75;
1924, 76 calls, loss $26,988.25;
1925, 72 calls, loss $18,887.50;
1926, 88 calls, loss $34,946.23;
1927, 96 calls, loss $17,005.06.;

Mr. and Mrs. Homer DeMill, Melrose, have returned home after spending three months in Pasadena, California; they also visited Chicago.

Mr. Sam Dudley of Colborne was in town today.

Mr. Thomas Wills, city fuel controller, is a very busy man dealing with citizens who are calling on him for assistance in obtaining coal. During the past two days twelve cars of hard coal arrived here and it was soon disposed of. Today the price dropped to $10.00 per ton and the reduction is much appreciated by citizens.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held a social gathering at the Engineer's Hall on Pine Street. Euchre was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Callaghan and Mr. Alexander. Dancing was enjoyed for some time and refreshments were served. The affair was most enjoyable and successful.

Miss Knight of Bowmanville is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. A. Bonisteel, Chatham Street.

Mrs. C. A. Hadden of Picton is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. J. Clarke, Foster Avenue.

Coal Removed from Citizen's House. In order to help relieve the coal shortage twelve tons of coal were removed from the coal bins of a citizen who with his family is spending the winter out of town. The coal was removed upon the order of the owner.

Tied Up by Storm. This describes pretty well the situation here. The snow storm began late last night and it is still going full force. As a result there are now drifts and traffic is virtually at a stand still. A man drove in from Foxboro today and it took him four hours to make the trip.

Pictures are now being sent wireless telegraphy; a miracle as marvelous as any recorded in fairy tales.

Mrs. L. R. Buller of Trenton is the guest of Mrs. J. R. Davis, Albert Street.

Presentations at the High School. At the Belleville high school this afternoon a pleasing event took place when presentations were made to Miss McRae and Mr. H. J. Clarke, B. A., two popular teachers who resigned from the staff recently to assume other duties. Miss McRae was presented with a handsome pendant and chain and Mr. Clarke received a high grade Morris chair. The address was read by Max Waters.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Prim people give themselves full credit for their primness. They are entirely unaware of the fact that they were born prim. All the fastidious principles they hold so firmly to their bosoms they suppose they have selected themselves, unaided by biology, physiology or anthropology. They are straight-laced, they imagine, by choice. But one thing I have noticed. Prim people all look alike. Now, do they look prim because they are prim? Or are they prim because they look prim?

I vote for the latter. At a recent reunion of my old high school, I met quite a number of survivors of more than sixty years of life, with all its ups and downs, trials and tribulations. It was wonderful to see how these half-forgotten companions of nearly half a century ago turned out. Most of them had turned out exactly as forecast by their childhood. But the striking thing was how prim the prim little boys still are, and especially how prim the little girls have remained into their exhausting sixties. Nothing life had done to them had altered in the least the primness they possessed as teen agers. The rowdy ones are still rowdy. The solemn ones still solemn. The tricky ones still tricky But you could see they had been kicked around by life.

But oho, not the prim ones.

Apparently life does not kick around the prim.

They are born in ready-made armor.

Clutter Up Schools

Kingston Whig-Standard

A good many school children should be either in some technical institution or at work. Thre is no virtue in keeping them at academic work where they only clutter up the schoolrooms and hold back pupils who want to get on. The school-leaving age of sixteen is not a divine law — it is merely an arbitrarily chosen figure.

Old Fogies are Unteachable

A reader has almost convinced his wife that she will not catch cold if she happens to get her feet wet.

I don't know how long the man has been working at it or how old his wife may be, but if he didn't begin before she was forty, he might just as well have held his breath. Past forty, they are unteachable.

A Connecticut reader says her husband insists he's the best judge of what to wear in cold or hot weather. "No matter what you say about it he won't listen. In regard to the children, he leaves it to me, but I find it difficult when people interfere, as do the in-laws. They seem to think you are sick of mind when you teach that everyone should wear or leave off whatever he or she prefers for comfort. So I pretend I'm deaf and leave it to the children to do as they wish. This policy has proved fine for their health so far."

The last two words may or may not indicate a lingering doubt in the lady's mind. What assurance has any one who doesn't know me, or for that matter any one who does, that I'm not a crackpot, after all?

Formerly, whenever I tried to teach that exposure to cold and damp does not cause chronic joint disability, elderly readers were sure to reproach me, some of them expressing the hope, and implying doubt, that I would not have the rheumatism (they were not yet hep to the trick specialist's name for it) when I got a little older.

Well, I am a little older, and still going strong, because (1) in my youth I never did apply hot and rebellious liquors etc.; (2) I have been rolling morning somersaults (3) I have supplemented my diet with a good daily ration of the essential elements (including iodin) and vitamins for many years.

A New Jersey reader says he enjoys wearing just a shirt minus undershirt, and he wants to dress that way all winter, but his wife, his sister, his parents, some of the neighbors and even fellow workers tell him he's crazy, that it will lead to colds or the flu or even pneumonia if he persists in wearing insufficient clothing when the weather gets really cold.

Except the man's sister, all his advisers seem to be old fogies. You can't teach old fogies anything about "exposure" to cold and damp, so I shall not try.

SEEKING DIVINE GUIDANCE

St. Paul had a young protege, a minister named Timothy, whom he himself had ordained. He always referred to this young man as his son, and a son he was indeed in the spirit.

Paul wrote two letters to Timothy which have survived the centuries and have come down to us. In his second epistle, writing undoubtedly from a Roman prison, Paul asks Timothy to bring him a cloak which he had left, and to bring certain books, and especially the parchments.

The latter were undoubtedly Paul's copy of the Old Testament. The New Testament had not yet been written, save that Paul had written certain letters which in later generations would be included in this later collection of Scripture and given the name of the New Testament. But Paul himself was a diligent student of the Old Testament.

We remarked how often Our Lord prayed, and from this circumstance we draw the conclusion that if Christ needed to pray, how much more do we need to do so. In like manner, we should note that Paul — destined to be the author of thirteen of the Bible's sixty-six books — was a diligent student of the Old Testament, years before the New Testament appeared.

Health of soul then and now requires a diligent and continuous searching of God's word to find out what is His will for us.

U.S. Paper Hits Oil Move

Milwaukee Sunday Journal

It is fantastic, indeed, when action taken in the name of national defence puts a violent new strain on relations with our biggest neighbor, staunchest ally and best customer. Yet that is the effect on our ties with Canada of the extension to certain Western States of the "voluntary" reduction in crude oil imports that has been in force in the ast since last July.

The bill of goods that domestic oil producters have sold the Administration is that imports of cheaper foreign oil must be curbed or there won't be adequate domestic supplies in a war emergency. The incentive of a protected market — over and above the incentive of the 27½ per cent depletion allowance that lets oilmen get richer at the expense of other taxpayers — must be provided, so the argument runs, or our oil people won't seek out and develop new reserves.

Completely ignored is the more cogent argument that, once used up, our limited oil supplies won't be available for any future crisis.

In the case of Canada, and to a lesser degree Venezuela, the defence argument falls flat. Alberta oil—developed, incidentally, largely with United States capital—is as safe as oil in Texas or Oklahoma, and virtually as available in an emergency. It is a resource that ought to be developed if there is to be logical meaning to the administration's concept that defence should be continental in scope, not national.

Principal Western users of Canadian oil are refineries in the state of Washington. They are connected with the Canadian wells by pipeline. Pointedly, Donald Fleming, Canada's Minister of Finance, has reminded our Administration that these refineries "were established with the actual encouragement of th United States defence authorities." This was on the grounds that there is no local production of crude oil, water transportation is vulnerable in wartime, and an assured supply of Canadian crude by pipe line is a desirable for the security of the Pacific Northwest.

Restricting the entry of Canadian oil is appeasement of American producers, pure and simple. And not to be lost sight of is the fact that it will add more millions to the estimated $50 million a year that American consumers are now paying for domestic oil that they are forced to use in place of the cheaper, foreign product kept out by restrictions.

There is nothing wrong about secret diplomacy, despite the disfavor attached to it by American-inspired idealism following the First World War. What is bad is keeping secret the agreements once they're arrived at. But the world's problem now is arriving at the agreements. Its problem — and absolute necessity. Intelligent secret diplomacy offers the best hope.

Mathematics and Science To Be Stressed in Schools

TORONTO (CP) — Education Minister Dunlop has promised increased emphasis on mathematics and science in Ontario's schools and universities.

The minister, reporting Thursday on a conference he held last week with leaders of the province's seven universities, said he was "authorized to assure the people of Ontario that the universities are stressing English. Mathematics and science now and will increase the emphasis on these subjects of study."

More students would be persuaded to take science and mathematics. The universities intended to make the subjects more difficult so as to improve standards.

In addition, a plan had been produced to provide teachers with more training in mathematics and science through summer school courses.

Dr. Dunlop said the conference decided unanimously it would be unwise to establish junior colleges. Such a move might lower academic standards and would make heavy demands on construction grants and the supply of teachers.

JUGGLE TIMES

The university delegates promised more accommodation could be provided by juggling time tables if necessary, said Dr. Dunlop.

The minister said that last year 16,385 Grade 12 students were enrolled in science courses, more than in any other option in the general course. Mathematics was next with 15,487, followed by French with 12,645 and Latin with 8,454.

Ontario students were taking more mathematics and science than students in the United States and "the depth of treatment is in general much greater."

The university conference was attended by executives and professors of mathematics and science from the University of Toronto, Queen's University of Kingston, University of Western Ontario in London, McMaster University of Hamilton, the University of Ottawa, Carleton University in Ottawa, Assumption University of Windsor and the Ontario College of Education.

FULL USE OF SPACE

Increased use of laboratory and lecture room space would be achieved by adjusting timetables so required space would be in full use both afternoons and mornings.

Dr. Dunlop said the university day will be lengthened when necessary.

'From time immemorable lecture rooms have been filled in the forenoons while laboratories are empty and they are not in use in afternoons when laboratories are full. Accommodation could be almost double by changing the timetables."

Pulp and Paper Strike in B.C. May Be Settled

VANCOUVER (CP) — Delegates of British Columbia's 6,000 striking pulp and paper workers returned to their locals today to seek approval for a proposed settlement of the 11-week-old work stoppage that has cost more than $50,000,000 in lost production.

The proposals were agreed on Thursday night after seven days of meetings between union officials and representatives of the seven companies involved.

Spokesmen for both sides refused to reveal precise details but they said the proposed new contract includes: "a change in wage structure" to be made in instalments during the life of the contract; improved provisions for paid holidays and vacations; settlement of seniority disputes, disagreements over details and in life of the contract beyond the one-year period covered by previous contracts.

WILL VOTE ON IT

Manager D. R. Blair of the Pulp and Paper Industrial Relations Bureau, which has represented the companies in negotiations, said the proposed settlement will be put to membership of the two striking unions in a referendum. Results likely will be known Monday night.

International Vice - President John Sherman of the Pulp and Sulphite Workers Union said the unions gained substantial concessions and were "within reach of our objective."

The companies have maintained that depressed market conditions make it impossible for them to settle otherwise than on the basis of the report of a conciliation board, which recommended a 7½-per-cent wage increase. The unions asked a 12-per-cent raise.

The present basic rate is $1.72 an hour.

SAY APPROVED

Unofficial reports after the meeting said the 7½-per-cent increase had been approved in the proposed settlement as an initial raise with further increases to follow during the contract period.

Electronic Rifle Range Set Up By Army

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CAMP BORDEN (CP) — An electronic rifle range, first major change in Canadian marksmanship training since the Boer war, has been demonstrated to Canada's infantry regiment commanders.

Three more of the four-phase ranges, designed to produce a finished rifleman from a raw recruit in 80 hours—half to one-third the time now required—are scheduled to be built by June 1 in Cagary, Petawawa, Ont., and Valcartier, Que.

"After extensive trials, the new ranges will be built in other military centres, possibly by next fall," Col. N. G. Wilson-Smith, Canadian army director of infantry, said Thursday.

"It's a little embarrassing that something so basic was overlooked for so long." Col. Wilson-Smith said, terming the new range the first major switch in marksmanship training in 50 years.

BY SILHOUETTES

Deep, concrete butts with their towering "bulls-eye"-type targets are replaced by pop-up, fibre figure silhouettes spotted at varying ranges over different types of terrain. Riflemen must find the target in the brief period it is exposed, aim and fire.

When hit, the waist-up silhouette falls to the ground and the rifleman continues his advance.

The extensive butt parties, which raise and lower the targets in the old-ranges, are placed by one man at a switchboard who controls the popping targets with buttons.

The old, permanent ranges cost about $150,000 for the concrete installations, Col. Wilson - Smith said. The 54 portable targets and their installations here cost about $16,000.

"A full-unit construction of 60 to 70 targets would cost us about $20,000," he said.

ON U.S. IDEA

The new range is patterned after a United States idea and teaches recruits to find their target and fire swiftly, with stress placed on the importance of a "first-round hit."

"Also," the colonel said, "a soldier can tell immediately if he has made a hit." Another soldier walks behind the advancing rifleman, correcting his aim with each shot.

Basic weapon on the range is the new FN (C1) semi-automatic rifle, which shoots 20 rounds as fast as the soldier can pull the trigger.

The colonel said:

"The recruit first learns the mechanics of handling his rifle on a stationary silhouette target at 25 yards. Then he moves on to apply what he has learned on the falling targets at ranges up to 350 yards."

ON LIVE TARGETS

After that, the recruit visits a third location, where he is trained to spot live targets hidden in varying types of terrain.

He shows what he has learned in the fourth phase, the forest range where targets are hidden beside trees and in clumps of bushes, with only 30 seconds to find each target, aim and fire.

The colonel said the change in teaching techniques resulted from lessons learned in Kenya, Malaya and Korea.

"We just weren't getting the return in hits for the number of shots fired.

"The Americans pioneered this system. They asked the question that should have been asked years ago—what are we trying to hit and under what conditions in battle?

"The answer certainly wasn't a well-illuminated bulls-eye."

FOR SEAWAY

ROTTERDAM (AP) — The Dutch Oranje Lines announced Thursday that it plans to have two new ships ready to go through the St. Lawrence seaway when it opens next year. One of the ships will be christened Princess Margriet, after Queen Juliana's third daughter who was born near Ottawa during the war. The 8,500 ton cargo liner will carry 110 passengers.

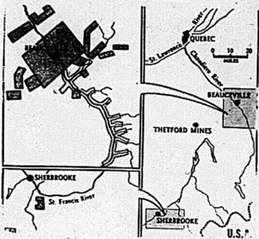
GOLD REDISCOVERED



Miners' drills are probing a section of Beauce County in Quebec where a Toronto mining company has staked 75,000 acres in an old placer gold-producing area.

Gold has been rediscovered in areas where mining was carried on as early as the 1820s but later abandoned as unprofitable. M. J. Boylen, who has widespread mining interests in Eastern Canada and is head of the Toronto firm, says the area has "important possibilities."

This map shows the areas which the Boylen organization has staked. The 75,000-acre area (top left) lies along the Chaudiere River and its tributaries near the town of Beauceville, 45 miles south of Quebec City. Another area (bottom left), also staked by the Boylen organization, lies near the St. Francis River 10 miles south of Sherbrooke.

Largest block in the Beauceville area and the section along the Chaudiere and its tributaries (dotted lines) will be developed by a new company being formed to take over the Boylen holdings. Smaller areas have been staked for companies of which Mr. Boylen is president.

Municipalities Likely to Get Increased Grants for Roads, Education at New Session

TORONTO (CP) — Substantial increases in Ontario's education bill, now running more than $100,000,000 a year, are expected during the provincial legislature session opening Monday.

Premier Frost's Progressive Conservative government, which holds 82 of the 98 House seats, is also expected to increase spending on public works and highways and in assistance grants to municipalities.

Other than the spending theme, there has been little advance speculation on legislation to be outlined in the speech from the throne to be read by the province's new lieutenant - governor, Hon. J. Keiller Mackay, former Supreme Court justice who took office Dec. 31.

There is some speculation in political circles that this session, fourth for the province's 25th legislature, may be the last before a provincial general election. The legislature was elected in 1955 for a five-year term but Ontario elections have frequently been called at three-year intervals.

NEW SYSTEM OF GRANTS

A factor in increased spending on elementary and secondary education is likely to be a new system of grants based on a uniform province-wide assessment. This plan was forecast a year ago by Provincial Treasurer Porter. Also expected are increased aid to universities, establishment of a loan fund for students and an increase in bursaries financed jointly with the Dominion government.

There is talk of some amendments to the province's Labor Relations Act, now being studied by a select committee of the legislature established a year ago. However, the committee has not yet finished its work. It is expected to make an interim report and to ask that it be re-established for another year to complete its studies, aimed at complete overhaul of the law.

Unemployment and farm marketing legislation are expected to be among the major targets for the two opposition leaders—Farquhar Oliver, Liberal, and Donald C. MacDonald, CCF. There is one Liberal-Labor member, Albert Wren of Kenora, who formerly supported the Liberals but fell out with Mr. Oliver since the last session.

STUDY INSURANCE

The session is expected to study the mechanics of Ontario's hospital insurance plan, due to come into force next Jan. 1, although no new legislation is in prospect.

Four new Progressive Conservative members, all elected at by-elections, will take their seats for the first time during the session: Fernand Guindon of Glengarry, William Stewart of Middlesex North Dr. J. A. McCue of Lanark and Ron McNeil of Elgin.

There are two vacancies in the House Huron was made vacant this month by the death of Thomas Pryde. This week Philip Kelly, former mines minister, resigned his Cochrane North seat to seek a federal nomination. Both were Progressive Conservatives

Youth Given Six Months On Theft Charge

DESERONTO — In Police Court in Belleville last Thursday Keith Allison and William Young appeared for sentence on a charge of breaking and entering. Allison was sentenced to six months definite and three months indefinite while Young was given two years' suspended sentence. They were apprehended after breaking into the Ideal Vender Co. building on West Main St.

In Deseronto Police Court on Friday, John Martin and Cecil Green were sentenced to a month in gaol on a charge of theft. The charge of having possession of stolen goods against E. Beauchesne was dismisesd. The charges arose from the theft of a chain saw from a car at the hotel some time ago.

NO FIRE DAMAGE

The first fire alarm in three months took the fire department to the Lions hall on Friday night shortly after midnight. A teen-age dance was in progress, when trouble developed in one of the oil stoves causing some alarm to the youngsters. After shutting off the stove and cooling down the pipes the firemen returned to the station and the dance proceeded. It was just an added feature for the kids.

The Mohawk Ploughmen's Association were hosts at a well attended euchre held in the recreation room of the Indian Day School on Friday night of last week. A most enjoyable evening was spent by a crowd that filled the room. After the game, the men served refreshments.

The winners were as follows: ladies, Mrs. Velma Hall, Mrs. A. E. Hill, Mrs. E. Moore; men's, William Conley, Franklin Green, Norman Davis; lone hands, William Conley; door prize, Mrs. H. A. Moody.

Wedding

VANCE — CRAWFORD

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Captain E. J. Ivany, of the Salvation Army, 43 Henry Street, on January 20, when Claudette Bernice Crawford, of Malone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Crawford, became the bride of Elmer Bernard Vance, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Vance.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Charles Thorne, sister of the bridegroom, who was attended by his brother, Mr. Donald Vance.

The young couple are residing at Cedardale Motel.

B.P.W. Club Outlines 'Spring Coffee' Party

The January meeting of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club was held at the home of the president, Miss Hilda Collier, as an evening meeting. Guests attending were introduced and warmly welcomed by the president.

In response to a request from the Arthritis and Rheumatism Association, Miss Hilda Collier was named as representative on the Board of this Association.

A group of members interested in aluminum etching will meet for classes in this work under the leadership of Mrs. Mildred Denyer. Dates of the classes and materials required were outlined.

Chairman of Ways and Means committee, Mrs. Eva Doolittle, outlined plans for the annual Spring Coffee [illegible] to be held late in April. [illegible] prize for this event will [illegible] reversible skirt donated by Mrs. Doolittle and Mr. Shulman of McNabb's. The talent table auction is to be held at the March meeting.

A letter of appreciation was read from Miss Margaret Potter, nurse-in-training, who was the recipient this year of the Club scholarship.

Following conclusion of the business, the film "Land of the Long Day", was shown through the courtesy of the Belleville Film Council. This was informative and entertaining.

Tea was served by the hostess following adjournment of the meeting.

VON Awards 50 Bursaries

OTTAWA (CP)—The Victorian Order of Nurses will award 50 bursaries this year to help nurses attend university.

The VON said Thursday that the bursaries, valued at $750 each, will go to nurses who agree to work in localities where their services are most needed following graduation.

The board of management of the order, which met here earlier this week, reported that a new branches has been established at Elliot Lake.

70 Attend C.E. Fellowship Supper at 'Y'

The Child Evangelism Fellowship of Belleville held its annual fellowship supper on Monday evening at the YMCA. Mr. Wilbur Wright, chairman of the committee, presided.

About 70 sat down to prettily decorated tables, well laden with all manner of good things to eat. The Rev. S. Palmer gave the invocation. Following the meal, a hearty sing-song was led by Mr. Angus Hannah, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Gardner Welsh.

Miss Lenore Dixon favored the audience with two lovely solos, accompanied by Mrs. Ernie Belch on the piano.

A report was given by the city director, Mrs. E. Musclow, telling of the 16 home Bible clubs in the area. The three people closely related, to each of these clubs, are the teacher, who teaches the lesson; the hostess, who opens her home, and invites the children in, and the prayer partner, who prays daily for the needs of the club. A teacher training class is held the second and fourth Monday nights, at 27 North Park St. Any Sunday School teachers or children's workers are welcome to attend these classes.

A visualized hymn, "To God Be the Glory," was demonstrated and the memory verse correlated with the lesson taught, was visualized and taught by Mrs. J. Weese. The teacher of teachers, Mrs. A. Hannah, demonstrated the lesson of the evening from Daniel.

The Rev. J. Spearman read the Scripture and led in prayer.

Miss Ella Woodside, the provincial field representative, gave a soul-searching explanation of her colored slides, depicting the summer and winter Bible clubs.

Mr. Glenn Daugharty, the publicity chairman, brought to attention the needs of Child Evangelism, in the light of the verse, Matthew 18:14: "Even so it is not the will of your Father which is in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish." The question is "What are we doing to reach the unchurched children of our city?"

Mr. Wilbur Wright closed the meeting.

Allow Women To Sit in House of Lords

LONDON (AP)—The House of Lords approved without a dissenting vote Thursday night a bill that would allow women to become members of the chamber for the first time.

The bill, framed by the government, calls for the creation of life peers—both men and women whose titles will not pass to their children in the traditional manner.

The measure, which now goes to the House of Commons, is intended to widen membership of the upper house.

At present no women sit in the House of Lords, and all seats, except for a few reserved for legal and church officials, are passed on to the holder's eldest son.

Congregational Meetings

FOXBORO PRESEBYTERIAN

The annual meeting of Foxboro Presbyterian Church was held on Wednesday night in the form of a pot-luck supper. Forty-five sat down to a bountiful repast, after which they retired to the body of the church to hold their business meeting.

The Rev. D. C. McLelland, from St. Andrew's, Trenton, moderator of the Foxboro charge, acting as chairman, opened the meeting with a hymn. The Scripture lesson, read by Mr. E. Wannamaker, was followed by prayer. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Tribute was paid by a minute's silence, followed with prayer by Mr. McLeland to the late Rev. M. Heslip of Madoc, past moderator and in loving memory of the church members who had passed to their reward during the year.

Reports and all statements given were most encouraging.

A number of new families have been received, into the fellowship of the church. Much credit is given to the student minister, Mr. Earl Wannamaker, for his untiring efforts, in the whole field.

Those holding office were reinstated for another year.

After singing a hymn and prayer, the meeting was adjourned.

HOLLOWAY ST. UNITED

On Wednesday evening the annual congregational meeting of Holloway Street United Church was held in the Sunday school rooms. Some 150 members and adherents sat down to an excellent potluck supper. The tables were tastefully decorated with yellow daffodils as the motif. The ladies were suitably thanked by Rev. T. F. Townsend and it was undoubtedly the best arranged supper that the congregation had had in a number of years.

During the evening the assembly was entertained by Miss Audrey Elgie, who sang "The Stranger of Galilee," and by Messrs. Barry and Brent Daniels who played a trumpet duet. Both these numbers were accompanied by Mrs. E. Hubbs at the piano.

The Rev. C. W. Coleman, the minister, was chairman of the evening and reviewed the 11 months since he had come to Belleville noting in particular that it had been a time of organization and integration for both himself and the congregation. Mr. Coleman also commented on the co-operation and help extended to him and his family during this period.

Bill Campbell showed an excellent stewardship film entitled, "The Split-Level Family," which left everyone with something to think about in relation to their stewardship of church affairs.

The balance of the evening was spent in listening to reports from the various groups and organizations and it was a most heart-warming observation that without exception each group had exceeded their objectives for 1957. In particular it was noted that the emphasis had been placed on spiritual values—those intangible things which have cemented the church and its groups into a well integrated, co-operative body concerned with the affairs of the community and the building of the Kingdom.

A gift, in the form of a beautiful Bible, was given to Mr. Ron Jones, the retiring superintendent of the Sunday school, in recognition of some seven years as the leader of this group. The presentation was made by Alfred Hughes, the new superintendent.

Mr. J. Fred Wilson, assisted by Miss Barbara Jones, paid tribute to the minister and his wife, asking that they accept the gifts from Miss Jones, as tokens of the congregation's esteem and appreciation.

With the observance of a moment's silence for those of the congregation who had passed on during 1957 and with a benediction from the minister, the meeting closed.

The following persons were elected to the Session: Messrs. K. Parks, E. Kerruish, W. Potter, T. Ketcheson, R. Jones, Rev. O. Wagar, S. Orr, F. Jeffery, W. Campbell; B. Moorman, W. Cone, D. McCurdy, W. Phillips, I. May, W. Spafford, E. Ricketts, C. Batt and E. Moynes. G. Dobbs and J. Shaw were elected as honorary members.

The following were elected to the Board of Stewards: Mrs. P. Holmes, Messrs. D. Ptolemy, G. Garland, N. McKibbon, E. Wood, R. Jose, M. Hick, T. Poste.

Reject Motion

QUEBEC (CP) — The private bills committee of the legislative assembly Thursday rejected a bid by the town of Rimouski for permission to collect a $5 annual tax from all gainfully employed single women.

The committee members said many young women support families and such a tax would be unfair. Counsel for Rimouski argued that since all unmarried men pay such a tax it is only fair that unmarried women also pay.

Maternity Fashions Now Come In Sunny Colors, Basic Tones

By MARY FRAN BURKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Mothers-to-be today can have a choice among youthful and flattering clothes for themselves while they shop for nursery furnishings.

So says baby counsellor Ruth Parsons of Toronto, who has recommendations not only on choice of becoming styles, but on health diets to preserve glowing looks.

"Pick out the right neckline and shoulder detail, the right fabric and above all the right silhouette in choosing your wardrobe,' she said.

Maternity fashions now come in bright, sunny colors as well as in basic tones. Make sure the jacket fabric is non-clinging and that the skirt has a slim stem-like look.

BALANCED DIET

"A well-balanced diet is essential," she warns. It should contain the proper ration of protein, fat and carbohydrate besides adequate vitamins and minerals. If special adjustment is needed in diet, the doctor will advise.

Selection should come from a wide range of foods such as all the fruits, vegetables, meat, milk, butter, cheese and eggs. As calcium and phosphorous are minerals which are important in a child's development the best sources are found in milk, cheese, eggs and in smaller amounts of green vegetables. The fluid part of the diet is important, and you should drink plenty of water.

A before-baby-comes holiday is a wonderful pick-up for an expectant mother. However, Miss Parson advises consultation with the doctor before making plans.

For the mother expecting her first child, furnishing the nursery presents a few problems.

Miss Parsons said basic furnishing should include a crib, a chest of drawers, a bedroom chair, a bathinette and a plastic-covered pail for diapers.

SAVE BENDING

Of all this equipment, Miss Parsons said the crib is the most important. The mattress should be at your own hip level to save bending. The mattress itself should be firm but not hard in order to produce proper spinal development for the child. Ticking should be sturdy and waterproof if possible. A pillow should never be used.

If you don't want to go to the expense of buying a bathinette, a solid old-fashioned table about the height of a kitchen table is ideal. Paint it white or a pretty pastel shade and make a quilted cover. Washable plastic is practical here. Use a plastic bathtub on the table.

Cribs, play - pens, and high-chairs are also a necessary part of a baby's furnishings. They should be painted with non-poisonous paint, because often during a child's teething stage he will chew on a crib bars or the sides of the play-pen.

'Unit System' Explained at H-S Meeting

The regular meeting of the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association was held last Tuesday in the auditorium.

A room count was taken and Mr. Lott's room was awarded the shield.

The Federation of Home and School Associations is holding a convention at the Royal Connaught Hotel in Hamilton on April 8-9. Anyone wishing to attend should contact a member of the executive.

Mr. Anderson introduced Mrs. Sine, primary supervisor for the city, and Miss Weddell, a member of the teaching staff.

Mrs. Sine's topic was "The Unit System." Several reasons were given for initiating this system. There are many degrees of school readiness in children and they must progress at their own speed.

Miss Weddell gave an example of how she uses this system in her class.

A question and answer period followed.

Mrs. Fullerton thanked Mrs. Sine and Miss Weddell for explaining the "Unit System" to the parents.

Music Teachers' Executive Meets

The executive members of the local branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers Association met on January 27 at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. E. Boyce, Albert Street.

The newly-elected president, Mrs. E. Veley, was in charge and called on the recording secretary, Mrs. J. B. Herdman, for the minutes of the previous session which were accepted.

Correspondence and bulletins from headquarters were quickly dealt with. The report of the treasurer, Mr. William Connor, was read by Mrs. Boyce, showing bills paid up to date and a neat balance on hand.

Mrs. Herdman, who attended council in Toronto on January 8th., brought an interesting account of her impressions. These revealed a flow of information and suggestions.

It was decided to have a morning meeting in the near future, with Mr. Bell, organist of St. Thomas' Church, as the speaker, on the advantages of membership in the O.R.M.T.A.

SUMMER SCHOOL PLANS

Mrs. Herdman reported plans for summer schools, the nearest one to be held in Peterborough. She also told of the "Piano Album" being prepared by council members, covering grades I to IV of the Royal Conservatory and including piano duets. These will probably be used later in the grade books. The report told how and how not to use the crests and O.R.M.T.A. slogans.

The speaker made interesting comments on the new Canadian music publications, which will be available at conventions. Lecturers must be advised to speak on time and allow time for the teachers to examine the music so exhibited.

Following this splendid resume, the Rev. Sister Bibiana, who is a council member, reviewed many of the problems suggested by the report. She stressed vital points and urged to more interest in the workings of the council and attending such, not only elected representatives, but members in general.

The president pledged herself and the members to co-operation in carrying out the proposals.

There was a discussion of plans for the teachers to meet Boris Berlin, famous pianist teacher, examiner, and adjudicator, who will be presiding at the mid-winter examinations of the Royal Conservatory being held at Albert College early in February.

BETHEL MISSION BAND

RAWDON — Mrs. John Mulheron and Margaret entertained Bethel Mission Band for its January meeting on Saturday.

The leader, Mrs. Mulheron, displayed a large map of the world and pointed out Japan with its boundaries.

A short descriptive talk about the people and their customs gave the children a glimpse of the rice-paddies.

Later, the first Chapter of Kenji was read by Miss Faye Cooney The book gives a vivid picture of a little boy 11 and tells of his struggle to receive an education.

The president, Miss Margaret Mulheron, gave the call to worship and read the hymn "All People That on Earth Do Dwell." Judy Reid read the Bible lesson found in Matthew. The president read a special story from "The Junior Leaders Guide."

The older children wrote out a special prayer in keeping with the Study Chapter, and the younger children colored the pictures from "Our Friends in Japan."

A series of games and refreshments followed the close of the meeting.

Plans were made to hold the winter meetings in the homes.

BCI Glee Club Gives Fine Performance of 'The Mikado'

By EUGENE LANG

The perennial comedy operetta "The Mikado" of Gilbert and Sullivan was presented before a substantial audience in the Collegiate Auditorium last evening by the BCIVS Glee Club under the joint production of Clifford Templer and Linton Read.

This very popular light opera was produced in an abridged version from the longer original yet in this shortened production all the color and sparkle of the more comprehensive original were contained in the many songs, duets, trios and choruses that were chosen for the presentation used by Messrs. Templer and Read.

With a minimum of stage settings suggestive of old Nippon the backdrops designed by Mr. Ritchie and Mr. Lambert and their assisting Art Club and woodworking department members respectively, visually transported the audience into the enclosure of a typical Japanese courtyard of the aristocratic nobility. Costumes of exquisite taste and brilliantly effective Oriental design added greatly to the overall eyecatching appeal of the performers.

Principals in the large cast included Dorian Robertson as the autocratic Mikado, Peter van Everdingen as the romantic hero Nanki-Poo, Robert Miller as the befuddled and comic Ko-Ko, Douglas Heard as the hilarious Pooh-Bah, Gordon James as the quasi regal Pish-Tush, Margaret Arnott as the lovely and angelic Yum-Yum, Margaret Brant as demure Pitti-Sing and Jane Evans as comely Peep-Bo (sisters of Yum-Yum) and Marilyn Huddleston as the undelectable crone Katisha.

CONVINCING IN ROLES

All these singers were very convincing in their respective roles with only one faintly noticable miscasting in one of the male parts. With no intention of slighting any of the singers mentioned, plaudits should go to Robert Miller for his concerted abilities and also to Margaret Arnott for her careful conception of her role. Douglas Heard and Marilyn Huddleston also deserve special mention for their apt handling of difficult parts. The Madrigal in Act II was vocally well projected by all participating, also the final duet of Katisha and Ko-Ko was imparted with humor and wit. Space forbids individually evaluating each number, but dare we say that we were very fond of Yum-Yum's opening aria in Act II, "The Moon and I."

All numbers which featured the full chorus were very adequately sung with mellow timbres of sopranos floating zephyr-like here and there. In closing cadences some singers silenced themselves too soon to the point of thinning out final vocal chords now and then — don't be afraid to hold those notes.

All in all the many dozens of hours of practice at noon and after school hours were immeasurably rewarded to all the members of the Glee Club when they could look out and see the continued applause from the hundreds of appreciative listeners who loved every minute of the operetta from opening overture to closing finale. The accompaniments on the organ by Mr. Templer were very accomplished and were molded to such niceties of tonal dynamics that at no time did the playing of the organ drown out any of the vocal threads woven by the singers, whether in solo arias or full chorus.

Those in the chorus consisted of: Sandra Allen, Sylvia Allen, Beverly MacKenzie, Lois Kelly, Ann Tooth, Gwethelyn Cathers, Donna Blue, Joan Lewis, Mary Howie, Lois Bowes, Jeanne MacKenzie, Nancy Matthews, Lynn Punchard, Janice Tulk, Cheryl Eaton, Alice Layton, Joan Onderdonk, Dianne Anderson, Frances Rydman, Catherine Rorabeck, Pat Miller, Vivian Bowerman, Joan Davenport, Marjorie Bronson, Ruth Slavin, Barbara MacKenzie, Ruth Dempsey, Joan Rorabeck, Catherine Janitch, Diane Burley, Barbara Touchie, Pat Colden, Sheila Wynne, Jean Buchanan, Christine Taylor, Elsie Soble, Pat Allen, Garry Wilson, Peter Trill, Paul Bertrand, Bill Eakins and Roger Camp. Trumpeters and cymbalist were, Don Matthews, Jim Stansfield and Stewart Sprague. Make-up was by Barbara Robb and assistants and programs by Barbara Pratt.

To those who did not see last night's fine performance of "The Mikado" it is strongly suggested that you take in to-night's presentation for an evening of good musical enjoyment. These 'teenagers have put a lot of work into this show — give your support to their efforts and be in attendance this evening. Curtain at 8.15 p.m.

Saint-Laurent Gives Sack Shape Blessing

PARIS (AP) — A fashion triumph to the "new look" was attributed Thursday night to 21-year - old Yves Saint- Laurent, Christian Dior's successor.

French editors put out front page bulletins declaring themselves "weeping with joy and emotion," and exclaiming, "The king is dead, long live the king!"

The acclaim was so great that Saint-Laurent was called to the balcony of the Dior House to respond to applause from a crowd outside on the Avenue Montaigne.

DARING YOUNG MAN

His debut as Dior's successor, with the "trapeze line," launched Yves Saint-Laurent as a daring young man indeed. Instead of engineering a revolution by scuttling the sack which Dior approved only last season, he has made bigger and better ones. Some spectators were betting that if a mannequin sat down in her blimp dress, she would disappear in the puffy skirt.

But there is plenty of leg to show — skirts barely cover the knee — and on some models, plenty of bosom. A "V" between the breats is cut right down to the waist.

When Saint-Laurent gave the sack shape his blessing, he made it nearly unanimous. Every other major house except Lanvin-Castillo went in for some version of it this season.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Lillian R. — My fiance and his parents will be shocked.

Mrs. S. R. — I don't see what it has to do with them.

Lillian R. — I am a 19-year-old college girl and I am having quite a time with my parents.

When I came home on my last vacation, they told me that they were going to separate. They said they have been unhappy together for some time and feel that since I am now grown, "ving away at school and planning to be married next year, this is a good time for them to break up their home. I am an only child, so there is nobody else to consider.

It happens that my fiance comes from a very happy home and I think he and his parents would be quite shocked about my parents. I don't think my parents are being very fair to me.

Mrs. S. R. — I want to state, first of all, that there is nothing to "shock" anybody about this separation. Neither of us is interested in another party. It is a case of lifelong incompatibility.

My husband and I have kept our home together all these years for Lillian's sake. Now that she is away and we are forced to live with just each other, we find that we get on each other's nerves so much that life is intolerable. I have my friends, my husband has his, and we go our separate ways as much as possible. But the brief time we are forced to be together we are at swords' points every minute.

I don't see what it all has to do with Lillian's fiance and his parents.

The Council: We agree with Lillian that her parents' announcement of their separation and of their long unhappiness together appears to be singularly ill-timed.

Lillian rightfully fears that her value in the eyes of her fiance and prospective in-laws could be somewhat dimmed by the knowledge of her parents' discord. Nothing dramatic or drastic is likely to happen as a result, but this unhappy situation may very well take some of the glow out of the wedding.

Even more important are Lillian's own deepest feelings. When she speaks of the shock to her fiance and his parents, we suspect that she really wants to speak of her own shock. As a young woman on the verge of matrimony, she is particularly interested in the marital happiness of those closest to her. She would like to believe that she, like her fiance, comes from a happy home and therefore has a head start on a happy marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R., despite their long sacrifice in keeping their home together "for Lillian's sake," must be two rather selfish and self-centered individuals to be so unaware of these matters. It is no great wonder that they cannot get along together. They probably could not live happily with anyone else either. This doesn't mean that they will be much happier alone. Self-centered persons often find their own company intolerable.

Our advice to the S. R.'s is to reconsider. Whatever happens, Lillian should try to make the most of her own marriage and to steer clear of the selfish attitudes which have been destructive to her parents.

Congregational Meeting

WELLMAN'S-RAWDON UNITED CHURCH

RAWDON — The annual meeting of Wellman's United Church on the Rawdon charge was held at the church with 18 in attendance. The pastor, the Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., conducted a brief service of worship and silence was observed in memory of Mrs. Walter Dracup.

The reports were then presented. Mr. Robert Wallace reported a balance of $209 for the congregational account. Miss Jean Tompkins reported a balance of $55 for the Sunday School and Mrs. Jim Pollock, a balance of $1,023.61 for the W.A.

The Woman's Missionary Society remitted $86.80 to Presbyterial treasurer. They have one life and 13 annual members. Mrs. John Carlisle was the president.

The Mission Band, under the leadership of Mrs. Burton Morton, remitted $92.70 and the Baby Band, with Mrs. Gerald Clancy as leader, sent in to the Presbyterial treasurer, $5.90, making a grand total of $185.40 sent in to Mrs. Coulter, Belleville.

Lorne Watson remitted $155 to M and M. The cemetery report was given by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Burton Morton, showing a balance of almost $424, and $3410 in Grey Trust securities.

Mr. John Carlisle, treasurer of Rawdon circuit, reported the total expenses amounting to almost $4,000. There was a small balance of $31 in the treasury.

He had received $999.62 from Bethel; $1,799.31 from Mount Pleasant and $1,199.55 from Wellman's.

The reports of Rawdon YPU showed a balance of $225. The parsonage board had a balance of $250. There was no vacation school held in 1957. Their balance from 1956 was $30.

ST. ANDREW'S W.A.

WELLINGTON — The January meeting of St. Andrew's W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Davern on Monday evening. The president, Mrs. G. Upton opened the meeting.

A prayer for the prayer partner, Mrs. Purvis, was read by Mrs. Upton. Mrs. Blower gave the Scripture lesson.

Reports were given by the treasurer, Mrs. D. Upton, by the Dorcas secretary, Mrs. A. Ogilvy, from the J.A. leader, Mrs. Blower, from the G.A. leaders, Mrs S. Tripp and Miss Catharine Grey, the calendar secretary, Mrs. Ogilvy.

An interesting letter was read from the prayer partner by Mrs. Upton, who also read the board letter. A card was received by Mrs. J. Gair (a former member).

The Rev. J. Gale spoke briefly thanking all the W.A. officers and members for the work done during his time spent in Wellington.

Mrs. Grey held an interesting discussion on the study book, assisted by Mr. Gale and Mrs. Blower, after which Mrs. Davern read a prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Matthews.

The next meeting will be held in February at the home of Mrs. S. Tripp.

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

MADOC — St. Peter's Women's Missionary Society held the first meeting of the year at the Manse. Seventeen members and two visitors were present.

Membership fees were paid.

The Scripture lesson, Luke 7-16 was read by Cecilia Heslip. The president, Miss VanKleeck, read portions of Scripture from Deuteronomy, followed by prayer, which was given by Mrs. David Blakely.

Cecilia Heslip favored with a solo, "Does Jesus Care?".

Miss VanKleeck took her topic from the new Study Book, "Japan," and presented it in the form of a dialogue with Mrs. Charles Spencer and Mrs. Elizabeth MacIntosh taking part. The characters were: Mrs. Black, Mrs. Watson, and a Japanese lady. The Japanese lady said they hoped "Japan would become a Christian nation."

"We need sympathetic and understanding Christians from Canada." About 90 million Japanese have accepted the Christian way. Education started in the 14th century. They are a well-educated people. They are skillful in many industries such as china, silks and toys.

Japan's territory is the same as the State of Montana, 75 percent in mountains and 25 percent in arable land. The population is increasing at the rate of one million a year. The food supply has doubled in the last half century.

Winning Japan for Christ calls for more praying from our Christians here; they will welcome all missionaries. Japan has had to go through many hard times as well as their "cherry blossom" times.

A duet, "Only a Touch of Thy Hand, Dear Lord," was sung by Mrs. Russell Lewis and Mrs. George Alvey, with Mrs. Grace Tumelty at the piano.

Light refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. D. Blakely and Mrs. Ben Miller.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: "GESTURES OF HUMANITY"

The people who give grace to life . . . to all walks of life . . . are those who instinctively, graciously, make "the gestures of humanity." They are the endearing people who generously do and say the pleasant, helpful things that make up the sum of good manners.

CONCERNING "THE LADY TRAVELLING ALONE"

Dear Mrs Beeckman:

I'd like your honest opinion as to whether or not I did the right thing in this circumstance. A friend and I went together on a bus tour. At lunch time the bus stopped for time-out for a quick lunch, practically everyone ordering a sandwich and tea-or-coffee. When the hostess seated us at a table for four, I informed her that, if she wished to, she might seat someone with us. Very soon she came to our table and said she accepted my invitation, and a lady who was travelling alone, joined us. She completely monopolized the conversation and, although I must say that my friend and I had no particular subjects we wished to talk about during this lunch time, I felt very uneasy. And when I think of it, my face still burns. Please tell me do you think what this woman did was the height of ignorance? — M.C.

I'm not at all sure that this lady-travelling-alone deserves such harsh criticism. After all you were the one who suggested to the restaurant-hostess (apparently it was not the hostess' suggestion) that she had your permission to seat someone with you. If the restaurant was crowded and everyone in a hurry, it may have been considerate of you to make this suggestion, but in making it you took your chances as to who the "someone" would be. It turned out to be "a lady travelling alone.' So what if she did monopolize the conversation? I have a feeling that you may have followed up your kind suggestion-to-share-your-table with a cordial welcome to the lady, and that she, perhaps lonely and longing to chat with someone, over did the opportunity to talk with such pleasant women companions as you and your friend.

Or even if she were just a chatter-box and said nothing of interest to you and your friend, I see no reason why you couldn't have politely accepted her for the short stop-for-luncheon.

I don't understand why you should have been so upset. Surely you and your friend were supposed to be grown-up travellers, and this means wisdom to accept the give-and-take of good travelling. I have a pleasant feeling that this lady-travelling-alone is now telling her friends back home how "kind and friendly" were the two ladies she met in the restaurant when the bus stopped for the "lunch break"!

HOSTESS SHOULD NOT SERVE HER HUSBAND FIRST

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please answer this question which we have been discussing: When having guests to an informal dinner in their home, should the wife serve her husband first? I may be wrong, but I think she should. — A family

No . . . when the wife, the hostess, is doing the serving, say from in front of her place, courtesy demands that she serve first the woman guest seated at the host's right, and next, the woman guest seated at his left. Then she serves the other guests; then herself; and last, her husband, the host. It would be completely out-of-order for her to serve her husband first . . . this would, or at least ought to, embarrass him, and certainly would cause the guests to "wonder" about such discourteous procedure.

CONVENIENT, APPROPRIATE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our daughter has just become engaged to a very fine young man and her father and I are going to announce the engagement at a small dinner we are giving in our home soon. Then we are planning a large party to celebrate the engagement, inviting the relatives and friends of both families and the couple's friends. A man and wife who are dear and long-time friends of ours have offered us the "Courtesy" of their Club for this occasion, which will be a late-afternoon party with dancing. I have no idea what kind of invitations to send for this, and would very much appreciate your advice. — Mother

I advise that you buy the large size, plain white, semi-engraved invitation cards of good, heavy quality, and write your invitations like this:

In honor of Miss Linda Hall
and
Mr. Peter Clark
Mr. and Mrs. John Hall request the pleasure of your company at The Park Club
123 Park Street
City, Province
on Friday, March seventh at Five o'clock

The engraved words on these cards are: request the pleasure of your company . . . at (for place) . . . on (for date) . . . and at and o'clock (for hour). These cards are extremely convenient and appropriate for these invitations. Writing the couple's names (as I have shown) at the top of the invitations shows the idea of the occasion.

For the hour, in last line, you may, if you prefer, write "Four until seven" or whatever hours you choose . . . but today's trend is to write the approximate hour for the arrival of the guests.

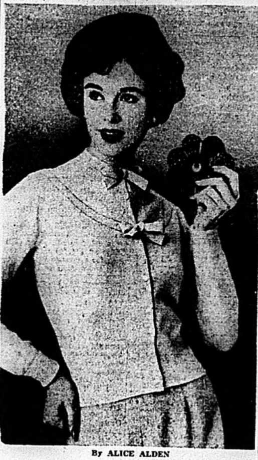
WOMAN'S NAME WHEN LEGALLY SEPARATED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are now legally separated (not divorced) — this very recent. I have been told that in this circumstance I should continue to use my married name: for example, Mrs. John Clark. If this is correct, I should very much prefer to use this form of name. Is it correct? — E.L.C.

Yes.

Bowed Cardigan



By ALICE ALDEN

Sweaters grow prettier each season but we just can't imagine how the designers can improve on the current crop. Hadley designs a handsome sweater in fine lambs' wool and angora mixture yarn with a new note in the two self bows at the neck and end of the yoke banding. A delightful choice for the young girl, the long-sleeved cardigan can be worn as a blouse during the cold weather and later as a spring and summer jacket. A pretty choice to tuck into a resort-bound suitcase, it comes in grape green, gentian blue and misty gray as well as the good old basic shades.

As Conducted by Mary Moore

Question: Thank you so much for your advice on dipping chocolates — it helped immensely. My friend and I had so much fun making them up.

Could you help me on another matter? I made quite a supply of dill pickles and they taste quite flat but are firm. Can these be made into a sweet pickle, cut up and other spices added? I would appreciaate your advice on this as I don't like to see them go to waste.... Mrs. Carmen C.

Dinner Menus

FRIDAY

Consomme; Poached Turbot (or other whitefish) with Mousselaine Sauce (see Monday); Julienne Carrots; Braised Celery; Brown Sugar Apple Crumb; Pouring Cream; Coffee.

Answer: I am so glad that you had fun making the chocolates. Yes, you can use those dills and make candied dills from them. Take 1 quart of dill pickles and wash thoroughly in cold water to remove brine. Cut into thin slices or long slivers and place in a stone crock. Take 2 tablespoons pickling spices and put into a cheesecloth bag. Bring to a boil 2 cups vinegar and 1 cup sugar with spices added and boil for 5 minutes in a covered saucepan. Pour the hot syrup over the dills and leave the spice bag in the syrup. Cover the crock. Let stand 24 hours and then drain syrup and boil again for 5 minutes and pour back over the dills. Do this again after another 24 hours. On the third day while the syrup is boiling pack the dills into sterilized bottles and add syrup after boiling for the 5 minute period. Remove the spice bag this time and discard. Seal as you would any other pickles. These also keep well in the crock if you do not wish to bottle them.

Question: . . . My husband is on a diet to lose weight . . . may I have calorie chart and recipes? I am thin and have gained some weight over the holidays and would like to keep this weight. So could you send me some recipes that would fit both our needs. It is amazing how much you find out about food and nourishment when someone in your family gets too fat. I don't feel very proud anymore when someone tells us I must be a good cook for my husband to gain as much weight as he has . . . Mrs. G. B.

Answer: It was certainly a pleasure to read your letter. Some of your requests are going by mail. Here is a recipe that you will enjoy —

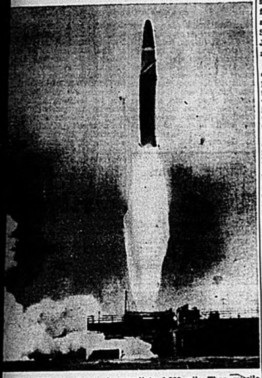
THOR MISSILE VEERS OFF COURSE



The U.S. air force's intermediate 1,500-mile Thor missile shown from ground level as it was successfully launched at ape Canaveral, Fla. The huge white missile rose from a great all of fire straight up into the sky for nearly two minutes, hen bent its path eastward and disappeared like a fading star n the sky over the Atlantic. The defence department announced mmediately after the test that the launching was a success. ater it said the missile had veered off course.

Tweed

50th ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Healey, of Stoco, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently. They are life-time residents of the district where Mr. Healey farmed for many years. They were pleased to have their two daughters and two sons with them for the happy occasion: Mrs. Leo Cassidy and her husband and daughter, Joan of Enterprise; Mrs. Donald Flynn and husband and son Pat, of Kingston; and Frank Healey and Spafford Healey the two sons.

The annual meeting of the Tweed Agricultural Society was held in the municipal building on Saturday afternoon, at 2 p.m. The president is Bernard Hunt and the treasurer, Henigan Rush, who gave his financial report, while John Sager gave his annual secretary's report for the year. The election of officers took place at this meeting. The managers of the various departments gave their suggestions for improvements to the next Fall's fair.

The pulpit at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church is still being filled by Mr. John McMurray who is a theology student at Knox College, Toronto. It may be some months before a minister is available for the Tweed-Madoc charge, due to a scarcity of ministers.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred LeSage recently were: Miss Margaret McNeil and Miss Mary LeSage.

The measles are quite prevalent at this time, especially among the grade school children. It is advised to keep the patient warm, in a semi-dark room and drink plenty of liquids.

Sympathy is extended to Chief Walter Higgins and family in the recent passing of his father who resided in Pickering, and died in the Oshawa General Hospital last week. Mr. Higgins Sr. had visited in Tweed many friends in this village. He suffered a stroke some days before his passing. Constable Higgins went to Pickering as soon as the word regarding his father reached Tweed.

Miss Carole Quinn spent the weekend at her home in Tweed with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Quinn and family. Carole is a nurse-in-training at the St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough. Also home along with Carole from St. Joseph's Hospital is Miss Patsy Beare. visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Beare, South Victoria Street.

Miss Teresa Cournyea, who is on the teaching staff at Renfrew, also spent the weekend at times and had made many her home here with her brothers and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Peck, of Toronto, have been visiting Mrs. Roy O'Coin and Mrs. J. Fobert this week. Mrs. Peck is a sister of Mrs. E. J. Cournyea, Sr., of the village. They are planning on staying permanently in the village, in the Well's apartment on Moira Street.

George Owens was named chairman of the Tweed Consolidated School Board at the last meeting. He will succeed Burton Vance. The board includes; Mr. George Owens; Mr. Robert Palmateer; Mr. Burton Coulter; Mr. Leonard Jones and Mr. Burton Vance.

Arrangements were discussed in regard to the official opening of the new school and a definite date will be set as soon as a special speaker is procured. This will, undoubtedly be one of the highlights of the year.

There was a good attendance at the recent card party at Sulphide, with the prizes being won as follows: Mrs. Iva Jones; and George Rogers; consolations, Mrs. Richard Mahoney and Ted Hensall; the door prize was captured by Delbert Reid.

Mrs. Bruce Black, was taken to Belleville General Hospital on Saturday, where she will be under observation for a time. X-rays will in all probability be taken the first of the week. Mrs. Black has not been well for some time.

Miss Marion Robinson was a bride of Friday and was honored by about 30 of her Actinolite friends one evening last week at a miscellaneous shower which was held at the home of Mrs. Clifford Robinson, her sister-in-law. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. James Oliver, Mrs. Ron Way, a sister of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Stanley Lockwood. Miss Robinson is a graduate of the Belleville General Hospital and has been on the staff since her graduation in June of 1957.

BAPTISMS

There were three baptisms at the St. John's United Church on Sunday a.m., January 26th: Lorna Marie Gunning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Gunning; Debra Susan Simon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Simon, and Lynn Katherine Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray C. Stewart. The Baptismal service was conducted by the Rev. Douglas Louis B.A. pastor of St. John's.

The film of two hours duration was shown in the United Church parlors on Sunday evening in technical color, entitled "John Wesley", and was well-attended and which will not be soon forgotten. It dealt with the life of John Wesley from 1703-1791. The movement he began changed millions of lives and still is changing them today. This was indeed an inspiring and up-lifting film, which was produced by the Television, Radio and Film Commission.

Dr. F. J. McCue, the Medical Health officer of Tweed, has announced publicity that he will be in a position to administer the third and final inoculation of Salk vaccine, to the preschool age children in the village this week. Grade one school pupils who have already received their two inoculations, may also receive their third by contacting the above mentioned doctor, or they may be inoculated when the Medical Health Officer pays his regular visit to the school. If the latter procedure is preferred, the youngster is required to have an accompanying note from the parents requesting same.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

The Congregtional meeting of St. John's United Church was held on Friday evening January 24th, beginning with a successful pot-luck supper in the church parlors. Community singing, and an interesting film, two beautiful solos by Miss Carol Connor; Saxaphone solos by Harold Knapp; the devotional program were enjoyed.

Reports were given followed by the report of the nominating committee; the all important election of the new slate of officers for 1958.

Discussions were under way and greatly enjoyed.

TWEED — Mrs. John Gehan returned home on the weekend after spending over three weeks with her mother, Mrs. Dan Miller, and her sister, Mrs. Mel Saunders, in Toronto.

Sympathy is extended at this time to the bereaved family of the late Mrs. Fred Blakely, who passed away in Kingston, on Sunday, January 26th. She rested at the home of her son, John, on Metcalfe Street, Tweed, whence the funeral took place on Wednesday, Janaury 29th. Interment was in the Thomasburg Cemetery.

She was in her 83rd year. Another child of this marriage is Mrs. Newton (Luella) Foster, of Kingston. The late Mrs. Blakely was a sister of Mr. H. Coulter, Tweed.

Gunner Ernest Paul Cournyea has re-enlisted in the Royal Canadian Artillery, and left last week for Gagetown, New Brunswick. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Cournyea of R. R. No. 1, Tweed. Prior to his discharge in April of 1957, he was stationed at Picton, Ontario.

It should be noted that any person or persons in the district who are interested in lamp shade making, to contract either Mrs. Keilty or Mrs. H. Countryman as these two ladies are supervising classes under the auspices of the Chapman Women's Institute. The classes will be held each Thursday evening, the first class was last week on that evening, and they will be at the home of Mrs. Countryman on South Victoria Street. There is no registration fee, only the expense which is involved for the materials.

The friends of Mr. Paul King are pleased to see him back in his home town, Tweed, again after a session of illness which necessitated his stay in the Belleville General Hospital, and later at the home of his niece, Mrs. Don Casey, in Belleville, for a time. Mr. King seemingly is in pretty good health and has even attended the euchre parties, which is one of his favorite pastimes.

Mr. and Mrs. Aloysuis Trudeau were in Belleville on Tuesday on business.

Miss Shirley Robertson, formerly of Cloyne, and now of Alvinston, Ontario, who has been a bosom friend of Miss Pat MacLean of town, visited Pat for the weekend. Her family have acquired a general store at Alvinston this past early fall. Mr. Robertson had been employed by the Ontario Hydro for years until his health failed. He is now in business for himself along with his wife, Mrs. Robertson.

Mrs. Roy Hall and Mrs. E. Wright were appointed by the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at their recent meeting, to attend a meeting for The World's Day of Prayer. Mrs. Reeves, the president, was in the chair. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur McCarey, Metcalfe St.

Belleville for some time is again Beleville for some time is again at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Marshall, Metcalfe street, where he was residing prior to his residence in Belleville. Cecil is again at Tweed High School and states "It is good to be back". It will be recalled that the four children, including Cecil were bereft of their mother not too many months ago. Jerry, a brother, is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross McNaught, of town.

Mr. Milton Vanderwater, of Moira, was in town last week, making house calls, encouraging owners to purchase shrubs, bulbs, roses and other varieties of plants to make their home surroundings more attractive. This is a good gesture and many took advantage of the opportunity to beautify their lots.

Carmel

CARMEL — In spite of the snow and rain which had been falling all day Sunday, there was a good attendance at church and Sunday School. The Reverend R. J. McCrea taught the Bible class and gave an impressive message.

A report pleasing to Carmel community was that of the new hall which has been built, and the many needful donations which have been received, meeting all liabilities. Thanks are tendered to all who worked for the success of the venture.

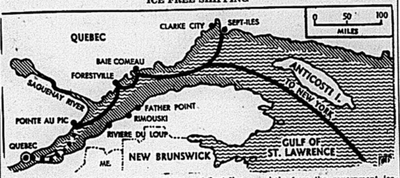
Mr. and Mrs. Percy Reynolds and boys enjoyed a turkey dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elliott.

Mrs. M. Reynolds celebrated a birthday on Friday. She has been staying for a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Elliott. The family came on Sunday to wish her many happy returns of the day, and many more birthdays to come.

Miss Judy Dafoe spent Saturday afternoon with her schoolmate and Saturday night with her grandmother, Mrs. S. Dafoe.

Mrs. J. B. Patterson was a Friday evening guest of Mrs. S. Dafoe. Mr. David Hollinger called on Mrs. S. Dafoe on Thursday.

ICE FREE SHIPPING



Year-round navigation on the lower St. Lawrence River and the gulf is becoming a reality with the help of government ice-breakers and an assist from nature.

Clarke Steamship Company has maintained weekly sailings for a number of years from Pointe au Pic, 80 miles downriver from Quebec City, to the north shore ports of Forestville Baie Comeau and Sept-Iles.

The Clarke company uses a channel kept relatively ice-free by the prevailing north winds. Shaded portion of this map shows the winter ice line in the lower part of the river.

A newly formed company, Federal Intercoastal Line, has also announced plans for sailing every 10 days from Quebec City to Forestville, Baie Comeau and Sept-Iles. It expects help from the government ice-breakers in cutting a channel (dotted line) through heavy ice near Quebec City.

Quebec North Shore Paper Company two years ago set a gulf shipping record with sailing of newsprint-laden ships from Baie Comeau to New York. The company now plans to use a 10,000-ton freighter to carry its paper shipments the year around.

Stirling

STIRLING — On Wednesday evening a large number of friends and neighbors of the River Valley community and along the Frankford Road, south, gathered at the River Valley school house in honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Herron. The bride was formerly Miss Marion Luella Woodcock of Tweed.

Mr. Hadley Richardson was master of ceremonies. A singsong was conducted by Mrs. George Heasman with Mrs. Phil Conley officiating at the piano.

The Misses Margaret, Gail and Barbara Morrow sang two selections with Miss Helen Morrow as accompanist. Maria Heasman gave a "Highland Fling" dance and Miss Julia Savage contributed a humorous reading with Mrs. William Price assisting with the adjectives gathered from the audience.

The pupils of the River Valley school contributed two songs and Mr. Glenn Morrow and Mrs. Phil Conley delighted with musical selections, violin and piano.

Mr. Gilbert Herron, father of the bridegroom, showed a series of pictures of the recent wedding at Tweed, also scenes along the Trent River in color and pictures of local interest.

TWEED

Kinsmen Hold Dinner Meeting

TWEED — The Kinsmen of Tweed and district met at one of their regular meetings on January 28th, at the Stoco Lake Hotel, Stoco. There were 14 members present and the president, Ron Way, who presided.

The dinner, which is a regular part of the program each meeting evening, was delicious and was prepared and served by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Austin of the hotel.

Many discussions were dealt with but until the next meeting these particulars will not be disclosed. The agenda for the ensuing year is getting under way. Big things will undoubtedly be the outcome of the 1958 "Kin" year.

Cards and a social time were enjoyed by all after the business.

The next meeting will be February 11, and a good attendance is anticipated.

Little Benny's Notebook

I went down to breakfist and pop was getting it reddy, and I said, G, pop, where's ma, has she got one of her headakes?

Yes, and I hope you'll remember it in your comings and goings and not act like a bull in a china shop, pop said, and I said I wont, pop, I'll act like a butterfly in a flower shop.

And when I came home for luntch I shut the frunt door easy and tip toed upstairs and ma was out of bed but not out of her room, and I said, Dont worry, ma, I'll get my own luntch. I'm a good luntch getter, I said, and ma said, Never mind, thanks, your luntch is waiting for you on the breakfist room table.

Proving she had been out of her room and back again, and this afternoon after school I heard ma back in the kitchin and I tip toed back there and she was stiring in a bowl and I tip toed to the sink and drank a glass of water slow and quiet and started to tip toe out again, and ma said, Are you limping? Did you hert yurself?

No mam, G, I'm just moving like a butterfly, I said. How's your headake, ma? I said, and she said, Oh I haven't even thought of it for hours.

Me thinking, Oh boy, if she hasn't thought about it she cant have it. And I yelled, Hurraw.

Making ma almost drop her spoon in the bowl, and she said, For land sakes how many times must I tell you not to brake out with those suddin noises? I always think you're half killed instead of just entirely out of your mind, she said, and I said, Yes mam.

And I ran out making naturel feet noises to make up for the strane of being a butterfly.

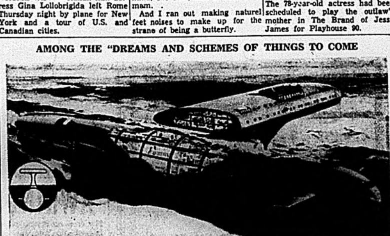
AMONG THE "DREAMS AND SCHEMES OF THINGS TO COME



This drawing shows an atomic-powered "whale-ship" of the future. The ship, a 600-foot tanker on the drawing boards in the "Dreams and Schemes" department of the U.S. Maritime Administration, has only its superstructure above water. The rest is beneath the surface so crew and passengers in the superstructure will have the greatest protection from the atomic reactor. The air-foil-shaped superstructure will supply stability; reactors will power hydrojet propulsion equipment.

School Damage Set at $25,000

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Firemen answering an alarm to Alexandra Public School in the north end of this city Thursday night found not one but 10 fires.

They said piles of paper had been ignited in many of the classrooms of the 16-room school, and fires were burning in 10 of them. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

Detective Robert Wood said "This is obviously the work of a fire bug—someone with a twisted perverted mind and a grudge."

Major outbreaks occurred in a basement auditorium and the principal's office. Both were burned out. It took firemen 2½ hours to get the various blazes under control.

Six firemen were overcome by smoke.

Principal FFred McQuiggan said classes will be suspended until further notice.

Sam 'The Rifle' Tests Skill In Basketball

MONTREAL (CP)—Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry, strong-armed Montreal Alouettes quarterback appeared in a YMHA basketball uniform Wednesday night.

The Blues edged Georgians 77 in the first game of a best-of-seven series for the city championship.

Although Etcheverry was held pointless and committed two fouls in a brief, first-half appearance, he impressed coach Benny Lands tnough to win qualified praise.

As a member of the YMHA—non-denominational in policy—Etcheverry had only to sign a Canadian Amateur Basketball Association card to be eligible to play. The deadline for registration is Saturday.

Etcheverry completed his fifth year with the Alouettes last fall and during the weekend moved his family to Montreal from his native Albuquerque, N.M., to take up permanent residence here. He is working as a salesman for a soft-drink company in the off-season.

Legs Paralyzed Campy Shows Improvement

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Roy Campanella remained on the critical list today, his legs still paralyzed.

But there was definite improvement in the condition of the Los Angeles Dodger catcher injured in an automobile crash early Tuesday.

A hospital bulletin late Thursday said Campanella had regained some feeling as far down as the abdomen, a distinct improvement. A Dodger official also reported that Campy was able to move his fingertips a little. Previously, his sensitivity had been limited to the upper chest, arms or hands.

Doctors are optimistic about Campanella's chances of overcoming the paralysis, but do not hold out much hope for his return to baseball.

Giant Player Goes Free; Gets Warning

NEW YORK (AP)—Auto theft charges against former New York Giants slugger Henry (Hank) Thompson and two friends were dismissed Thursday, but the baseball player got some advice from the judge.

Magistrate Joseph A. Martinis told Thompson: "Behave yourself."

and larceny complaints against Thompson and two friends were dropped after the owner of the car said he did not wish to press charges.

Police earlier had quoted Thompson as saying he had been "partying" and took the car Wednesday night when he found his own inaccessible in a parking garage.

Kingston's Hall of Fame Out, Will Be Located in Toronto

MONTREAL (CP)—Assurance that a Hockey Hall of Fame will be in full operation at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this year has been given by leaders behind the project.

The names of nine men who will be asked to serve as selectors were announced Thursday.

Plans and progress on Hockey's Hall of Fame were outlined at a luncheon arranged by managing director Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens. With him were president Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League and Harry Price of Toronto, CNE vice-president and chairman of the CNE sports committee.

The CNE and the NHL have combined on the project, which means abandonment of the Hockey Hall of Fame started in Kingston several years ago by the late Capt. Jim Sutherland.

LIST NOMINEES

Those named for selectors are: Lester Patrick of Victoria, the famed Silver Fox of hockey, provisional chairman; Mervyn (Red) Dutton of Calgary, former president of the NHL; Al Picard of Regina, former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association; George Dudley, Midland, secretary-manager of the CAHA;

Milt Dunnell, sports editor of the Toronto Star; Marcel Desjardins, sports editor of La Presse, Montreal; Baz O'Meara, columnist and now-retired sports editor of the Montreal Star; Danny Gallivan, Montreal, hockey broadcaster and native of the Maritimes, the area he will represent; Walter Brown, president of Boston Bruins of the NHL, as United States representative.

WILL BE SEPARATE

The Hockey Hall of Fame will be separate from the CNE's present Sports Hall of Fame. The CNE and NHL will build and maintain the new hall.

At last year's CNE Sports Hall of Fame, hockey trophies were shown and drew tremendous attention.

Price said that in inaugurating the Sports Hall of Fame three years ago the CNE had no thought of a separate hockey hall.

But hockey people subsequently asked there be a hockey exhibit, and the result had been beyond expectations.

Price said there is a possibility the Hockey Hall of Fame may become an all-year affair, and not restricted to the three-week duration of the CNE each year.

If costs can be met, the physical properties of the Hall of Fame—trophies, awards, sticks that have made hockey history and everything—might be moved to different cities in Canada for short stays.

NO REFLECTION

Campbell, Selke and Price all stressed there is no reflection on Kingston and its citizens in the CNE and NHL taking over the Hall of Fame.

They applauded the efforts of Capt. Sutherland but said that despite enthusiasm for the project in Kingston, the amount of money that would be needed for construction and maintenance of a suitable building got beyond means. The building alone would cost around $215,000.

Campbell gave assurance that the NHL has endorsed and has undertaken to co-operate with and assist the CNE in making the new Hall of Fame a success.

Marlene, Pal Favored in Pairs Tourney

HOLLYWOOD Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto and Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, were among the favorites today to advance in the women's international four-ball golf tournament.

Mrs. Streit, who has won the British, Canadian and United States amateur titles, and Mrs. Johnstone defeated Ann Barry of Quincy, Ill., and Marian Kaye of Akron, Ohio 2-up.

Other highly regarded teams winning first-round matches included Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and Marge Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., the defending champions.

Ten Sports Men Put Her To Bed

Have you any idea how many people—short people, tall people, big people, small people—it takes to put a newspaper to bed? Well, in the case of the Toronto Daily Star the number runs up in the thousands. There are ten sports writers alone who scramble with last-minute copy every time we go to press. Then there are photographers—lots of them, because the Star runs more sports pictures than any other Canadian daily paper. And that figure doesn't include the hundreds of wire-service writers and photographers around the world whose sports reports appear on the pages of the Toronto Star. You may think this sounds like a lot of people and a lot of effort for something as 'frivolous' as sports news, but it's just part of the Star's policy of bringing you complete coverage of anything, anywhere, that might be of interest to you. That's why you can count on the Star for all the news . . . all the time!

HAS ITS MOMENTS.

Usually this sports writing job calls for long hours, hard toil, travel, lightning-like changes of friends and enemies, albeit on a temporary basis, but it has its amusing moments.

This department has derived many a chuckle from the pillars of some of the columnists of the Eastern Senior "A" league newspaper circuit, especially those of Frank "Iron" Orr, of Cornwall, and "Junior" Craig of Pembroke.

Being a strict disciple of the well-worn safety-first clihe, "When they're bigger than you, always be a gentleman," this department develops a bigger hero complex toiling on the typewriter or talking via telephone with M'sieu Orr since he stands six-feet four and tips the scale at well over 200. We're a mite more brash with Junior Craig since he has yet to vote, is built along smallish lines, and shaves twice a week.

However, this Mutt and Jeff duo of the sports columns to the north and east, has something in common. Both are possessed of vivid imaginations, or have underground operators posted in our village, who perform the shotmaking duties for the hometown firemen.

Yet they differ in some respects in their columnar satire. "Ole Iron" Orr has a yen for biting remarks on individual players of the McFarlands. Craig, on the other hand, specializes in the collective form of typewriter assault.

F'rinstance, Orr does not like any of the McFarlands personally, except Jean Paul Payette, and he hails from Cornwall. He has put the "blast" on more than one occasion on Bell, Kowalchuk, Menard and treated others with lighter satire. Out of respect to this department's grey hairs, or lack of 'em, he dubs it "Gentle George."

Youngster Craig sometimes shows signs of chameolonic traits. In Belleville during the last visit of the Pembroke Lumber Kings, Master Craig was duly impressed with the arena antics of the Booster Club, and later with their activities and functions. So much so he devoted a half-column in praise of the red-tammers, with the wish that Lenserville pewsters would go out and do likewise.

Then what happened. Came the pewster-seeking antics of Golden Boy Lenser with his threats of firing the Kings wholesale and moving the team to Hull, which got him reams of free publicity (mission accomplished) and the subsequent return to winning ways of the Lumber Kings.

At the crest of the wave, the league-leading McFarlands appeared as the threat to halt the onrushing Kings. Enter dramatist Craig, hackles up and pencils poised. He had heard somewhere that Boss Lenser had said he would produce an Allan Cup winner for Pembroke or else . . . so he worked on that angle in reverse.

He turned his columnar guns on the "arrogant Macs . . . the Kings are tired of the superiority complex of the construction crew . . . The Dunnies could have licked the Macs every time they met, but that wouldn't stop the Belleville tongues from waggin' how their boys are going to do this and that . . . If someone was to lend a serious ear to all the Belleville blowing you would think that it would be a useless chore to send a team on the same surface with the arrogant Macs."

Brother, that underground operator Junior has down this-away is certainly doing a fine job. It must be that, for the last time the youngster was here he had to have the individual Macs pointed out to him on the ice. How he talked with them, we do not know unless it was via those crystal balls Wally Lenser advertised for last fall.

However, the Macs are easy to get along with. We are sure they will forgive his boyish exuberance over the Kings' sudden surge of power. Let us hope his tears did not kill all the joy after the McFarlands clipped the Kings' win-string neatly, if not gaudily, right in their own courtyard Wednesday night.

That recalls the fact the Pembrokes are here again tonight, five points in arrears of the McFarlands, and with every intention of tying knots in the Macs' tails on their own ice. If they do, it will be the first time this season. Game time nine o'clock.

Fires Three Goals, 4 Assists As Plante Marks 8th Blank In Penalty-Riddled Battle

By MARTY GOODMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The three greatest right wingers in the National Hockey League were injured and didn't play Thursday night but the fact that two of them belong to Montreal didn't stop the goalhungry Canadiens in their rush to the league title.

The Habitants defeated Detroit Red Wings 7-0 and moved 22 points ahead of New York Rangers. It was the only game scheduled.

Detroit, whose great star Gordie Howe was injured Saturday, remained in a third-place tie with Boston Bruins, two points behind New York.

Dickie Moore, who switched from left to right wing when Maurice (Rocket) Richard was injured 2½ months ago, starred along with linemates Marcel Bonin and Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard and Don Marshall, who filled in at centre for Richard when the Pocket Rocket was off serving a 10-minute misconduct penalty

TAKES LEAD

Moore, the league's leading scorer, took over the goal-scoring leed with two goals to bring his total to 28. He also had an assist. Richard had three assists, Bonin a goal and Marshall a goal and assist.

A second makeshift line of Jean Beliveau, Bert Olmstead and Floyd Curry didn't fare as well—only Beliveau scored. Curry filled in at right wing for Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, who underwent a major operation Tuesday. Other Montreal scorers were Doug Harvey, who also had three assists, and Dollard St. Laurent.

The Wings had beaten Montreal 4-2 in their last meeting Jan. 26 but were no match for the Canadiens Thursday night. Montreal's Jacques Plante handled 28 shots in recording his eighth shutout of the season, high in the league. Montreal boomed 36 shots at Detroit's Terry Sawchuk.

The game flared in the third period with 19 penalties being handed out, 10 to Detroit. The Wings' Forbes Kennedy was given a game misconduct and Montreal's Richard and Andre Pronovost drew 10 - minute misconducts for protesting two-minute minors.

Montreal's Beliveau and Detroit's Al Arbour went off in the closing minute of play with minors and five-minute majors for fighting.

Oldtimers Bag Heavy Rewards For 1958 Season

NEW YORK (AP)—Old-timers continue to bag the heavy rewards in the 1958 signing sweepstake of baseball, the so-called young man's game.

Warren Spahn and Alvin Dark, whose ages will total a combined 72 years by opening day, stowed away official contracts Thursday amounting to a reported $105,000 between them. Added to the $100,000 signature 37-year - old Stan Musial sold the St. Louis Cardinals on Wednesday, it amounts to some $205,000 the sport of the kids will be spending for 109 years of "seasoning" among three of the National League's old pros this season.

Spahn, his career threatened when he lost his fast ball a couple of years ago, will receive a reported $65,000 from the world champion Milwaukee Braves—on that estimate making him the highest paid pitcher in the majors.

Spahn, who will be 37 in April, earned it by leading the Braves with a 21-11 record.

GETS A RAISE

Dark, now 35, accepted an estimated $40,000 from the Cardinals, representing about a $1,500 raise over the sum he drew while playing some of the National League's best at shortstop, hitting .290 and driving in 64 runs.

Bob Nieman, Baltimore power-hitter, and pitcher Tom Gorman of Kansas City, were other vets to sign Thursday while the youngsters had representation among righthander Bob Trowbridge of the Braves, righthander Tom Brewer of the Boston Red Sox, catcher-first baseman Gus Triandos of the Orioles, and catcher Danny Kravitz and rookie outfielder Emil Panko of Pittsburgh.

Two Share Lead In Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Dow Finsterwald and Stan Mosel, each holding a share of the lead, prepared to tee off today in the second round of the $15,000 Phoenix open golf tournament.

Both golfers posted five-under par 66s over the 6,585-yard Phoenix Country Club course Thursday to move two strokes in front of newcomers John McMullin, Tom Jacobs and Wesley Ellis Jr. and veteran Jerry Barber.

Five Canadians were within striking distance of the leaders. Lyle Crawford of Vancouver turned in a two-under-par 69; Toronto's Al Balding had regulation figures; Jerry Magee, another Torontonian, carded a 72 and then came Bob Wylie of Calgary with 73, Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Lachute, Que., 74 and Frank Willey of Edmonton 75.

In the past two years he has finished no better than 28th.

Grouped at 69 were Crawford, Jay Herbert, Billy Maxwell, Bert Weaver, J. C. Goosie, Shelley Mayfield and Julius Boros.

Another stroke back were 12 golfers, including such familiar names as Tommy Bolt, Jimmy Demaret and Ken Venturi of San Francisco, winner of last week's Thunderbird invitational.

Defending champion Billy Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., the leading money winner this year, found the going rough and finished with a one-over 72.

Two Underdogs Stay in Hunt For 'T. Coop'

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Two of the last 16 teams in the hunt for the Football Association Cup are members of the lowly third division. But it can be argued with some justice that neither of them belongs in it.

Scunthorpe United, 3-1 conqueror of Newcastle in last Saturday's fourth-round play, is one point out of first place in the division's northern section with a game in hand and stands an excellent chance for promotion before another year rolls around.

And Darlington, which belted out aristocratic Chelsea 4-1 Wednesday night in a replay of their earlier draw, is virtually certain of charter membership in the new fourth division that will be carved out of the lower halves of the two sections of the third next fall.

The 16 cup survivors are an unusual group. Besides the two Cinderella clubs from the third division, there are no fewer than nine from the second. Only five of the 22 members of the August first division have withstood the rigors of knockout competition. There were 11 of them around at the same stage of proceedings last year.

Lying 20th in a field of 24, Darlington took a 4-0 trouncing from Gateshead a week before it embarked on its epic struggle with Chelsea.

Darlington's unlikely fifth-round assignment Feb. 15 is a visit to Wolverhampton to play the Wanderers, leaders of the first division. Almost everyone agrees that the Wolves will eat them alive

But the bookies will sleep a lot better when the match is over.

3,000 Winner Still Eludes Willie Shoemaker

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Photographers will be waiting again today for jockey Willie Shoemaker to get the one victory that will give him 3,000 winners for his career.

They waited patiently Thursday when Shoemaker tried in seven races for that one win but missed. Today he has six mounts at Santa Anita Park.

If he doesn't make it today, Shoemaker will be trying again Saturday in two $25,000 added stakes.

Ontario Curlers Resume Play For Trophies

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario curlers were out on the sheets early today to continue play for the Ontario Tankard and Governor-General's Trophy.

Semi-finals of the double-rink competitions were to be held in the morning and the finals in the afternoon.

Clubs represented in the Tankard semi - finals were Guelph, Brampton, Unionville and Gravenhurst. Those curling in the Governor-General's Trophy were Guelph, Oshawa, Ottawa and Orillia.

John Eccles' Guelph Curling Club rink and Allan Jones' foursome reached semi - final play with a 27-16 double-rink victory over London. Eccles whipped Charles Haskett 14-7 and Jones scored a 13-9 win over R. E. Wilson.

Two other Guelph skips, Dr. Stu Brown and Don MacDonald advanced into the Governor-General's competition by winning their intergroup playoffs in Toronto. They beat Kitchener Granite rinks skipped by R. J. Benger and P. Potipece 25-16.

At Oshawa, skips W. Trewin and G. Campbell of the Oshawa Curling Club beat Kingston rinks skipped by J. L. Edwards and Joe Coukey 21-18.

Ottawa gained entry into the Governor - General's semi-finals by defeating Hamilton Victorias 21-18 in Toronto.

The Ontario Tankard events and its consolation event, the Burden Trophy, will be played at the Toronto Granite Club. The Governor-General's Trophy and its consolation event, the Globe and Mail, will be contested at the Toronto Curling Club.

Whitby Should Have It Easy Dutchies Swamp Yanks 9-0

KITCHENER (CP) — The United States National Hockey team may be thankful they don't have to meet Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the world hockey tournament at Oslo next month. The Dutchmen trounced the Americans 9-0 here Thursday night under international rules before a crowd of 4,000 fans.

After feeling the visitors out in the first two periods when they scored four goals, the Ontario Hockey Association-Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league leaders hammered home five more goals in the third without a reply.

Jerry Theberge, Ken Laufman and Ron Howel led the assault on harassed Don Rigazio in the National's net with two goals apiece. Billy Flick, Don Rope and Ralph Hosking added singles.

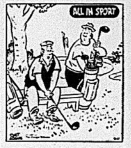
WERE OUTCLASSED

The Nationals who lost to Whitby Dunlops 6-3, then tied Canada's representatives to the world hockey tournament, were outclassed in every department here Thursday night.

Their stick - checking behind their own blue line was fairly effective in the opening period, but they couldn't cope with the Dutchies speed and stickhandling ability.

Rigazio kicked out 43 Dutchmen shots, while Boat Hurley in the Kitchener-Waterloo net had to handle only 19 while earning his shutout.

There were only three minor penalties, all to the Nations in the second period and the Dutchies scored twice while the invaders were shorthanded.



"You know, Ed, if I'd spent this much time practicing the cornet I'd be pretty good by now!"

'Bull' Durelle Fights Tonight Odds in Air, Take Your Pick

NEW YORK (AP)—A line in the boxing book reads:

Feb. 19, 1957, Clarence Hinnant 176½, Washington, stopped Yvon Durelle, 181¾, Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., eight rounds, Miami Beach Fla.

What happened that night?

"He was tough, all fighter, no boxer," claims Hinnant. "But I outboxed him all the way."

"It was very close until I got my eye cut," says Durelle.

No matter now. The only thing that counts is the result. Tonight the sturdy Canadian fisherman and the lean, muscular boxer meet again under different circumstances.

NOW UNBEATEN

Durelle, 28, is unbeaten in 11 fights (winning 10 with one draw, against New York's Tony Anthony) since the Hinnant disaster.. He is rated No. 3 among the light-heavyweight contenders by Ring magazine and is talking about a title match with Archie Moore if he wins a couple more.

Hinnant, 24, is in on a rain check as a late substitute for Anthony who has the flu. Hinnant was riding high until he got "caught cold" by No. 1 contender Harold Johnson in a May 31 match in New York and was knocked out in the first round. His only fight since was a draw with Trinidad's Yolande Pompey in Chicago, Dec. 18.

The Washington boxer now is rated No. 8 in the division by Ring.

Despite Hinnant's TKO in Florida the odds makers have been hedging on the bout. Early today it was even money and take your pick.

The 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden will be carried on radio and television, starting at 10 p.m. EST, over NBC networks in the United States and over CBC hookups in Canada.

Thirty Jumpers May Start in Grand National

LONDON (AP) — Weights for the 56 horses still eligible for the 112th Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree England, March 29 were announced Thursday, with the 1955 winner, Quare Times, topping the list under 168 pounds.

This is 14 more pounds than Quare Times packed in 1955 over the tough four-mile, 856 - yard course with its 30 obstacles.

Handicapper D. G. Sheppard assigned 167 pounds to Limber Hill, winner of the Cheltenham Gold Cup two years ago, and 166 to E. S. B., who won the 1956 Grand National with 157 pounds.

Quare Times is owned by Maj. Ian Westmacott and trained in Ireland by Vincent O'Brien. The Irish trainer made National history by winning the world's greatest horse race three straight times 1953-54-55.

Last year's winner, Sundew, was destroyed later after being hurt in another race but the runner-up Wyndburgh and the third-place horse, Tiberetta, again are eligible. Wyndburgh went up 10 pounds to 157, and Tiberetta from 146 to [illegible] pounds.

The race, on which an Irish hospital sweepstakes is based, may draw about 30 starters.

Polls to Name All-Star Game Starting Line-Ups

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said Thursday the starting line-ups of the 1958 all-star teams would be decided by a poll of players, managers and coaches of the two major leagues.

Each player, manager or coach will be asked to vote for an all-opponent team in his own league. He may not vote for players on his own team.

Frick said the 16 player representatives had agreed to co-operate in the plan. The 1958 game will be played at Baltimore July 8.

Fricks' announcement, following conferences with President Will Harridge of the American League and Warren Giles of the National League, meant the end of the fan poll idea. Since 1947 the fans have voted for the eight starters in each league. In earlier years the fans participated in varying degrees from time to time.

Obviously the 1957 poll in which Frick arbitrarilly eliminated two Cincinnati players from the starting line-up after a deluge of Cincinnati ballots unbalanced the voting was the basic reason for the change.

"I have been in favor of the fan vote," said Frick. "But I am not in favor of the way it turned out. It has been a joke in recent years. The newspaper poll of fans simply is not practical. We do not get a true cross section and there is no way to balance it."

Maybe 2 Weeks Says Rocket

MONTREAL (CP) — Maurice (Rocket) Richard said Thursday it will be a couple of weeks before he can figure on returning to National Hockey League action.

"There's nobody who would like to get back sooner than I do, but it won't be soon," said the Montreal Canadiens veteran star.

Richard suffered an almost-severed Achilles tendon during a game in Toronto Nov. 13. He has been skating and practising shooting for about three weeks.

Will Extend Grid Season By Two Games

TORONTO (CP) — The Senior Intercollegiate Football Union plans to extend its schedule by two games to eight this autumn, it was reported Thursday.

The proposed longer schedule is expected to come before the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union when it holds its annual meeting here March 28.

Slumping attendance at college football games was given as the reason. Attendance at senior intercollegiate games last season reached an all-time low.

The plan, originally put forward by Warren Stevens, University of Toronto athletic director, is reported to have been approved by McGill University and the University of Western Ontario. Queen's University is said to be considering it.

Varsity also is reported planning to play its first game of the season at Varsity Stadium under floodlights, Friday, Sept. 26. The league has never before played night games.

Howe Injury Closed Incident Says Campbell

MONTREAL (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said Thursday that allegations arising from an injury to Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings are a closed incident.

Campbell said he received a formal report from referee-in-chief Carl Voss, who attended last Saturday's Detroit - Boston game in which Howe was injured.

Detroit's star right winger suffered fractured ribs when checked by Leo Boivin and Real Chevrefils of Boston's Bruins.

General manager Jack Adams of Detroit last Monday accused the two Boston players of "dirty play," calling it "lousy, dirty and uncalled for."

He was quoted further as saying the Bruins got "what they wanted."

"They got Howe out of the lineup. I don't know who planned it but Chevrefils and Boivin got the job done."

DIDN'T MEAN IT

Subsequently Adams said he meant no criticism of the Boston club and that he had too much respect for Milt Schmidt and general manager Lynn Patrick of the Bruins to believe they would direct any such action. Adams said his remarks were directed at the two players.

"There is no foundation for the charge of deliberate attempt to injure," said Campbell. "This is borne out by direct inquiry made to Howe himself by Voss and others.

"Inasmuch as Adams has made a public declaration exonerating the management and coaching staff of the Boston club from any possible complicity in the charges which he made, I do not consider any further action necessary."

Irish Defeat Teeder's Petes; Flyers Beaten

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Forwards went on a goal scoring spree in Thursday night's Ontario Hockey Association Junior A games. Only two were played but they produced 21 goals. And in one two goals were disallowed.

At Peterborough, Coach Ted (Teeder) Kennedy's Petes banged in five goals against Toronto St. Michael's, but they still lost—7-5.

At Hamilton, the Cubs whipped Barrie Flyers 6-3 to consolidate their hold in the standings. Cub forward Murray Oliver topped the night's scorers, netting three times in a game in which each side had a goal disallowed.

LED ALL THE WAY

The Cubs took a 2-1 first-period lead and were ahead 3-2 going into the third period.

Other Cub marksmen were Gerry Sullivan, Brian Smith and Don Blackburn. Pete Panagabko, Dale Rolfe and Tom Black scored for the Flyers.

Henry Marczak paced St. Michael's against Peterborough, scoring twice. Mike Draper, Paul Jackson, Lou Angotti, Darryl Sly and Dave Keon scored singles. Peterborough marksmen were Jerry Brisson, with two, Chuck Hamilton, Tom Thurlby and Bill Mahoney.

HOAD WINS TENNIS

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australia's Lew Hoad Thursday night won the Australian round-robin pro tennis tournament by Sedgman 6-3, 5-7, 6-3. The victory gave the 23-year-old Hoad a 5-0 sweep of the tournament and the $5,000 first prize. Sedgman finished second and won $3,360.

Home Movies Paying Off For Virginia, Andrew Stone

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lots of families make home movies, but none has made them pay off as well as a friendly couple named Virginia and Andrew Stone.

Operating from their home here, the Stones make movies with noted stars and the results are shown in theatres around the world. They're perhaps the most unusual film operation in Hollywood.

Andrews gets the idea for a movie, writes the script, produces and directs. Virginia edits the film and scouts locations. The latter is no small affair—their films are shot entirely on location.

Their films are made at a fraction of what they would cost a major studio and they have won critical acclaim for their quality.

Virginia was busy on the final cut of their last film, Cry Terror with James Mason and Inger Stevens, and Andrew was at work on the script of their next one, Infamy at Sea with Mason and Dorothy Dandridge. They took time off to explain how they work.

STUDIOS UNCONVINCED

"This is the system that I tried to sell the studios in 1947," said Andrew, who had produced some musicals and comedies for United Artists. "I knew that pictures could be made on location with a minimum of equipment and expense and a maximum of quality.

"I convinced no one. In fact, I fear the word got around that poor old Stone had lost his marbles."

Stone met Virginia when she worked for him as a cutter. They married and formed a team to produce their own pictures. Failing to get studio backing, they found an angel who backed their first effort, Confidence Girl. It cost $50,000 and turned a healthy profit.

HIT THE TOP

They hit the big time with The Night Holds Terror, a crack melodrama which Columbia bought outright. Next came Julie, with Doris Day, Louis Jourdan, Frank Lovejoy and Barry Sullivan. Despite the top-drawer cast (Miss Day earned $200,000), they made the film for a total of $750,000.

How do they do it?

By trimming their operation to bare essentials. The equipment can fit into their garage—a light camera, tape-recording gear for sound and simple lighting.

"We let the locations work for us," said Virginia, who sometimes must find as many as 75 sites for a picture.

AT THE PARK — The terrifying bird Rodan crushes a large airplane in a scene from the King Brothers presentation "Rodan!" The Flying Monster. The Technicolor picture is being released by DCA, showing today and Saturday at the Park Theatre for its first Belleville showing. On the same program a first run war thriller "Hell In Korea", starring Ronald Lewis and Stephen Boyd. Continuous show Saturday from 1.00. Doors open 12.30.

Bantam All-Stars Will Practise Sat. Morning

Thirty-six boys from the eight bantam hockey teams have been selected for tryouts with the Belleville bantam all-star team which will enter the O. M. H. A. playdowns.

Neal Hallam is the team manager and Harold Emerson will coach the club. A practice session is slated for Memorial Arena Saturday morning at 11.00 a.m.

The O.M.H.A. team will be selected from the following players: C. Wallbridge, D. Goodfellow, Barry Dafoe, Bill Thompson, K. Rushlow, F. Sager, R. Jones, L. Adams, W. Carson, Robert Jeffery, Ron Morgan, Ted Rowland, R. Blaker, Peter McNevin, R. Gaffery, J. Hanna, D. Reid, R. Turner, Don Bowes, Bruce Seames, Jim Goffrey, Norm Richards, Garry Reid, Doug Talk, Bill Sutton, Jim Rutherford, G. Jones, R. Blakely, J. Tooth, R. Burr, L. Hall, Wayne Gilroy, Jim Muir, L. Hill, J. Johnson and R. Boyle.

The length of the regular scheduled games tomorrow morning will be cut short to allow time for the all-star practice.

"Perri" Outstanding Achievement in Walt Disney's Prolific Career

For Walt Disney to provide something really new in entertainment seems incredible, in view of his prolific past performance. Yet, he has done it again, most brilliantly, in "Perri," which opened yesterday at the Belle Theatre.

The gorgeous Technicolor production, enchanting as any of his fairytales or humorous carton fables, is called a True-Life Fantasy. It is in simple truth, nature's own love story set to sentimental song and a lilting score.

The stars are Perri and Porro, a pair of beautiful pine squirrels. They are supported in their great forest adventure by many companion animals and birds. And many a human player would be proud to make such an unforgettable impression.

"Perri" is an elaborate adaption of Felir Salten's beguilling wildlife romance by that title. Salten also authored "Bambi" which Walt translated into one of his greatest animation classics.

"Perri's special appeal lies in the fact that here for the first time the actual story of two highly personalized wild creatures, whose nature we may readily understand, have been intimately followed through every act and mood of daily existence.

Their adventure in the treetop world of a Utah mountainside carries them through infancy with its funny awkward antics, through the trials and escapades of teen-age squirreldom and on into the safer days of their courtship.

The scenes wondrously blended with music, and coupling fantasy with nature's bare facts, are the result of two years' patient and informed photography contributed by some of the nation's leading naturalists. The Western Wilderness, home of Perri and Porro and their neighbors, has never been so magnificently photographed.

Paul Smith, noted musician, has composed one of his finest scores for "Perri." The three main songs, woven into the action, are "Break of Day," "Now to Sleep," a sentimental lullaby, and "Together Time," the thematic love song.

"Perri," continuing at the Belle Theatre, is a picture for everyone to see, sure to be one of the season's best and most talked about.

SKIER BREAKS LEG

BAD GASTEIN, Austria (AP) — Rupert Suter, Switzerland's best slalom skier, broke his right leg Thursday while training for the world Alpine championships opening here Saturday. The binding on Suter's right ski opened. He balanced on one ski for 60 yards before crashing into a hole, breaking his leg just above the ankle.

Curious Albatross

A curious albatross played hob with the filming schedule Producer-Director Dick Powell set up for his production of "The Enemy Below," the Twentieth Century-Fox sea drama, now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. Every time Powell put skipper Robert Mitchum and other crew members through a scene on the destroyer escort USS Whitehurst off the coast of Hawaii, Albert, the ship's pet albatross soared in to have a look at the acting.

And there was not a thing that could be done about it. Mindful of the tradition that it brings bad luck to harm an albatross (see Coleridge's "Tale of the Ancient Mariner"), the ship's crew wouldn't lift a finger to so much as shoo Albert away.

Finally, a special crew had to be assigned to keep Albert busy on another part of the destroyer while Director Powell filmed his scenes with Mitchum.

Harness Racing

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's two harness racing tracks will run meets of 100 consecutive daily programs each this year, it was announced Thursday.

During the last five years Blue Bonnets Raceway and Richelieu Raceway each ran two meets of 50 daily programs for each meet.

Blue Bonnets will open April 13 for a one-day stand. It then will close until April 18 and run through until July 27. Richelieu is to open the following day and run off its 100-day meet.

Mike and Elaine Nominated For Big Things This Year

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—That extraordinarily funny young couple so many people are talking about after only three guest appearances on television return Saturday night as guests of Perry Como (on NBC-TV).

Their names, which we nominated for new household words of 1958, are Mike Nichols and Elaine May. Mike, 26, and Elaine, 25, are not married. They met three years ago in a Chicago theatrical group and took an instantaneous dislike to one another.

Mike: "I didn't, but she did." Elaine: "I did not." Mike: "She must have had secret respect for me, though. When you insult as gratuitously as she did, there must be something there." Elaine: "My insults were not gratuitous."

Both have extensive training as actors; neither has been employed on Broadway. While working with a theatrical improvisation group in St. Louis, they conceived the idea of their own improvisation act.

NIGHT CLUB SUCCESS

Jack Rollins, a manager, took an interest in them and last November they came to New York to audition for a night club, the Blue Angel. The night club manager was delighted and offered them a job. Their popular success was instantaneous and three TV guest spots followed.

Many critics have called their act "refreshingly different." They detest formulas, but under pressure they agree to this description of what they do:

"Think of jazz. There's a theme and the musicians improvise on it. We use words instead of music. We take an idea and improvise on it."

They do not write a script. They scarcely rehearse at all. On Omnibus a couple of weeks ago they did a sketch of a man (Mike) driving himself into a frenzy trying to get a dime back from a pay phone in a series of duels with a series of telephone operators (All played by Elaine). Another sketch was of two teenagers on their first date.

The ideas for both occurred to one or another of them a long time ago, but they didn't do anything about the ideas until the week of the show. After the Omnibus show NBC was deluged with praise for the two and inquiries about them.

Mike and Elaine are level-headed young people. "What's happened?" asks Elaine. "Nothing much," says Mike. They realize, of course, that something fortunate has happened to them, but they refuse to be unbalanced by sudden success. They emphasize their respect for their manager, Rollins, and their gratitude to the intelligent way in which Steve Allen introduced them to a big night-time TV audience.

You'll be hearing a lot about this couple.

SHOT AT RECTORY

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Clifford C. Groover, 58, accused of shooting his wife on the steps of a Roman Catholic rectory, was convicted Wednesday of murder and sentenced to die June 23. Groove's wife, Nita, was shot in the back as she ran up the steps of the rectory seeking refuge.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Friday, January 31

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—The most intelligent thing to do today is to bring your plans and inventions to the attention of backers. Put them on the market. Decide on matters of policy and maintain them. Let others toe the mark, too.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—L[illegible]e all-important financial ma[illegible]s fill your thoughts and activate you today. However, don't appear to be omniscient and thereby lose out with others, fail to learn what you should know. Bring credit up.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—Have you risen to the standards of honest and plain-talking comrades who have been needling you lately? It is for your benefit and you must be wise today and do all in your power to justify their interest in you.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21)—Changing those things that do not please in your environment does not mean that you must get rid of persons who currently irritate, with whom you have dealings. Use more kind methods, keep busy, and they will come through.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — A fine day for paying those calls that you have owed for some time. A happy countenance and real affection will mean more to them than a bag of gold at this time. Be sincere. Tonight, enjoy self at favorite sport.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — See that you show your closest ties that you are devoted although it is necessary to be away from home so much of the time on bread and butter errands, constructive activity. This will help immensely.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — This day is right for buying necessities, doing outside chores. Later, it would be wise to get caught up on your writing, contacting out-of-town persons vital to your well-being. Get all in order for the future.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Analyze well what your experience in life so far has taught you, then apply proven principles to whatever needs adjustment and change. And when seeking ideas from experts, impress with intellect and vision.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Whatever you do of a material nature this day is closely allied to other persons. Put own desires into the subconscious and quietly study what your competitors feel are your failings. Profit by any constructive criticism.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Avoid like the plague the partner or fellow worker today who has a chip on his or her shoulder and wants to start an argument. Occupy every moment getting all that work out which will put you in the lead instead.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — There is a pal, partner or one very close to you who today upbraids you because you spend more time on others than he or she feels you should. Give proof of devotion, admit that you are too kind and then enjoy selves.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Seeing that you carry out your promises and duties of a practical nature will bring about much prestige and abundance, although a close tie may feel neglected. Duty is the greatest thing on earth. Keep your good name.

If your child is born today... The interesting tyke born today is the type who always sees that nothing remains in a static condition very long. But yours is the duty to teach that one should not rake over old coals, that there is a time and place for everything, and all things outlive their usefulness. Hence, your capable child will have the right philosophy to make his or her life a fine and happy one.

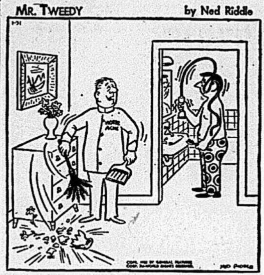
MR. TWEEDY by Ned Riddle



"Oops! Sorry, sir, I hope that didn't startle you."

NOW CYPRUS TURKS ARE FIGHTING

Here is the beginning of a clash between Turkish students and British soldiers and police on turbulent Cyprus. It was the first time the Turks have rioted against the British. It began when police attempted to break up the demonstration of students for "Taksim" (partition). The Turkish minority on Cyprus seek this partition of the island as an alternative to the "return of Cyprus to Turkey, its rightful owner." Several police and students were injured in the clash.

Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) brought up present immigration security policy. Under it, any prospective immigrant denied entry to Canada is not given the reason for refusal, whether it be on grounds of security, ill health or some other reason.

Mr. Winch said he fully agrees with the policy of denying such information to the public. But the reasons should not be withheld from the individuals concerned.

Mr. Fulton said he agrees generally with Mr. Winch. An applicant denied entry to Canada for health reasons should be told. But divulging reasons involving security was another, far more difficult, matter.

The minister said he has in mind a system that would provide a barred immigrant with the reason in every case possible. It would include a review panel to which the prospective immigrant could appeal his case.

MAKE HASTE SLOWLY

But this was a long-range program. The department must "make haste slowly" toward its fulfilment.

Arnold Peters (CCF — Timiskaming) said the government should allow Chinese in Canada to bring their grandchildren from China if their parents there have died.

He also asked that the government keep an eye on certain mining industries in Northern Ontario who bring in immigrants under exaggerated promises of high wages and the like.

In the Commons discussion of Indians and their problems, former Liberal citizenship minister J. W. Pickersgill said its time the Indians were given full rights to vote in federal elections.

They now can vote if they are veterans or live off the reservation and relinquish exemption from income tax on earnings on the reservation.

Mr. Fulton and other members agreed on the need for integrating Indians in society.

Mr. Fulton said placing Indians in non-Indian schools is desirable. They should be brought up alongside white children since they would be living side by side in later life.

MAKE TRADE PACT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator William Knowland (Rep. Calif.) announced Thursday night that an agreement has been reached with Britain for an exchange of $8,000,000 worth of surplus United States agriculture commodities. The commodities involved are prunes, canned fruit lemons, canned lemon juice and grapefruit.

West Huntington

WEST HUNTINGDON — The district meeting for L.O.L. No. 3, Central Hastings, was held here on Tuesday evening and was presided over by Mr. Earl Wallace. Following the general routine of business, the following officers were elected and installed: W. M. Bert Post, D.M., Lindsay Sills, chaplain; John Lainson, secretary, Eugene Kelly, treasurer, Arthur Hassall, marshal, Murray Morgan, 1st lecturer Elvin Holland; 2nd lecturer, Charles Blair.

At the conclusion refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sills accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Ashley, of Belleville, were weekend guests of friends at Niagara and Toronto.

MESSAGE MONITOR

LAC Ross Pilgrim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pilgrim of Englee, Nfld., checks for message on monitor tapes at the RCAF's communications relay centre at St. Hubert, Que. The centre is the heart of the RCAF's air defence command. Messages received amount to millions of words a year. About 50 miles of tape are used annually. (CP Photo).

Speed With Accuracy Motto RCAF Communication Units

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. HUBERT, Que. (CP)—Chimes sound, bells ring and red lights blink in a busy basement room at the RCAF's Air Defence Command Headquarters here.

A priority message is passing on perforated tape through the almost automatic communications relay system.

Quietly, an attendant notes the destination, glances for garbled words, walks to an outgoing transmitter. Within seconds the urgent message is on its way.

"Speed with accuracy—that's what we're always aiming for," says Flt. Lt. Henry Holgate of Hamilton, commanding officer of No. 5 Communications Unit, one of six such centres across Canada.

PRIZED TROPHY

His unit combined speed with accuracy to win an unnamed silver trophy as the most efficient communications relay station in the RCAF's trans-Canada chain. The trophy glistens in the office of Flt. Sgt. William (Woodie) Wood of Saskatoon, relay superintendent.

Winning it brought quiet delight to the St. Hubert crew, who placed last in the previous competition.

The job of the air force communications system—set up in 1954 after a tri-service network was reorganized — is to relay messages over many thousands of miles of leased land lines on a teletype network. Radio teletype, eliminating the need for wires, is also used.

Millions of words are handled each year. A survey in the first seven months of 1957 showed 18 messages went astray in more than 7,000,000.

To keep mistakes at a minimum competition is encouraged between key stations and a piercing monthly statistical report is issued from the over-all headquarters at Ottawa's Rockcliffe airport.

BIG NETWORK

Major relay stations are also located at Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Rockcliffe and Halifax. Each relay has at least a dozen "tributaries." St. Hubert's tributaries—27 in all—are scattered across Quebec, part of Ontario and the Eastern Coast. The closest is next door, five feet away, and the farthest is at Goose Bay, Labrador, 800 miles northeast.

"The system is like a river with many streams feeding into it," explains Flt. Lt. Holgate, 38, who believes morale — "the higher the better"—makes for proficiency.

He was born at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and is married with four young children who spent their tender years in the Yukon, his last posting before St. Hubert, eight miles south of Montreal.

The "streams"—radar stations in the Pine Tree network or other RCAF installations — pour messages into the "Main river" which passes them along as quickly as possible.

Rockcliffe tested the speed once. It sent a message to itself via Vancouver, Australia and England. Three minutes later, after circling the earth, the message reappeared on teletypes back at Rockcliffe.

Many messages are multi-addressed—aimed at perhaps a dozen different, scattered stations. A "tape factory" reproduces the original perforated tape as many times as needed, and each goes its separate way.

The system has capacity and flexibility to handle the flood of RCAF messages that would be involved in the event of war. It provides fast links with Washington and London.

What's The Progress In Birth Control?

Today one billion people live in countries that actively promote "family planning" — as a means of reducing poverty and starvation.

In February Reader's Digest Dr. Abraham Stone, authority in the field, tells what progress has been made towards the "ideal" contraceptive. Sunday School Lesson

The Church Belongs to You

By ROY L. SMITH

The first century Christian Church was composed of men and women who had been converted to a faith in Jesus Christ and who came, for the most part, from the ranks of the poor, the unsophisticated, the inarticulate.

The Apostle Paul, in writing to one of the young churches, reminded them that there were not many prominent people among them, few of them were educated, and most of them had come from the ranks of the declassed and the submerged. The majority of them were actual slaves.

Many of them found in the Church their only opportunity to be "somebody." It was inside the little church meetings that they made the only speeches they had ever made in their lives. The only offices they ever held, and the only responsibilities with which they were ever entrusted, came to them through the Church. It is, then, small wonder that they prized their memberships as something very precious and very valuable.

MEMBERSHIP MEANS RIGHTS

A highly talented, but rather reticent, young couple moved into a neighborhood in which there was a church of a denomination with which they had been affiliated in their younger years. The first Sunday following their arrival in the community they presented themselves at the little chapel at the time of the morning services and were given the usual professional greeting at the door. At the close of the service they met the pastor, but no one else even inquired as to their name or their interests. During the three subsequent Sundays their experience was very much the same.

Then came a Sunday morning when the young wife spoke her mind. "I know we are strangers in the community," she said, "and I suppose I have treated strangers as we have been treated. But I have been thinking about the matter. It is the Church, and it is our church. It belongs to us just as much as it belongs to any of the people who have been here 20 years. We have as many rights as any of them have, and we need it as bad as any of them do. I propose, then, that we go to church this morning, as if it belonged to us, and let's make those people recognize us as though we were part-owners with them."

And the plan worked. Within the space of two weeks they had discovered several young couples whose friendship promised to be very rewarding. And within a year they were counted among the leaders.

"I am one for whom Christ died," said an old man, as he made ready for church in a strange city, "and no matter what the people think or do, my Lord is waiting to welcome me in the Father's house this morning." And as a consequence he found the service a rich reward.

Every Christian is under a sober responsibility to help bear the burdens of other people, but he is under an even more sober responsibility for bearing his own burdens.

There is a bit of solemn advice in the New Testament to the effect that "every man must work out his own salvation." And the Apostle Paul wrote to the Galatian church saying, "each man will have to bear his own load."

There are some burdens which we can reasonably expect to share with others, but there are other burdens which are strictly your own.

There are some things we can expect from the Church, and there are other things the Church expects of us.

Responsibility is a two-way street down which duties and privileges pass and repass.

The beginning of responsibility is within each of us, and the rewards of fellowship come to those who do their duty first.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for February 2: "Privileges of Church Membership," Luke 4: 14-21; II Corinthians 9: 6-8; Galatians 6: 1-5; Hebrews 4: 14-16; 10: 23-25; I Peter 2: 9-10.

BUT CAN IT COOK?

LONDON (Reuters). — A Moscow firm has developed an "automatic chef," Moscow radio reported. This electric kitchen device will peel potatoes, knead dough, prepare vegetables for a salad, mince meat for hamburgers and make apple juice and coffee.

Crofton

CROFTON—The Good Neighbors' Club held its euchre party at the school on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Weese, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Peck and Paulette of Albury, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adams of Rednersville, spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Allan on the occasion of Mrs. Allan's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Salisbury and Mrs. Charles Haight, of Belleville, were Sunday guests of their sister, Mrs. E. Crook.

Mrs. B. Jones returned to Belleville on Sunday after a three-week holiday at her home here.

Mrs. E. Crook called on Mrs. Estella Fraser and family at Picton on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. W. J. Gray, Mrs. B. Jones and Mrs. E. Crook were dinner guests of Mrs. Victor Bongard on Wednesday.

Mrs. Eleazer Williams of Picton, spent Friday with her sister, Mrs. B. Jones.

Mrs. B. Jones spent the tea hour and evening with Mrs. E. Crook on Saturday.

Mr. George Hutson spent Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Sharp, Mr. Sharp and Dennis at Roslin.
